THEN AND NOW: 50 YEARS AT SHS — These two shots certainly have their similarities, but there is a half-century between them, as the one on the left was featured in Southern High School's very first yearbook of 1953, and the one on the right was taken Tuesday (craftily arranged by staff photographer John McEwen). The school is celebrating the graduation of the 50th class this spring, and in commemoration of the milestone, a number of activities and events will take place at the school all next week. Each day will be dedicated to a decade, complete with era-appropriate music, PowerPoint presentations, and fashion/fad contests. A number of staff members and students have worked hard on the project, which will culminate in June at the commencement exercises. "It has been a great learning experience for all of us," said Principal Tom Woods. Northern High School is also graduating its 50th class, although Principal Gary Reichenbecher said the school has not planned to note the anniversary at this time. For information about Southern's events next week, persons may contact the school at 301-334-9447. The students in the 1953 picture are not identified in the yearbook, so our apologies to them. In the current photo, in the foreground, are Andrea Coughlin and J.B. Murphy. In the back, from left, are Regie Marucci, Maria Dimick, Kim Teter, Josh Custer, Joe Graham, and Matt Sines. All are seniors.

Chamber Makes FY 2003 Budget Pitch To County

Representatives of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce met with the county commissioners this week to make their budget pitch for fiscal year 2003. The chamber is requesting $600,000, which is $150,000 more than it received last year.

Ken Wishnick, president of the Chamber of Commerce, stressed that his organization was not requesting any local tax payers' money for its budget. The funding would come solely from taxes that visitors pay when they stay in county accommodations. The chamber anticipates a five-percent increase in the amount of taxes collected in FY 2003, which could be as much as $753,000. Wishnick said, however, based on the accommodation taxes collected so far this year, the actual increase could be more.

The president pointed out that tourism was "the engine behind Garrett County's economy," contributing more than $175 million annually and providing more than 2,600 direct or indirect jobs. Additionally, property tax collection from the Deep Creek Lake area alone increased by more than $1 million during the last fiscal year, he said. The president added that unlike other industry, tourism in the county "has proven to be recession proof."

The chamber representatives requested the additional funding this year in order to promote tourism even more and to be more competitive with other areas. Wishnick said Garrett County ranked eleventh in the state in 2001 for tourism promotion expenditures, which includes advertising and participation in trade and consumer shows. Ocean City was first with $1,270,314, while Garrett spent $78,639. Allegany County was fifteenth in the state, having spent $62,000.

Wishnick said the chamber would use the additional funding to provide new services such as online reservations, a visitor e-mail newsletter, online accommodations availability, daily information reports to state visitor centers, research about how many inquires actually result in visits, and visitor focus groups.

The chamber also hopes to increase its travel show participation, particularly in New York City and Ohio, and restructure its web site to make it more "user friendly." Additionally, the chamber wants to increase its direct ad placements by $32,000.

The commissioners, Garrett County Finance Department staff, and county

Jessie Railey To Represent USA At Suzuki World Cup In Japan

Jessie Railey, McHenry, recently received an invitation from the International Federation of Competitive Aerobics to compete in the Suzuki World Cup in Tokyo, Japan. She will enter competition on April 12 and 13.

The Suzuki World Cup is held in a sports arena with an anticipated 3,000 spectators, according to Brenda Brosnihan, Jessie's coach. The youth competition will draw competitors from nearly 20 countries, she said.

The young local athlete earned the invitation to the world cup competition as a result of her achievements at the 2001 United States National Championships, where she won the silver medal. In February of this year, she earned a gold medal at the Eastern Can-American Championships in Philadelphia.

Jessie is a sophomore at Northern High School and the daughter of Jim and Nancy Railey.

"I am so honored to receive this opportunity," she said. "I have competed in three world championships in the United States and they have all been wonderful experiences. I really enjoy seeing and meeting kids from all over the world. I have often thought how interesting it must be for them to compete in our country. I just can't believe that I will now understand first-hand how it feels to represent my country in another part of the world."

The United States Delegation will include four aduh athletes, two youth, and four coaches. Brenda Brosnihan, coach of the Garrett County Sportacrobic Team (four-time national champions), will travel with Railey as part of the coaching staff.

"Jessie and I are both very excited about representing the U.S. at this competition. I think the pride that we will both feel when she takes the stage is going to be everlasting," Brosnihan said. Jessie will also be escorted by her mother Nancy and brother Lee.

Results from the contest will be posted on the Garrett County Sportacrobic Team's web site at www.sportacrobics.org.

MDE Gives Commissioners Overview Of TMDL Program

Representatives from the Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) gave an overview of their Total Maximum Daily Load (TMDL) Program and proposed additions for 2002 to the Garrett County commissioners this week.

The TMDL, which is required under the Clean Water Act, is an estimate of the maximum amount of an impairing substance or pollutant that a body of water can absorb without violating water quality standards. There are approximately 130 rivers, streams, lakes, reservoirs, and estuaries in the state that are impaired by one or more of the following pollutants: nutrients, sediments, toxins, acidity, or fecal coliform bacteria, explained Elaine Dietz, TMDL Outreach coordinator.

Because a TMDL represents an upper limit, or "cap," on pollutant loads to a waterbody, the goal of the program is to ensure that the cap is not exceeded. Additionally, the program focuses on building upon voluntary regulatory efforts to correct the impairments through technical and financial assistance, according to the MDE.

Mercury in fish and low pH levels are two new TMDLs proposed for this year, said Jim George, TMDL Program manager. Under the Clean Water Act, all waters have a "fishable/swimmable" designated use. "Fishable" assumes that the fish are "wholesome for human consumption," explained George. The fishable designated use is considered impaired if fish cannot be consumed safely at four meals per month. The upper threshold of allowable methylmercury in fish tissue is 230 parts per billion (ppb), said George.

In Garrett County, Big Piney Reservoir and Deep Creek Lake were recently listed as impaired. Tissue samples taken from 10 to 15 mature largemouth bass caught in each of those water bodies indicated levels of methylmercury above 230 ppb. Big Piney Reservoir samples averaged 582 ppb, while Deep Creek Lake averaged 296 ppb.

Methylmercury is a subset of mercury. The primary source of mercury in local water is atmospheric deposition — such as rain, snow, or fog — due to industry emissions from factories in

Seven Roads Deleted From County's List

The Garrett County commissioners deleted seven roads this week from the county's list of properties, which will no longer be maintained by the county roads department. Seven other roads that were also considered for deletion will be kept on the list, due to public opposition.

Portions of the following roads were removed from the list: CCC Camp, Vindex, Burt Reams, McHenry, and Old Pysell. The county will have no further claim to the properties and ownership will revert back to adjacent landowners who granted easements, according to Commissioner Wendell Beitzel.

Senate Shoots Down Bear Bill; Adds One Sunday To Deer Hunt

Two pieces of wildlife-related legislation, both of which bore major implications for Garrett County, were voted on by lawmakers in the Maryland Senate this week. Although severely weakened, a House proposal to implement a strategy for managing the state's growing black bear population was nonetheless rejected, while approval was won for another bill that would allow hunting on the first day of the deer firearms season.

The bear management legislation, HB 10, met defeat by a 9-2 vote of the Senate Education, Health, and Environmental Affairs Committee. The bill would have implemented a permitting process by which the Department of Natural Resources could have issued permits to allow landowners to kill bears that damage property.

Del. George Edwards had authored the proposal's original wording, which sought a limited bear hunt through a lottery system. That portion of the bill had been removed during House deliberations in February, and the legislation rejected by the Senate committee this week did not address the hunting concept at all.

"I'm disappointed that the Senate committee rejected this bill without even considering our idea for a limited hunt," Edwards remarked. "I sure can't say I'm surprised, however, because the committee is mostly made up of lawmakers from urban areas who don't have the bear problems that exist in western Maryland. Even if it had passed, it probably would have been vetoed by the governor.

"We did get some good facts out on the table about this issue, however. That's important because so many of the people I represent say they have given up on any chance of DNR handling their bear problems because they think DNR doesn't care," commented Edwards.

"It's too bad it's come to that, because a number of DNR experts I know have told me that they feel the agency can manage bears a lot better than it has been given the chance to do. DNR personnel feel their hands are tied, and I think that's because our current governor will do what he wants to do regardless of the scientific evidence. If we had a governor that would do what DNR wanted to do, we might be able to come up with a solution.

"I'm glad we have bears, but this is a question of management. DNR already has the authority to initiate a hunting season, but this governor would never allow

House, Senate Approve Hospital Bond Bill; Reject Exhibit Hall

Two bills introduced in the Maryland General Assembly by local legislators this session were recently reviewed in the House and Senate. The Senate unanimously passed HB 1232 last week. The bill, introduced by Delegate George Edwards, would allow the county commissioners to borrow up to $7.5 million to finance improvements at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The bill unanimously passed in the House earlier.

Edwards said an amendment was added to the original wording of the bill that gives the hospital the option of paying for the funding directly to the bond holders or to the county, which in turn would pay the holders. The amendment was also approved by the House and Senate. The legislation must now be review by the governor.

Ground is expected to be broken this summer at the hospital for a major expansion and renovation project.

A bill that would authorize a state debt of up to $500,000 for the construction of a multipurpose exhibit hall at the fairgrounds in McHenry, however, did

SISLER IS WORLD SILVER MEDALIST — Sean Sisler, son of Natalie Gregory and David Helma of Oakland, and Roger and Carol Sisler of Aurora, W.Va., took the silver medal at the AAU Folkstyle World Wrestling Championship recently. The 11-year-old competed in the Unlimited Division of the AAU's Novice Category before more than 25,000 fans at the Pontiac Silverdome in Detroit. Over 3,000 wrestlers from the United States, Canada, Europe, Japan, and Korea participated in the two-day world event. As reported earlier, Sisler took the gold medal in February's AAU Folkstyle National Championships, which were held in North Carolina. The 6-4, 240-pound sixth grader is a member of the wrestling club at Southern Middle School, where he is coached by Kurt Lear and Steve Savage, and also grapples for the Southern Mat Club under his coaches George Scheffel Jr. and Darryl Oslas. This weekend Sisler and his fellow Southern Mat Club members will travel to Millersville, Pa., for the Mid-Atlantic Regional Wrestling Tournament, a prelude to the Mid-Atlantic Eastern National Tourney that will be held in Salisbury at the end of April.

Public Hearing Correction Noted

The date in the public hearing notice for the CDBG proposals that ran last week on page C-10 was printed incorrectly. The hearing will be held Tuesday, April 9, not April 3.

The event will be held at 10 a.m. in the commissioners' hearing room in the Garrett County Courthouse. For more information about the hearing see the corrected ad on page C-11 of this week's issue.

GETTING INTO THE ACT FOR GCC COLLEGE DAY — The upcoming College Day open house event at Garrett Community College, is set for Saturday, April 13. The morning session will showcase a variety of GCC programs and, following a lunchtime pig roast, the afternoon agenda will include tours and demonstration presentations by the students and staff affiliated with the Agriculture, Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology, and Adventure Sports programs. Even the animals of the Agriculture Program's small livestock demonstration projects are preparing to welcome visitors. Pictured from the left with their four-legged charges are Kris DeWitt, Greg Dougherty, and Amanda Gregory.

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN — Daylight Saving Time begins this weekend, so unless you want to miss all but the concluding hymn in church Sunday morning, you must jump your clocks up an hour Saturday night. Happy spring!

Officials Say $2.7 Million For Terrorism Readiness Just A Start

by Laura A. Said
Capltal News Service

WASHINGTON — Maryland will get $2.74 million in federal funding for equipment to respond to biological or chemical terror, or nuclear, radioactive or explosive materials, but local officials say they need more. The Maryland Emergency Management Agency learned Tuesday that the U.S. Justice Department had approved its request for a "first responders" grant, which was submitted long before Sept. 11.

Maryland was one of five states and four cities to share the $17 million released this week, the latest in a three-year grant program that has reached every state. Justice spokesman David Hess said Maryland's share was determined, in part, by the size of its population.

Local Maryland jurisdictions will get $2.39 million to purchase protective clothing and equipment for communications, detection, and decontamination, said MEMA spokesman Quentin Banks. The rest will go to the state, which will spend about $82,000 on the Maryland Department of Environment hazardous response units and is still determining where to spend the rest, he said.

Each jurisdiction's share was determined by such factors as the location of hazardous sites, the possible threats to them, and their vulnerability, according to a statement from the governor's office.

Baltimore City will receive $200,724, the largest local portion of the grant. Anne Arundel County will receive the second-largest share, $184,880. Garrett County's share is just over $58,500, as was reported a few weeks ago.

A spokesman for the Anne Arundel Fire Department said the money would help purchase needed equipment like personal protective gear. John Scholz said that "$185,000 is really bare bones for us," however, and that "tough decisions" would still need to be made for specialized equipment, even after receiving the grant money.

Ocean City manager Dennis Dare said the city will get half of the $71,000 going to Worcester County.

"That will help, but we've already spent many times that on preparedness supplies since Sept. 11," he said.

Dare said some of the money would buy some biological and chemical agent test kits, but not enough. He said city officials would also like decontamination equipment. He said his city is too isolated to borrow specialized equipment from other jurisdictions.

"We're on the edge of the Earth here," he said. "We're a long way away from metropolitan areas."

Larry Storke, the deputy director of Cecil County's Department of Emergency Services, said the state provided his agency with a list of equipment from which the county could choose. Storke said most of the items on the list were chemical suits of all classes. There was monitoring equipment, as well, he said.

Hess said that after MEMA officials sign the grant papers, the money would be available within weeks. He said there may be more terrorism preparedness money available through the Justice Department in the future.

Despite Rain, State Still Faces Drought; Declaration Is Pending

by Candia Dames
Capltal News Service

WASHINGTON — Recent rainfall in Maryland has made fields wet enough for farmers to plant this spring, but whether there will be enough water for anything to grow this summer remains to be seen, officials said Wednesday.

"We're still in a drought," said Tony Evans, an emergency services officer at the Maryland Department of Agriculture. "It's like a bank account. We've been withdrawing and withdrawing. So now we have to make some deposits."

The 3.5 inches of rain that fell over most of the state in March — the Eastern Shore got 4.5 inches — was just around average. It was a big leap from the month before, when the U.S. Geological Survey said just 0.36 inches fell, the driest February on record in Maryland.

February wrapped up one of the driest winters on record. Richard Tinker, a meteorologist at the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, said there was a one in 100 chance that last September through February would be so dry.

"The numbers were unusual. It was dry to a ridiculous extreme," he said.

March's rains give farmers hope, but not much more, Evans added.

"Agriculturally speaking, if we have months like March, we can get our crops in, and get them up and growing," he said. "But the forecast so far does not hold out promise of normal or above-normal rainfall for the next 90 days or so. That's a little scary."

Across the state, farmers are out in the fields taking advantage of the March rains. The Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service reported that there were 4.4 days suitable for fieldwork last week. The report said small amounts of potatoes, tomatoes, cantaloupes, watermelons, snap beans, and sweet corn are already in the ground and peaches, apples, and strawberries have already started blooming.

"We benefited a good deal from rains that fell in March," said Deputy State Statistician Dave Knopf. "The seeds that have been planted and will be planted over the next few weeks will have moisture to germinate."

Knopf said the immediate outlook is not as favorable for livestock that depend on groundwater for survival.

Groundwater levels tell the real story of a drought, said USGS hydrologist Wendy McPherson.

"Groundwater shows the long-term effects of a drought," McPherson said. "We've got the puddles. We've got the grasses growing. But all of that is quite deceptive."

Eight of the 17 wells monitored by the USGS were below average for March. McPherson said the state faces problems because there is no snowmelt this year to recharge the groundwater.

This puts farmers and much of the state in an "extremely vulnerable position," Tinker said. Farmers need a consistent supply of rain to make their crops grow, but it's just too early to tell if that's going to happen, he said.

"Short-term conditions like fire danger and a lack of moisture in the topsoil have been alleviated," Tinker said. "But we're a long way from having this drought over."

Aides said Gov. Parris Glendening, who was scheduled to declare a drought emergency for Central Maryland before rains came two weeks ago, will make a drought announcement later this week.

"We have received some rain, but it was not enough to provide a dramatic change," from two weeks ago, said Susan Woods, a governor's office spokeswoman.

Portions of Dennett Road and Deer Park Avenue were also removed but will be maintained by Mountain Lake Park, which will now receive the state reimbursement for the roads instead of the county.

Paul Fisher, Fox Den, Alan Fike, Edgewood Drive, Boiling Springs, Haines, and Tenth Street — from Dennett Road to the Oakland town limits — will remain on the county's properties list.

not fair so well this week. HB 459 — introduced by Edwards, Delegate Kevin Kelly, and Speaker Casper Taylor — received an unfavorable report from the House Appropriations Committee this week. The same bill — cross-filed as SB 423 and introduced by Senator John Hafer — was also rejected last month by the Senate Budget and Taxation Committee.

Edwards said, however, there still may be a chance for the project to receive some state funding this session. The House has included the project as a line item in its $15 million capital budget. The delegate explained that the budget money is set aside for special bond-bill projects like the exhibit hall and is divided up equally among the various regions in the state. Garrett's share of the budget would be $300,000.

Edwards said the House was working on the capital budget this week. "It's a major negotiating thing," he said, "but there is still some chance that the hall could receive at least $300,000."

Sealing Receives 4-H Award For Lifetime Achievement

Don Sealing, who recently was awarded the Maryland 4-H Lifetime Achievement Award, celebrated 45 years of continuous service as a 4-H volunteer in 2001. During these years he has touched the lives of thousands of individuals, and has guided many youth through successful years as 4-H members and into adulthood as their leader and friend.

His 4-H volunteer years began in Howard County. He served there as a club leader for 19 years. His last 26 years of service have been in Garrett County as leader of the Bittinger 4-H Club. In both counties, Sealing was recognized as an authority in the area of sheep production and served as superintendent of the sheep department.

For several years, he also worked with the Maryland State Fair sheep department and the Eastern National Sheep Show. In this capacity, he assisted many youth with market livestock. One former 4-H participant commented, "He was wonderful with kids in helping them learn and understand the judging process and with ways to improve their sheep projects. He was always patient, gentle, and kind." He also served as a judge for sheep shows in Maryland and West Virginia.

Sealing's involvement at the two county fairs went well beyond the sheep department. In both counties, he served on the board of directors. In Garrett County he continues as the individual responsible for grounds maintenance. This means that he is at the fairgrounds for each scheduled event throughout the year.

Each summer he visits nearly all the county 4-H camps using the Western Maryland 4-H Center. He has been an adult staff member for both Howard and Garrett-Allegany camps for most of his volunteer years. Those who know Sealing often comment on the fact that he is such an advocate for youth community service.

His service includes participation with youth on a multitude of projects. He is particularly known in the area for his culinary talents used at fund-raising dinners throughout the year, and works alongside youth maintenance crews at the county fair and along the highways for trash pick-up projects.

Many individuals interviewed for this nomination commented that they could think of no other person as generous with their time. Beyond his work with 4-H, Sealing is very active in the volunteer fire department, earning awards such as Fireman of the Year, and induction into the Hall of Fame for Firemen. He is also active in his church, having served on the church council, as deacon, and superintendent of education. Additional organizations with which he has been involved include PTA, band boosters, food pantry, crime solvers, and others.

He has been a long time member of the Maryland 4-H All Stars. In 1990, the Sealing family was named as the Garrett County Family of the Year.

It is noteworthy to recognize his enthusiasm for 4-H. Sealing has been mentioned by many as the person who first interested them in 4-H. The fact that his enthusiasm is contagious is evident as two former 4-Hers from his clubs in Howard County are now 4-H educators, and all four of his own children as well as his granddaughter were inducted into the Maryland 4-H All Stars.

This year, even as he approaches his 82nd birthday, he served as chef for many fund-raising dinners, walked the roadway with 4-H youth participating in community clean-up projects, and worked all week at the county fair.

In 1998, Sealing received an honor plaque from the Woodmen of the World for commendable service to the community and county. He was also the founder of the Sheep and Wool Festival. From its inception as a small event, it has grown to be known worldwide as a premier show of fine textiles and livestock. Appreciation was shown to Sealing in 1997 when he was named Shepherd of the Year and in 1998 received an honor plaque from the Garrett County Livestock Association.

Another achievement is the creation of the Donald Thomas Sealing Memorial Scholarship. The scholarship is presented annually at the Garrett County Fair Awards program in memory of his son. For the past 18 years, the Sealing family has sponsored the scholarship for a 4-H member entering college with studies in the education or health field.

Sealing received his achievement award at a statewide gathering hosted by Lt. Governor Kathleen Kennedy Townsend. He will also be honored this Saturday at the Garrett County Achievement Night program to be held at Southern High School.

GREEN THUMB DAY PROCLAIMED — At the request of the Garrett County Lighthouse, in conjunction with the Maryland Cooperative Extension, GFWC Civic Club of Oakland, and FCE Homemakers, the Garrett County commissioners have declared May 4, 2002, as "Green Thumb Day." The organizations will host the Garrett County Green Thumb Garden and Flower Show on that day in celebration of the opening of a new wing at Lighthouse. The theme of the event is "Working Toward A Sound Mind, Healthy Body, and Safe and Beautiful Environment." See story. The proclamation in part states that the organizations are cooperating to build a better community to live in, and that they support an environment "conducive to building sound minds," and that they "utilize nature's gifts and people's work to promote healthy bodies." The flower show will include music, displays, educational demonstrations, food, and "fun for the whole family," a spokesperson said. It will be held at the Lighthouse. Pictured seated from left are Commissioners Wendell Beitzel, Fred Holliday, and Ernie Gregg. Standing from left are Asa McCain, Oakland mayor; Wayne Johnson, Lighthouse board president; George Stuck, Lighthouse secretary; Ellen Fritz, Civic Club; FCE homemakers Mary Harvey, Zella Bittinger, and Joan Schultz; Helen Earles, Civic Club treasurer; Ann Mitter, FCE president; and Irmgard Koscielniak, extension service educator. ## Garrett County Garden, Flower Show Planned

The Garrett County Lighthouse will celebrate the opening of its new wing by hosting the Garrett County Garden and Flower Show on Saturday, May 4, at the Lighthouse in Oakland. In celebration of the event, the Garrett County commissioners have declared May 4 as "Green Thumb Day." (See photo)

Lighthouse has the cooperation of the Maryland Cooperative Extension, the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland, and FCE Homemakers in organizing the garden show, which organizers said is "in keeping with a theme of 'Sound Mind, Healthy Body, Safe and Beautiful Environment.'"

"What better way to welcome spring than to plan a garden, pot a plant, or prune a tree, and visit the Lighthouse," a spokesperson said. "Lighthouse consumers and staff have been busy getting ready for the big event."

The work of the noted organizations has been under way for months to make the first garden/flower show a reality, the spokesperson noted. Local nurseries and florists will provide a variety of plants and flowers, and the Preston County Master Gardeners will be available throughout the day to answer gardening questions.

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will hold a special children's nature program, and the Garrett County Extension Office has arranged morning and afternoon workshops. Topics will include the care of lawns, trees and shrubs, herbs, and garden pests. High school students, 4-H members, and homemakers will man the children's craft and game room so that parents may attend the workshops.

Special programs on wildflowers and birds are also planned. Food will be available, as well as entertainment. Keyboard World from in the LaVale Mall will provide organ music as well as mini-workshops throughout the day.

The event is to begin at 9 a.m. and run until 5 p.m. The Lighthouse is located at 20 East Oak Street in Oakland. Parking will be available on site as well as at the Oakland Municipal Parking Lot. A shuttle service will also be provided. Admission is free.

MSP Arrest Persons For Drugs, Theft

Two reports of arrests were made this week by the Maryland State Police, one for alleged marijuana possession and the other for theft.

A 1999 Geo Prism was stopped for speeding on Saturday at 12:40 p.m. by Tfc. J.P. Grinnan. An odor of burning marijuana was allegedly detected and the car was searched. After the officer located suspected marijuana and a bottle of liquor, the driver and passenger of the vehicle were arrested. Charged were Sonni Lynn Hilberry, 19, and Teresa Luann Pollack, 18, both of Rachel, W.Va.

The teenagers were charged with possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia, and were cited for having alcoholic beverages. They were released on their own recognizance, according to the report.

In a separate case, troopers were called to the Finzel Road for a report of two males carrying street signs. Troopers arrived on the scene and reportedly found Phillip Bailey, 18, and Jesse Marcinkevich, 18, both of Frostburg, in possession of the signs. Both were charged with two counts of misdemeanor theft and then were released on their own recognizance.

Two Juveniles Injured In Two Vehicle Accident

Two juveniles were injured in a two vehicle accident Wednesday afternoon at the intersection of North Hill Road and North American Road, Kitzmiller, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

The juveniles were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where they were treated and released. Joseph Ottawa Friend, 21, Oakland, was the operator of a 1986 Chevy that struck a 1992 Toyota operated by Elsie Ilene Brady, 71, Kitzmiller.

Friend was arrested and charged with driving an uninsured vehicle, negligent driving, traveling at a speed greater than reasonable and failure to control speed to avoid a collision, police said. He is currently incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail on $2,000 bond.

Minority Rules...

In most societies a majority-rules system is the preferred method of governance, yet in so many instances it is a minority that dictates behavior and literally rules the public at large.

The warfare going on at this moment in the Middle East is a good example of a minority in charge. It is a minority of Palestinians, for example, who elect to arm themselves with bombs and then carry out suicide missions in Israel. Because of their actions, the majority of Palestinians are made to suffer retaliation by Israeli forces. Certainly there is also a minority of Israeli fanatics who would like nothing more than to rid the world of all Palestinians. But there is also no doubt that the majority of Israelis and the majority of Palestinians would like nothing more than to live in peace, to live and let live. This will simply not be possible until the aforementioned minorities change their behavior.

It is so incredibly sad and ironic that the focal point of the fighting today is the very spot where it is believed that Jesus Christ, often referred to as the Prince of Peace, was born.

Meanwhile, we have a minority of one — Saddam Hussein — who promotes killing by giving $25,000 to each of the families of the suicide bombers.

Another more local example of a minority in charge is the relatively small group of students at the University of Maryland who, after their team won the NCAA basketball championship on Monday, decided that their celebration should include vandalism and violence. The thoughtless, stupid actions of a relative few tainted the Terps' victory for everyone and are embarrassing to all Maryland students and alumni.

The reverse can, of course, also be true, when the actions of a minority precipitate positive change among the majority. The battle for civil rights among the races, led by individuals such as Rosa Parks and Martin Luther King Jr., comes to mind.

The Golden Rule — easy to recite, but evidently impossible for us humans to uphold — is the key to peace and contentment for all. If this rule were followed by everyone, then the very words minority and majority would become unimportant.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am responding to two letters that were printed in the March 14 edition of The Republican. I would like to correct any misconceptions that may have occurred based on these letters.

In the letter written by James A. Tasker, he states that "to compare the salaries to those in other parts of the state is a joke to some." That may be, but the library subcommittee on which Henrietta Lease serves is focusing its work primarily on comparisons within Garrett County. While the subcommittee on salaries and benefits realizes that salaries may not catch up with those in other parts of the state, it is necessary to know where the county stands.

I would like to thank the members of the library's subcommittee for volunteering their time and experience as we continue our work. The members are: Susan Athey-Oxford, Bud Peed, Marilyn Moors, Michelle Duda, Mimi Demaree, and Henrietta Lease.

In the letter written by Craig Speicher, he stated, "Branch library staff does the same work as many...but with fewer benefits." I want to clarify that the library offers the same insurance benefits to the employees at the four branches as it does to the staff at the Oakland library.

Lastly, I endorse Craig's comments on the changing role of public libraries and on the need for adequate funding support from the public.

Thank you,
Mimi Demaree
President
Board of Trustees
Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County

To the Editor:

For more than fifty years, the Ruth Enlow Library has set a standard of excellence as a source of library services to the people of Garrett County.

Many of our citizens, especially the elderly, the young, and those with low-income levels, rely on this library for the books, magazines, and audio and video cassettes they could not obtain otherwise. For a large number of people, the library's public computers are their access points to the information highway.

To provide these services, and many others as well, a significant amount of money is required. Rising costs, and the necessity of at least minimally adequate compensation and benefits for the staff who deliver these services, have moved the Board of Library Trustees to request a moderate increase, measured in dollars, in funding from the Garrett County commissioners for the coming fiscal year.

Let our commissioners know that you support funding for the Ruth Enlow Library at a level that will provide the competitive library services needed to meet the demands of this new millennium.

Contributions from the private sector should also be an important part of any library's budget. Gifts from individuals and businesses, and memberships in Friends of The Ruth Enlow Library, are of great benefit to the library and its patrons. Purchase of a book in memory of someone will give knowledge and enjoyment for many years — flowers will fade in just a few days time.

These are some of the ways we can all be a part of the ongoing realization of E. E. Enlow's dreams of so long ago.

Sincerely,
Jack M. Caruthers
Grantsville

To the Editor:

A sound mind, healthy body, and a safe and beautiful environment have been the goals of Maryland Cooperative Extension, GFWC Civic Club of Oakland, FCE/Homemakers, and Lighthouse Inc. On May 4 we join together with the Town of Oakland to present the first "Garrett County Garden and Flower Show." What began as a low-key project is developing into an exciting community event.

As chairman of this event, I am overwhelmed by the enthusiastic response of our nurseries, florists, agencies, and many talented residents. Everyone approached has been anxious to participate and eager to help, starting with the county commissioners, who graciously declared May 4th "Green Thumb Day" in Garrett County.

Lighthouse will host the event in celebration of the opening of their new wing. Consumers and staff have been working and planning for months.

In addition to displays, demonstrations, and mini-workshops, there will be a special children's nature program and a craft/game room manned by 4-H members, homemakers, and high school students who will entertain the children while parents attend the workshops.

Food, entertainment, auctions and drawings. Admission free. On- site parking and shuttle service available from the Oakland Municipal parking lot. "Everything You Need to Know About Gardening," plus special Mother's Day sales, healthy food, and "Music for Fun" by Keyboard World.

We guarantee you will leave relaxed, inspired, and ready to plan your garden, pot a plant, or prune a tree. The time is 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on May 4. Mark your calendar today. For additional information, call 301-334-4459.

To the Editor:

April 1-7 is National Public Health Week. Your readers may ask, "What is public health?"

Public health is a young mother who is receiving services from WIC and Healthy Families Garrett County. It is the information and advice that she needs about how to care for herself and her baby. It's the look of calm in the young woman's face when she realizes that outreach programs like these have resulted in the lowering of infant mortality by 93% since 1900.

Public health is a meeting of community stakeholders, including engineers, law enforcement, emergency services, school board, and health department staff to improve highway safety in our community. In 1996, the number of motor vehicle related deaths in the U.S. had decreased by 90% to 1.7 per 100 million vehicle miles traveled since 1925.

Public health is the parents of a small child who will never know the fear that parents faced in the last century, when epidemics with names like rubella (German measles) and scarlet fever cut their children down like wheat. Because of public health immunization programs over the last 80 years, the word epidemic alone is almost as unfamiliar as the names of those diseases. In 1999, there were "0" cases of measles reported in Maryland.

Public health is a senior citizen taking a walk through one of our parks and stopping to drink the clean water that flows into the fountain, and then eating a picnic lunch that was prepared in a local restaurant's commercial kitchen that meets health and safety requirements. Clean-water programs, health safety inspections, and a hundred other public health efforts are so seamlessly woven into our lives that sometimes we can forget that life expectancy, for all Americans, is now longer that at any time in our history.

Public health is the planning being done nationally, regionally, and locally to prepare for acts of bio-terrorism. It is the look of resolve on our health officials faces when they prepare for the worst, yet hope for the best.

In summation, public health is the community working together for a healthier tomorrow.

To the Editor:

As spring approaches, and we begin to see signs of renewal all around us, I would like to call upon the members of our community to make a renewed commitment to ending violence.

In the domestic violence/sexual assault advocacy community, April is a very important month. We recognize it as National Sexual Assault Awareness Month, National Child Abuse Prevention Month, and National Crime Victim's Rights Week (April 21-27). Hence, as we enjoy the coming of spring and the rebirth of nature, we also vow to renew our commitment to ending these crimes, and to helping victims become survivors.

Every two minutes, somewhere in America, someone is sexually assaulted. These perpetrators are not masked men, hiding in dark alleys in the city. Seventy-six percent of them are acquaintances or family members of the victims. Equally as horrifying is the fact that 70% of sexual assaults are never reported to law enforcement.

It is estimated that 15 out of 1,000 children were victims of substantiated abuse in 1999, and that four children per day died as a result of abusive injuries and neglect.

Between one and three million women are abused by a husband or intimate partner every year. Male victims of abuse account for about one fifth of this number. Over 50% of abusive households have children under the age of 12 in the home, and over 70% of these children are experiencing physical abuse and neglect. All of these children are experiencing psychological consequences as a result of the domestic violence.

Forty percent of high school teens, ages 14-17, report having a friend who has been hit or beaten by a partner.

In light of these harsh realities, you may ask, "What can I do about it?" There are many things. Become educated about the issues by contacting your local advocacy agency; volunteer at the agency; be aware of your child disciplining style, and seek help to learn ways of improving; educate others as you become educated; report suspected child abuse to your local department of social services (don't turn the other cheek); report domestic violence incidents to law enforcement (you may be saving a life); never believe that these things do not happen in a small community; never tell yourself that it is none of your business; and get actively involved.

Domestic violence, sexual assault, and child abuse are crimes. Every crime has a victim and every victim needs our help. To show your support for victims and survivors, and to take a step toward becoming an advocate, stop by the Dove Center business office to pick up a free teal (sexual assault) and blue (child abuse) ribbon to wear during April.

The Dove Center offers confidential services, including: emergency shelter, a 24-hour help-line, group and individual counseling, medical and legal advocacy and accompaniment information, and referral to other agencies, outreach offices in Grantsville, Kitzmiller, and Hoyes, a speaker's bureau, and abuse intervention services. For more information, please call 301-334-9000.

Thank you for supporting our mission,

In recent weeks George Falter published several personal attacks on public officials. It is one thing to attack public officials justifiably with accurate facts as John Hinebaugh (and I) did some years ago. In the Fousek case after John produced evidence eliminating professional risks the lawyer who previously dismissed him as a gadfly came on board for pay and positive public exposure in one of the niftiest win-win moments in recent county history. John Hinebaugh had the details and he had them right.

Where are the details supporting recent charges by George Falter?

MEMORY AND DESIRE

It is harder to be ready for spring, feeling, as I do, that we had no winter. Parts of my yard never quite went properly brown. There are people who have no appreciation for the biting wind or being snowed in or the bleak beauty of the world painted in greys, but I am not one of them. I enjoy a good cold snap when the mercury drops below zero.

Blizzards are good occasions to do much and nothing. In our 24-hour-a-day culture there is no time. We are busy beyond belief. A good winter provides antidotes to such nonsense as we have come to think life to be about. Yes, I am for power outages as well. They are reminders not to grow too dependent upon the tenuous supply lines of energy and communication.

But we have not had such a winter. The winter we did have was like the recession which as it was ending, we were told, never existed. Daylight and jobs were briefly in short supply, but that was nothing. The days have grown long again, and jobs more abundant. It is spring, after all, April even.

The poet, T.S. Eliot, called April "the cruellest month, breeding/ Lilacs out of the dead land mixing/ Memory and desire, stirring/ Dull roots with spring rain." That view seems a little harsh on first reading, even to someone who loves a good winter.

What Eliot meant, I think, was precisely that April is so enticing. April is synonymous with possibility. Something awakens in the soul, a greening that leads a person to hope. Memory and desire converge in that hope. It was that which made Eliot feel hopeless. In April he remembered, and longed for what did not exist in the present.

Shakespeare captured something of that in Sonnet 3, "Thou art thy mother's glass, and she in thee/ Calls back the lovely April of her prime." It is, however, a prime which the mother shall never see again. That is the cruelty of memory. At the same time, Shakespeare rightly recognizes that memory awakens desire, which must, inevitably, be disappointed, and thus the second cruelty.

April is a month for planting and wooing. It is also a month for restraint. The temptation is ever present to do too much, to over reach the circumstances. Farmer and lover alike have had the experience, in the words of Coleridge, of the "April hoarfrost spread." A few crops thrive on a little frost, but most need the dependably warmer days of May.

It may be that God has given us April to teach us temperance. We are tempted by April, like bears after a long hibernation, to think we ought to have what we want, and to think we can get it while being grouchy. Suddenly, we are chastened. A chill wind drives us to postpone our picnic and the wearing of summer clothes. The winter that was not hangs briefly in the air. Its retreat is certain, but not without having first spanked us and sent us to bed.

The poets are hard on April because the birds and bees are active, and poets think that they should be too. And who of us does not have the heart of a poet in April, even if the gift of the heart never makes its way into words?

In April we remember all the lovely spring times of life as if there had never been any other kind of spring. The older we become, the more that the spring times of long ago seem as one long season of love and easy companionship. It is a mercy of life that we forget life's troubles, if we let go of them. Memory prefers the good, the beautiful and the true, and works while we sleep to dismiss into perpetual darkness those unhappy times which were numerous enough even in the best of seasons.

Those happy recollections awaken longing. I have sat by deathbeds, and have never met a stranger to desire. As long as there is consciousness, desire perseveres. After that, who knows? The fear that is felt near death may be partly for that darkness which is not quite death. Is that penultimate darkness like the forest of fairy tales where lurk all that was unhappy, driven from society, but hungrier and more vicious for that?

The fields green. The forests gain an aura of red before they burst into verdant leaf. From the edge of the wood the redtail hawk flies forward, poid, majestic and terrible. He dives, and plucks from life his next meal. It is April, and hawks too must rear their young. The clear sky is empty again, pure azure woven by the wind.

This is April, axis on which nature turns. Light lengthens for every labor. Frolic too is labor or begets labor. In every act upon desire, memory is born again. In every new memory is the seed of desire. Like children they leapfrog from spring to spring.

Housing Discrimination in U.S.; Md. Hits Blacks, Families, Disabled

by Michelle Krupa
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON - Only about 1 percent of all estimated cases of housing discrimination were reported in 2001, and of those that were, most claimed bias against blacks, families with children, and people with disabilities, according to a report released Wednesday.

Maryland advocates said the state mirrors the national picture, but added that a substantial number of residents who wanted to rent or buy a home here also reported that they were treated unfairly because of their age or income or language skills — categories that were not measured by the study.

The National Fair Housing Alliance survey, which analyzed data from private housing agencies and the federal government, found that Americans filed about 23,600 complaints of illegal housing discrimination last year. While the figure is up from 22,100 in 2000, experts said it still is markedly less than what is actually happening.

"Housing discrimination is much more subtle these days," said Michael Mitchell of the Equal Rights Center, which handles cases in the Washington metro area and elsewhere in the state. "It's often done with a handshake and a smile."

But local advocates also said an increasing number of offenses are not so subtle. They said they are getting more complaints from women who said their landlords forced them to trade sex for basic maintenance or utility services. The situation is particularly terrifying, advocates said, because offenders typically have keys to women's apartments.

Landlords wield greater power to discriminate in the Washington and Baltimore areas because of the high demand for housing, Mitchell said.

"Because there is a tight housing market and you might have four or five people interested in the same unit, it gives the housing provider an even greater opportunity to discriminate," he said.

Tracey Gill, fair housing program manager at Baltimore Neighborhoods Inc., said that of the 205 complaints her agency received from across the state last year, most cited veiled attempts to keep minorities and families with small children out of certain neighborhoods or apartment complexes.

In most cases, property managers politely took information from hopeful tenants, then told them vacant units already had been filled. Gill suggested that deception happened more often with small-scale landlords, "who often are not part of the bigger professional organizations who really pay attention to the fair housing laws and make sure their members are in compliance."

"They probably are going to be the most blatant violators of the law," she said.

Larry Lick, who runs Rental Housing Online, said that may be the case with some property managers. Generally, though, small landlords are more likely today to understand their responsibilities than they were when Congress passed the nation's first fair-housing law three decades ago.

"Mom-and-pop landlords certainly did not understand fair-housing laws in the old days," said Lick, who noted that more than 100 small Maryland landlords receive regular information from his Internet service.

"Now they have so much more information, so much more education," he said. "They no longer have an excuse for not knowing."

Debbie Hager of the Maryland Association of Realtors said continuing education and a strict sanctioning process for violators has made real estate agents more aware of their responsibility to uphold federal fair-housing standards.

But Shanna Smith, executive director of the National Fair Housing Alliance, said that only a major investment by the federal government would help eliminate housing discrimination.

"We're not getting better, we're getting worse," Smith said. "But change could happen if Congress would appropriate more money . . . to investigate the complaints they do get and to advertise to get more complaints."

Mitchell stressed that however it happens, tenants should become educated about fair housing and landlords should face stiff punishments if they break the law. Much more is at stake for residents than just a roof over their heads, he said.

"When people are denied the opportunity to live where they want to, they're often denied much more than just that particular unit," Mitchell said. "It affects where their children will go to school, who they will associate with, their opportunity to access transportation to get to jobs."

125th Anniversary

MARYLAND HOUSE OF DELEGATES

House Resolution

Be it hereby known to all that

The House of Delegates of Maryland

Offers its sincerest congratulations to

THE REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER

in recognition of

125 YEARS OF DEDICATED JOURNALISM AND OUTSTANDING SERVICE TO THE CITIZENS OF GARRETT COUNTY, THE STATE OF MARYLAND AND THE SURROUNDING AREAS

The entire membership extends best wishes on this memorable occasion and directs this resolution to be presented on this 3rd day of March, 2002.

Congratulations to all our outstanding staff!

THE REPUBLICAN* HONORED BY GENERAL ASSEMBLY — Delegate George Edwards recently introduced a resolution in honor of The Republican's 125-year anniversary. The resolution was passed on March 3, 2002, to coincide with the actual launch date of the paper in 1877. Special features about the paper's history were published throughout March, and a readers' survey placed on the archival page has resulted in about 150 responses from readers. Thanks to Delegate Edwards for his kind gesture, and thanks to our readers for their support throughout these many years. (In last week's issue, a picture of the current Sincell Publishing staff was published. Two employees were not present for the photo and were not noted: Linda Gibson, receptionist, and Jeremy Carr, a staff member at the Grantsville office. The photograph was taken by Blair Glass. Thank you, Blair!)

it, and we're probably not going to see massive trapping and long-distance relocation anytime soon either."

The delegate, who said he is not giving up on his pursuit of a solution, added that Mother Nature may still have a part to play in the debate as it continues to unfold. "As their population grows, it's hard to see how bears will avoid ranging further and further east in greater numbers. Good bear habitat exists all over the state, and it will be interesting to see how the focus of the debate might change when bears start showing up in suburban areas."

In other legislative developments, the Senate voted to add one Sunday to the deer firearms season. The original proposal had sought to provide for three Sunday hunts during the deer season, but the working on that bill had been amended as well. The added Sunday would fall during the season's first weekend, the day following opening day.

Chamber Makes

administrator look at two particular elements when deciding an agency's budget allocation. They look at what percentage of its budget the group is asking the county to finance and how much the group has in reserve funds, according to Monty Pagenhardt, county administrator.

Pagenhardt pointed out that the chamber was requesting 61 percent of its total $990,500 FY 2003 budget. Last year the chamber received 50 percent of its budget funding from accommodation taxes collected by the county. The chamber had requested $530,000 from the county last year for its FY 2002 budget, but was allocated only $450,000. The county officials will review the chamber's request before making a final decision.

The Children of the late
Gay & Elizabeth Loughrie, Aurora, WV
would like to thank the Aurora Community and surrounding areas for the patronage given the establishment of "FAIRLEA MOTEL & RESTAURANT" in Aurora for over 40 years.

The motel ceased operation several years ago, due to age and failing health of Elizabeth. The restaurant continued serving the public under the management of Earl (Now deceased) and wife Betty Moats, along with daughter Sheila until closing March 15, 2002.

FAIRLEA, meaning Fair Meadow, was first started as a tourist home in Aurora under the ownership of the late Dr. George Stemple and wife Bessie McClish Stemple, parents of Elizabeth in the mid 1920's.

As the trend moved from tourist home to motels, Gay and Elizabeth up-graded and built FAIRLEA Motel ½ mile west on Rt. 50 from the original location in the early 1950s. The addition of the restaurant followed in a couple of years to accomodate the increasing needs of the area.

At this time Route 50 was a main artery of travel and business was plentiful. The operation of the motel was managed by Elizabeth, with the constant help of the five daughters and later on son Dennis. Hired help as needed was used at the restaurant along with some at the motel as well.

As travel increased and interstates became a more popular way of transportation, traffic on Route 50 began to diminish, but the repeat visits of guests to the area always remembered FAIRLEA and the down home feeling they experienced while there, along with the peace and tranquility of the countryside. Many friends and acquaintes were made during those years.

Adorable Adoptables

POSED AND READY FOR A NEW HOME is Scottie, on the left, an adult male Schnauzer, who is very nice with people and would be a great companion for another dog, according to animal shelter staff. Bella, who is a 6- to 8-month old mixed breed female, is also looking for the right person to adopt her. She is current on her vaccinations, and is a very sweet and lovable dog. Persons interested in these dogs may call the shelter at 301-334-3553.

AURORA/EGLON

SMORGASBORD AT AURORA

A spring smorgasbord, featuring ham and turkey, will be served at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building from 4:30 until 6:30 p.m. on April 13. Donations for the meal will be $6 for adults, $3 for children 12 and under, except preschoolers who may eat free.

RUSSIAN CHOIR

St. Paul's and St. John's Lutheran churches are hosting a Russian choir from Washington, D.C., that will be presenting a program for the public at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 13, at St. Paul's church in Aurora. Everyone is welcome to attend.

On Sunday morning, April 14, a combined worship service for St. Paul's and St. John's will be held at St. John's, Red House, at 9:45 a.m. This morning service will also welcome visitors.

BLOOD MOBILE

The Red Cross Bloodmobile made a first visit to Aurora on March 28, where it was stationed at the Union Ambulance squad hall. There were 26 units of blood collected, with six donors being turned away or deferred.

The Red Cross staff wishes to thank the public for its cooperation, and Union Ambulance also wishes to thank all of those who became donors, those who tried, and those who volunteered to assist with the effort. It seemed that although this was rather a last-minute effort, it was well received and will probably be continued.

HARSH DEATH

The body of Wilmer Harsh was brought Wednesday to Eglon for burial. "W.E." was the son of the late Nelson and Carrie (Lantz) Harsh, who owned and operated the W.E. Harsh and Son Eglon Farm Service, a Southern States Cooperative affiliate, in Eglon. His death was on Sunday, March 31, at a Cumberland hospital. His son, Don Harsh, Warrenton, Va., and daughter, Carol Imes, of Ft. Ashby, survive.

CLEAN-UP DAY

up day on Saturday, April

The Aurora Historical Society and the Aurora Project will sponsor a clean-6, beginning at 8 a.m. The day will begin at the old Stemple Store in Aurora and move on to the Brookside Inn cottages. Workers are asked to bring shovels, chainsaws, rakes, brooms, and other implements. Trash bags, buckets, and cleaning supplies will also be needed. Those attending are asked to bring a sack lunch.

50TH WEDDING CELEBRATION SET

The 50th anniversary of their marriage will be observed by Keith and Carol Wotring, Aurora, with an open house at the Aurora fire hall on Sunday, April 14, from 2 until 5 p.m. Everyone is invited to join them for this occasion.

MT. GROVE VFD ON THE MOVE

The Mt. Grove Volunteer Fire Department will be moving its trucks to its new facility this Saturday, April 6. The VFD has purchased and remodeled the former Vernon Ball garage on St. Rt. 24, Horse Shoe Run, for its truck bay.

Donations made in March to the Mt. Grove VFD were from Robert Harsh, Mountaintop Cruisers, Weir Roth, Joyce Simmons, Larry Roth, Harold Delaney, and Allegheny Power.

During March the Mt. Grove VFD answered four calls, and attended one county-level meeting and ~~one state~~-level meeting.

Plans are now in progress for its annual ramp dinner, which will be held on Sunday, May 5, beginning at 11 a.m., at the Mt. Grove Community Building.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mary Jane Hanline of Aurora, was admitted Thursday afternoon to Preston Memorial Hospital, and returned Saturday to her home following treatment there.

Wilma Waybirght was taken Thursday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, after having a reported stroke while at Brookside Church. She was released to return to her home near Brookside on Saturday.

Cecil Snyder reportedly remains critically ill at his home on Ben DeWitt Road.

Avenell Parsons of Eglon, underwent colon surgery on Monday at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Dick Miller, husband of Mary Lou Teets Miller, is reportedly critically ill in a hospital near his Franklin, N.Y., home.

Aaron Layman, Orchard Park, N.Y., visited a few days last week with his mother, Lois Layman, Eglon, and other area relatives.

A Saturday overnight visitor with Sheridan and Nina Layman, Aurora, was their son, Charles Layman, Tallahassee, Fla.

Visiting with Homer and Marguerite Myers, Aurora, were their daughter and her husband Alan, and Mary Teets, Middletown, Del.

Elizabeth Wotring, a student at Boston Conservatory of Music, was a holiday guest with her parents, Tom and Carolyn Wotring, Aurora, and other family including sister Rebecca who is a Fairmont State student.

Tina Fint Bellingham, Wash., and her friend Brian, were holiday guests of Tina's parents, Carl and Betty Fint, Aurora.

Courtney Fint of New York City, where she is in graduate school, was also a holiday visitor in Aurora with her parents, Joe and Stacy Fint, and her sister and brother, Becca and Joe.

Kirk and Anita Lantz, Ben and Becky, and Martha Bolyard, went to North Carolina, where the Lantzes visited their sons, Brian, Kay, Ron, and Kamron Lantz at Newton, and Jeremy and Jill Lantz at Statesville.

Easter Sunday dinner guests of Wilda Stemple in Aurora were her family: Eugene, Linda, and Adam Wilt, Rowlesburg; Beverly Whetstone, Arthur; Travis, Sharon, and Logan Wilt, Fayetteville, N.C.; Arthur, Janice, and Lora Forman, Amboy; Tom and Kathy Barr, St. George; Jeff Bar and his friend, Stacy Hamrick, Morgantown; Danny, Martha, and Joshua Poling, and Rachel Wilfong, Parsons; and Steven Wilt and his fiancee, Lisa McDade, and daughter, Caitlin, Oakland.

Clayton and Dorothy Hauser, Terra Alta, were Sunday guests of Mark and LaDeana Teets, Tom and Lindsey, Eglon.

The Aurora Volunteer Fire Department acknowledges Allegheny Energy for its recent contribution.

Easter Sunday visitors with Mrs. Jessie Winters, Eglon, were all of her children and their families, Neil and Bonnie Witners, Lois Layman, and Rhonda Channell.

Jubilators To Give Concert At Trinity UMC

The Jubilators Gospel Quartet will present a message in song on Sunday, April 14, at the Trinity United Methodist Church, located along Rt. 7 in Terra Alta. The program will begin at 7 p.m.

The southern gospel singers from Cumberland perform approximately 100 engagements each year, according to a spokesperson.

For more information, persons may contact Rev. Ernie Metheny at (304) 789-6709.

Trademarking Seminar Set In In Tucker Co.

The Tucker County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a seminar on selecting, protecting, and using trademarks and service marks that will get under way at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, April 17, at Blackwater Falls State Park in Davis. The seminar will be presented by Elizabeth Seltzer, an attorney working in the field of intellectual property.

Seminar topics will include: distinguishing trademarks, trade names, service marks, and domain names; identification of what qualifies as a mark, and determining the type and strength of the mark; determining if others are already using a given mark; how to gain a mark's rights and determine the scope of those rights; the benefits of registering a mark with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office; and measures that can prevent others from using a mark.

Seltzer's legal experience includes employment with the law firm of Williams and Mullen, where her practice focused on trademark portfolio development and management, trademark prosecution and the trade-related aspects of intellectual property. Prior to joining Williams and Mullen, Seltzer was a trademark examining attorney with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. She was also an attorney advisor with the U.S. International Trade Commission, where she provided analysis and advice to U.S. businesses seeking relief against foreign imports, including imports that infringe intellectual property rights.

The seminar is open to the public for a registration fee of $10 per person. Tucker County Chamber of Commerce members can attend at no charge. To register, persons may call the Tucker County Chamber office at 304-463-4774.

Miss Fireworks Pageant Slated

Success For Youth Program Serves Many

The Garrett County Success for Youth Program (GCSFY) is a partnership between the Garrett County Board of Education, Garrett Community College, and the Western Maryland Consortium. Leaders of the program are working to promote the services offered in the program and have submitted an update on its status.

GCSFY targets youth between the ages of 14-21 and consists of four distinct elements: an after-school tutoring program for in-school youth, a daytime remediation program for out-of-school youth, life skills training for both in-school and out-of-school youth, and the Summer Youth Employment & Training Program for all youth participants. A grant for the program is funded by the Workforce Investment Act.

The program focus is on "retention" for the youth in the public school system and "recovery" for those who have left the traditional educational system, a spokesperson said.

For those currently enrolled in the school system, tutoring is provided one evening per week at both Northern and Southern Garrett high schools. Incentives for academic goals reached or outstanding effort put forth are provided weekly, along with refreshments for the young participants.

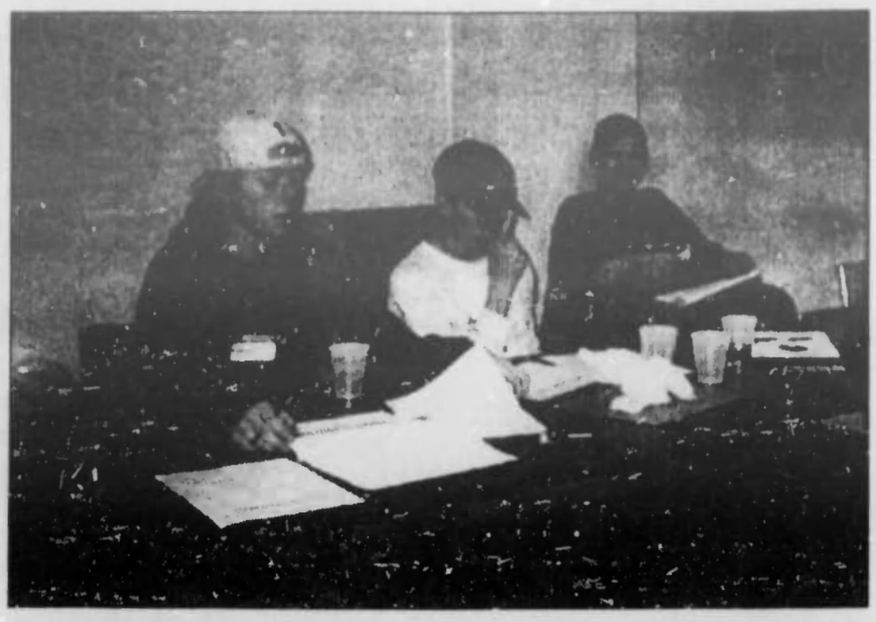
Life-skills workshops are also offered to provide important information on customer service, occupational skills, and work readiness training. These workshops assist youth in the transition from school into employment or college, the spokesperson said.

Classes for GED (general educational development) testing are provided for youth who have left the traditional school setting. After obtaining this credential, these students can be transitioned into a paid work experience up to a maximum of two months. Assistance is available to help them locate private sector positions or continue their educations at college. The program provides enrichment experiences through field trips and tours of local colleges.

The Summer Youth Employment Program is available to all the GCSFY participants. They have opportunities to work at the local parks, schools, or other non-profit agencies in the community. During this summer segment, educational instruction is included in the weekly work schedule based on individual needs, the spokesperson explained.

"GCSFY provides positive learning and work experience for all eligible participants," said the spokesperson. Enrollment is available to qualified applicants. For more information or eligibility requirements, persons may call the Western Maryland Consortium at 301-334-8136.

THE SUCCESS FOR YOUTH PROGRAM offers regular tutoring at both Northern and Southern high schools. Rhonda Tasker, a tutor at SHS, is pictured as she reinforces lessons with participants.



A RECENT LIFE SKILLS WORKSHOP focused on customer service was presented by Lynne Glotfelty and included "storyboarding activities" pictured here. Shown from left are Anthony Coddington, Charlee French, and Patrick Shiflett working as a team and brainstorming for new ideas. Garrett Community College presented all the participants with continuing education credits for completing this program. For information about the Garrett County Success for Youth Program, persons may call the Western Maryland Consortium at 301-334-8136.

Hand Screening Offered Free To Local Seniors

Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Senior Wellness Program is offering a free hand screening on April 10 from 4 to 6 p.m. at Garrett Rehab Services, in the Thayer Center along Route 219 in Oakland.

The screening will be performed by Tawny Cady, COTA/L; and Holly Warn, OTR/L, both from Garrett Rehab. "This screening, which includes a functional test and physical exam, will only take 10 to 15 minutes," said Deana Clester, wellness coordinator. "The screening will check for arthritis and other joint diseases. Some participants may be shown exercises to help increase mobility and others may be referred to a physician or rheumatologist for further testing."

This screening is offered at no charge, however, persons must have a scheduled appointment to participate. To schedule an appointment, persons may call Clester at 301-533-4295.

David Carrick Stockett, 50, and Kathy Jo Stalnaker, 40, both of McHenry.

Shannon James Stemple, 21, Eglon, W.Va., and Julie Marie Savage, 20, Mtn. Lake Park.

William F. Smith, 56, and Lesley W. Summers, 53, both of Somerset, Pa.

Paul Joseph Sebold, 23, Centerville, Ohio, and Courtney R. Drake, 23, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Daniel Raymond Seib II, 25, and Jessica Linn Orr, 25, both of Oakland.

Bruce Daiman Kautz, 38, and Cynthia Louise Owens, 43, both of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Declares For GOP Committee Seat

Ruth Hinebaugh Umbel of the Deep Creek Lake area has announced her candidacy for a seat on the Garrett County Republican State Central Committee.

Umbel has served two terms as president of the Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club (SGCRWC) and three terms as Western Region chairperson for Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties. She is presently serving as state recording secretary for the Maryland Federation of Republican Women's Clubs.

Umbel is a former business owner in Garrett County, developed and designed the first bed and breakfast in the county. She is a reading specialist and special education teacher, and earned a master's degree at Frostburg State University.

The founder and chair of the Wisp Ski Club for its first 10 years, Umbel worked to develop the resort's racing program, including the Wisp Cup and the Bill Ravenscroft Memorial races. Recently she has been helping revitalize the ski club, which has grown to over 100 members. She also developed and coordinated the ski racing programs of Garrett County's schools.

Umbel helped form the Red Run Condominium Association, and presently serves on the association board. She is a member of the SGCRWC and the Deep Creek Lions Club. She volunteers with Cancer Crusade, the Mental Health Association, and the Heart Association. She is a member of the Sand Spring Church of God, where she serves as pianist.

Sherry Gosnell is acting as Umbel's campaign treasurer.

E.T. - THE EXTRA-TERRESTRIAL

Rated PG - Running Time: 2:00 - Re-released 3/22/02

It's difficult to know how to review a classic film when it is re-released 20 years after its debut, especially a film as influential and pervasive as Steven Spielberg's E.T. There almost seems no point in writing my lame little commentary when so much has been said about it and so many films and TV shows have copied, spoofed, or referenced it. But I decided I'll give it my best in order to satisfy my faithful, beloved fans (both of you).

This film was first released in 1982, late in the early period of Spielberg's now legendary directing career, after Jaws, Close Encounters, and Raiders Of The Lost Ark, but before Jurassic Park, Schindler's List, or Saving Private Ryan. He has said that before E.T. he did not intend to have children, but working with Henry Thomas, Robert MacNaughton, and Drew Barrymore (with whom he has remained a close paternal friend) changed his mind. He now has 6 children. When I first saw E.T. I was a college sophomore, and I didn't think I wanted any kids either. I now have three children, the youngest of whom sat on my lap during much of our screening of the film's 20th anniversary re-release. It's interesting how differently I react to the film upon this viewing.

E.T. isn't my favorite movie; it's not even my favorite Spielberg movie, but no one can deny the powerful effect it had on the film industry, our attitude toward extraterrestrial life, and our culture. It (and to a lesser extent its Spielbergian precursor, Close Encounters Of The Third Kind) was the first major "creatures from space" story to treat extraterrestrial visitors as benign, vulnerable, and lovable to humans. Close Encounters left the issue open, but E.T. drove home the point with unmistakable clarity, even drawing parallels between its title character and Christ himself. The message of E.T. is Love Thy Neighbor, even if he comes from another planet.

Written by Melissa Mathison (a.k.a. Mrs. Harrison Ford), E.T. begins with a dark, eerie scene of a spacecraft landing and strange, short, half-seen creatures waddling out and exploring the planet Earth, at least the area of Los Angeles where they landed. Wrinkly, three-fingered hands reach out and pull up plants, strange, gurgly sounds are made, and small naked chests glow with red-orange internal organs. Then the tranquility is broken when Earthbound vehicles (mostly Ford trucks) lurch to a halt and several flashlight-wielding figures get out. The creatures scurry to their ship in a panic, but one is too far away to make it back. As it runs screaming toward its ship, it sees the craft lift off and disappear into the stars. The creature is left behind.

Next we see a family playing a noisy game, and a 10-year-old boy named Elliot (Thomas) goes outside into the dark and discovers something in the backyard shed. It turns out to be the creature, lost, scared, and alone. After a face-to-face meeting and several mutual screams, Elliot sees the importance of having an extra-terrestrial friend. He hides the alien in his room and shows it to his siblings, teenager Michael (MacNaughton), and 6-year-old Gertie (Barrymore), who have similar reactions of fear turning to fascination. Harboring the creature (whom he dubs "E.T.") in his closet without the knowledge of his single mother (Dee Wallace), Elliot teaches E.T. about earthly things, and the creature learns very quickly how to speak rudimentary English. As they grow closer, Elliot and E.T. begin to share a sort of symbiotic relationship, simultaneously experienceing various physical and emotional symptoms, a fact that proves to have graver consequences than it first seems.

Beyond the well-known excellence of this film, its effects, and the amazingly real performances of the starring children and the animatronic/puppet creature (whose voice was performed, uncredited, by Pat Welsh and Debra Winger), it is interesting to consider the ways in which watching the film itself, the original document, if you will, is different, given all that we know now. For example, seeing little Drew Barrymore in one of her first major motion picture roles, acting and reacting and doing her famous family proud at the tender age of 6, and being truly affected by the experience, is astounding. Given what we know now about her difficult and tumultuous life after this film was over, the drug problems, the years of B-movies and rehab, before she came into her own as a young woman and regained her life, how differently we view her innocent and angelic and beautiful E.T. performance. Mentioning Barrymore, of course, reminds us of the genius of Steven Speilberg, the director who was able to draw that performance out of her and the talented young actors who played her older brothers. When you see the performances of those children, you imagine what must have occurred offscreen, what kind of relationships were built and what boundaries were broken.

Before all the E.T.-related merchandising and theme park rides, TV commercials and T-shirts, there was E.T., the film, character, the idea. The fact that this version has a few more scenes or a newly digitized soundtrack doesn't make that much difference to me, but it's important to see it again on the big screen, and offers an opportunity tell your kids, or your grandkids, how different things were when it first came out. ★★★★★

PANIC ROOM

Rated R - Running Time: 1:52 - Released 3/29/02

It's unfortunate that Jodie Foster, one of my favorite actors who has done such great work in films like The Accused, The Silence Of The Lambs, and Contact, should choose to star in such a dumb thriller as Panic Room. But Foster apparently wasn't the first choice for this film, directed by David Fincher (The Game, Fight Club); she reportedly replaced Nicole Kidman, who was suffering from a knee injury sustained while filming Moulin Rouge. Written by David Koepp, co-writer/director of Stir Of Echoes, Panic Room's script is one of those frustrating types that takes an interesting idea and nearly ruins it with plot holes and logical discrepancies. Instead of being scared, we end up counting the characters' dumb decisions. There are plenty to go around.

Panic Room begins with a short prologue in which recently divorced single mom Meg Altman (Foster) and her teenage daughter Sarah (Kristen Stewart) move into a huge Manhattan house. The spacious, three-floor home has an elaborate security system installed by the paranoid previous tenant, including a secret room in which the residents may take refuge if there are criminal intruders. Fashioned out of thick, reinforced steel, this "panic room" is actually more like a maximum security prison cell, but includes a secure phone line, numerous TV monitors showing views of nearly every inch of the house, a toilet, and enough provisions that you can camp out there if your burglars decide to take up semi-permanent residency, as burglars so often do. Meg is understandably creeped out by the room, especially since she suffers from claustrophobia, but she doesn't think she'll ever need it. Then, in the middle of their first rainy night there, wouldn't you know it, someone breaks in.

The three burglars (leader Jared Leto, security system specialist Forest Whitaker, and general bad guy Dwight Yoakam) are after $3 million which is hidden in the house, and it is only after Meg and Sarah lock themselves in the panic room that we learn the money is in there with them. Thus begins a chess game in which the burglars, whom Meg can see but not hear, try to get her to come out and give up the dough, and she and Sarah, who can be heard but not seen (there is a P.A. system), try to get them to leave. But there are complications on both sides of the door, as the criminal trio's disagreements threaten to upset their operation and the two victims face a life-and-death struggle unrelated to the events outside.

This is undoubtedly a clever premise, but the story is so riddled with stupid choices by the characters its effectiveness as a thriller is compromised. One finds oneself thinking over and over, "Why doesn't (s)he just..." These mental lapses are committed by all characters alike; the only reason the film is remotely enjoyable is the calibre of acting, especially on Foster's part, and director Fincher's admittedly impressive knack for good cinema. Used especially in the first half of the film when the tension is created more by atmosphere than action, the distinctive camera work features continuous tracking shots moving through keyholes, coffee pot handles, solid walls and floors, giving a sense of what is going on at the same time in various parts of the cavernous home.

All in all, Panic Room is in equal parts creepy and humorous, tense and preposterous, scary and unlikely. But even if it often misses the mark on the thriller elements, it is at least stylish enough to be watchable. ★★★½

DEATH TO SMOOCHY

Rated R - Running Time: 1:41 - Released 3/29/02

Midway through Danny DeVito's Death To Smoochy, a character looks skyward and cries out, "Oh, God, what does it all mean?!" I couldn't have said it better myself. Written by Adam Resnick (Lucky Numbers), Smoochy tells the strange tale of a kids' TV host whose high moral standards nearly get him killed by just about everyone he knows. Like Numbers, this film's trailer makes it look like a laugh-out-loud comedy, but it's much darker and more surreal, meandering its way through a story that seems like a dream (and not in the good way). I don't know if DeVito intended for the film to have such a bizarre structure and jarring sense of pace, but it doesn't help. What does help is having the talents of Edward Norton, Catherine Keener, and Robin Williams, who at least lend energy and enthusiasm to their roles.

The film starts with popular New York City children's TV host Rainbow Randolph (Williams), whose high ratings and stellar reputation come crashing down when he's caught taking a bribe in an F.B.I. sting. His show is canceled and he's sent packing, and network execs Frank Stokes (Jon Stewart) and Nora Wells (Keener) begin brainstorming to find a replacement. Told to find a host with a squeaky-clean reputation, they sign Sheldon Mopes (Norton), a.k.a. Smoochy The Rhino, an herbalist and activist whose unorthodox methods (that is, wearing a homemade purple rhino suit and singing childlike songs about addiction to the residents of the local methadone clinic) hasn't gotten him anywhere so far.

The Smoochy show is a huge hit, but Sheldon becomes increasingly concerned about the commercialization of his name and likeness. Devoutly opposed to preservatives and processed foods, he insists that the cookies and other products with the Smoochy endorsement contain all-natural ingredients and be produced in environmentally friendly ways, and he flatly refuses to perform in an ice show booked by his agent (DeVito). This causes great concern, as the show was to be sponsored by a shady charity run by crime lord Merv Green (Harvey Fierstein), who is in the habit of sponsoring such shows and skimming large amounts of money off the receipts. Meanwhile, Rainbow Randolph, who blames Smoochy for the downfall of his career, becomes more and more desperate to off the Rhino and return to his place at the top of the heap.

Believe it or not, I've hardly scratched the surface. There are other characters, like an addle-brained ex-boxer (Michael Rispoli), a tavern owner with mob connections (Pam Ferris), and a midget extra (Danny Woodburn), all of whose interaction brings about numerous headache-inducing caveats in the story. The result is that at some point or another almost everyone wants to kill Smoochy, save for the teeming masses of pre-school children who crowd eagerly around him and wait for their cookies in a disturbing ecstasy of anticipation.

Director DeVito has referred to this film as "a cross between Barney and Pulp Fiction." He wishes. His handling of this quasi-operatic essay on the multi-faceted nature of commericalism that surrounds children's television is alternately passionate and pallid, but the whole experience has a made-up-as-they-went-along feeling, giving us the uncomfortable sensation of watching a work in progress that should have been kept under wraps until it was finished. Norton, Keener, and Williams all sparkle at one time or another, but their characterizations are intentionally conflicted, forcing them to make unbelievable personality switches at the last moment. In short, Smoochy deserves a quick and painless execution, which is, ironically, exactly what it will get. ★★★½

GARRETT COUNTY NOTICE OF A PROPOSED PROPERTY TAX INCREASE

The County Commissioners of Garrett County propose to increase property taxes.

1. For the tax year beginning July 1, 2002, the estimated real property assessable base will increase by 5.4%(a) from $1,651,596.171(b) to $1,741,235,705(c).
2. If Garrett County maintains the current real property tax rate of $1.036(d) per $100 of assessment, real property tax revenues will increase by 5.4%(e) resulting in $928,666(f) of new real property tax revenues.
3. In order to fully offset the effect of increasing assessments, the real property tax rate should be reduced to $.983(g), the constant yield tax rate.
4. The County is considering not reducing its real property tax rate enough to fully offset increasing assessments. The County proposes to adopt a real property tax rate of $1.036(h) per $100 of assessment. This tax rate is 5.4%(i) higher than the constant yield tax rate and will generate $928,666(j) in additional property tax revenues.

A public hearing on the proposed real property tax increase will be held at 11:00 a.m. on April 16, 2002 in the County Commissioners Meeting Room, County Courthouse, Oakland, MD. The hearing is open to the public, and public testimony is encouraged. Persons with questions regarding this hearing may call 301-334-8970 for further information.

There are certain municipalities within the County which have different county tax rates. The above revenues and tax rates are county wide, excluding municipalities with different county tax rates. The following chart provides the corresponding information and tax rates for those municipalities.

LIBRARY NEWS

The new adult fiction titles that have been added to the Friendsville Library include: Second Chance by James Patterson, Cottage by Danielle Steel, Acro-Master the GED, and Petersons GED Success 2002.

In adult Christian fiction, the new books are: Cape Light by Thomas Kincaid, Warmth in Winter by Lori Copeland, Distant Beacon by Janette Oke, English Ivy by Catherine Palmer, and Tender Vine and Sweet Boundless by Kristen Heitzmann.

New titles in audio books are: Second Chance by James Patterson, If Death Ever Slept by Rex Stout, Reunion in Death by J.D. Robb, Thursday's Child by Sandra Brown, and Cottage by Danielle Steel. There is a waiting list for these audio titles. Those who wish to be placed on the waiting list should contact the library at 301-746-5663.

The library is beginning a spring reading club, Race to Read, for Friendsville Elementary School, Friendsville After-School Program, and Friendsville Head Start. The children are asked to read, have books read to them, or complete 10 activities that deal with the theme. Certificates and prizes will be given to those who finish by the end of the summer. There will be an indoor drag race track at the library, as well as special activities throughout the summer.

APRIL IS TECHNOLOGY MONTH in Garrett County, proclaimed the county commissioners this week during their public meeting. The proclamation was issued to acknowledge recent technological growth in the county and upcoming events. For example, the Garrett Information Enterprise Center (GIEC) will soon be completed at Garrett Community College, which will provide spaces for start-up technology businesses. GCC will also be hosting the Technology Opportunity Conference on Friday, April 19. Additionally, the commissioners acknowledged training programs implemented by the Board of Education and GCC that "continue to strengthen the skill base of local community members." The Garrett Computer Adoption Project was also cited by the officials. The project provides residents who do not own computers access to one. Pictured above, left to right, with the proclamation are Commissioner Wendell Beitzel; Commissioner Fred Holliday; Frank Shap, Garrett County Economic Development Information Technology coordinator; and Commissioner Ernie Gregg. # Huskies Axe Maples; Fall To Wildcats, Panthers, Sentinels Northern High School's varsity baseball team started the week off with a big 11-5 win over Mapletown Friday, before dropping a pair of Saturday Easter Tournament contests to Williamsport 8-6 and the Hancock hosts 9-5, and yesterday's outing at Fort Hill 14-8. NHS has a 1-4 record heading into this afternoon's scheduled home game with Salisbury.

So far this year the Huskies have put together some of their best offensive performances in recent memory, paced in large part by some fine slugging from seniors Greg Whittemore and Bryan Lenhart, and sophomore Derek Workman. "We're real pleased with our hitting and our run production," NHS coach Phil Carr commented. "Our guys are real confident at the plate, and it shows. However, we have to continue working on our pitching and defense. A lot of our trouble in those two areas can be attributed to a lack of practice; the weather has limited us to just a couple of practices on our own field."

Some superb weather Friday helped the Huskies ratchet their offensive machine into high gear at Mapletown as they cranked out 14 hits. Northern knocked the hosts' starting pitcher out of the game after putting together back-to-back three-run innings over the first two stanza, then showed no mercy to the Maples' reliever, who was rocked for five runs over the final five innings.

Senior Husky infielder Greg Whittemore paced the batting fireworks by blasting an RBI triple, an RBI double, and an RBI single. Outfielder and classmate Elliott Perfetti stroked a double and a single, while outfielder Torrey Poholsky and infielder Derek Workman, both sophomores, each tallied two singles and an RBI.

Junior Danny Vagnetti picked up the win by striking out five and scattering eight hits, four of which were infield singles, over the first six innings. NHS reliever Bryan Lenhart, a senior, traded his catcher's gear for the pitcher's resin in the seventh inning to claim the save.

John Buckhalter had three singles and Jason Kovach had two singles for Mapletown. Maple starter Drew Denham was tagged with the loss. The only gray area that tarnished the Huskies' win was the five errors the squad committed in the field. NHS coach Phil Carr had commented before the season began that defense would be key to the program's hopes for the year.

Saturday's Easter Tourney at Hancock was a different story from the start for the Huskies, as Williamsport led off with three and four runs in the first two innings, respectively. NHS answered with one run in each of the next two stanzas before the Wildcats notched their eighth and final run in the bottom of the fourth.

Northern cut the margin to two by the conclusion of the battle by tallying two runs in both the fifth and seventh innings. After scoring twice in the final stanza, the Huskies had runners perched on first and third with the go-ahead run at the plate, but Williamsport hurler Josh Bowers struck out the final batter to seal Northern's fate.

Williamsport recorded nine hits off NHS sophomore starter Jason Rice, who left the mound after three innings, and reliever Poholsky. Rice was handed the loss. The opponents' Josh Bowers held Northern to five hits while whiffing eight batters to record a complete-game victory. Although Northern committed three errors, Williamsport recorded five fielding miscues.

Hancock jumped out to a quick 5-0 lead in the second game by scoring twice in the leadoff inning, once in the second, and twice in the third. Northern got back into the game with three third-inning runs, but the Panthers scored twice in the fifth and the seventh. A Workman single sent two runners across the plate in the bottom of the final stanza to cut the margin to four runs, but it turned out to be too little, too late.

Whittemore threw the first four innings for Northern before sophomore Danny Ellis was called to the mound in relief. Hancock's Chris Robaiz tossed a complete-game, seven-hit win. NHS committed four errors while the Panthers booted the ball three times.

The Huskies had another big offensive performance yesterday at Fort Hill, but some shakey pitching helped doom the effort. The Sentinels scored eight times in the final three innings to obliterate a one-run Husky lead, and most of those runs were either unearned or came with two outs already on the board.

Fort Hill scored three times in the first inning on two-run and one-run singles, then NHS answered with a run of its own in the top of the second. In the bottom of the stanza the Huskies gave up three walks, a wild pitch, and later a balk, and the combination of the miscues added up to three Sentinel runs.

NHS rallied in the third inning with five runs on some big hits. Whittemore kicked off the flurry with a run-scoring double, then Lenhart doubled home two runs of his own. A short time later Workman blasted a two-run home run to knot the score at 6-all. In the next inning Northern claimed the driver's seat by scoring once to take a 7-6 lead.

The Huskies' stay on top didn't last for long, however. The bases were empty with two outs in the bottom of the fourth when the roof caved in. Two Sentinel batters reached base on singles, then an NHS error allowed a run to score. Another single scored a second run before FH's Bobby Hadra cracked a two-run trip. The Sentinels recorded another RBI single before the stanza was finished.

NHS scored once in the fifth inning, but the damage had been done. Fort Hill scored twice in the bottom of the sixth inning to notch the six-run victory.

Lenhart had a fabulous game, cracking a double in each of his three at-bats. Whittemore belted a pair of doubles, and Workman added a single to his two-run home run. NHS had a total of 10 hits while Fort Hill tallied 14 hits.

NHS's junior varsity unit lost to Fort Hill this past Thursday by a 19-9 margin. Preston Sisler doubled, and Derek Lowdermilk and Billy Johnson each had two hits for the Huskies. The jayvees lost an 11-10 barnburner the following afternoon at Mapletown, despite Mike Wolf's four-hit performance at the plate, and two hits from Lowdermilk.

The Northern varsity will host Salisbury's Elks at 4:30 p.m. this afternoon, and Hancock is slated to pay an 11 a.m. Saturday visit. NHS travels to Bishop Walsh Tuesday and Beall Wednesday.

Husky Softball Squad Routed By Fort Hill, 11-1

Northern High School's varsity softball team was handed an 11-1 loss at the hands of the Fort Hill Sentinels Tuesday in Cumberland to fall to 0-2. The results of a Saturday appearance in the Smithsburg Easter Tourney were not made available, and yesterday's scheduled home contest with arch-rival Southern High was postponed because of a soggy field.

Fort Hill's runs just kept coming Tuesday, as the Sentinels scored three times in the first inning, twice in the second, five times in the third, and once in the fifth and final stanza. Northern's lone score came in the fourth inning.

The Huskies were held to three hits by the FH pitching duo of Becky Vance and Cari Reed, while Vance recorded seven strikeouts. Northern's individual statistics were not available.

NHS is slated to host Salisbury this afternoon and Allegany tomorrow, with both games getting under way at 4:30 p.m. The Huskies travel to Westmar on Tuesday.

Rams Open Campaign By Crushing Vikings And Trojans

As is usually the case because of Garrett County weather conditions, the opening of baseball season was delayed for the Southern High School varsity Rams; however, Coach Jim Bosley and his squad opened their campaign with a bang this week by sweeping a pair of games from host Petersburg on Saturday, 13-3 and 10-1, and then hammering Hampshire High in Romney, W.Va., on Tuesday, 16-3. The Rams recorded a total of 42 hits in those three games.

The 3-0 Rams were scheduled to play at Preston yesterday afternoon, but that contest was postponed because of a return to foul weather. Their season opener, which was supposed to be played at Keyser on March 26, had to be postponed. That make-up game will be played next Thursday.

Senior Bryson Meyers, who has already signed to play for the Catamounts of Potomac State College next fall, fired a four-hitter in the opener against Petersburg on Saturday, while the Southern offense recorded 13 hits, including home runs by seniors Chad Panther and Brad Palmer.

Meyers also fanned nine batters and walked three in going the five-inning distance. The game was called after five because of the 10-run rule.

The Rams took a 2-0 lead in the first inning, made it 5-0 in the second, and never looked back. Palmer's homer was a three-run shot, and he also had an RBI single. Panther recorded three RBI with his homer and two singles, while Ricky Reams provided a double and two singles for an RBI, Tobi Stoner stroked a triple and a single for two runs, and Kevin Goralski added a pair of singles.

Accounting for half of the Vikings' hits was Ryan Hahn, who had a double and a single for one RBI. John Harman took the loss on the mound.

Bryan Hauser pitched the first five innings of the second game for the Rams before Dennis Tressler came on in the sixth to finish up. The two allowed a total of five hits, and combined for six strikeouts and no walks.

The Rams' 12-hit effort was led by Reams with two doubles and a single, and Goralski with three singles and two RBI.

Hahn doubled twice for the Vikings.

Panther spearheaded Southern's 17-hit barrage of the Hampshire Trojans on Tuesday, going 5-for-5 with a three-run homer, two doubles, and two singles. Meyers had a double and a single, while Joel Helbig and Palmer each singled twice.

Stoner went the six-inning distance on the mound, giving up just three hits and recording 16 of the 18 outs via strikeouts. He allowed three walks.

Getting two of Hampshire's three hits was Bryan Wright, who recorded a double and a single.

The Rams sealed the Trojans' fate early by scoring eight runs in the first inning, and then cut the game short by an inning by recording six more runs in the top of the sixth.

The Rams are scheduled to play at Bishop Walsh this Friday, travel to Fort Hill next Tuesday, play at Westmar on Wednesday, and meet Keyser in the make-up game next Thursday.

Rams Notch Road Kills Over Urbana, 3A Patuxent, Calvert

The unbeaten Southern High School girls' varsity softball team just keeps rolling along on its campaign-opening road swing, as the Rams easily downed Urbana 11-0 on Friday before knocking off 3A powerhouse Patuxent 2-1 and Calvert 5-1 during Calvert's Easter Tournament Saturday. The Rams have won their last 18 straight outings (their last loss was at the hands of a Patuxent no-hitter on April 14, 2001), and have a 4-0 record to date for this season. Yesterday's contest at Northern High was canceled because of the wet weather.

Jennifer Bosley was near-perfect as she tossed a no-hitter against Urbana, and she missed a perfect game by the slimmest of threads — a lone walk. She worked all five innings of the 10-run rule shortened contest, striking out 12 batters along the way.

Urbana's weak defense made it possible for Bosley to cruise from the outset, as the Rams started off by scoring unearned four runs in the top of the leadoff inning. SHS added one run in the second inning, two in the fourth, and four earned runs in the fifth and final stanza, and recorded 10 hits overall. Autumn Uphold, Ashley Liller, and Megan Bernard each had two hits for Southern.

The Rams' roll continued the following day at Calvert as Bosley won both ends of an Easter Tournament twinbill. She led off against Patuxent by hurling a seven-inning three hitter, striking out 15 batters and walking just two. The win was especially sweet for the SHS righty, as she avenged last year's loss to Patuxent's Heather Turner, who had twirled a no-hitter to Bosley's one-hit effort in taking a 2-1 win over the Rams.

Patuxent drew first blood Saturday by scoring a run in the third inning when Jen Lucas, who had reached first on a dropped third strike, scored on a passed ball. Stung but not bitten, Southern knotted the score the following inning when shortstop Ashley Liller beited a double, hustled to third on a fielder's choice, and scored on a passed ball.

Another display of aggressive baserunning helped cinch the win for the Rams in the top of the seventh inning, when Megan Bernard walked, advanced on an error, and sped home on Megan Burner's game-winning RBI single.

The game marked the second timeless pitchers' duel in as many years between Bosley and Turner, who herself tallied nine strikeouts while walking just three batters and giving up five Ram hits. Turner was also her squad's main force at the plate, doubling and singling to record two of Patuxent's three hits off Bosley.

Liller doubled and singled for Southern, and Burner added two singles as well.

As it turned out Bosley was just getting warmed up in that first game, for she cranked the heat up even higher against Calvert in the second contest. She blazed her way to a one-hitter, whiffing 16 batters along the way while not issuing a single walk.

Ram first baseman Jenna Rush blasted a two-run triple to highlight a three-run Southern third inning. Liller and Bosley drew successive walks in the fifth inning, then both scored to make the tally 5-0. SHS's offense scattered six hits among six batters.

It will be back to the bus for the Rams this week, as the squad travels to Berkeley County, W.Va., to play three games against three larger schools. Southern will be taking on host Martinsburg High, University High of Morgantown, W.Va., and Broadway High (Va.).

The battle with Broadway gives SHS its second opportunity in as many weeks to avenge one of the two losses sustained during last year's 22-2 championship campaign. Broadway bested the Rams 8-2 early in the season as Southern committed an uncharacteristic four errors that led to a five-run fifth inning for the opponents.

Southern Grad Earns Honors At Waynesburg

Mike Pamepinto, a former standout athlete at Southern High School, earned a pair of athletic honors last week at Waynesburg College, Waynesburg, Pa., where he is a member of the Yellow Jackets' tennis and basketball teams.

Pamepinto, who is the son of Morris and Diana Pamepinto, Swanton, and a junior at Waynesburg, was named the Waynesburg College Athlete of the Week and the President Athletic Conference's Tennis Player of the Week after going undefeated in singles and doubles.

Playing in the #3 singles slot, Pamepinto blanked opponents from both Bethany and Salem International, 6-0, 6-0, and also teamed with Guillermo Praderaa to take a pair of doubles victories.

Pamepinto, who is the captain of the tennis team, was named Rookie of the Year as a freshman and Most Valuable Player as a sophomore. He is also a member of the Waynesburg men's basketball team, seeing action at the guard position this past season. He came off the bench in 15 games, scored a total of 27 points, and grabbed a dozen rebounds for Coach Rudy Marisa and the Yellow Jackets.

He is a 1999 graduate of Southern High School.

Lakers Swept By Anne Arundel Before Nearly Upsetting Allegany

Three more losses were recorded on the baseball diamond this week by the struggling Garrett Community College team, but the Lakers fell just short of upsetting nationally ranked Allegany College of Maryland in the third of those defeats.

After dropping both ends of a doubleheader to host Anne Arundel on Saturday, 6-0 and 6-3, the Lakers forced the AC Trojans into extra innings in a single game on Tuesday in Cumberland, and then took a 9-6 lead in the top of the 11th inning, only to allow the home team to rally for four runs in the bottom of that frame to record a 10-9 victory. The losses dropped the Lakers to 4-9 overall.

The Laker bats managed only three hits in Saturday's first game against Anne Arundel's Mark Foster, and the GCC defense gave up five runs in the bottom of the fifth.

A double by Joe Walker and singles by Brian Rockwell and Kurt Skacik were the only hits allowed by Foster.

Mike Clemens and Matt Prior combined on a six-hitter for the Lakers, with John Brooks getting half of them, all singles.

The GCC offense played better in the second game, recording a total of eight hits and taking a 2-0 lead in the top of the first on a two-run homer by Ryan Wetzel. But Anne Arundel rallied for one run in the bottom of the first and then put the game away with four runs in the second.

Wetzel also had a single to go with his homer, while Josh Bosley recorded a pair of singles and Dean Altavilla provided a double and scored one run.

Mike Berry pitched 3 2/3 innings of scoreless relief for the Lakers.

The Lakers out-hit Allegany on Tuesday by a 12-8 margia and had victory within their grasp, but a single by AC's Josiah Druckenmiller in the bottom of the 11th that scored pinch-runner Justin Fetherbay stole the game away and upped the Trojans' overall record to 17-2.

It was fitting that Druckenmiller should record the winning hit, as he led AC's eight-hit performance with a solo home run, a run-producing double, and his winning single. He also scored a pair of runs.

Play was sloppy, to say the least, as the Trojans were tagged with nine errors and the Lakers committed five.

The Lakers were down by one, 4-3, after seven innings, but took a 5-4 lead with two runs in the top of the eighth on an RBI single by Joe Carper and two Allegany errors.

The Trojans reclaimed a one-run lead, scoring two runs in the bottom of the eighth on Druckenmiller's RBI double and a run-producing single by Dennis Markle.

Garrett sent the contest into extra innings by knotting the score at 6-6 with a run in the ninth, as Joe Walker reached on an error and later came home on a double by Altavilla.

The 10th frame was scoreless, and the Lakers appeared to have won the game by scoring three runs and taking a 9-6 advantage in the top of the 11th. Josh Bosley initiated the spurt with a single, after which Walker reached on an infield error. Wetzel then singled home Bosley, Altavilla followed with a single to plate Walker, and James Funk singled to bring home Altavilla.

Allegany's four-run rally began with back-to-back singles by Keith Naylor and Dennis Hine, followed by a walk by Scott Kintz to load the bases. Matt Wright then drew a walk to force home Naylor, and a Dan Miller connected for a fielder's choice that scored Hine. An RBI single by Mike Park tied the game at 9-9 and set up Druckenmiller's winning single to left center.

Marty Rakaczewski upped his personal mark to 7-0 when he took the mound for Allegany in the eighth inning, allowed two earned runs, and struck out two. Taking the loss was Mike Berry, who came on in relief in the 11th inning. Matt Prior and Chris Fisher pitched until the 11th, allowed just four hits, and recorded eight strikeouts.

Altavilla led the Lakers' hitting effort with two doubles and two singles for four RBI. Bosley finished with a double and a single, and Wetzel rapped two singles.

The Lakers will try to get back into the win column this Saturday when they host CCAC South in a noon doubleheader. Tai will entertain Hagerstown CC on Sunday, also in a twinbill, and host Allegany next Tuesday in another single game.

Ram Teams Finish Second In Opening Meet At Keyser

The boys' and girls' track and field teams of Southern High School opened their 2002 campaigns in a meet hosted by Keyser on Tuesday. Both squads finished in second place behind their hosts, the Golden Tornadoes.

The Southern boys recorded 49 team points, while Keyser won with 71. Frankfort was third with 30 and Westmar placed fourth with three points. In the girls' meet, the Rams recorded 51.5 points, Keyser had 65, and Frankfort was third with 26.5.

First places for the Southern boys were recorded by Adam Miller in the 800 run, who finished in 2:21; Billy Schmidl in the long jump, with a distance of 18'3"; the 800 relay team, consisting of Sean Buckle, Hillen, Schmidl, and Hinebaugh, with a time of 1:41; and the 3,200 relay team, consisting of Shaffer, Craig Conroy, Steve Knepp, and Miller with a time of 9:28.

Hinebaugh finished second in the 100 dash, Miller was second in the 1,600 run, Matt Stephens was the runner-up in both the long jump and high jump, and Riley was second in the 200 dash. The Rams' 400 relay team was also second.

Pacing the Southern girls were Natalie Domenick, Justine Pagenhardt, Melissa Durst, Emily Cosner, and Shannon Browning. Domenick won the 800-meter run in 2:55.29 and was a member of the winning 3,200 relay team, which recorded a time of 11:13. Pagenhardt was also a member of the winning relay team, and placed second in both the high jump and 1,600-meter run. Durst was on the relay team and placed second in the 400 run, while Cosner was the fourth member of the winning relay team and also placed second in the 3,200. Browning won the high jump with a height of 4'8".

READY TO RUN, jump, and throw are the members of the girls' and boys' track and field teams of Northern High School, who will open their 2002 season this Saturday by competing in the Fort Hill Invitational in Cumberland. Kelly Stewart is the coach of the girls' team this year, while Ron Opel is heading up the boys' program. Members of the girls' squad pictured above include, front row, from left: Carissa Kamp, Brandi Wagner, Devon Harman, and Coach Stewart; second row: Laura Costa, Molly Wolf, Megan Zimmerman, Ruthann Ketner, and Annie Winter; and third row: Britta Lais, Nicole Doerr, Amanda Bowser, and Tiffany Yoder. Boys' team members pictured below include, front row: Shawn Fike, Chris Clever, Joseph Garlitz, Josh Fratz, Ben Hannibal, and Scott Pusateri; second row: Derek Buckel, Josh Swandol, Ethan Devore, Andrew Hady, Chris Harris, and Nick Maxim; and third row: Tom Menges, Jared Resh, Adam Brenneman, Mark Bergatrum, Lee Yoder, Michael Pickrel, and Coach Opel. The Huskies' first home meet will be next Thuraday against Berlin, Univeralty, and Beall high schools, beginning at 6 p.m.

Northern Track, Field Teams To Open Season Saturday

The 2002 track and field schedule for the Northern High School girls' and boys' teams will open this Saturday when the Huskies travel to Cumberland to participate in the Fort Hill Invitational.

The Northern girls, coached this season by Kelly Stewart, are fielding a team of only 14, as three members from last year were lost to graduation and seven others elected to not participate this season. Stewart will be looking to six returning team members for leadership. They include Amanda Bowser, Molly Wolf, Brandi Wagner, Megan Zimmerman, Carissa Kamp, and Nicole Doerr.

Lost to graduation were three top performers, Kristin Lander, Jenny Goehringer, and Malia Collins.

"We are a really small team this year," Coach Stewart said, "but we are working well together. The first-year members are eager to learn, and the returners are very dedicated."

Other team members include Annie Winter, Laura Costa, Devon Harman, Ruthann Kelner, Britta Lais, Tiffany Yoder, and Andrea Jenkins.

The NHS boys' team, coached by Ron Opel, is considerably larger; however, three outstanding performers lost to graduation are Andy Bowser, Ron Lipscomb, and Jason Fickes. Among the better athletes returning are Ethan Devore and Tom Menges.

"We have more people out this year than last," Opel said, "which gives me a lot more flexibility in putting the right people in the right events, rather than just putting someone where they don't belong simply to fill the event.

"The difficult part about having so many rookies is trying to find each of their best events," he said.

Opel expects the toughest competition to come from Fort Hill, Allegany, Beall, and Southern.

"One goal this season is for all of the rookies to mesh well in their events and for everyone to improve throughout the season so we can send at least half of the team to states," Coach Opel said. "Hopefully, the entire team can qualify for the state event. That is always a goal for the season."

Ram Jayvees Begin Season With Two Wins

The junior varsity baseball team of Southern High School opened its 2002 campaign on Friday by rolling over host Keyser in both ends of a doubleheader, 14-2 and 14-2.

Driving in four runs in the first game for the Rams, coached by Tom Bosley, was Jason Weeks, who recorded three of those RBI with a bases-loaded double. Meanwhile, teammate Cory Bosley sent three more runs home with a double and a single, and Billy Reams singled three times.

Combining on a five-hitter were Scott Wildesen and Brad Reese, with Wildesen getting the win, as he pitched the first four innings and struck out seven. The game was called after six innings.

Tyler Graham hit a double and a single for Southern in the second game, Chad Everd provided a pair of singles for two RBI, and Bosley singled twice and scored twice.

Recording a two-hitter were Corey Burrell and Aaron Louden, with Burrell striking out five in three innings and gaining the victory.

The Rams were slated to play a single game at Westmar on Monday, but that contest was postponed until today. They will travel to Beall on Saturday for an 11 a.m. doubleheader.

Track And Field, Bocce Teams To Be Established

Maryland Special Olympics, Garrett County, will be starting track and field and bocce teams at Northern High School. Bocce is a game similar to outdoor lawn bowling.

There will be a demonstration held this Saturday, April 6, from 10 a.m. to noon. The program is directed by Chad Brown and volunteers are needed, with no experience necessary.

For more information, persons may contact Brown at 301-895-3793.

SCOUTS GO BOWLING - Thirty-five Oakland area Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts recently went on a bowling outing at Par-Mett Lanes in Oakland. ## Junior Turkey Hunt Day Set For April 13

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary J. Charles Fox announced today that the second Junior Turkey Hunt will be held Saturday, April 13.

The one-day hunt allows junior hunters, age 16 or younger, to hunt wild turkeys when accompanied by an unarmed, licensed adult 21 years of age or older. Nearly 500 hunters participated in the first annual junior hunt last year.

"Hunting is an activity that brings generations together in the outdoors," Secretary Fox said. "I hope that this year even more adult mentors will take advantage of this opportunity to instill the belief that hunting is not just about taking game — it's about interacting with the natural world and developing a greater appreciation for wild species and their environment."

To participate in the one-day hunt, each junior hunter must possess either a valid Resident Junior Hunting License, a Resident Hunting License, a Nonresident Hunting License, or be exempt from Maryland hunting license requirements. Each junior hunter must be accompanied in the field by an unarmed individual, 21 years of age or older, who possesses a valid Maryland hunting license or is exempt from Maryland hunting license requirements.

Each eligible junior hunter can harvest one bearded turkey on that day. The harvested turkey will count toward the spring season bag limit of two turkeys. Junior hunters are reminded to practice safe hunting techniques, always positively identifying your target before shooting.

The National Wild Turkey Federation (NWTF), a national conservation and education organization dedicated to conserving wild turkeys and preserving hunting traditions, supports Maryland's efforts with junior hunters.

The Maryland Chapter of the NWTF has partnered with DNR to acknowledge those junior hunters who participate. Junior Maryland hunters who participate in this one-day hunt may receive a Junior Turkey Hunter patch by visiting an official turkey checking station and completing a registration form. The Maryland NWTF chapter donated the resources to produce the patches.

For additional information concerning Maryland turkey hunting regulations, persons may consult the DNR publication Hunting and Trapping in Maryland 2001-2002.

For further information about turkey hunting opportunities on public lands, persons may consult the Guide to Public Hunting Lands in Maryland 2001-2002. Both publications are issued to hunters when they purchase a 2001-2002 hunting license, are available at all DNR Service Centers, and can be found on DNR web site: www.dnr.state.md.us. Further information about the NWTF can be found at the NWTF web site: www.nwtf.org.

MDE Gives

western states, according to George. The purpose of the TMDL analysis is to create greater public awareness through fish advisories and to ultimately decrease those emissions, he added.

In December 2001, the MDE issued a fish advisory about eating large amounts of certain types of fish that were caught in some local waterbodies, including Deep Creek Lake.

Commissioner Wendell Bietzel said he was concerned about public overreaction to the advisories, which in turn could hurt the local economy. He pointed out to George that the Chesapeake Bay has much higher toxin levels than Deep Creek Lake, yet was not placed on the advisory list.

George acknowledged that there was more of a risk of being hurt while driving to Deep Creek Lake than from eating the fish in the waterbody. But he added that the MDE wanted to inform the public about any potential risk, no matter how small, which in turn gives the public a sense of control over those risks.

PH levels in waterbodies will also be evaluated and included in the TMDL Program. The level may not be less than 6.5 or greater than 8.5. Cherry Creek and four subbasins in the Youghiogheny River have been declared impaired, due to low pH. Acid mine drainage from abandoned mines contributes to low pH, said George. He added, however, that some waterbodies have always had low levels. Natural conditions are considered during analysis, he added.

The proposed additions to the Maryland TMDL Program will be open for public comment until Monday, April 8. George said, locally, the additions would not have a major impact. For more information about the program persons may call the MDE's Technical and Regulatory Services Administration at 410-631-3680. Information is also available at www.mde.state.md.us.

Springs Church To Host Mtn. Anthems Chorus

The Mountain Anthems Mixed Chorus will present a program on Sunday, April 28 at 3:30 p.m. at the Springs Mennonite Church, Springs, Pa. Under the direction of Menno Beachy, the a cappella singers are from Garrett County and Somerset County, Pa. The group of about 50 singers has held concerts in 23 states, Washington D.C., and Canada and has produced 18 recordings.

Also on the program will be Kevin King, material resource director with Mennonite Central Committee of Akron, Pa., who will tell stories of how food and relief supplies have been distributed worldwide. In March of this year, more than $1 million of aid was distributed.

Children's activities will be available and a light supper will follow the program. Program and meals are on a donation basis.

The program is sponsored by the TriState Relief Sale, an all volunteer effort

Paul Skyland To Perform At FSU

Paul Skyland will bring his acoustic guitar and original songs to Frostburg State University's Lane University Center on Friday, April 12, at 8 p.m. as part of FSU Center Stage's Live at the Loft! Series.

A favorite at college campuses around the U.S., Skyland's career spans a wide spectrum of the music and entertainment industry. Billings with artists ranging in style from Pure Prairie League and The Badlees to Michael Johnson and Orleans have established Paul as a proven commodity in the concert market, according to an FSU spokesperson.

A recipient of the Certificate of Merit by the American Song Festival "in recognition of competence in song writing, originality, technical skill, and talent in composition," Skyland has recorded two albums, Songchild and One to One on the Venture label. He has appeared on the nationally syndicated radio show "Mountain Stage."

For more information, persons may call the FSU Information Desk at 301-687-4411.

FSU Slates 20th Annual Spring Festival Of Children's Literature

The Frostburg State University's 20th annual Spring Festival of Children's Literature is slated for Friday and Saturday, April 26 and 27, in the FSU Lane University Center. Embracing the theme "A Patchwork of Story: Celebrating 20 years of Children's Literature," the weekend event will feature the award-winning authors and illustrators Peter Catalanotto, Floyd Cooper, Patricia Reilly Giff, and Martin Waddell.

Peter Catalanotto, an author/illustrator, started his career at the Pratt Institute in New York City. According to Catalanotto, he tries to write and illustrate his books in a way that "encourages the reader to think."

His book The Painter is a "delightful work of art that deserves a place in every collection," notes The School Library Journal. In addition, Catalanotto has illustrated works by well-known authors including Cynthia Rylant and George Ella Lyon.

Floyd Cooper, an award-winning children's book author/illustrator, began illustrating as a way of complementing his advertising career. His first book, Grandpa's Face, is an American Library Association Notable Book. He was also chosen to illustrate books that deal with discrimination, such as Eddie Lee, the story of a young boy with Down's Syndrome.

"I feel children are at the frontline in improving society," Cooper stated. "This might sound a bit heavy, but it's true. I feel children's picture books play a role in counteracting all the violence and other negative images conveyed in the media."

Because it is "like breathing to me," Patricia Reilly Giff begins each day by writing. Following her graduation from Marymount College, the award-winning author taught for 20 years before deciding to write for children.

"I want the children to bubble up with laughter or to cry over my books," says Giff. She has written more than 60 books, including the Newberry Honor Book Lily's Crossing. Giff is also the author of the book series Kids of the Polk Street School. Her novel, Nory Ryan's Song, was awarded the American Library Association's Best Book for Young Adults.

Northern Ireland native and resident Martin Waddell's life was forever changed when he was injured by a 1969 Belfast bomb explosion. "I became Mr. Mom," he said. "What I didn't know was that I was sitting on the richest vein of ideas."

Waddell's first work, Can't You Sleep, Little Bear? became the first of this award-winning author's Big and Little Bear stories. "It is the most perfect children's book ever written or illustrated," claims The London Sunday Times.

In addition to having written over 100 books for children and young adults, Waddell has worked with outstanding illustrators, including Helen Oxenbury.

Throughout its history, the FSU Festival of Children's Literature has welcomed a "packed house" of librarians, educators, parents, and students, who share their love of children's literature and learn more about the successful ways to share that love with children. "Started by Dr. William Bingham, director of the FSU Children's Literature Centre, to honor two colleagues, this premier event has become a testament to those who care about the art of children's literature and the passing on of this legacy," stated an FSU spokesperson.

This year's agenda includes small-group sessions and large-group presentations. Topics range from using children's literature as bibliotherapy, to using brown bags to help integrate children's literature into students' homes. Participants will have the opportunity to mingle with fellow educators and exchange ideas, purchase books, and learn from the wisdom and experience that the visiting authors share.

In addition to the numerous workshops, the festival includes the R. Margaret Hamilton Children's Hour for children ages 4 to 13, set for Friday, April 26, beginning at 4 p.m. in the Lane University Center. Age-specific programs by the guest authors offer an opportunity for them to share their works with children and to offer guidance in the process of writing, illustrating, and enjoyment of literature. Persons may contact Bruce, Kristy, or Mairead at 301-687-4420 to register for these sessions.

Admission to the festival is limited and by registration only. Pre-orders and autographing for featured books are also available. Persons may contact Bingman at the FSU Children's Literature Centre, 301-687-4420, for information and registration.

The Festival of Children's Literature is administered by the FSU Foundation and sponsored by the FSU Department of Educational Professions and the Children's Literature Centre.

Teen Coffee House To Raise Funds For Youth Center

The Southern Garrett Youth Alliance will host a coffee house for teens (grades 9 through 12) from 7 to 11 p.m. Saturday, April 13, at Our Town Theatre in Oakland. The "open mic night" style event will provide a opportunity for any teens interested in singing, playing music, reading poetry, or in performing standup comedy or a short skit.

The $3 per person admission cost will go toward funding the alliance's proposed youth center. There will be light refreshments for sale. To schedule a time slot to perform, persons may call Yvette Nutter at 301-334-1223.

Daniel Epstein To Be Guest At Writers' Workshop

The Frostburg State University Department of English and Western Maryland Writers' Workshop will feature Baltimore writer Daniel Mark Epstein on Tuesday, April 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lane University Center Room 201.

An award-winning poet, essayist, playwright, translator, biographer, and musician, Epstein has read to audiences throughout Western Europe, Africa, and the United States.

In his most recent collection, The Traveler's Calendar, the poems — by turns mysterious, tender, ironic, and apocalyptic — explore the healing power of poetry in times of crises. "A book of night thoughts, of the poet in the middle of his life peering backward, marveling at the mysteries, dramatizing other lives and daydreaming about his own, crafting his song with a gift and a passion, as he so forcefully puts it, 'for filling/Darkness with music,'" noted poet Edward Hirsh.

Epstein's other recent publication, a biography of American poet Edna St. Vincent Millay titled What My Lips Have Kissed, is a "terrific volume," states The Kirkus Review. "Epstein presents Millay as an erotic dynamo whose serial sex encounters and rich love life inspired her finest poems."

The writer is the winner of the Prix de Rome and a Guggenheim Fellowship, and an author of three biographies and seven volumes of poetry. A reception and booksigning will follow the 7:30 p.m. reading.

This event is free and open to the public. For further information, persons may contact the FSU Department of English at 301-687-4221.

Second "Write Away" Writers' Conference Set

Garrett Community College will host the second annual "Write Away" writers' conference on Saturday, May 11. The conference is for anyone who enjoys writing, regardless of experience, and will be facilitated by local experts in their respective topic fields. This year's conference will include four consecutive seminars, two in the morning and two in the afternoon, with a half-hour break for lunch.

The event's first session, "Writing Your Family Story — Leaving a Legacy," facilitated by Joan Crawford, will take place from 9 to 10:15 a.m. In this session participants will learn how to recall and organize details of experiences they have had, family members they have known, places they have been, and find the best words to tell the story and preserve the memories for future generations.

Crawford, GCC professor emeritus of English, has taught literature and creative writing courses at the college for three decades and currently volunteers to teach family literature and writing courses for special groups of seniors and other adults. As a freelance writer she has had articles published in numerous magazines, and she authored and edited the recently published collection of local veterans' memoirs Remembering World War II.

"Writing Poetry," the day's second seminar, will be presented by local poet Debra Wolf from 10:30 to 11:45 a.m. Participants will learn how to capture a poetic moment and how to use elements of poetry to shape an image with words.

Wolf, who has been writing poetry most of her life, has had her poems published in national journals and has received several awards. She has taught poetry writing short courses at Frostburg State University and at GCC, and she presents poetry workshops in schools in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Following a lunch break, the first afternoon session will get under way at 12:30 as Dr. Greg Jenkins facilitates a "Fiction Writing" seminar. After critiquing fiction stories sent to him in advance, Jenkins will show how a writer converts ideas into stories using description, narration, and dialogue to bring characters to life. Persons who would like to have a short fiction story critiqued in this seminar should mail the manuscripts to Dr. Greg Jenkins, GCC, 687 Mosser Road, McHenry, MD 21541, at least one week prior to the conference.

Currently an associate professor of English at GCC, Jenkins teaches writing, literature and speech courses, and has also taught at FSU and at Potomac State College. He is the author of two books, Stanley Kubrick and the Art of Adaptation, and Night Games, a collection of his short fiction that was acclaimed by the New York Times for its "memorable characters."

The conference will conclude with "Writing Publicity," which will be presented from 1:30 to 2:15 p.m. by Peggy Santamaria. This seminar is designed for persons who write publicity for businesses, community organizations, churches, and schools, and will focus on the most effective ways to write news and feature stories.

Santamaria is employed as the public relations specialist of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. A former staff writer for The Republican, she has written numerous news and feature articles and has authored educational books for the Rosen Publishing Group.

Registration is required for the Write Away conference, with a $10 fee for all four sessions and $5 for any two sessions. All GCC students and high school students will be admitted free. Those who plan to attend both morning and afternoon sessions should bring a brown bag lunch.

For further information, or to request a registration form, persons may call GCC Continuing Education and Training Division program coordinator Carol Dearden at 301-387-3069. Registration forms will also be available at all branches of the Ruth Enlow Library in the near future.

Auditions Set For Keyser's Summer Music Production

Apple Alley Players Inc. has scheduled auditions for April 5 through 7 for the summer 2002 production of the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, South Pacific.

A large cast of teen-age and adult men and women is needed to fill the roles, which include the four leads. In addition, youngsters are needed for the two de Becque children, who are 8 and 11.

Auditions will be held from 6 to 8 p.m., Friday, April 5; 1 to 3 p.m., Saturday, April 6; and 3 to 5 p.m., Sunday, April 7, at Keyser fire station No. 1, at the corner of Mineral and Davis streets in Keyser.

Persons wishing to audition should come prepared to sing a song, do some simple dance steps (except for those auditioning for strictly acting roles), and read from a script.

Persons who cannot attend auditions and want further information, may call artistic director Michael Hartman at 301-777-7130.

Based on James A. Michener's "Tales of the South Pacific," the musical tells the dual love story of Navy nurse Nellie Forbush, who falls for plantation owner Emile de Becque, and Navy Lt. Cable, who is in love with the native Tonkinese Liat.

South Pacific will be presented for at least 11 performances this summer, beginning the last weekend of June.

This season marks Hartman's return to Apple Alley after taking a year off. He has previously directed some of the group's more popular efforts, including The Sound of Music and The Music Man.

Mother, Son To Hold Concert At St. Paul's Church

Mark Thaddeus Franc and Muriel Robinson Franc will be performing "Music for an April Afternoon: Songs of Spring, Love, Hope" on Sunday, April 14, at 3 p.m., at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland.

Mark has performed in Brigadoon, Kismet, Godspell, and West Side Story. As Tony in West Side Story, the Washington Post review commented that his singing of "Maria" was "heartbreaking in its beauty."

Muriel has performed, taught, and directed music for many years. She has performed as soprano soloist with the Pittsburgh Symphony and the Tiny Tots Concert series. Muriel is currently the organist and choir director at St. Paul's.

Local Student Named Poster Contest Finalist

Cassie Moon, a student at Yough Glades Elementary School, was one of 12 winners in the Maryland Association of Realtors' fair housing poster contest. The chosen artworks will be featured in the 2003 Fair Housing Calendar which is distributed to individuals and businesses throughout the state.

In order to help raise public awareness of the law's success in eliminating housing discrimination, the poster contest, named Housing Choices are Free in 2003, was held in schools throughout the state.

Lieutenant Governor Kathleen Kennedy Townsend recently presented the finalists with certificates and a savings bond at a ceremony at the state house in Annapolis.

April marks the 32nd anniversary of the enactment of the federal Fair Housing Law.

"We have a strong commitment within our communities and feel this is an excellent way to help school children understand the need for fair housing for all," said Bill Neary, president of the Maryland Association of Realtors.

Clean-Up Event Set By Landfill, County Officials

To assist residents with their spring clean-up activities, the Garrett County commissioners and the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling have slated a community clean-up event. This service is being offered to county municipalities that presently use the Garrett County Landfill for disposal of its routine curbside refuse collection. The event will also be extended to organized community groups who want to cleanup public lands where refuse has been illegally dumped.

Tipping fees at the landfill will be waived for a one-day bulk collection event conducted by the towns or groups. The event will consist of a single collection per household. Items to be accepted will include white goods, furniture, and other household clean-up items that are not normally accepted in the regular curbside collection programs of the towns.

Prohibited items include commercial waste, liquid waste — including containers of paint — tires, batteries, large automobile parts, yard waste, brush, stumps, and large quantities — over 100 pounds per household — of construction or demolition debris. Also prohibited during this event will be refrigerators, freezers, air conditioners, dehumidifiers, or any other appliance with refrigerant. Residents can bring any of the above items to the landfill at anytime for a fee.

In addition, tipping fees at the Garrett County Landfill will be waived for community cleanups approved by the office of solid waste and recycling. Community groups or organizations may clean-up areas along roadways, streams, and other areas where refuse has been illegally dumped. Cleanup of private property is not eligible under this program.

Municipalities and community groups must obtain approval and schedule the collection events with the office to qualify for the event. The office also requires that white goods and metal be segregated from household refuse or construction debris so that they may be properly disposed of and recycled. Persons may call the office of solid waste at 301-387-0322 for more detailed requirements on this program.

Series Conclusion: High Price To Pay For Smokeless Tobacco

a series by Glenn Tolbert

The women began approaching about the second week that this column appeared. Some approached singly, others felt braver in pairs. It could be on the street or in a hallway. But they all wanted to say the same thing.

"Hey, you have to make sure that you don't just write about cigarettes. My husband chews tobacco and something has to make him stop," they would say.

Most would complain about everything in the house being "sticky" from male hands that had just grabbed a "chew" of tobacco and then handled an item in the home. Others complained about the odor or the stains that many said were really tough to get out.

The women were all right.

Chewing tobacco and snuff don't get in the news much lately. It seems like cigarette smoking is getting all the headlines. Let's change that at least for a few more words.

Smokeless (that chewing tobacco and snuff) use isn't just nasty habits perpetrated on married women by husbands. The kids in Garrett County do a fair amount of "dipping" themselves. Fifteen 12th graders have admitted to the Garrett County Health Department survey-takers that they've used either snuff or chewing tobacco in the last 30 days. Most were probably males. That means their wives will someday have something to complain about in addition to the other, more "normal" male habits.

Maybe the best treatment for these kids and those husbands would be to take a real close look at a mouth filled with cancer. We debated putting a photo of one in this column, but concerns were raised that some people read this paper while eating. So suffice it to say that a mouth with an advanced case of cancer looks a bit like a pair of lips over which scalding water has passed, followed by a swig of red-hot, lead pellets. What's left after a diet like that can only be dealt with medically by a very sharp knife. And that means chopping off major portions of the face.

But you'd never know any of this by the way the stuff is sometimes sold. The few stores that let us take a photograph of their snuff and chewing tobacco display had it nice and tidily stacked. Some had little spotlights on it. It sure didn't look dangerous. With the reds and greens and the lights it looked a bit like Christmas.

So there, ladies. You made your points. And you were right. Tobacco is not a good idea in any form. And with the above we're hoping that you don't feel slighted anymore because we spent so much time on cigarettes and so little on chewing tobacco and snuff.

But the cessation class I have been attending consists primarily of cigarette smokers. And as we gathered for our last class this week we all felt a bit sad. There was real support here. We felt free to tell of relapses or of feeling like we were losing our minds without that cigarette dangling from our lips. We could laugh at this amongst us. We were all going through it. Together.

So how many of us can say we "quit?" We're not sure. We do know that most of us cut back so much that we're now smoking two or three single cigarettes a day rather than a pack or more a day. That's success. It's enough of a success for the lungs and pocketbooks to take serious note.

Before this intrepid reporter was thrown out of some of our finer small stores while trying to photograph the tobacco displays, he did take some notes. They had to do with prices. And you folks more interested in the smokeless kind of poison — keep reading — there's more here for you, too.

If you're going to buy the "top of the line" lung burner, say a Marlboro or such, it's going to cost you $3.88 a pack. At a pack and a half a day, that comes to $174.60 a month. And if I'm pushing my buttons right on this calculator that's . . . wow . . . a lot of numbers a year that I don't trust I did right. That's also a lot of specials over at Dottie's Fountain and Grill or books from the Book Mark'et or . . . it's pretty much almost a car or truck payment.

Okay, you're one of the "smarter smokers" like yours truly. You've figured out that the discount brands don't taste all that much different from those that get all that fancy advertising. Let's run those numbers: Basic Regulars (those are my choice of poison) cost $2.93 a pack. Do you really want me to go through the whole month thing again? I'll do it but if you're waiting for the smokeless material go on and skip ahead. Anyway, a pack and a half of my cigarettes a day cost me $131.85. That's a lot of good eating at the Towne Restaurant or books from . . . . Anyway, you get the idea.

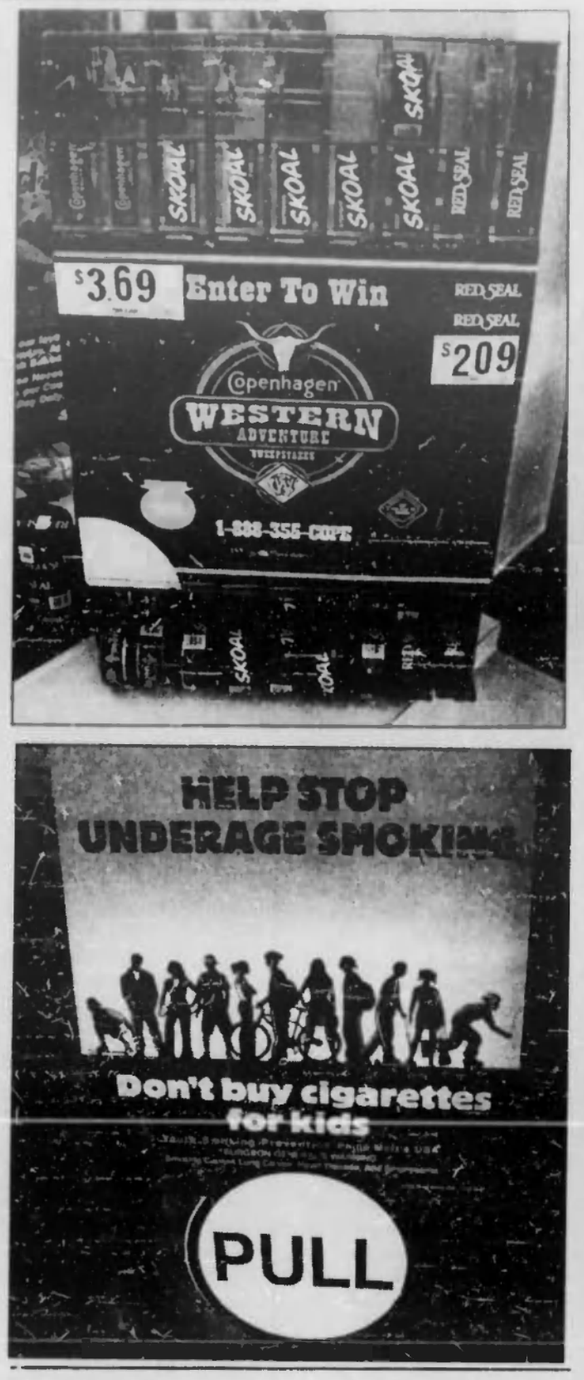
You women who think your husbands are getting "a break" even if they're staining their shirts and leaving the house "stinky" of "chaw". . . pass this through his system for him: One pack of Redman averages $2.41 a pack. Let's be generous and say the old boy only does one a day. That's costing the family more than $72 a month. I'm sure you don't need it, though. Let him spit it out, right?

And you snuff guys. . . you know who you are. Our instructor Mike Wilburn was one of you once. Anyway, the average price on snuff, if you cruise along Rt. 219 worrying about things and stopping at the right stores and asking, seems to be about $2.62. Even if you only do one "tin" a day, that's almost $79 a month being dipped out of the family finances.

Part of the message in the course was if you're going to quit, reward yourself. One woman has her eye on a diamond bracelet. A couple has already bought a truck. And that was long before "graduation night" when each of us received a diploma.

So was it all worth it? Yes. My quit date is April 15. That's not only tax day, it's also my 51st birthday. And it's been an unconscious rule of mine since I was a kid: Old men shouldn't smoke. My father did and as a consequence he never got very old.

I'm smoking about four or five cigarettes a day now instead of two packs. That's a savings for my wallet and my body. So it worked. And it will continue working.



SMOKELESS TOBACCO DISPLAYS seem harmless enough, and are found at a number of local establishments of good reputation. This doesn't lessen the danger of the use of the product, however.

ACCIDENT

BENEFIT DINNER

A benefit sausage biscuit dinner will be held Saturday, April 13, at the Accident fire hall from 4 to 7 p.m. A free-will offering will be taken, and proceeds will benefit Earl (Yogi) Knox to assist with medical expenses. Lutheran Brotherhood Branch #8483 will match $2 for every dollar raised, up to $500. This matching money is available through the Disaster Fund of Lutheran Brotherhood.

ACCIDENT LIBRARY

The lap-sit reading program for infants through 3 years old is held every Wednesday from 10:30 to 11 a.m. The program will continue through May 22.

The pre-school reading program will also continue through May 22 and is held every Wednesday from 11 to 11:45 a.m.

ACCIDENT SCHOOL

The dental health assistant from the Garrett Co. Health department will visit the school on Tuesday, April 9, for the kindergarten, first, second, and third grades.

Greg Latta from Frostburg State will present a music program on Tuesday, April 9, at 1:30 p.m. for the third, fourth, and fifth graders.

The next PTA meeting will be held at the school on Tuesday, April 9, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Kindergarten registration will be held at the school on Wednesday, April 10, in the morning.

Mrs. Cindy Kolbe's class will travel to Garrett Memorial Hospital on Wednesday, April 10.

GCMH QUALITY PATIENT CARE

care is at the heart of the matter

When I needed treatment, all the folks at GCMH made me feel like I was really someone special, not a medical plan number.

For many, healthcare has become a numbers game where insurance and finances are the winners at the expense of your health and care. Garrett County Memorial Hospital holds fast to the ideals of healthcare in a way only a rural hospital could. Our physicians are healthcare providers dedicated to treating the person as a whole—physically and emotionally. Over 50 years ago the philosophy of "a kind and caring heart" set the standard for patient care at GCMH. Through the advances and changes, some things will never change—Garrett County Memorial Hospital, we're here for each other.

SERVICES RESUME AT PARADISE CHURCH — The Deep Creek Lake Ministries recently announced that the Paradise Methodist Church will be reopening this Sunday, April 7, after a winter of combined services with their sister church. Worship at Paradise, located 1 mile from Route 219 along Sand Flat Road, will begin at 10 a.m. followed by Sunday school at 11 a.m. Their sister church, Hoyes United Methodist, located at the intersection of Route 42 and Hoyes Road, will resume their time of worship at 9 a.m., followed by Sunday school at 10 a.m. Persons wanting more information may call 301-387-6832.

"Living With Grief" Broadcast Slated By Hospice, GCC

Hospice of Garrett County and Garrett Community College are teaming to host a local live broadcast feed of "Living with Grief: Loss in Later Life," set for 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 24, at GCC. The 3-hour teleconference will feature the discussion of a panel of experts as they examine ways that professionals can better understand and respond to the needs of older people coping with loss and making critical end-of-life decisions.

"Currently there are more than 35 million Americans over the age of 65, and that number may double by the year 2030," said Jack D. Gordon, chairman of the Hospice Foundation of America. "By gaining a better understanding of the range of losses experienced by older persons, healthcare professionals can provide more compassionate care to those in later life."

The ninth annual teleconference of the Hospice Foundation, the program will provide practical suggestions to professionals who regularly deal with aging clients and their families and friends. The broadcast will explore the challenges and the opportunities that older persons experience when dealing with end-of-life issues.

The panel, moderated by ABC News and National Public Radio journalist Cokie Roberts, will include nationally known doctors and professors, plus hospice staffers, clergy members, social workers, funeral directors, and family members.

Previous Hospice Foundation teleconferences "have been excellent," according to Jane Scaling, director of Bereavement Services at Hospice of Garrett County. "This will be a great opportunity for people in our community to hear from the nation's top experts in the field."

Additional information on the event can be obtained by calling Hospice of Garrett County at 301-334-5151. From the Grantsville area persons may call 1-800-521-5252.

Schmoke, Olesker, Kress Headlining Writers' Conf.

The Maryland Writers' Association (MWA) 14th annual writers' conference will be held on Saturday, April 20, at the Chesapeake Center for the Creative Arts, 194 Hammonds Lane, Brooklyn Park.

"From three time Nebula and Hugo Award winner Nancy Kress to popular Baltimore Sun Columnist Michael Olesker, this year's conference promises to be an exciting one," said Calvin Carter, publicity officer for the MWA. Held each year, the conference brings together writers from across the region for the opportunity to hone their craft by engaging in sessions led by authors, publishers, agents, and publicists from around the country.

A balanced slate of sessions is geared to both published writers and those just starting out, Carter said. The conference, which will run from 8:30 a.m. until to 5:30 p.m., will feature writers such as Gabriella DeGroot Redford, Wendy Sand Eckel, Patrick O'Connell, Vicki Meade, Beth Rubin, and Leslie Ellen Harris, who will host sessions on the art and business of writing.

In addition to the sessions, the MWA will present awards for its annual writing contests. Winners of the book length contest will see their work published by IstBooks.com. Winners of the short fiction and poetry contests will receive cash awards and publication in the literary magazine Scribble. This year's Awards will be presented by Baltimore's former Mayor Kurt L. Schmoke.

Conferees can also make appointments for one-on-one sessions with agents and editors who are traveling down from New York City to meet with writers at the conference.

Registration for this year's conference is $90 for MWA members, $105 for non-members, with a conference/MWA membership package available for $120.

For more information concerning the 2002 Maryland Writers' Association Writers' Conference, or to learn more about MWA, persons may visit the web site at www.marylandwriters.org, or call 410-975-3307.

Letters

plain as loudly and inaccurately as they please, but the vehemence and personal nature of George's charges drew my eye.

Two disclaimers here: 1) George Falter and I are respectfully acquainted; and 2) (apparently) despite my common education, plebeian military service, and varied work history, the commissioners appointed me to a service board. For that I get no pay or other cash incentives, but do carry legal liabilities.

The board on which I serve is chartered to have a cross section of the community as members of the board of directors. The claim that all public service boards are handpicked from the quality is patently false. I am proof of that.

A charge was made that present county commissioners sold out taxpayers in the Simon Pearce (SP) deal. It appears the SP deal was signed in January 1998, 10 months before the present commission was elected in November 1998. But more to the point, Maryland's state office of economic development (MEDCO) was a full partner in the search for an anchor business in the former Bausch and Lomb building. MEDCO's purchase of the real estate to prevent it declining into decay proves the state's interest.

The deal was done in full public view with plenty of opportunities to register objections on the merits. I was at two public meetings where questions were answered and instructions were provided on registering objections. Where are the specific objections? Where are beneficial alternatives? Would Garrett County be further ahead if the money went to another county?

SP pays real estate taxes on the MEDCO building (former B&L Bldg.). Without SP no one would be there, and the building would be a dead loss to taxpayers. Garrett County Economic Development did not give a real estate tax incentive as was done with B&L. Further, Garrett County has zero dollars invested in the SP deal. Garrett County's investment in SP is limited to time working with various agencies and SP.

The charge that "millions of dollars" taxpayers paid SP to locate in Garrett County is false. SP has to hit specific performance marks before the majority of financial incentives kick in, so taxpayers, especially local taxpayers, can sleep a little easier tonight understanding that SP's incentives are essentially based on how many decent paying jobs SP creates. There isn't space here for the details, but the information is available at the Garrett County Economic Development Office, and perhaps The Republican will report on the issue.

In my opinion, present county officials have done an excellent job leveraging our limited resources on behalf of taxpayers. Consider the 20,000-square-foot GIEC building under construction at Garrett Community College. Of the $2.2 million dollar cost of the building, Garrett County government paid $50,000.

The bottom line is that most cash incentives for economic development originate from state and federal sources and are earmarked for specific uses well beyond the control of local officials.

Most Garrett Countians favor more rigorous discipline in federal and state government spending, but it is not clear how many of us would rather federal and state monies not be spent in Garrett County. One of the great strengths of our present commissioners, the service agencies in Garrett County, and the Economic Development Office is they continue to increase Garrett County's share of state and federal monies earmarked for local economic development and other programs.

In conclusion, my suggestion, George, is to work more on the John Hinebaugh model and less on the Chicken Little model in presenting your issues with local officials.

To the Editor:

My family and I have lived in Garrett county for about 17 years. Lately, we have been driving around the county just for "fun" since there is never anything else to do around here.

However, we noticed on our most recent drive around the lake area that there just aren't enough trees being cut down. Why, there are still a few places where birds, squirrels, deer and, horrors, bears could be hiding. We need to eradicate the habitat of these threats to our safety and ensure that these creatures have no place to live. Then we can all breathe a little easier. We are appalled at how slowly the developments and condominiums are creeping into the landscape. What could be more beautiful than a white pine stripped of its branches and bark, creosoted and constructed into a pleasing symmetrical structure?

Also, we are so weary of looking at that nasty old lake every time we drive by. Our hope for the future is that soon all we will be able to see will be the gorgeous sight of rows and rows of asymmetrical condominiums spaced side by side by side along the entire lake border. Or, the commissioners and the planning and zoning office might consider issuing permits for floating villages or possibly turn the lake into a system of canals like Venice, Italy.

Finally, my family and I think someone should be looking into the problem of all the green and growing "nature" out in the Pleasant Valley and surrounding areas. Oh, yeah, while you're at it, could you get rid of all those messy horses and cows out there, too?

Sincerely Citified,
Mrs. Pavenbuild

Police Agencies Teaming To Nab Errant Motorists

The Maryland State Police McHenry barrack and the Garrett County Sheriff's Office are partnering efforts to target violators of motor vehicle laws on county roadways, according to the MSP. Violations dealing with the improper use of seat belts and child safety seats and driving while under the influence (DUI) will be subject to especially strict enforcement.

State troopers and sheriff's deputies instituted their "Chief's Challenge" today. During the challenge, which continues through the end of May, law enforcement officers will be enforcing and educating the public on the proper use of seatbelts and child safety seats. Officers will also conduct four driver sobriety checkpoints during the coming year, the first of which will be conducted this month at an unspecified location.

For further information, persons may contact the MSP barrack at 301-387-1101 or the sheriff's office at 301-334-1911.

GED Prep Class Set At Armory

Garrett Community College will offer a GED exam preparation class beginning tomorrow, Friday, April 5, at the National Guard Armory in Oakland. The class will meet from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Fridays, and from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays for six weeks, concluding on Wednesday, May 15.

The class is free and participants must attend 10 hours per week for a total of 60 hours. Those attending must be at least 16 years old and not enrolled in the public school system.

Students will receive placement testing in math and reading to ascertain if they are prepared to take the GED exam in June. If a student is not prepared for that exam date, they may enroll in fall GED prep classes. Those seeking to test in June must have been out of school for at least three months in the state of Maryland.

For further information persons may call Patricia Baer at 301-334-8304.

A TREE PLANTING and proclamation signing in recognition of Arbor Day were held last week, involving the Garrett County Forestry Board, the Garrett County commissioners, and Oakland Mayor Asa McCain. The board presented the commissioners and the town of Oakland with a Governor's Arbor Day proclamation, after which all took part in the tree planting along Alder Street beside the courthouse. Arbor Day in Maryland is traditionally celebrated the first Wednesday in April. Pictured from left are: Commissioner Ernie Gregg; Ed Golden, Forestry Board member; Mike Kozier, Forestry Board chairperson; Commissioner Fred Holliday; Mayor McCain; Commissioner Wendell Beitzel; and Phil Kisner, Forestry Board member.

Police Bust Party, Arrest Underage Drinkers Sunday

Responding to a call in reference to an underage drinking party Sunday around midnight, Garrett County sheriff's deputies discovered the party in an apartment along Meadowview Drive in Grantsville and arrested three adults and one juvenile.

Shavon L. Royal, 19, Grantsville; Angelia M. Cave, 18, Grantsville; Michael W. Bowers Jr., 20, Meyersdale, Pa.; and a 17-year-old juvenile, Salisbury, Pa., were all charged with possession of alcohol by a minor.

Maryland State Troopers from the McHenry barrack also assisted in the investigation.

Masons To Meet

Oakland Lodge #192 Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons, will meet Tuesday, April 9, at 7:30 p.m. at the lodge at First and Liberty streets, Oakland. Routine business will be conducted. All members are encouraged by officers to attend. A light supper will be served at 6:30 p.m.

Tax Preparation Help Continues At Senior Center

Free preparation of individual federal and state income tax returns is continuing at the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland on Tuesdays and Thursdays, noon to 4 p.m., and Wednesdays from 5 to 7 p.m. through April 11. This service includes free electronic filing of either type return. Over 300 federal and 300 state returns have already been prepared, and all services are provided by IRS certified volunteers.

The Mary Browning Center is located at 104 East Center Street. No appointment is required, and taxpayers may have their returns completed while they wait or leave them for processing and pickup during the next tax preparation day. Taxpayers are asked to bring their last year's returns with them.

The program is organized by AARP, under contract with the IRS, and sponsored by Garrett County Community Action.

DiSimone Files To Continue To Register Wills

Joseph [illegible] DiSimone has filed for re-election for the office of Register of Wills with the Garrett County Board of Elections. He was elected in 1978 and is completing this sixth term of office.

DiSimone is a member of the Oakland Rotary Club, the Maryland Register of Wills Association, American Legion Post 71, Garrett County Historical Society, and the Knights of Columbus, Council 1771. He is a graduate of Oakland High School and attended Catherman's Business School.

DiSimone served in the U.S. Navy for four years during the Korean conflict, attaining the rank of Communications Technician First Class. He was selected as a Maryland You Are Beautiful Person in 1994. He is a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church, where he serves as a rector, cantor, and Eucharistic minister.

DiSimone resides along Underwood Road near Oakland with his wife Peggy. Harry L. Biggs Jr. will serve as his treasurer.

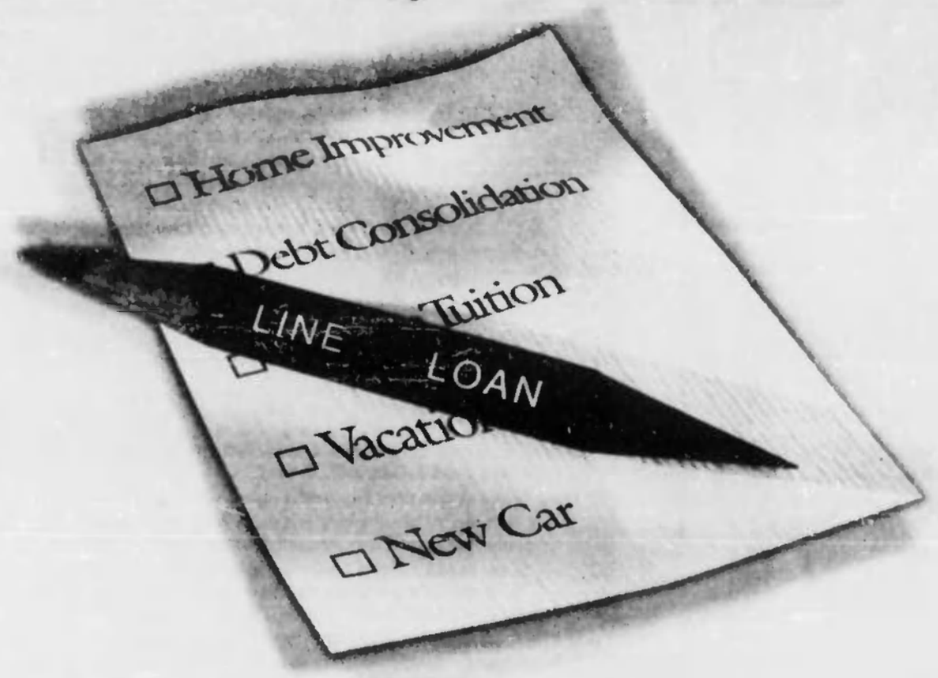
For Home Equity With More Flexibility, There's Only One Choice.



Introducing M&T CHOICEquity.
A Line Of Credit And A Loan In One Account.

SPECIAL INTRO RATE
VARIABLE APR* FOR FIRST 6 BILLING CYCLES

Finally there's one home equity account that's flexible enough to take care of all your needs. With a fixed-rate loan option built right into a line of credit, M&T CHOICEquity can handle whatever your life may call for. You can use either the line or loans – or both – to consolidate expensive credit card debt, make home improvements, or buy a car. You can even use them at the same time – as long as your total outstanding balance falls within your approved credit amount. M&T CHOICEquity gives you the best of both worlds.

And the best part is, once you're approved, your M&T CHOICEquity Account is there whenever you need it. No closing costs* No application fees* No reapplying. No additional paperwork. Plus, you'll have only one combined monthly statement and payment, and the interest you pay may even be tax deductible.*

You can apply for an M&T CHOICEquity Account at any M&T Bank branch, or simply call the M&T Bank Home Equity Center at 1-800-724-6444, 8am-8pm Monday-Friday, 9am-5pm Saturday, and 10am-2pm Sunday.

GCCF Reopens Scholarship Winner Search

The Garrett Community College Foundation has reopened the application process for the MeadWestvaco Scholarship, which will be awarded to three recipients for use during the 2002-03 academic year at GCC. The scholarship is designated for a son, daughter, or spouse of a current or retired employee of MeadWestvaco Corporation's Luke paper mill.

"The MeadWestvaco Scholarship is not a need-based scholarship," said GCCF executive director Bretta Reinhard. "It is awarded independent of any other financial assistance the student may receive." The funds, which total $2,000, are distributed as three seperate awards: two $800 per academic year awards ($400 per semester); and one $400 per academic year award ($200 per semester).

Preference for the MeadWestvaco Scholarship awards will be given to incoming college freshmen based on the student's cumulative grade point average after 3½ years of high school. If funds are available, awards may be given to current college sophomores based on the student's cumulative college GPA. MeadWestvaco Scholarship recipients will be required to enroll as fulltime students at GCC (12 or more credit hours per semester).

All interested persons must complete two scholarship applications, (one for the GCC Foundation and the other for MeadWestvaco), both of which must be returned to the GCC Financial Aid Office by Friday, April 26. There is no fee to apply, and applications are available through the GCC Financial Aid Office, 687 Mosser Road, McHenry, MD 21541-1254. The office is open weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and may be reached by calling 301-387-3083.

THE SIGN OF AN EXCEPTIONAL SALES ASSOCIATE.

Dear Mr. Huebner,

In October of 2001 we contracted to purchase a house in Lake Pointe. Mr. Fred Washburn was our Sales Associate. Little could any of us forsee what a protracted battle getting to the settlement would become. Our downpayment was to come from a "like-kind" exchange contingent upon a settlement of an already executed contract, which in turn was contingent upon a tenant moving from the property . . . All of the above took us to and beyond our original settlement date of January 15 necessitating an extension request of the sellers and how best to address the resulting complications. Through it all, Mr. Washburn was in constant contact with us and the seller's agent, guiding advising, and offering suggestions . . . and keeping both sets of parties informed as to progress or lack thereof. And finally, his suggestion of several area attorneys but one in particular to handle the "like-kind" exchange and settlement was perfect . . . We would like to acknowledge Fred's professionalism in handling a less than ideal situation with skill, tact, and humor.

Fred Washburn
Sales Associate

Sincerely,
Margaret C. Schwartz

LEADERSHIP ACADEMY

The Leadership Academy would like to offer suggestions to live by. The following are weekly suggestions for all students and staff to make as a part of our everyday lives at Southern High h School: April 2-5 "Treat people the way you want to be treated"; April 8-12 "Keep Promises"

SHS CHRISTIAN CLUB

SHS Christian Club prayer meetings are held every morning from 8 to 8:20 a.m. in Room #2133. Everyone welcome. Stop by or drop off prayer requests.

JOIN SHS'S 50TH ANNIVERSARY ACTIVITIES

Southern High School will have a week-long celebration with various activities in celebration of the 50th anniversary of Southern Garrett High School. The celebration will take place April 8-12. Each day of the week will be devoted to a particular decade: April 8, the 50s; April 9, the 60s; April 10, the 70s; April 11, the 80s; and April 12, the 90s to the present.

Music representing the decade will be played over the loud speaker system before and after school each day, as well as during lunch in the cafeteria. There may also be student bands performing music of each decade on the stage during lunch. A showcase in the school will depict some of the music and clothing of the various decades.

Students and teachers are encouraged to dress in the style of each decade day, and prizes will be awarded for the best costumes. Videos that depict what was going on at SHS during each decade will be shown to the student body during the week. As students arrive at school, they will see two cars representing the decade of the day. An interesting exhibit representing each decade will be showcased in the First United Bank windows across from the Garrett County Historical Museum.

High school pictures of current teachers who graduated from Southern will be displayed for students to guess who they are.

Southern's National Art Honor Society members are working on decade murals to add to the ones already in the cafeteria, and large anniversary banners will be hung at the entrances of the school.

Alumni from the first graduating class have been invited to participate in graduation, along with faculty members of the first staff. Many of them plan to attend. Various faculty, administrators, staff, and students have been working hard to assure that this celebration will be meaningful, historical, educational, fun, and inspirational. We wish to thank everyone in the school and community who has helped with this project.

50TH ANNIVERSARY ACORN FOR SALE

The April/May Acorn is dedicated to celebrating the 50th Anniversary of Southern High School. Students have researched the history of athletics, academics, clubs and activities, adding Southern Trivia and significant events that have shaped all who have come through the halls in the last 50 years. The history is documented through photos and features on 24 pages of newsprint, sure to bring back memories to past graduates. If you are interested in purchasing a 50th anniversary issue, please send or drop off $2, cash or check, and your mailing address to Southern High School Acorn, c/o Heather Savage. Papers can be ordered until May 3rd and mailing of the 50th Anniversary Issue will follow in the second week of May. All proceeds from sales support the SGHS Acorn and Journalism program.

50TH ANNIVERSARY DISPLAY DOWNTOWN

Stop by and check out the Southern High School 50th Anniversary display in the window downtown located in the bank building across from Garrett Historical Society. The display will run from April 5 until April 30. The display will feature memorabiha and fashion from the 50s, 60s, 70s, 80s, and the 90s.

LIBRARY IN NEED OF BOXES

The Southern High School Library is in desperate need of boxes to pack up materials in preparation for this summer's renovation. All sizes are needed. If you have any boxes you'd like to donate, you can either drop them off in the library or call the school to arrange a pickup.

AFTER-PROM UPDATE

"Surviving the Night," a safari/jungle based theme for the 11th annual after-prom affair, is announced by the parents organizing this year's party. "Wild Life-Wild Nights," a $10,000 all-night party, will be hosted after the traditional prom on Saturday, April 27, from midnight to 6 a.m. SHS parents are hoping to attract lots of "party animals" for the evening which will include a Human Bungee Game, an Inflatable Obstacle Course, Shish Kabobs of food, Outback Gambling Area, a Survivor Contest at 5 a.m., and loads of great prizes. Parents are needed to continue the planning process for the event. Upcoming meeting dates are April 9, April 18, and April 23. Meeting times are 6:30 p.m. in Mrs. Bender's room. Anyone with questions may call the school at 301-334-9447.

2002 BILL BRUBAKER SCHOLARSHIP

One or more $1,000 nonrenewable scholarships will be awarded to a high school student who is a U.S. citizen and plan to attend an accredited engineering university in Maryland. Selection will be administered by the Baltimore Section SAE Scholarship Committee.

Applications will be judged on the basis of previous scholastic performance, school and nonschool activities, awards and recognition, and the submitted essay as to why the applicant is pursuing a career in engineering. A limited number of applications are available in guidance.

Students can download the application from http://www.sae.org. The postmark deadline is May 6.

KATIE DEROSA MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP-

An award of $500 will be presented to an outstanding male and female senior cross country/track distance runner living in Allegany and Garrett counties, and Hampshire, Hardy or Mineral counties, W.Va. The student-athletes chosen to receive these scholarships must have participated in cross country or distance events in track (1,600 or 3,200) for at least two years at the high school level and must have been accepted to a college or university at time of application. The recipients must have a GPA of at least 2.8 and plan to participate in either cross country or track at the collegiate level. Leadership qualities, financial need, and involvement in extracurricular and community activities will be given consideration. Deadline to return to guidance (with $1 for transcript) is Tuesday, April 18.

MD COALITION OF POLICE AND DEPUTY SHERIFFS (MCOPS)

The Maryland Coalition Of Police and Deputy Sheriffs is sponsoring an annual scholarship program for Maryland high school seniors with plans to attend college. Maryland COPS seeks to challenge Maryland's youth to the rewards of a career in law enforcement by offering scholarship assistance. This $1,000 annual reward is presented to the high school senior who submits the best essay on Maryland law enforcement and the general theme "Maryland Law Enforcement: A Commitment to Community" or "Drugs and Violence in our Schools and Community". The essay is limited to no more than 1500 words, and should be submitted by April 30.

Students need to obtain application from the MCOPS' web site: www.marylandcops.org. The dealine is April 30.

Martin Luther King Convocation Slated At FSU

The Spring 2002 Martin Luther King Convocation at Frostburg State University will take place on Wednesday, April 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's Pealer Recital Hall.

The keynote speaker will be Dr. Lea Williams, executive director of the Women's Leadership Institute at Bennett College in Greensboro, N.C., and former vice president for Educational Services at the United Negro College Fund in New York. A scholar and writer, she is author of Servants of the People: The 1960's Legacy of African American Leadership.

Williams will participate in a series of workshops, discussions groups, and other activities at FSU April 15 through 17 as part of a three-day residency in leadership, non-violence, and African American studies.

Describing herself as "an educator by training and experience, a teacher by temperament, and a writer by passion," Williams has received the Kentucky State University Distinguished Service Award, the Hilda A. Davis Award for Educational Leadership of the National Association for Women in Education, and the Paducah Black Historian Achievement Award in Education. She holds M.S. and Ed.D. degrees from Columbia University, and an M.A. from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Her article "Missing, Presumed Lost: Teachers of Color in the Nation's Classrooms," published in Black Collegian, won the 1989 Unity Award in Media for education reporting.

The convocation is sponsored by the Office of the Provost, President's Advisory Council on Diversity, Faculty Development Committee, the Department of Student and Community Involvement, the African American Studies Program, Communication Studies, and the Leadership Studies Minor Program.

As part of FSU's Scholar-in-Residence Program, Williams will meet with student leaders for a discussion and dinner on Monday, April 15.

She will present a lecture/discussion, "African American Leaders, Then and Now," from 3:30 to 5 p.m. on Tuesday, April 16, in the Lane University Center. This presentation, which is free and open to the public, will focus on African American leaders of the Civil Rights movement, their legacy for minority leadership, and the role of campuses in emerging paradigms of minority leadership in the 21st century. A reception will immediately follow the program.

Later Tuesday evening, the MLK Speak Out Program will take place from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Lane University Center Loft. Students, faculty, staff, and the public are invited to this celebration of the life and legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Participants will perform live musical selections, engage in creative readings and short stories, and display artwork. Norma Blacke Bourdeau, a professor of African American studies, English, and philosophy at FSU, will serve as the program facilitator.

A community service project is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Wednesday, April 17, in the FSU Arboretum. For the fourth year, FSU's national service programs invite the public to serve alongside A STAR! and Allen Hall STARS! AmeriCorps members honoring the legacy of Dr. King. The day's service projects will include trail maintenance and placing and securing a gazebo for classroom instruction that will be available for faculty, staff, and local teachers. For information on this effort, persons may contact Sean King at 301-687-4210 or sking@frostburg.edu.

After Wednesday evening's convocation, Williams will conduct a book signing in PAC lobby. Books will be available for purchase from Main Street Books of Frostburg.

For more information, persons may contact Bill Mandicott at 301-687-4151 or Dr. Philip Allen at 301-687-4141.

McBride survived a scandalous sitcom

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Chi McBride

Q: Information, please, about Chi McBride of Boston Public. I have never seen him before. –Charleen Allen, Bellwood, Ill.

A: A Chicago native who stands an imposing 6 feet 5 inches tall, the 40-year-old McBride made his TV movie debut in Revenge of the Nerds III: The Next Generation, followed by featured roles in The Distinguished Gentleman and What's Love Got to Do With It.

His previous TV series roles include playing acerbic janitor Heavy Gene on The John Larroquette Show and the title role in The Secret Diary of Desmond Pfeiffer, the broad White House sitcom about racial politics during the Abraham Lincoln administration, a controversial gig that brought McBride and his castmates a stinging rebuke from some black groups (McBride heatedly denied the criticism).

His role as superprincipal Steven Harper on Boston Public has gone a long way toward repairing any public relations problems he may have had, however.

Q: Who plays Judge Ripley on Philly? I think his chemistry with Kathleen (Klm Delaney) is very good. –Jackie in Boardman, Ohio.

A: Jamie Denton, a 39-year-old Nashville native, comes to his role on Philly via several years of highly regarded work in the thriving Chicago theater scene. Although his current character, Judge Augustus Ripley, is a nice guy, Denton played against his own Jimmy Stewart-ish charm in the TV role that first brought him to the attention of millions: the chilling Mr. Lyle on NBC's The Pretender.

Q: I know you told us several months ago that the new season premiere of The Sopranos had been delayed, but has a new date been set? –The Allains in Massachusetts.

A: The fourth season of HBO's hit mob drama will not premiere until September.

Q: Have the producers of Titus given any explanation of having a different actress play Christopher's mom each season? It's getting annoying, and last season's choice was so much better than the most recent one, Connie Stevens, whose voice is like nails on a blackboard! –J.B. in Kentucky.

A: It seems that any actress of a certain age who is looking for a steady job needs only to play Titus' mom, because the lady in question almost invariably lands a series role soon thereafter.

In Focus

Chum Mey was a mechanic in Cambodia when he was arrested, charged with spurious crimes and sent to a jail used as a slaughterhouse, which he discusses on History Undercover: Inside Pol Pot's Secret Prison on the History Channel Sunday, April 7.

The haunting documentary reminds viewers that 1.7 million Cambodians were killed by their own government from 1975 to 1979. It features interviews with the prison's few survivers, and a journalist who interviewed Pol Pot in 1998.

Cable

Magician David Blaine wows passers-by with sleight-of-hand tricks in David Blaine: Street Magic, airing Sunday on TLC.

A DJJ YOUTH CENTER SUCCESS — Joseph Dickerson, left, receives congratulations from Dale Schroyer, superintendent of the Department of Juvenile Justice Youth Centers in Western Maryland, for being the first graduate of the Sail Program. Offered to youth at the centers through the Harry Lundburg School of Seamanship at Piney Point, the Sail Program prepares graduates for service in the Merchant Marine. After one year of training and the completion of 21 college credits, Dickerson can now travel and earn a living as a sailor in the U.S. Merchant Marine Fleet.

Don DeArmon To Run Against Roscoe Bartlett

Don DeArmon stepped into the race for the Sixth District congressional seat, announcing from his home in Frederick Tuesday that he plans to pursue the Democratic nomination against incumbent candidate Roscoe Bartlett.

DeArmon made his announcement surrounded by his wife Ann, his four children, and a number of friends.

"I'm running for office because Roscoe Bartlett just isn't getting the job done," DeArmon stated. "We need to protect our Social Security system — but Roscoe Bartlett believes that Social Security should be entirely privatized. Our health care system is in crisis; we need affordable health care for all Americans, but Roscoe Bartlett has voted against all health care funding for three years. We need transportation systems in the form of highways, trains, and airports to support businesses and fuel the economic development of our region. Roscoe Bartlett has voted against our transportation needs time and time again."

DeArmon pledged to work for the voters of the Sixth District to "champion projects and issues that reflect the aspirations of the people who call the district home." He noted his years of experience on Capitol Hill will serve district residents well.

"I want to put my 25 years of experience to work for the people of the Sixth District," DeArmon said. "I want to protect their security, including health, education, and retirement security; to work with our communities and local governments for the improvements that will contribute to good jobs and the quality of life that we all strive for.

"Too many Democrats and Republicans go to Washington in order to fight each other. Well, I'm a fighter, too — but the difference is, I fight for results."

DeArmon resides in Frederick with his wife Ann and their four children, Belle, 20; McCamie, 17; Alexandra, 13; and John, 9. His career on Capitol Hill includes working as a congressional staff assistant with the Appropriations Committee. Throughout his tenure with the U.S. House of Representatives, DeArmon says he has fought key legislative battles invoiving food safety, agricultural research, and public works funding.

DeArmon ran in the Sixth District in 1994, and was the Democratic nominee for the Sixth District seat in 2000.

Valerian Caution: CNS Depressants, Pregnancy, Lactation

The use of valerian as a sedative dates back to the 16th century in Asia, North America, and Europe. We know about the chemicals in valerian that seem to cause sedation (valepotriates), but we do not understand how the herb causes sedation.

A study of valerian extract confirmed the herb's sedative and sleep-inducing activity. Users of the extract reported significant improvements in sleep quality. Night awakenings and next-morning grogginess were rare.

The reported dosage for valerian ranges from 400 mg to as much as 3,000 mg taken as often as 3 times daily and at bedtime. Use in pregnancy or by lactating women should be avoided because of insufficient information. Valerian use may potentiate the sedative effects of CNS (central nervous system) depressants.

There is nothing quite like the wedding of a man and a woman who have fallen in love and pledged themselves to each other forever. They seem to float on clouds of bliss and happy tears as they dance their way from the reception to their honeymoon.

Finally, the couple crosses the threshold to their new home and to their life as husband and wife. Every day holds surprises. Some are exhilarating. Others are exasperating. Nevertheless, when both are committed to their common good as a couple, with a little compromise, each emerges a winner.

The secret to living happily ever after is to rise above frustrations by clinging to a common faith in God. Hebrews 11:1 says, "Now faith is being sure of what we hope for and certain of what we do not see." In other words, remain firm in your love and trust God to know your ultimate good.

Falling in Love... Rising with Faith

Worship each week and God will strengthen you as a loving couple. Your love will remain like new when God is there with the two of you.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

A BUTTERFLY NAMED 'HOPE'

April 7, 2002

Background Scripture:
Romans 8.
Devotional Reading:
Romans 8:1-11.

We have probably all heard of the legendary Pandora's Box, many of us forget the all important ending of it.

Pandora was a lovely bride sent by Zeus to Epimetheus. One day Mercury brought her a small golden chest that, he said, was hers to enjoy, but under no circumstances should she open it. But, her curiosity got the better of her and she pried it open, just a little. Out flew a swarm of nasty insects attacking everyone in sight, their stings poisoning their victims with suspicion, fear, hatred and malice.

Epimetheus and Pandora quarreled at this turn of events, but eventually they heard a sweet voice calling from the chest: "Let me out. Let me soothe your pain." So they fearfully opened the box again and a radiant butterfly flew out. As it lighted on them, their pains were healed, for the butterfly's name was Hope.

The bright prospects and horizons of our youth may all too soon be dimmed by the poison of suspicion, fear, hatred and malice. Their wounds can be healed only if we will have the faith to open our lives to the butterfly named Hope.

Never Lose GOD

But hope in or for what? Theologian John Bright, reminds us that the prophet Jeremiah was called by God to bring a message of hope to captive Israel at a time when there seemed to be nothing to back up that promise. But Jeremiah never lost hope, Bright says, because he never lost God. The source and body of our hope are God.

In Romans 8, Paul outlines our Christian Hope. First, He tells us that "the sufferings of this present time are not worth comparing with the glory that is to be revealed to us" (8:18). At this time, Christians were suffering for their faith. In our country today, we are not persecuted, but that doesn't mean we suffer any less; just more subtly. The Gospel could cost us the respect of our friends, neighbors and employers. But this pales in comparison with what lies ahead for us in the life beyond.

Secondly, whatever we do suffer binds us more closely to Christ. Remember: we "suffer with Him in order that we may also be glorified with Him" (8:17).

A Foretaste *Now

Third, even though the fulfillment is presently beyond our sight, we can experience a sample of that hope now, what Paul calls the "first fruits of the Spirit" (8:23). This is much like John speaking of the eternal life which the believer can experience both before and after death.

Fourth, not only will we be transformed, but all creation as well. The whole cosmos will become what God intended for it to be even before He created it. We will live transformed lives in a transformed existence (18:19-21).

Fifth, although we may feel too weak to last through the trials of this life, God's spirit comes to help us in the midst of them. Because we don

• Every year, a thousand tons of meteor dust fall to earth.

• This year, Victoria's Secret, international purveyors of fine lingerie, gave each of the nominees for the Academy Award for best actress a diamond-studded bra valued at $10,000.

• In Nepal, it is believed that cow dung has antiseptic properties.

• The first man in space was Colonel Joe Kittinger, and he made it there not in a rocket ship, but in a balloon that climbed to 97,000 feet. In 1964, he set the record for the highest skydive when he parachuted out of a balloon from 102,000 feet — a record that still stands today.

• Novelist Jane Austen observed: "It is always incomprehensible to a man that a woman should ever refuse an offer of marriage."

• While on his deathbed, Henry Ward Beecher was asked if he could raise his arm. He replied, "Well, high enough to hit you, Doctor."

• Do you remember the early video game "Pong"? Well, the game's creator earned only $500 for it — but he used that money to found Atari.

• President Ulysses S. Grant was arrested during his term in office. He was convicted of exceeding the speed limit — on his horse. He had to pay a $20 fine.

• The secret formula for Play-Doh hasn't changed in 46 years.

• In high school, Oscar-winning actress Meryl Streep was homecoming queen.

• People of the Kuru tribe in New Guinea are susceptible to a disease called "laughing sickness." Those afflicted literally laugh themselves to death.

• In 1800, only 50 cities in the world had a population of more than 100,000.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On April 8, 563 B.C., Gautama Buddha, the founder of Buddhism, is born. Actually, the Buddhist tradition that celebrates his birthday on April 8 originally placed his birth in the 11th century B.C., and it was not until later that scholars determined he was more likely born in the sixth century B.C.

• On April 9, 1859, a 23-year-old Missouri youth named Samuel Clemens receives his steamboat pilot's license. He piloted his own boats until the Civil War halted steamboat traffic. He picked up the pen name "Mark Twain" from a boatman's call noting that the river was only two fathoms deep, the minimum depth for safe navigation.

• On April 14, 1865, President Abraham Lincoln is shot in the head at Ford's Theatre in Washington, D.C. The assassin, John Wilkes Booth, shouted, "Sic semper tyrannis! (Ever thus to tyrants!) The South is avenged," as he jumped onto the stage and fled on horseback.

• On April 12, 1922, actor Fatty Arbuckle is found not guilty in his third trial for the death of Virginia Rappe. Arbuckle had been accused of causing Rappe's death during an alleged sexual assault.

• On April 13, 1964, Sydney Poitier becomes the first African American to win the Academy Award for Best Actor, for his role as a laborer who helps to build a chapel in "Lilies of the Field."

• On April 10, 1972, as part of his first visit to the United States in 20 years, British film pioneer Charlie Chaplin accepts an honorary Academy Award for his "incalculable" contribution to the art of filmmaking.

• On April 11, 1979, Ugandan dictator Idi Amin flees the Ugandan capital of Kampala as Tanzanian troops and forces of the Uganda National Liberation Front close in. Two days later, Kampala fell, and a coalition government of former exiles took power.

Collecting

by Larry Cox

Q • Several years ago while vacationing in Britain, I purchased an Elizabeth II coronation mug. Since then, I have added to my collection and now have several dozen British royal commemoratives. Since I have several items relating to Lady Diana, I am curious about both their value and the value of commemoratives in general. — *Mike, Wheatridge, Colo.

A. Although the first British commemorative was issued in 1547, it wasn't until the reign of Queen Victoria that the souvenirs became popular with the general public. Almost every parlor in the United Kingdom had at least one or two pieces celebrating the life of the great queen, and although she is still collected, most of her commemoratives are scarce and tend to be pricey. For example, a London shop featured a coronation plate from 1837 tagged at $1,500 and a mug issued in 1872 marking her birthday priced at $350.

You don't have to break the bank to collect, however. There are hundreds of less expensive items of more recent vintage marking the royal weddings, divorces, deaths, tours, birthdays and christenings — all quite tempting to the collector.

Queen Elizabeth II celebrates her Jubilee this year. In addition to new commemoratives, older mugs, plates and items issued in 1952 to celebrate her coronation are suddenly in big demand.

Recent online auction results of British royal commemoratives have included a Prince Charles and Lady Diana wedding mug from 1981, $45; an Edward VII cup and saucer, $175; a Princess Elizabeth doll from 1939, $1,200; a Victoria jubilee compote from 1887, $190; and a cake tin featuring the likeness of Edward VIII, $90.

"British Royal Commemoratives" (Schiffer and Company) by Douglas H. Flynn and Alan H. Bolton is an excellent reference book for collectors and is available at most larger bookstores.

Dressing Up the Aquarium

Q • Can I put live plants in an aquarium without harming my fish?

A. Absolutely — as long as you know which types of plants are suitable for enclosed aquariums. Plants that aren't designed to live underwater can die and decay, creating an unhealthy environment for the fish. Proper care of aquarium plants is also important, because algae or disease can finish them off quickly.

Aquarium plants release oxygen into the water and create a beautiful, natural environment for fish to swim in — and for you to enjoy observing.

So, how do you find out which plants to use? Lucky you — a new, beautifully photographed and illustrated book is now available that addresses this issue. "Plants for Your Aquarium" by Wolfgang Gula (Barron's Education Series, Inc.), provides clear, precise information for aquarium owners delving into the world of aquatic plants.

Gula tells you which plants to use — and which to avoid. For example, spider plants and philodendrons, sometimes sold as aquatic plants, will die when submerged; they're really houseplants.

Checklists for shoppers, and a basic guide to aquarium maintenance, are notable features that make this a nice guidebook for new aquarium owners. Gula also tells you how to plan and design the layout of plants before filling the aquarium, and gives instructions for care and feeding of your underwater garden.

Best of all (in my opinion), this is a small reference book — only 64 full-color pages. But it's packed with information and laid out in an easy-to-understand manner that beginners will appreciate. Bigger books with longer lists of aquarium plants and suitable fish are out there, but this is a great starting point.

McHenry MSP Barrack Notes March Activity

Maryland State Police Barrack W, located in McHenry, has released its police activity summary for the month of March.

The local barrack reported handling a total of 714 calls for service. Troopers were responsible for the arrests of 33 adults and five juveniles on criminal charges. There were 11 drug-related arrests and three guns seized during the month.

Troopers charged nine suspects on driving while under the influence charges. Troopers responded to 71 motor vehicle collisions, 36 of which were investigated.

A total of 540 citations were issued for speeding, and an additional 526 warnings were issued to speeding drivers. Troopers issued 240 seat belt citations and nine citations for non-use or improper use of child safety seat restraints.

Troopers responded to six domestic violence-related cases, resulting in six referrals and five closed cases.

To contact the local MSP barrack for general information or to request non-emergency police assistance, persons may call 301-387-1101. All emergencies should be reported by dialing 9-1-1.

Sanders Seeking Re-Election As County Sheriff

Garrett County Sheriff P.R. "Dick" Sanders Jr. filed for re-election this week for the office of sheriff. He has served as county sheriff for almost five years. Having been originally appointed to the position by Governor Parris N. Glendening in October of 1997, Sanders was elected to a four-year term in November 1998.

"I want to continue to serve the citizens of Garrett County in the same professional manner to which they have become accustomed," said Sanders about his decision to run for re-election.

The candidate has 40 years of experience in law enforcement. He served with the Maryland State Police for 23 years, retiring with the rank of lieutenant. Prior to his appointment as sheriff, Sanders served as an investigator for the Public Defenders Office and owned and operated his own private detective and security business.

He and his wife Joan have been married for 43 years and reside in Oakland.

Computer Classes Scheduled At GCC Grantsville Ctr.

Garrett Community College has scheduled two computer classes that will meet at the Grantsville Outreach Center.

Introduction to Computer Skills for Beginners will meet on Friday and Wednesday evenings, April 12, 17, 19 and 24, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The course will provide information on the common elements of the computer, basic computer terms, techniques for using a mouse and menu bars, and how to manage files.

Microsoft Word-Word Processing II will meet for six consecutive Tuesday evenings, April 16 through May 21, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. This intermediate-level course will introduce the more advanced features of styles, tables, mail merge, headers, footers, and other tools. A working knowledge of the computer is required.

For additional information, or to register, persons may contact the GCC Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3069.

GCC Schedules Lifeguard Class

A 40-hour Lifeguard Training course will get under way this coming week at Garrett Community College's McHenry campus. The course, which will meet from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m., will meet for the first time Thursday, April 11, and is expected to be completed by mid-May.

To be eligible for the course, participants must be at least 15 years old, and be able to tread water for two minutes, swim 500 yards continuously, and submerge to minimum depth of 7 feet to retrieve a 10-pound object.

The tuition for the Lifeguard Training course includes all materials, text, American Red Cross certification, cards and fees. Minimum enrollment is required for this course to begin, while the maximum enrollment is limited to 10 students. Pre-registration is recommended. For registration, class times and dates, persons may contact the GCC Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3069.

THE MOUNTAIN TOP CRUISERS will be exhibiting their antique cars, weather permitting, at the "Walk For Hospice" on Saturday, April 20, baginning at 9 a.m. at Garrett 6 Cinemas at Deep Creek Lake. There is no charge to view the cars, but donations for Hospice of Garrett County will be accepted. The walk will be held rain or shine, with many prizes to be given. For more information, persons may call Hospice at 301-334-5151. Picturod above is one of the classic cars to be exhibited — a fully restored 1963 Austin Mini Cooper "S" with a 1275cc engine. The car, which is reportedly very rare in the U.S., is owned by Buddy Peed, Deep Creek Lake.

School Reform Measure Likely To Pass Senate

by Kathleen Johnston Jarboe
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — The Maryland Senate Tuesday appeared poised to pass a largely unfunded $1.3 billion school reform measure based on recommendations from the so-called Thornton Commission Report. With opponents lacking votes to sustain a filibuster and former foes backing down, a temporary victory seemed likely despite protracted debate that forced the Senate president to call a special night session to continue discussion.

The five-year school plan rewrites state funding formulas for grade school by giving more money to districts with less wealth and pays for almost two years of the bill through a 34-cent-per-pack cigarette tax hike.

Some thought the day's discussion could have been the beginning of a filibuster. But Senate Minority Leader J. Lowell Stoltzfus, R-Somerset, admitted he didn't have the votes for the move that would tie up the chamber until the minority's concerns were addressed. There are 13 Senate Republicans, and it takes at least 16 senators to support a filibuster.

"I'm fairly confident the bill will go through," said Sen. Christopher Van Hollen Jr., D-Montgomery, who, as sponsor of the tobacco tax, was a key player in working out the details.

Part of the lack of support for a filibuster came from strong opponents backing down.

Montgomery lawmakers balked at the original plan since, as one of the richest counties, it left its schools with the lowest funding. They said Thornton ignored the county's concerns for its changing needs and growing enrollment of disadvantaged children.

With Van Hollen controlling the tobacco tax bill, Montgomery senators were able to win amendments in committee changing some of the funding formulas and allowing them to back the bill.

Under the amendments, the state would ultimately equally share the cost of education with counties and would pay at minimum 40 percent of costs for economically disadvantaged students, special education children, and those with limited English speaking skills. "I think we're satisfied with those changes," Van Hollen said.

The changes mostly increase funding for wealthier districts since poorer counties would already receive more than minimum levels. Montgomery would receive more than half of the $73 million in increased cost for special needs students, followed by Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Howard, and Worcester counties.

Also, enrollment would be evaluated annually instead of biannually, alleviating concerns of fast-growing districts like Montgomery that funding would lag too far behind enrollment. Montgomery is the 12th fastest growing school district in the country, educating 16 percent of the state's K-12 enrollment.

Other changes increased state shares of transportation costs for special education students from $500 to $1,000.

Also increasing the measure's likely passage is that some senators opposed to Montgomery's favored amendments changed their position over the weekend. Sen. Robert Neall, D-Anne Arundel, opposed the measure Friday, but said he would vote for the current bill, as long as it withstood significant amendments.

"I'm thinking about the kids in Caroline, Cecil, Somerset, and Allegany," Neall said. "If this bill dies, they don't get anything."

Still many opposed the bill — some over using a tobacco tax, others because it wasn't fully funded.

The cigarette tax will only generate about $100 million of the $1.3 billion price tag the bill is estimated to carry by fiscal year 2007.

"I think it's totally irresponsible to start something we can't finish," said Sen. Nancy Jacobs, R-Harford, explaining that without full funding, a tax increase may be in the future.

"It is political posturing in an election year" to pass something without paying for it, she said.

If the bill passes before Monday's deadline, it must be reconciled with a House version that proposes to only fund Thornton formulas to levels attainable under the cigarette tax.

APRIL: MONTH OF THE YOUNG CHILD

April has been designated as the Month of the Young Child, and to observe the designation, the Garrett County Perinatal Partnership has formed an education plan to bring to the forefront various topics dealing with the health of babies and children in the local community. The following is an informational column submitted by Crystal Shaffer of the Perinatal Partnership.

BREASTFEEDING PROVIDES A HEALTHY BEGINNING FOR BABIES

Breastfeeding is the most natural, wholesome way to feed a baby, but it is a skill that must be learned. Both mom and baby need the opportunity to practice and become comfortable with nursing. Mothers need support and encouragement during the learning process. Having accurate information about what to expect and how to avoid problems is very important for success. A good understanding of how breastfeeding works will help moms have the confidence to stay with it. This will pay off for mom and baby because of the many benefits that breastfeeding provides.

Benefits of Mother's Milk

Mother's milk provides complete nutrition for the first 4 to 6 months of life. It is always changing to meet the changing needs of each individual child. A mother who gives birth to a premature baby makes milk specially suited to the age of her child. In addition, a mother's milk changes as a baby grows.

Human milk contains more than 200 substances compared to the most complicated infant formula, which has just over 40. Breast milk is rich in antibodies which protect against diseases. Because of this, breastfed babies have a lower risk of health problems such as allergies, bacterial meningitis, digestive problems, diaper rash, ear infections, eczema, juvenile diabetes, respiratory infections, childhood cancers, Sudden Infant Death Syndrome, and urinary tract infections. Breast milk contains special proteins, carbohydrates, fats, and minerals that improve brain growth and nervous system development.

Because breast milk is gentle to a baby's stomach and very easy to digest, babies will have less colic, constipation, and diarrhea. Their bowel movements even have less odor!

Better for Mothers, Too

Nursing a baby also has advantages for mothers. It helps to speed recovery from delivery, usually helps moms lose weight that was gained during pregnancy, and decreases the risk of having breast cancer or osteoporosis (bone loss). Nighttime feedings are much easier for nursing mothers. There is no need to mix and warm bottles and babies who don't wait for a bottle don't cry as much. Nursing babies travel well because they don't need all the gear that bottle-fed babies need.

Doctors Agree

The American Academy of Pediatrics recommends that all babies be breastfed for at least 6 months and states that continuing some breastfeeding until the child is one year old has definite health benefits. One of the U.S. Surgeon General's national goals is to increase the number of mothers who breastfeed and to help nursing mothers nurse longer. It is estimated that this will save millions of dollars in health care costs. Studies show that formula fed babies are 10 to 15 times more likely to need medical care than breastfed babies.

What if You Need Help or Support?

Some women are afraid to breastfeed because they think they may not have enough milk or that it will be too painful or inconvenient. Others are worried about what their friends or family will think. If you or a mom you know have any concerns, you can get information and support for breastfeeding from the Garrett County Health Department. The WIC (Women, Infants, and Children) office (301-334-7710) has a certified lactation consultant on staff, as does Healthy Families (301-334-7720). Breast pumps are available for working mothers. Healthy Families also provides breastfeeding classes and offers hospital and home visits for prenatal and postpartum teaching and support.

HIGHLIGHTING THE NEEDS OF YOUNG CHILDREN — Members of the Kids First committee recently met with the county commissioners to proclaim April 7-13 as the Week of the Young Child in Garrett County. Pictured above are commissioner chairman Ernest Gregg Jr.; Emilie Bentley, Healthy Families Garrett County; Kristen Spiker, Head Start; Heather Hanline, Dove Center; Karen Lucas, Healthy Families Garrett County; Lou Ellen Sturn, Garrett Partnership/MD Infants and Toddlers; Commissioner Frederick Holliday; and Commissioner Wendell Boltzel. Not pictured are Debbie Bernard, Child Care Administration; and Sherri Costa, Apples for Children.

Week Highlights Needs Of Young Local Children

The Kids First Committee, comprised of representatives from local early childhood organizations, met with the Garrett County Commissioners recently to proclaim April 7-13 as the Week of the Young Child in Garrett County. The Week of the Young Child highlights the importance of families, early childhood professionals, and communities working together to support every child's healthy development and early learning.

"Quality early childhood education is one of the best investments Garrett County can make for our children's future," said Debra Barnard, committee chairperson. Research shows that children attending high quality programs are more likely to develop the language, pre-mathematics, and social skills they need to succeed in school.

The Kids First promotion of the Week of the Young Child is designed to build broader support for early childhood programs that nurture young children's early learning and growth. Two window displays have been created to heighten the public's awareness of and encourage support for early childhood programs.

The Kids First "Paint Your World" display and the "Week of the Young Child" proclamation can be viewed at the corner of Green and Second Street, Oakland, and Community Action's early Childhood programs "Children's Opportunities are our Responsibilities" display in the window of the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland.

"Children's opportunities are our responsibilities," said Barnard. "If we value our children, our families, our schools, and our community, we must make accessible, affordable, high-quality early childhood education a priority."

Kids First advocates a comprehensive effort to improve the quality of early childhood education, including: providing professional development opportunities and adequate compensation for teachers and staff; improving the health and safety of programs; using developmentally appropriate practices to encourage literacy and learning from birth; and supporting the family's crucial role in early education.

The committee currently has members from the Maryland Infant and Toddler's Program, Healthy Families Garrett County, Maryland Childcare Administration, Garrett County Board of Education, Community Action's Head Start Program, the Dove Center, Garrett County Health Department's Community Outreach Program, Department of Social Services, and Apples for Children.

For information about the Kids First Committee, the Week of the Young Child, or child care programs and/or regulations in Garrett County, persons may call Barnard at the local child care administration office at 301-334-3426.

CHESTNUT GROVE CHURCH DEDICATION

A dedication service for the new addition to the Chestnut Grove United Methodist Church will be held Sunday, April 7, at 10 a.m. Rev. Don Nelson pastors the church. All former church pastors have been invited to the dedication, including: Rev. William Brown, Rev. Jay and Linda Six, Mrs. Kathy Rotruck (wife of the late Rev. Hal Rotruck), and Rev. Jeff and Carla Llewellyn Anderson. Rev. Keith Simmons, Potomac Highlands District superintendent, will conduct the service. Sunday dinner will be served after the service in the church social hall.

BIRTHDAY RECEPTION

The families of David and Floyd Wilson are hosting a birthday reception for their father, Thomas E. Wilson, on Saturday, April 13, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Swanton Otterbein United Methodist Church. In lieu of gifts, a card with well wishes would be appreciated. All relatives and friends are invited to come celebrate his 80th birthday.

STEAK DINNER

A baked-steak dinner will be held at the Swanton Community Center on Saturday, April 13, beginning at 4 p.m. Homemade desert and homemade rolls will be served. The cost is $6 for adults, $3 for children, and free for children under age 5. This fund-raiser will be used to support the activities of the S.C.C.I. All are invited.

OTTERBEIN U.M. CHURCH

Reality Check Ministries is sponsoring a hoagie sale fund-raiser this week to raise deposit money for the planned Rebecca St. James concert of Sept. 17. To place an order, call 304-329-2566 by early Monday morning, April 8. The delivery date will be Friday, April 12, and hoagies will be available for pickup at the church kitchen between 5 and 6 p.m.

Missionaries Jay and Linda Six To Visit

A covered-dish dinner for Rev. Jay and Linda Six will be held this Friday, April 5, at 5:30 p.m. in the church social hall. All are welcome to come visit with them. The missionaries are in the area staying with Jerry and Janet Tichnell. They are here for the Chestnut Grove Church dedication service on Sunday. Rev. Six was Otterbein's pastor 25 years ago. His family left the Swanton/Bloomington charge to go to Haiti as missionaries. They now serve in the states. Rev. Six is "on loan" from the U.M. church to OMS (Overseas Mission Service).

House of Hope Tea Party

A Victorian Tea Party will be held Sunday, April 7, at 2 p.m. to benefit the House of Hope. Martin Heise will provide piano music. There will be other events. All are invited.

SPRING REVIVAL

Spring Revival will be held April 18-21. Rev. Jeff Anderson will be the speaker. All are welcome.

DIABETIC SUPPORT GROUP

The regular meeting of the Garrett County Diabetic Support Group will be held Tuesday, April 9, at 6:30 p.m. at the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland. (Use the back door off the parking lot.) There will be a speaker. All people who are directly or indirectly affected by diabetes are welcome.

SENIOR MEALS

Bonita Rodeheaver and Donna Smith gave everyone a homemade peanut butter egg for Easter, including those on home delivery. Ray and Carol Sweitzer provided music. Phyliss Friend made an Easter centerpiece, which was won by Marge Lee. The big jelly bean jar went to Rosemary Filsinger. The door prizes from "Gene and Boots" were awarded to Gerald Friend, George Reeves, Louise Beckman, and Ruth Gray. A March birthday is that of Bennie Beckman.

Health nurse Sandy Sulton will be at the center on April 15 to check blood pressures.

Mona Butala will give a seminar on April 9. The topic will be, "Memory and Aging - Tips to Enhance Memory."

PERSONALS

Jacob Wesley Sweitzer, was born Thursday morning, March 28, 2002 to Robert and Kinberly Sweitzer at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Jacob, who weighed 8 pounds, 9 ounces, is the grandson of Denver and Alverta Sweitzer, and the great-grandson of Glenna May Sweitzer. He has two older sisters, Shayna and Mandy.

Glenna Sweitzer hosted Easter Sunday dinner for her family. Jacob was the new family member present. Others gathering around him were Denver, Alverta, Bob, Kin, Shayna, Mandy, Uncle Lute, Rod, Barbie, Beth, Sara, Billy, Steve, Debbie, and Heather Sweitzer; and Wanda, Chuckie, Tracie, Gunnar, and Eli Ward.

Kendra Sweitzer Biser is the trombonist for the Emmanuel Brass. They play every Christmas and Easter, and for some other special events throughout the year. They played at the Emmanuel Episcopal Church in Cumberland on Sunday.

Ireta Sweitzer is home recovering from pneumonia. She was discharged Wednesday, March 27, from a two-week stay at GCMH.

Charles and Sonya Craver were Easter Sunday dinner guests at the home of his brother Harry (Bud) and Dora Ruth Craver, Mt. Morris, Pa. Bud's whole family, including his brother, Ronald Craver, was also present.

Helen Winters had Easter dinner at the home of her granddaughter and grandson-in-law, Kimberly and Tim Rush, White Church Road. Easter Monday was Helen's first independent outing since recovering from an illness. She drove to Oakland for groceries and went to lunch at the Swanton Senior Center.

Roy Winters, New Market, Va., is recovering from surgery, which he had March 22. James and Barbara Winters Sweitzer visited him Saturday.

Orval and Mareva Teets attended the Easter sunrise service at the Swanton U.M. Church. Their whole family was home for Easter Sunday dinner, except Lissa and David Bush, Florida. Those present were Christi, Robin, and Ellen Riley, Mt. Airy; Linda, John, A.J., and

Farming On The Mountaintop

Head Of Farm Service Notes New Tax Relief

Maryland Farm Service Agency State Executive Director Steven A. Connelly announced new legislation that offers immediate tax relief through additional depreciation on farm equipment and property. The most significant provision for farmers is a 30% additional first-year depreciation allowance. Signed into law by President Bush on March 9, the Job Creation and Worker Assistance Act of 2002 is retroactive to 2001, allowing capital investments from the previous year to be depreciated.

Under current law, farmers and other small businesses can immediately deduct up to $24,000 of the cost of investment in qualifying machinery and equipment. This is scheduled to increase to $25,000 by 2003. The remaining amount is depreciated under the Modified Accelerated Cost Recovery System (MACRS).

In addition to the existing expensing provision, the act provides an additional first-year depreciation deduction equal to 30 percent of qualified property for investments made after September 10, 2001, and before September 11, 2004. Most depreciable farm property would be considered qualifying property, including farm machinery and equipment, crop storage facilities, and single-purpose agricultural and horticultural structures.

Since the provision is retroactive to 2001, farmers can immediately benefit from the change on their 2001 returns, although they may need to file an amended return. For 2002, the amount of farm capital investment that could be written off is estimated to increase by about 15 percent, or $1.8 billion as a result of this provision. This should reduce federal income and self-employment taxes paid by farmers by over $500 million. Annual tax savings in 2003 and 2004 are expected to be only slightly smaller at just under $500 million per year.

To illustrate the potential benefits of this legislation, one should assume that after September 10, 2001, a farmer purchases a combine that costs $100,000. The farmer would be able to expense $24,000 under the section 179 expensing election. Under the new law, the farmer would then be allowed an additional first-year depreciation deduction of $22,800, which is equal to 30% of the remaining cost (basis) of $76,000 ($100,000-$24,000). Finally, the remaining cost (basis) of $53,200 ($76,000-$22,800) could be depreciated under the current depreciation rules. This would permit an additional depreciation deduction of $7,980. Thus, the farmer would be able to deduct a total of $54,780 of the $100,000 investment in the first year. This is an increase of $19,380 as a result of the 30% additional first-year depreciation provision. Assuming the farmer is in the 15% federal marginal income tax bracket, the federal income and self-employment tax savings would equal $5,440.

"While our agency administers many programs to support farm income, we also want to make sure that farmers are aware of this legislation so that they can take advantage of the tax savings, Connelly said. Connelly added that farmers should consult with their accountant to discuss the application of the new legislation to their individual situation.

Farmers Reminded Of Wye Angus Sale

Local farmers are reminded of the 24th annual Wye Angus sale, which will be telecast live in the distance-learning classroom at Garrett Community College this Saturday, April 6. Ten cow/calf pairs, 10 yearling heifers, and 29 performance tested bulls will be for sale by auction.

Registration will begin at 11 a.m. and the auction will get under way at noon. For more information, persons may telephone Willie Lantz at 301-387-3331, or Jim Simms at 301-334-6960.

Conservation Funds Available For Md. Farmers

Maryland has received $1.4 million in fiscal year 2002 conservation funding through the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP). The program provides farmers financial assistance to install conservation practices related to local watershed concerns involving animal waste/manure storage, farmstead runoff control, soil erosion, nutrient management and cover crops, integrated pest management, and prescribed grazing management.

In Garrett County, EQIP funds can be applied to agricultural operations that install practices to promote good water quality. Nationally, one-half of the funds are targeted to livestock-related natural resouree needs and the remainder to other significant conservation priorities associated with crop production. "EQIP has proven itself to be one of USDA's most popular conservation programs in Maryland," said John Minnick, Maryland state agronomist with the Natural Resources Conservation Service.

EQIP provides cost-share assistance for up to 75 percent of the cost of certain conservation practices, such as grassed waterways, filter strips, manure management facilities, contour buffer strips, livestock exclusion, and prescribed grazing. Incentive payments can be made for up to three years to encourage farmers to perform land management practices sueh as nutrient, manure, and integrated pest management. Total cost-share and incentive payments are limited to $10,000 per person per year and $50,000 for the length of the contract, which can run from 5 to 10 years.

EQIP funds can be leveraged with other conservation programs to provide even greater stewardship of natural resources. In addition to USDA EQIP funding, the Maryland Department of Agriculture provides cost-share funds for selected conservation practices, and the combined conservation funding makes it possible for farmers to install conservation management systems that before would have been prohibitively expensive.

The 1996 Farm Bill prohibits providing EQIP cost-share assistanee to large confined livestock operations for the construction of animal waste storage or treatment facilities. However, technical assistance will be provided to all operations. EQIP defines a large confined livestock operation as one with more than 1,000 animal units.

Farmers should contact the Garrett County Soil Conservation District office at 301-334-6951 for more information. The sign-up period for submitting an application for EQIP funds ends Friday, April 19.

USDA Accepting Applications For Distance Learning Projects Grants

Agriculture Secretary Ann M. Veneman announced the availability of $27 million in grants and $300 million in loans for distance learning and telemedicine projects serving rural America. The deadline for applications is May 13, 2002, for grants, and August 31, 2002, for loans or combination loans and grants.

"These loans will help provide important resources to strengthen distance learning and telemedicine programs for rural America," said Veneman. "Innovation and technology are helping bring new resources to rural communities and can improve educational cpportunities and health care."

The DLT program, administered by Rural Development's Rural Utilities Service, finances end-user equipment to expand the resources available to students and opportunities for improved medical seivice in isolated rural areas. Distance learning enables students in such areas to participate in enriched classes such as virtual field trips, and college preparatory and foreign language classes.

Marlene Elliott, Delaware/Maryland state director for USDA Rural Development, said, "New technology such as distance learning and telemedicine is helping to bridge the digital divide and overcome the barriers of rural isolation."

Telemedicine technology makes it possible for doctors to examine and direct the treatment of patients without being physically present. Since the program's beginning in 1993, USDA has invested more than $125 million in more than 400 DLT projects to bring better quality health care and education to thousands of rural Americans.

Information on the Distance Learning and Telemedicine Program for 2002 is available at http://www.usda.gov under the RUS agency section referencing distance learning. Included at this site are the Application Guide and the Federal Register Notice.

Applications must be submitted before the deadline to the Rural Utilities Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, STOP 1550, Washington, DC, 20250-1550. Loan and loan-grant combination applications will be processed on a first-come, first-served basis.

USDA Rural Development serves as the lead federal entity for rural development needs and administers program assistance through three agencies: Rural Housing Service, Rural Business-Cooperative Service, and Rural Utilities Service. Further information on USDA Rural Development can be obtained by contacting the Rural Development State Office at 302-697-4300 or by visiting USDA's web site at http://www.rurdev.usda.gov/

Can I get help with my electric bills?

A. The Electric Universal Service Program may be able to help with your past and present bills.

Need help paying your electric bills? The Electric Universal Service Program helps lower-income customers pay current electric bills, settle past unpaid bills, and also provides guidance with energy efficiency measures. You may be eligible if your yearly income is $12,885 or less (add $4,530 for each additional household member). To find out more about the program or to get an application, call toll-free at 1-800-352-1446 (TTY/TTD: 1-800-925-4434) or visit the web site at www.dhr.state.md.us/meap. Applications are also available at your local energy assistance office.

Simms Deems Farm Forum "Successful"

Garrett County's first Farming for Profit conference at the Alternative Agriculture Center of Garrett Community College brought together experts and farmland owners from as far away as the Eastern Shore to share information on maximizing income from farming enterprises. Crops ranging from berries to timber were discussed, along with livestock for food and fiber. "It was an excellent program, and it was very successful," said Jim Simms, Extension agent for the county.

Initiated by the recently formed Rural Economic Development Task Force, the conference was coordinated by Willie Lantz of the Alternative Ag Center and Paige Dopson, a member of the Mountain Pride Cooperative. Speakers for the event traveled from the Baltimore-Washington area, Virginia, West Virginia, and Ohio to join local specialists who volunteered their time to participate in this forum.

Keynote speaker Ken Wishnick, president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, noted the success of the "Visit a Working Farm" program initiated last year. "Paige Dopson proposed the idea early last year, and I was sold in five seconds," he said. Wishnick encouraged farm owners to consider sharing their agricultural way of life with farm visitors, but not be bashful about charging urban and suburban residents for the experience.

Wishnick also suggested cooperation in marketing area farm products on site. "Maybe you don't produce maple syrup at your farm, but you can still sell the syrup produced by your neighbor," he recommended.

The luncheon served to participants and speakers highlighted the quality of local produce. Montcroft Farms, owned and operated by Bill and Ed Grose near Cranesville, provided the potatoes. Shawn Gibson provided grain-finished beef. Darlene Skidmore of Briar Patch Bunnies donated rabbit. John Spaulding contributed lamb, and the salad greens and vegetables were grown in the Ag Center green house.

Those leading sessions included John Braskey, western regional administrator of the Department of Natural Resources; Paul Roberts, Deep Creek Cellars; Jeff Humberson, Blue Goose Vineyard; Glenn Tolbert, Garrett County Community Action; Sherry Frantz, Landscape Design; Paul Petersheim, Mt. Valley Produce; and Simms.

Also conducting sessions were Dave Moran, Crimson Shamrock Alpacas; Sue Reall, Reall Creations; Susan Elkins, Morgantown Craft Guild; Betsy Viola, Quaking Maples Farm; Jill Schamloffel, Blue Mule Products; Dr. Harry Schwartz, University of Maryland; George Clutter, W.Va. Honey Cooperative; Don Lewis, Md. Department of Agriculture; Bill Grafton, West Virginia University wildlife specialist; Bill Slagle, Walnut Meadows; Terry Helbig, Gonder Insurance; Andy Bennett, Farm Family Insurance; Chip Bennett, Bennett Insurance Agency; David and Lily Smith, Springfield Farm; and Erick Barrett, Ohio State University.

Why Fruit Trees Fail to Bear

One of the most frustrating occurrences for a home gardener is to pamper a fruit tree for years, provide all it needs to grow and flourish and to never have it reward you with sun-ripened, sweet, juicy fruit. Although there are no stock answers, several of the most common reasons for the "fail to bear" phenomenon are discussed below. When a tree produces viable blooms, it is capable of producing fruit if pollination requirements are met.

Why does a fruit tree fail to bloom?

1. The tree is too young. Most trees will bear after third or fourth year.

2. Chilling hour requirements have not been met. Choose a variety adapted to the climate of the area.

3. Sickly tree may be due to water stress (usually occurs when trees are planted in area with poor drainage), disease and insect damage, or poor fertility.

4. Tree blooms, but does not bear fruit. Cold temperatures (below 32 degrees F) occurred during bloom and damaged flower bud or immature fruit. Petals may appear unhurt but slicing base of the flower will reveal damaged tissue. Fruit damaged by cold temperature will began falling off about three weeks after the freeze occurred.

5. Pollination is not completed, needs another variety for cross-pollination. Varieties planted may not be compatible for cross-pollination. Check pollination requirement and plant suitable varieties.

6. Insect damage to the fruit early in the spring may cause young fruit to drop prematurely. Follow an appropriate spray program.

7. Excessive vegetative growth (due to over fertilization) may channel nutrients to leaves causing young fruit to starve and drop.

8. Stress to the tree can cause fruit to drop. Excessive water, drought, too much shade, severe mechanical injury (such as cause by a weedeater) are a few items that can cause the tree to be stressed and drop its fruit load.

How Many Seeds in a Bushel?

Make a bet with your buddy on how many seeds in a bushel? When you tell him/her the number and they don't believe you say "If you don't believe me go ahead and count". The average seeds per bushel of some of our common crops are as follows: Timothy-55, 350,000; Orchardgrass-8, 260,000; Barley-652, 800; Alfalfa-13, 200,000; Corn-81, 200; Birdsfoot trefoil-60, 000,000; Wheat-720, 000; Ladino clover-51, 600,000; Oats-406, 400. It would be a real challenge to count a bushel of seed. Wonder what government employee had the time to count?

Forage Cliff Notes
by Marvin Hall, Penn State University

Hybrid Alfalfa:

University trials have not supported the fantastic yield claims in the company advertisements. However, hybridizing alfalfa is in its infancy so stay tuned for updates.

Roundup Ready Alfalfa:

Although we are testing it at Penn State, it is still a few years away from hitting the market.

The "Super Conditioner":

These conditioning rolls will get hay dry a couple of hours faster than traditional conditioning rolls that are properly adjusted. Cost to retrofit a current conditioner with the Super Conditioner rolls is about $13,000.

Digestible Relative Feed Value (dRFV):

This proposed (not yet approved by National Forage Testing Association) new formula for calculating relative feed value tweaks the old formula to include digestibility of the Neutral Detergent Fiber (NDF) portion of the RFV equation. End result, grasses will be more comparable to alfalfa using dRFV. In addition, dRFV will more accurately predict value of corn silage compared to RFV.

Alfalfa Growth Stimulants and Foliar Fertilizers:

Test completed by Penn State researchers indicate that these products do not increase yield or quality compared to maintaining recommended soil pH and fertility.

Holstein Association, Dairy One Hold Annual Banquet

The Garrett County Holstein Association and Dairy One, with 130 persons in attendance, recently held their annual meeting and banquet at the Pleasant Valley Community Center.

Certificates and savings bonds were presented by Dairy One to Mar-K Farms, which had a herd percentage of 93 percent, for a low herd somatic cell count. Herd Management awards were also given to Mar-K Farms, first place; Philip Beachy, second place; Menno Yoder, third place; Fred Petersheim, fourth place; and John D. Yoder, fifth place.

High Herd Milk Production Energy Corrected awards were presented to Philip Beachy, first place for Holsteins; Harry Mosholder, second place for Holsteins; Jerry L. Yoder, third place for Holsteins; Richard DeWitt, first place in the Jersey division; Thomas E. Walker, first place in the Guernsey division; and Jason Brenneman, first place in the Brown Swiss division. An award was also present to Andrew W. Schrock for his cow Jackie, who had the highest lifetime milk production record of 287,290 pounds.

The Garrett County Holstein Club also presented certificates and awards in adult and youth divisions for High Herd Production Energy Corrected and Lifetime Milk Production to Holstein owners. Awarded in the adult division for a 2-year old, 3-year old, and 4-year old cow was owner Philip Beachy; and for 5-years and older was owner Delvin Mast. Awarded for the Highest Lifetime Milk Production for a Holstein was owner David W. Yoder.

Awarded in the youth division for a 2-year old cow was owner Shawn Bender; for a 3-year old cow was owner April Enlow; and for 5-years and older was owner Shawn Bender. Also awarded for the Highest Lifetime Milk Production for a Holstein was owner April Enlow.

NONINSURED CROP DISASTER ASSISTANCE PROGRAM EXPLAINED

The Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) is intended to provide eligible producers coverage equivalent to the Catastrophic Level of Crop Insurance for crops that are not insurable in the county. NAP is like Catastrophic Crop Insurance in that the first 50 percent of the farmer's loss is not eligible for payment. The payment rate is 55 percent of the crop's average market price. Benefits are limited to $100,000 per crop year for each participant.

NAP covers all noninsurable, commercially grown crops produced for food and fiber, including honey, forage and grazing crops, turf grass sod, Christmas trees, seed crops, and aquaculture. Any acreage of forage intended to be mechanically harvested, but grazed instead, must be appraised before grazing.

Ineligible crops include, but are not limited to, crop byproducts, crops grown using practices not considered to be good farming practices, crops not being produced for commercial market, experimental crops, volunteer stands, or garden crops for home use.

For 2001 and 2002 crops to be eligible for NAP assistance, applicants must pay a nonrefundable service fee of $100 per crop, per county no later than the close of business, Thursday, April 18. Fees are capped at $300 per county, not to exceed $900 for farmers with interests in multiple counties.

For 2001 crops that have suffered damage or loss, producers must have filed a timely notice of loss. For prevented planting claims, this would be 15 calendar days after the final planting date of the crop. For low yield claims and allowable value loss, a timely report would be the earlier of 15 calendar days after the damaging weather or natural disaster, or date loss of the crop becomes apparent.

If a producer is eligible to receive NAP payments and benefits under any other program administered by the Secretary of Agriculture for the same crop loss, the producer must choose whether to receive NAP payments or benefits under any other program. A producer is not eligible for NAP benefits and an insurance indemnity.

For further information regarding the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program, persons may visit the Preston County Farm Service Agency located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, or telephone 304-329-1923.

Workshop Slated For Parents Of Abused Children

The Garrett County Department of Social Services has scheduled a free two-day workshop for parents of abused children, which will be offered over the weekend of April 13-14. The sessions will take place at the DSS offices located along Garrett Highway in Oakland, and Saturday's session will take place from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., while Sunday's session will run from noon to 4 p.m.

The 12-hour workshop will focus on parenting the sexually and/or physically abused child, and will include a variety of activities for parents, addressing both the special needs of the child and the needs of the parents. Information on the effects of abuse on child development and self-care for parents, will be presented via a variety of formats, including audio-visual presentations. The sessions will also afford the opportunity for parents to hear from others who are in similar situations and possibly provide resources for future support.

This workshop would be appropriate for biological foster, and adoptive parents, according to a DSS spokesperson, and is limited strictly to non-offending parents only. Persons with a criminal record related to child abuse, or with an "indicated" finding of child abuse, will not be permitted to attend. Because some of the information that will be presented is of a sensitive nature, the workshop is open to adults only. There will be no daycare service available.

Lunch and light refreshments will be offered at Saturday's session, and snacks will be available on Sunday.

Registration is required, and must be made by Wednesday, April 10, by calling Jamie Settle at 301-533-3077 and leaving a name and a contact telephone number. For further information, persons may contact Settle, Erica Mowbray, or Mandy DeWitt at 301-533-3000.

Read. Then Recycle.

RAFFLE RAISES RELAY FUNDS — A Relay for Life fund-raising raffle was held by The Turn Around consignment store recently in memory of Brittany Tasker, who died of cancer earlier this year. Raffled off was a "pie candle", made to look and smell exactly like a pie, and all proceeds were donated to the upcoming Relay For Life, set for Friday and Saturday, June 7-8, at the Southern High School track. Pictured from the left are relay committee member Sandy Bell, store owner Tina Dick, raffle winner Judy Broadwater, and store employee Tammy Welling.

Freedom Chapel Announces New Sunday Schedule

Freedom Chapel, located along Bear Creek Road just outside of Friendsville, has changed its Sunday schedule of services effective this Sunday, April 6.

The regular 10 a.m. Sunday school session will be followed by an 11:20 a.m. praise and worship service, while the Sunday evening service has been eliminated from the schedule. The weekly Bible study sessions will continue to be offered at 7 p.m. each Wednesday evening.

Freedom Chapel was established in 1982 as an independent church, unaffiliated with any organization. Pastor Phil Smith, who has been serving the congregation since 1997, is an ordained minister with over 20 years of ministerial experience. He attended Kent Christian College in Dover, Del., where he majored in theology, and has held ministerial positions in Indiana and West Virginia. Smith and his wife Angie reside in Friendsville with their two sons, Austin and Ethan.

For further information, or to make transportation arrangements to and from Freedom Chapel's services, persons may call 301-746-5172.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

After a lovely Easter service at church on Sunday with all the favorite hymns and the altar decked with Easter lilies that my mother gave in memory of Dr. Scott Glotfelty, my Caitlin, as the acolyte, lit the Paschal candle at the altar, which was given by my family in memory of my father, Robert O. Glotfelty. Robbie Glotfelty carried the processional cross and my two girls, Meredith and Claire, along with Blakely Glotfelty and my mother, Ruth DiPaolo, carried the communion vessels to the altar. So our family was well represented in the service. After church we were greeted by a storm with freezing rain and huge snowflakes later in the afternoon.

We got a surprise on Good Friday with the arrival of my Aunt Dorothy Quaintance from New York state. It is too bad she had such a long drive back because she missed the best Easter dinner I think I ever had at Rodney and Marci Glotfelty's home. Other guests besides my girls were Courtney Englar, The Cove, Barry Glotfelty, Frederick, Dale Glotfelty and Ruth DiPaolo. We feasted on ham, turkey, dressing, gravy, mashed potatoes, and asparagus, and my girls produced their first batch of deviled eggs. They were perfect, so good that I ran out on Monday to get some more eggs so they could make a lot more. After my big load of groceries on Monday were loaded in my car I was surprised to get an offer to unload them at my house by an older neighbor lady, Anna Yoder, widow of Paul Yoder. This was the second time in my week that an older lady offered to help me. I feel so dumb that ladies older than I want to help me; it should be the other way around.

A lot of people were a little sleepy at Easter church service, as the church was filled with lots of happy Terp fans who watched the game Saturday night that put them into the final game in the NCAA tournament on Monday night. Everyone I talked to seemed sure that Maryland would win the game against Indiana. Sharon Buckel said, "Of course they will win." The same thing came from Blakely Glotfelty. Many of those in the big pool that benefits the GCC basketball program picked Maryland to be the final winner. If the Terps win tonight, Courtney Englar will be one of the winners, although not the top one. I have no comment about how I rated in the pool.

I am sure lots of people will stay up past their usual bedtime to watch the game. The school kids will just have to take a nap prior to the game. Jerry Herpel plans to let his family stay up for the game, even if it might mean they have to take another day off from school on Tuesday.

When I was teaching at GCC I would get some of the basketball boys to help fill out my sheet. I just talked to one of them, Jimmy, who promised to call during the game tonight. Jimmy was in Germany when I got sick, and when he came home I got a call from him that he was so upset about the bad news about me. He almost cried and said, "I have to come home right away to see you." He somehow pretended that Lloyd and I were his parents. Today he told me that he prayed for me every day since that day in Germany, and he thinks that God answered his prayers because I am still here. I am not so sure I am glad about that, as my life has become filled with unhappiness and misery. It is odd that a young black man from Baltimore is happy that I am alive, maybe more so than some people who are very close to me.

Audrey Brenneman saw a bunny outside her door early Easter morning, and Pastor Pat said she had to get up at 3 a.m. to try to stop her cat from killing the Easter bunny. As usual, the little ones at Easter provided a great show, with the little girls in their pretty dresses and the little boys so excited about the Easter bunny that all they wanted to do was run around, back and forth. It is funny that after the mild winter the blooming of the daffodils are still not out in full glory in Bittinger. Ken and Harriett Buckel have a good bed of blooms, and they are on a hilltop with a southern exposure. Not even my sister Carol, whose daffodils are always ahead of mine, has any blooming yet. Bill and Thehna Emory will probably outdo evervone, as they have the best bed and they do have several bright orange crocuses in their lawn. Another unusually early excellent flowerbed is at Kenny Beitzels. Sheila Southerly, a few weeks ago, told me that she had a great bed of crocus until some critter ate them to the ground. I did buy a couple pots of daffodils, tulips, and hyacinths to plant out in my bed, but so far with four days off from school, my girls will not dig a few holes. Mere said, "It's not fair!" Who said that hfe is fair? Not I, as I know it is not.

It is not fair that I can't get down to my favorite place along our creek to see whether much damage has been done to the skunk cabbage from the bears. They are one of their favorite breakfasts after their long winter sleep. I could go on and on about what is not being fair, but you all know what I am talking about. I do have my two dogs that are a mixed blessing, as they do provide me with security and guard duty and give me a little company. But they are quite demanding, as they want to go in and out every few mmutes, and the worst thing is when they wake me before 5 in the morning with their noise as they pace back and forth in the living room. Our cat, "Mr. Big Stuff, had to spend several days at the veterinary hospital with an urinary infection, so the dogs had a chance to steal his food. I don't think it is fair that I can't have enough time with the girls to teach them homemaking skills, especially since in 1971 I was a finalist in the Maryland Betty Crocker search for the Homemaker of the Future.

I had an amusing idea at Good Friday service at St. John's, in which my girls played roles in the dramatization of the Good Friday story, and I saw Lea Stanton beaming at her fiancé. She enjoyed introducing Michael to everyone on Friday and Sunday services. I thought it would be quite an idea if her mother and I would design and make her wedding gown, especially after our struggle with simple sewing projects when we were young and our minds were on our ponles. Also showing off her young man was Leshe Buckel. Although she and Brook have gone together for a long time, they are not engaged yet. I did hear rumors that Lea will have Leslie Buckel, Michelle Geis, and Noelle Collins as some of her bridesmaids, probably dressed in blue and teal. Lea and Michael had to rush back to his home in New York before he had to fly back to California where he is in the Air Force. Even in thinking about the wedding, which is still a long time off, I start to get tears in my eyes, as I can imagine how I will feel when my girls get to that stage of their lives.

I was amused when one of Cindy's first-grade students, little David Hall, was talking about his school days, and I told him that Cindy and I were best friends when we were his age. He said he thinks that Cindy and I look a lot alike. I forgot to tell him that we are cousins and the Indian blood in the Buckle family comes out strong in both of us. Anyway, we are blood sisters. Cindy had a good laugh at the idea we would make Lea's dress.

Sam and Aaron Stanton are confident that the Terps will prevail tonight. Even Cindy is pretty excited about the game. I am glad I will watch the game at home with just my girls because I like to take a little nap if the game gets too stressful. Cindy told me that they sent some police from up here to College Park in case things get out of hand after the game. I almost wish I were in College Park tonight. I have never been in a sports riot, I think I am too old for that now. But it does sound exciting, and I am sure that the Varsity Grill will be rocking tonight.

Still no lambs at Jimmy Glotfelty's field, but just a lot of very fat and lazy ewes taking a nap in the sunshine and resting up for future labor. I was surprised to hear a lot of birds singing during the blizzard we had on Easter afternoon. Several people at the dinner said we still need more rain, but it looks to me like we are in pretty good shape here in Garrett County. Every bog, glade, and creek is full of water and the fields are very wet, as you can see from the damage that manure spreading nas done in one of our hay fields, with lots of big ruts and lots of turned up big packs of ground. However, I think that field will be plowed this spring. Maybe I am optimistic, but I think we will get enough water to see us through the summer.

Great news that Lottie Brenneman is now able to be out and about. She drove to get her hair done and drove herself to Easter church service. She had a house full of dinner guests on Easter and baked a ham, but no pies.

Visiting their parents, Bob and Maxine Legeer, were Terry Caparella, and Phyllis Lowe, and a great-grandson Dillan Andrew Caperella, from the Annapolis area over the Easter holiday.

I heard my first singing of the spring peepers at the Casselman River area where I was picking up Claire at the house of her friend, Angie Kamp, after a double birthday party for a couple of friends, Heidi McMillian and Mariah Fletcher. When I got to the low area below Katherine Bowser's I heard them there too. Not at my house, as yet as it is still too cool.

April 7th is the anniversary of my aneurisms that ahnost cost me my life. I dread that date, as it brings back too mauy scary memories.

There was big excitement on our farm this week, as the DNR imported a big crew of tree planters from Guatemala and a small cute dog, which upset Boo and Emily very much, accompanied them. We are reclaiming an overgrown pasture with a tree plantation.

Linda Buckel and Lana Roby took Linda's grandchildren, Ryan and Abbie, to a special Easter program at Deep Creek State Park Discovery Center featuring egg dying with all natural dyes, including onions, turmeric, cranberries, spinach, and blueberries. Linda said the eggs were just beautiful. Then they had an egg hunt and then off to see a movie, Ice Age. I think they said this was the first movie that Lana and Linda had attended together. I saw Lana at the Easter service and she is very much improved, and Lottie has progressed so fast. She can walk with only a cane and has very little pain.

Just as the game started on Monday night, Linda Buckel returned my call. I hope I get her news straight. Pete was in the bedroom watching the game, as were probably half of the households in Bittinger. We Marylanders have waited a long time for this game. Personally, I hoped for it since 1971, my freshman year. Our team was good enough to go all the way, but they didn't. I heard several sport commentators say that Maryland is the best to have never reached the finals. At last we are there. Halfway through the first half I needed a little break because Maryland was not playing as they usually do.

Lea Stanton of Towson and Michael Pochet of Vanderburg Air Force Base were weekend visitors of Sam and Cindy Stanton. Saturday evenmg dinner

MSP Seek Leads In Swanton Mme Vandalism Case

The Maryland State Police McHenry barrack is asking for the public's assistance in solving an investigation of a destruction of property incident that occurred at a coal mine in the Swanton area. The incident occurred either Thursday night or early Friday morning at the G&S Coal Company site located off Sharpless Mine Road.

Mine employees arrived at work Friday morning to discover that several windows of a construction vehicle had been broken out overnight. The damage was estimated at $1,500.

Persons with information are asked to contact Trooper Whitaker at 301-387-1101.

Traffic Stop Results In DUI Arrest

A routine traffic stop for speeding led to the arrest of a Kitzmiller man for driving under the influence (DUI) early Saturday morning, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Tommy Joe Sweitzer, 21, was stopped for speeding along Gorman Road in the area of Steyer Mine Road. Upon making contact with Sweitzer, the deputy detected a strong odor of alcohol.

Sweitzer failed field sobriety tests and was charged with DUI and exceeding the maximum speed limit, police said. He was released pending trial.

DWIs/DUIs

In addition to the arrest cited above, two other individuals were charged with alcohol violations by sheriff's deputies this week.

They are James Eric Secrist, 24, Virginia Beach, Va., driving while impaired (DWI); and Carl Ray Stieringer, 35, Kitzmiller, DUI, DWI, and failure to drive right of center.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE IMPROVED DWELLING 1491 NEW GERMANY ROAD SWANTON, MD 21561

UNDER and by virtue of the authority contained in a Deed of Trust dated July 3, 2000, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber 809 at Folio 364, granted by Harvey Junior Bittinger to the trustee or trustees named therein, JEFFREY B. FISHER, MARTIN S. GOLDBERG and CRAIG INGRAM having been substituted as trustees in the place and stead of the trustee or trustees originally named by Deed of Appointment of Substitute Trustees duly executed and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, with all of the powers granted to the trustee or trustees originally named therein, including a power of sale upon default, and default having occurred in the terms and conditions thereof, the said Substitute Trustees will sell at public auction at the Courthouse entrance of the

CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY AT COURTHOUSE STEPS AT OAKLAND, MARYLAND ON
TUESDAY, April 16, 2002, AT 3:00 p.m., all that property described in said Deed of Trust, as follows:

Being all that parcel or parcels of land as described in a Deed recorded among the land records of Garrett County, Maryland, dated April 18, 1979, and recorded April 23, 1979, in Liber 397, Folio 381, said real property description being incorporated within this Deed of Trust/Mortgage by reference.

BEGINNING for the same at a small bounded white oak tree standing about ten perches east of the Meadow Mountain Road, and running from thence, with an allowance of 2½ variation, to the right; North 41 East, 100 perches to a stake, with a locust and chestnut tree marked as pointers; North 49 West, 40 perches to a stone pile; South 41 West, 100 perches to a stake; with two hickorys marked as pointers; South 49 East, 40 perches to the beginning, containing 25 acres, more or less.

EXCEPTING, however, from the operation of this deed 16.39 acres, more or less, heretofore conveyed; leaving 8.61 acres, more or less, to be conveyed herein.

BEING part of the land conveyed by Elizabeth Mayhew, et vir, to Harvey Bittinger and Viola Bittinger, his wife, by deed dated March 6, 1945, and recorded in Liber A.G.R. No. 134, folio 537&c., one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland. Upon the death of Viola Bittinger on March 3, 1979, the property vested in Harvey Bittinger, as surviving tenant by the entirety.

THIS deed is subject to the rights heretofore granted Melvin C. Bittinger to obtain and use water from a spring located on the 8.61 acres, more or less; which said right to obtain and use water is in common with both of the parties hereto.

RESERVING AND RETAINING, however, unto the said Harvey Bittinger, a life interest and estate in and to the property hereby intended to be conveyed, which said life estate is hereby expressly reserved and retained unto the said Harvey Bittinger, and the grantee, by acceptance of this deed does hereby expressly ratify and confirm the retention of the said life estate or estates.

SAID LAND AND PREMISES being in the Twelfth Election District of Garrett County, Maryland, and being improved by a dwelling bearing the street address of 1491 New Germany Road, Swanton, MD 21561. Subject to all covenants, restrictions and easements of record, if any.

TERMS OF SALE: A cash or cash equivalent deposit of $5,050.00 will be required at the time of sale, the balance to be payable in cash within ten (10) business days after ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, with interest on said balance from the date of sale to date of settlement at the rate of 9.25% per annum. Failure of the purchaser to settle will result in resale of the property at the risk and cost of the purchaser, or forfeiture of deposit at the election of the Substitute Trustees, who specifically preserve all legal and equitable remedies available to them. The Substitute Trustees reserve the right to waive the deposit requirements if the noteholder is the purchaser. Sale is "AS-IS" and Substitute Trustees make no warranty of any kind whatsoever regarding the physical condition, physical description, or title to the property. Taxes, rents, annually payable public charges and assessments, including the front foot benefit charges of the appropriate governing agency, if any, and condominium fees and/or homeowner's association dues, if applicable, will be adjusted to the day of sale and thereafter assumed by the Purchaser. All costs of conveyancing, including transfer taxes and recordation taxes will be paid by the Purchaser. The purchaser's sole remedy in the event the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey marketable title is the return of the deposit. Upon return of the deposit, the sale shall be null and void.

Obesity: A National Health Problem

Obesity involves the accumulation of excess body fat resulting in body weight that is 20% or more over the midpoint of a person's range on a standard height-weight table. The US Surgeon General recently referred to the nation's obesity as an epidemic that could become the leading cause of death among Americans [illegible] health costs associated with it [illegible] $100 billion per year. Associated problems including heart disease, [illegible] osteoarthritis, and infertility.

Consumption of fewer calories than the body uses is an excellent way to lose weight, but studies show that there is more involved than simply adjusting the diet. And increasing physical activity is crucial to continued weight loss — and keeping lost weight from returning.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF INTENT TO RELEASE FUNDS

The purpose of this Notice is to identify actions to be taken by Mayor and Town Council (Name of Grantee).

On or about April 12, 2002 the above named Mayor and Town Council will request that the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development release funds from the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program to be used for the following project:

Project Title: Housing Rehabilitation:

Purpose of Project: Repair of Homes for Lo-Moderate Income Families of Kitzmiller, Md.

Location: Kitzmiller, Garrett County, Md.

Finding of Categorical Exclusion

Notice is hereby given that Garrett County Board of Commissioners has prepared an Environmental Review Record on the project(s) described in this Notice and has determined said project(s) to be Categorically Excluded under the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 as amended. The Environmental Review Record which documents the Environmental Review of these project(s) is available for public examination at the Mayor and Town Council offices during normal business hours.

Request for Release of Funds

The Mayor and Town Council will undertake the project(s) described above with Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Funds. This Notice also certifies that Nancy Brady, serving in the official capacity of Mayor, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is to be brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to the environmental reviews, decision making, and action; and certifies that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the Mayor and Town Council may use the Small Cities Community Development Block Grant funds, and also the Department of Housing and Community Development will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

Objections to Release of Funds

Objections to the release of funds will be accepted by the Department of Housing and Community Development only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the Certifying Officer; or (b) that the Mayor and Town Council Environmental Review Record for the project(s) indicated omission of a required decision finding or step applicable to the program in the Environmental Review Process; or (c) no opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Officer to review the effect of the project on a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found to be eligible such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 36 CFR Part 800 (d)

Objections by a Federal Agency. All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments to the Mayor and Town Council and to the SCCDBG Program Manager, MD Department of Housing and Community Development, 100 Community Place, Crownsville, Maryland 21032-2023. All such comments must be received no later than April 30, 2002.

Maryland Department of the Environment
Waste Management Administration

Notice of Tentative Determination and Public Hearing

In accordance with §1-604 of the Environment Article, Annotated Code of Maryland, notice is given that the Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE), Waste Management Administration will hold a public hearing concerning the tentative determination to renew the two general discharge permits listed below. The public hearing will be held on May 16, 2002, at 7:00 p.m. at the Curtis Bay Recreation Center, Curtis Avenue and Filbert Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21226. At the public hearing citizens are provided an opportunity to formally comment on the Department's tentative determination and the draft permits. Written comments concerning the tentative determination will be accepted by the MDE until the close of business on May 23, 2002. Please address written comments to: Mr. Richard W. Collins, Director, Waste Management Administration, Maryland Department of the Environment, 2500 Broening Highway, Baltimore, MD 21224.

The draft permits have undergone minor changes since their last renewal in 1997 and may be viewed via MDE's website at: www.mde.state.md.us. Information supporting the tentative determination may be reviewed at the Department's offices at 2500 Broening Highway, Baltimore MD 21224, by appointment. Copies of the documents may be obtained at a reasonable charge.

The Department will provide an interpreter for the deaf and hearing-impaired persons upon request at least five days before the public hearing. For further information regarding this notice, to schedule an appointment to review documentation, or to request an interpreter, please contact Ms. Gail Castleman, Hearings Coordinator, at 410-631-3314.

General Permit for storm water and hydrostatic test water from petroleum terminals. This permit authorizes the discharge of storm water from storage tank diked and loading rack areas and hydrostatic test water from petroleum terminals to surface or ground waters of the State. This permit sets numerical limits on the concentration of the petroleum product contamination following treatment of the storm water or hydrostatic test water.

General Permit for discharges of treated ground water from petroleum contaminated ground water sources. This permit authorizes the discharges of treated ground water that has been previously contaminated by petroleum products as the result of leaks or spills. This permit sets numerical limits on the effluent concentration of the petroleum product contamination following treatment of the contaminated ground water.

Both federal (40 CFR 122) and State (COMAR 26.08.04) regulations require discharge permits for these activities. Specifically, State regulations require that discharges of any wastes or wastewater regardless of volume be authorized by a discharge permit. This applies to discharges to surface or ground waters. Federal regulations address discharges to surface waters only, requiring a permit for the discharge of pollutants. The limits for these permits are based on what has been demonstrated to be technologically achievable. Self-monitoring is required to verify compliance. The permits also require testing to verify that the discharges with a specified volume and duration be tested to verify that the effluent is not toxic to aquatic life, and if toxicity is present, the permit requires its elimination. This is a requirement of the federal Clean Water Act. This permit also sets operational requirements, such as inspection routines.

Each BID must be submitted in a sealed envelope, addressed to Ronald W. Petrella at Garrett County Sanitary District. Each sealed envelope containing a BID must be plainly marked on the outside as BID for Keysers Ridge Water Project and the envelope should bear on tha outside tha BIDDER'S neme, address, and license number if applicable, and the name of the project for which the BID is submitted. If forwarded by mail, the sealed envelope containing the BID must be enclosed in another envelope addressed to the OWNER at

Garrett County Sanitary District
14689 Garrett Highway
Oakland, Maryland 21550

ALL BIDS must be mede on the required BID form. All blank spaces for BID prices must be filled in, in ink or typewritten, and the BID form must be fully completed and executed when submitted. Only one copy of the BID form is required.

Tha OWNER may waive any informalities or minor defects or reject any and all BIDS. Any BID may be withdrawn prior to tha above scheduled time for the opening of BIDS or euthorized postponement thereof. Any BID received after the time end date specified shall not be considered. No BIDDER may withdraw e BID within 60 days after the actuel date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the OWNER and the BIDDER.

BIDDERS must satisfy themselves of the eccuracy of the estimated quentities in the BID schedule by exemination of the site and a review of the drawings and specifications including ADDENDA. After BIDS have been submitted, the BIDDER shell not assert thet there was a misunderstending concerning the quantities of WORK or of the nature of the WORK to be done.

The OWNER shell provide to BIDDING, ell information which is pertinent to, and delineetes and describes, the land owned and rights-of-way acquired or to be acquired.

The CONTRACT DOCUMENTS contein the provisions required for the construction of the PROJECT. Information obtained from an officer, agent, or employee of the OWNER or any other person shall not effect the risks or obligetions assumed by the CONTRACTOR or relieva the contractor from fulfilling any of the conditions of the contract.

Each BID must be accompenied by a BID bond payable to the OWNER for five percent of the total amount tha BID. As soon as the BID prices have been compared, tha OWNERS will return the BONDS of all except the three lowest responsible BIDDERS. When the Agreement is executed the bonds of the two remaining unsuccessful BIDDERS will ba returned. The BID BOND of the successful BIDDER will be retained until the payment BOND and performances BOND have been executed and approved, after which it will be returned. A certified check may be used in lieu of a BID BOND.

A performance BOND and a payment BOND each in the amount of 100 percent of the CONTRACT PRICE, with a corporate surety approved by the OWNER, will be required for the faithful performance of the contract.

Attorneys-in-fact who sign BID BONDS or payment BONDS and performance BONDS must file with each BOND a certified and effective dated copy of their power of attorney.

The party to whom the contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement and obtain the performance BOND and payment BOND within ten (10) calendar days from the date when NOTICE OF AWARD is delivered to the BIDDER. The NOTICE OF AWARD shall be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and BOND forms. In case of failure of the BIDDER to execute the Agreement, the OWNER may consider tha BIDDER in default, in which case the BID BOND accompanying the proposal shall become the Property of the OWNER.

The OWNER within ten (10) days of receipt of acceptable performance BOND, payment BOND and Agreement signed by the party to whom the Agreement was awarded shall sign the Agreement and return to such party an executed duplicate of the Agreement. Should the OWNER not execute the Agreement within such period, the BIDDER may by WRITTEN NOTICE withdraw the signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of the notice by the OWNER.

THE NOTICE TO PROCEED shall be issued within ten (10) days of tha execution of tha Agreement by tha OWNER. Should there be reasons why the NOTICE TO PROCEED cannot be issued within such period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the OWNER AND CONTRACTOR. If the NOTICE TO PROCEED has not been issued within the ten (10) day period or within the period mutually agreed upon, the CONTRACTOR may terminate the Agreement without further liability on the part of either party.

The OWNER may make such investigations as deemed necessary to determine the ability of the BIDDER to perform the WORK, and the BIDDER shall furnish to the OWNER all such information and data for this purpose as the OWNER may request. The OWNER reserves the right to reject any BID if the evidence submitted by, or investigation of such BIDDER fails to satisfy the OWNER that such BIDDER is properly qualified to carry out tha obligations of the Agreement and to complete the WORK contamplated therein.

A conditional or qualified BID will not be accepted.

Award will be made to the lowest responsible BIDDER.

All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over construction of the PROJECT shall apply to the contract throughout.

Each BIDDER is responsible for inspecting the site and for reading and being thoroughly familiar with the CONTRACT DOCUMENTS. The failure or omission of any BIDDER to do any of the foregoing shall in no way relieve any BIDDER from any obligations in respect to its BID.

INFORMATION FOR BIDDERS

BIDS will be received by the Garrett County Sanitary District (herein called the "OWNER"), at 14689 Garrett Highway for the Deer Park Water Project until April 26, 2002 at 11:00 a.m. and then at said office publicly opened and read aloud.

Each BID must be submitted in a sealed envelope, addressed to Ronald W. Petrella at Garrett County Sanitary District. Each sealed envelope containing a BID must be plainly marked on the outside as BID for Deer Park Water Project and the envelope should bear on the outside the BIDDER'S name, address, and license number if applicable, and the name of the project for which the BID is submitted. If forwarded by mail, the sealed envelope containing the BID must be enclosed in another envelope addressed to the OWNER at

14689 Garrett Highway
Oakland, Maryland 21550

ALL BIDS must ba made on the required BID form. All blank spaces for BID prices must be filled in, in ink or typewritten, and the BID form must be fully completed and executed when submitted. Only one copy of tha BID form is required.

The OWNER may waive any informalities or minor defects or reject any and all BIDS. Any BID may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of BIDS or euthorized postponement thereof. Any BID received after the time and date specified shall not be considered. No BIDDER may withdraw a BID within 60 days after the actual date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may ba extended by mutual agreement between the OWNER and the BIDDER.

BIDDERS must satisfy themselves of the accuracy of the estimated quantities in the BID schedule by examination of the site and a review of the drawings and specifications including ADDENDA. After BIDS have been submitted, the BIDDER shall not assert that there was a misunderstanding concerning the quantities of WORK or of the nature of the WORK to be done.

The OWNER shall provide to BIDDING, all information which is pertinent to, and delineates and describes, the land owned and rights-of-way acquired or to be acquired.

The CONTRACT DOCUMENTS contain the provisions required for the construction of the PROJECT. Information obtained from an officer, agent, or employee of the OWNER or any other person shall not affect the risks or obligations assumed by the CONTRACTOR or relieve the contractor from fulfilling any of the conditions of the contract.

Each BID must be accompanied by a BID bond payable to the OWNER for five percent of the total amount the BID. As soon as the BID prices have been compared, the OWNERS will return the BONDS of all except the three lowest responsible BIDDERS. When the Agreement is executed the bonds of the two remaining unsuccessful BIDDERS will be returned. The BID BOND of the successful BIDDER will be retained until the payment BOND and performances BOND have been executed and approved, after which it will be returned. A certified check may be used in lieu of a BID BOND.

A performance BOND and a payment BOND each in the amount of 100 percent of the CONTRACT PRICE, with a corporate surety approved by the OWNER, will be required for the faithful performance of the contract.

Attorneys-in-fact who sign BID BONDS or payment BONDS and performance BONDS must file with each BOND a certified and effective dated copy of their power of attorney.

The party to whom the contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement and obtain the performance BOND and payment BOND within ten (10) calendar days from the date when NOTICE OF AWARD is delivered to the BIDDER. The NOTICE OF AWARD shall be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and BOND forms. In case of failure of the BIDDER to execute the Agreement, the OWNER may consider the BIDDER in default, in which case the BID BOND accompanying the proposal shall become the Property of the OWNER.

The OWNER within ten (10) days of receipt of acceptable performence BOND, payment BOND and Agreement signed by the party to whom the Agreemant was awarded shall sign tha Agreement and return to such party an executed duplicate of the Agreement. Should the OWNER not execute the Agreement within such period, the BIDDER may by WRITTEN NOTICE withdraw the signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of the notice by the OWNER.

THE NOTICE TO PROCEED shall be issued within ten (10) days of the execution of the Agreement by the OWNER. Should there be reasons why the NOTICE TO PROCEED cannot be issued within such period, tha time may be extended by mutual agreement between the OWNER AND CONTRACTOR. If the NOTICE TO PROCEED has not been issued within the ten (10) day period or within the period mutually agreed upon, the CONTRACTOR may terminate the Agreement without further liability on the part of either party.

The OWNER may make such investigations as deemed necessary to determine the ability of the BIDDER to perform tha WORK, and the BIDDER shall furnish to the OWNER all such information and date for this purpose as the OWNER may request. The OWNER reserves the right to reject any BID if the evidence submitted by, or investigation of such BIDDER fails to satisfy the OWNER that such BIDDER is properly qualified to carry out the obligations of the Agreement and to complete the WORK contemplated therein.

A conditional or qualified BID will not be accepted.

Award will be made to the lowest responsible BIDDER.

All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over construction of the PROJECT shall apply to the contract throughout.

Each BIDDER is responsible for inspecting the site and for reading and being thoroughly familiar with the CONTRACT DOCUMENTS. The failure or omission of any BIDDER to do any of tha foregoing shall in no way relieve any BIDDER from any obligations in raspect to its BID.

Further, the BIDDER agrees to abide by tha requirements under Executive Order No. 11246, as amended, including specifically the provisions of tha equal opportunity clause set forth in the SUPPLEMENTAL GENERAL CONDITIONS.

Tha low BIDDER shall supply the names and addresses of major material SUPPLIERS and SUBCONTRACTORS when required to do so by the OWNER.

The CONTRACT DOCUMENTS may ba examined at the following locations:

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption from tax sale on tha following properties in Garrett County, State of Maryland, sold by Petty L. Glover, Collector of Taxes for the state of Maryland and the County of Garrett to Plaintiff, Michael S. Murphy. The parcels of land are described as follows:

Parcel 1. All that parcel of land assessed to Robert J. Wilkerson and Nancy D. Wilkerson, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.47 acres, more or lass, and known as Lot 26, Section 5, Block B, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 2. All that parcel of land assessed to H. Henry Elmiger and Delores H. Elmiger, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.46 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 12, Section 4, Block B, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 3. All that parcel of land assessed to Thomas C. Thomas and Rita M. Thomas, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.46 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 14, Section 4, Block B, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 4. All that parcel of land assessed to Charles A Noel, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.47 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 25, Section 5, Block B, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 5. All that parcel of land assessed to Eloina P. Cistaro, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.80 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 14, Section 3, Block M, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 6. All that parcel of land assessed to William A. Shank and Dorothy S. Shank, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.67 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 13, Section 3, Block M, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 7. All that parcel of land assessed to Anthony Marcantonio and Jane Marcantonio, in Election District 6, containing 0.60 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 8, Section 4, Block H, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 8. All that parcel of land assessed to Edward W. Miller, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.59 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 32, Section 4, Block H, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 9. All that parcel of land assessed to William A. Palmer and Dorothy E. Palmer, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.47 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 4, Section 5, Block D, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 10. All that parcel of land assessed to Daniel J. Stedman and Patricia S. Stedman, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.60 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 7, Section 4, Block H, Piney Mountain Corporation.

The Complaint states among other things, that the amounts necessary for redemption have not been paid. The sale was on June 19, 2001 and more than six (6) months have passed since that date.

It is thereupon this 1st day of April 2002, that the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland,

ORDERED that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this order in one newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for three consecutive weeks, on or before the day of 2002, warning all persons interested in the properties to appear in this Court by the day of 2002, and redeem the property and answer the Complaint or thereafter the final judgment will be entered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the Plaintiff to sell properties in fee simple, title free of all liens and encumbrances.

David K. Martin
Clerk of Circuit Court

Robertson Named State Finalist In Princess Pageant

Lauren Nicole Robertson, 4, daughter of Sheila Rexrode of Delmar, and Ronald Robertson of Ocean City, was recently chosen as a state finalist in the Miss Maryland American Princess Pageant, which will be held July 4 through 6 in Hunt Valley. The pageant is for girls age 3 through 6.

The state pageant winner will receive a $500 cash award, official crown, banner, trophy, roses, a day in Disney World for two, and a travel package to compete in the National pageant at Walt Disney World, Fla.

Lauren's sponsors include her mother and Delmar Memorial VFW Post 8276, Delmar.

She is the granddaughter of Darrell and Linda Rexrode, Mtn. Lake Park, and the great-granddaughter of Gertrude Rexrode, Loch Lynn, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeWitt, Bayard, W.Va.

BITTINGER

guests of the Stantons and Ferne Beachy were Dave and Nancy Beachy, Lucretia and Clay Stanton, Lenny, Sally, and Torrey Poholsky, Rob, Meredith, Daniel, and David Vagnetti, and Lea and Mike. Lea and Michael will live for several years in California. I remarked to Cindy that it will be bad for her since Lea is so far away. But she replied, "At least now I will get to go to California." I really hope that when my girls go to college and get married they will stay pretty close to home.

LEARNING DANCE MOVES IN LOCH LYNN — Children and youth are invited to attend a six-week dance class at the Loch Lynn School, which started last week. This event is sponsored by the Loch Lynn Community Planning Group, which is an "alcohol, tobacco, and other drugs" prevention group funded by the Garrett County Health Department. This class will last four weeks, and 2- to 5-year-olds dance from 6 until 7 p.m., and children age 6 and up will dance from 7 to 8 p.m. The dance choreographer is Toni Callis. Pictured are some of the participants for the previous class. In the top photo in the front is Dylan Johnson. In the middle row, from the left, are Kalla Johnson, Sadie Moon, Meredith Shrout, and Kaitlyn Grubb. In the back row are Kristofer Moon, Kyle Moon, and Austin Shrout. In the bottom photo, in the front row, are Tiffany Brenneman, Alisa Decker, and Sierra Sines. In the back row are Megan Sheffer, Tiffany Callis, Brandon Roberts, Christie Nutter, and Andrea Hadrick. For more information, persons may contact Sandy Sutton of the health department at 301-334-7730.

Although Rob Vagnetti appreciated my comments about the trash along the roads, someone showed their dislike by throwing several cans in our fields. I don't know which one of my neighbors reported the girls' dogs to the Animal Control, but 99% of the dogs around here do visit their neighbors. But I can't chase them down and tie them up. Also, it would be hard to rid my girls of their beloved dogs. It would be nice to have a run built for them, but have no one to do it. Who knows, maybe that someone who had the time to report them to Animal Control will offer to do it. Another problem confronting me as a woman alone is that I deal with many stray dogs, and I try to track down their owners rather than calling Animal Control. I sometimes even have to take them to their home.

It is pretty embarrassing for me to watch a woman over 80 years old raking my lawn and cleaning out my flower beds, but that is just what Ferne Beachy is doing just now. Ferne also delivered some of the most excellent cookies that Cindy always bakes for me and also brought me their news for this week. Some of these older ladies feel that this is part of their duty as Christians to help out and really care about me as a person and friend. I thank them for their caring and thoughtfulness.

The Northern varsity baseball team, featuring the "boys from Bittinger," played last week in Mapletown, Pa., and won their game, while the JV team lost a close one, 11-10, to Mapletown's varsity in a double-header. But in a tournament in Hancock last weekend, they lost games against Hancock and Williamsport.

Dwaine and Lisa Platter, Adam and Amanda, Smithsburg, were Friday overnight guests of Jim and Donna Glotfelty. Adam and Amanda, joined by their cousin Jodi Platter of Grantsville, remained to spend the Easter holidays with the Glotfeltys, and returned to their homes Tuesday evening. They all visited Swallow Falls State Park Sunday following morning church services, and saw kayakers passing by through the swiftly moving waters there. They later had dinner at an Oakland restaurant.

Foundation May Be Created To Enhance Chamber

A task force named by the board of directors of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce is exploring the possibility of establishing a chamber foundation. If created, the primary purpose of the new nonprofit organization would be to enhance the chamber's efforts in providing services and programs that benefit community residents.

Chaired by Hugh Umbel, the task force includes Marta Schroyer, Bob Browning, and Bill Meagher. The group met this week to begin mulling over possibilities for structure, mission, and function of such an organization.

Though the foundation concept is still in the exploration stage, there's already a list of "exciting" community projects suggested for consideration, according to Umbel. "We are looking at a wide range of potential projects, including scholarships, support for the arts, workforce development, school partnerships, leadership training, agricultural education, and town beautification. It seems to be an idea for which the time has come," he said.

The foundation would share chamber staff and facilities, according to chamber president Ken Wishnick. "It would be organized under section 501-C3 of the tax code, qualifying donations as tax-deductible. The organization could conduct its own fund raising events and seek large endowments to further support community programs," he said.

"Most counties have a foundation through which businesses can give something back to the community that has contributed to their success," said Umbel, who also pointed out that no additional funding from the county would be required to initiate this pro-

SPRING IS REALLY SPRUNG In Garrett County when our young people are able to take the field for basaball and softball competition, as Northern and Southern high school coaches of spring sports must routinely schedule their first half-dozen or so games on the road. But conditions were excellent for girls' softball yesterday afternoon at Northern High School, where the Huskies hosted the defending state 1A champions and cross-county rivals, the Southern Rams. Pictured are dueling pitchers Joiene Brenneman of Northern, left, and Southern ace Jennifer Bosley, right, who tossed a near perfect game with 13 strike-outs, no walks, no runs, and allowing only one hit. Brenneman gave up only six hits, but the Rams coasted to an 11-0 victory to up their record to 8-1. (See sports pages for more coverage.) Excellent conditions for outdoor competition should prevail for the next several days, with temperatures expected to soar into the 70s. Photos by John McEwen.

Driver Ejected, Fatally Injured In Single-Vehicle Mishap Sunday

The driver of a 1991 Ford Explorer was ejected and fatally injured when for unknown reasons he lost control of the vehicle along Glendale Road at approximately 3 a.m. Sunday, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

The vehicle driven by William Richard Corkrin, 29, Glen Burnie, lost control and struck a tree before rolling on its top, police said.

The passenger, Terry Lee Smith Jr., 23, also of Glen Burnie, was transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. He was later transferred to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he is listed in stable condition.

According to deputies, neither man was wearing a seat belt.

The accident is still under investigation by the sheriff's office.

The Bittinger fire department also responded to the scene.

Vacant House Is Damaged By Fire Saturday

A vacant, two-story, wood-frame house in Crellin sustained an estimated $40,000 in damages by a fire of unknown origin Saturday evening.

Volunteers from the Oakland, Deer Park, Terra Alta, Gorman, Aurora, and Deep Creek fire departments were called to 37 Crellin Street at 9:48 p.m. after a neighbor discovered the fire. According to Steven Wendling, fire investigator for the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office, it took about an hour to bring the blaze under control. He determined that the fire started in a first-floor bedroom.

The owner of the house is Ronald Upole.

Wendling continues to investigate the cause of the fire, and requests that anyone with any information about the incident call him at his office at 301-387-0437.

There were no injuries reported.

A "SPORTING" GLAF AUCTION is on the agenda of Amazing Grazing II, this Saturday's fund-raiser for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival. A large array of sports memorabilia will be featured during the benefit's silent auction, and GLAF executive director Beth Johnson, left, is shown with State Farm Insurance owner Rob Michael of Oakland, who donated the items. Among the items headed for the auction block are ceramic figurines of Boomer Esiason, Orel Hershiser, and Bo Jackson; plaques of Barry Bonds, Dave Winfield, and Gus Frerotte; signed photos of Arnold Palmer, John Kruk, and Carlos Bierga; a baseball signed by Bill Mazeroski; collectors' plates of Scottie Pippin and Alonzo Mourning; basketballs signed by Juan Howard and Tim Legeer; and a football signed by the team members of the Washington Redskins. In addition to the silent auction, guests will be entertained by pianist Muriel Franz, the duo of Rob Smith and Keith Roberts on banjo and guitar; and the Irish/Celtic folk group Sang Run. They will also enjoy an array of hors d'oeuvres and desserts, prepared by Martin Heise, that will feature the American cuisines of New England, the South, and the Southwest. Further information about Amazing Grazing II can be obtained by calling the GLAF office at 301-387-3082.

High-Ranking INS Official Set To Speak At Garrett

The upcoming installment of the Spring Speakers Series at Garrett Community College will feature a presentation by U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Services deputy commissioner Peter Michael Becraft. The program will take place at 3 p.m. and will be repeated at 7 p.m. on Thursday, April 18, in Room 314 of the Continuing Education Building. Becraft's presentation will outline the mission and goals of the INS, and will provide information on careers available with the agency.

A member of the career Senior Executive Service, Becraft first joined the INS in 1993 as a consultant. He was appointed chief of staff two years later, a position he held until he became acting deputy commissioner on Sept. 11. He has been instrumental in developing a comprehensive recruiting and hiring program to ensure that the agency attracts qualified candidates.

Prior to joining the INS, Becraft served in the Army for more than 26 years before retiring at the rank of colonel. In his last military assignment, he served at the Pentagon as chief of the Counternarcotics Operations Division of the Joint Staff, where he was responsible for overseeing the daily management of worldwide military operations in support of the war on drugs.

Becraft served as an armor officer in various command and staff assignments worldwide, including two combat tours in Vietnam. He received awards for valor, meritorious achievement and outstanding service, including the Silver Star for Gallantry in combat, two awards of the Bronze Star Medal with "V" Devices for heroism in combat, the Army Commendation Medal with "V" Device for valor, the Purple Heart, and the Combat Infantryman's Badge.

Becraft holds a bachelor degree in social science from Niagara University, N.Y., a master's degree in

Storage Shed Burns; Arson Is Determined

Arson is determined to be the cause of a fire that destroyed a wood-frame storage shed early Tuesday morning.

Oakland and Deer Park volunteer firefighters were summoned to the residence of Robert and Jody Thomas, 264 Plessinger Lane, southeast of Oakland, at 12:09 a.m. They found the 10' x 12' shed fully engulfed in flames.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Steven Wendling estimated the loss to be $6,000. He said that Mrs. Thomas was awakened by her child, who smelled smoke. She saw the shed on fire and called 911.

Wendling said that the cause is suspicious, and asks anyone with any information to contact him at 301-387-0437. He noted that the felony of second degree arson is punishable by imprisonment of up to 20 years and a fine of up to $30,000, or both.

Also responding to the fire was the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Governor Signs Del. Edwards's GCMH Bond Bill

Governor Parris Glendening signed House Bill 1232 yesterday. The legislation, sponsored by Delegate George Edwards, will allow the Garrett County commissioners to issue up to $7.5 million in general obligation bonds for expansion and renovations to Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

The bill will be effective June 1. County debt service expenditures will increase by an estimated $502,000 annually for the next 30 years. The hospital will reimburse the county for the debt service or pay the bond holders directly.

Several other bills introduced by local legislators were recently passed by the General Assembly and now await the governor's approval. HB 617 — crossfiled as SB 552 — unanimously passed in both chambers. The legislation, sponsored by Delegate George Edwards and Senator John Hafer, would place the wildlands designation on nearly 4,000 acres in Savage Ravines and South Savage Mountain areas.

Motorized vehicles, timber harvesting, and development would not be allowed on the Savage lands with the designation. Backpacking, camping, hunting, fishing, and other recreational activities, however, would still be permitted.

At their mid-legislative meeting in March, Hafer and Edwards said that they tentatively supported the bill because it was apparent to them that other state lawmakers were going to push for the bill anyway, with or without them, and they wanted to have some control of the local issue.

The legislators' amendment to the bill, which allows Frostburg State University to use the lands for educational purposes, also passed.

According to today's issue of The Baltimore Sun, Glendening has pledged to sign the bill.

Also recently approved by the General Assembly was the Community Colleges Unrestrictive Grants bill. Sponsored by local legislators, the bill would allow Garrett Community College to receive $240,000 and Allegany College of Maryland to receive $360,000 in unrestricted grants for fiscal years 2003 to 2005. It also requests that the colleges each receive $500,000 for FY 2003.

Other state community colleges would also receive various amounts of grant monies. The legislation was introduced in an effort to make funding to small community colleges more equitable to that of larger four-year colleges.

Oakland Man Fatally Injured In Tractor Accident Wednesday

An Oakland man was fatally injured Wednesday in an accident along Pleasant Valley Road, just off Smouse Road, involving a tractor, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Franklin Earl Switzer, 52, was traveling west along Pleasant Valley Road on a Farmall H tractor when the tractor ran off the road and overturned in a ditch. He was ejected and pinned underneath the tractor. The tractor then caught on fire, police said.

The accident remains under investigation by the sheriff's department.

Oakland Volunteer Fire Department and Southern Rescue Squad also responded to the 6:13 p.m. accident.

Durst Funeral Home, Oakland, is in charge of arrangements which were incomplete at press time.

Sanitary Commission Explains Rates; ERUs Are Temporarily Status Quo

Members of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission held a meeting on Monday evening to address public concerns about their recent changes to the universal sewer rates and tap requirements, particularly those that apply to the Deep Creek Lake Sewer System. Approximately 50 lake residents, real estate agents, and contractors attended the meeting.

"We're hopeful that we can come up with a win-win situation," said Ron Petrella, Sanitary District administrator. He noted that his office had received numerous letters and phone calls from residents concerned about the changes.

Sanitary District customers will now be charged based on the number of bathrooms in their homes. Those with up to three bathrooms will be charged $62 per quarter, while those with 3.5 to 4.5 will be charged $93. The commission adopted the changes on January 28, and they went into effect on April 1.

The commission held no public meetings before adopting the new rates, but did announce them in the classified section of The Republican on March 7 and 14. Ed King, lake resident and real estate agent, pointed out at the Monday meeting that many of the part-time lake residents will not be aware of the changes until they return to the county in May.

New customers, and current customers who add bathrooms to their homes, may have to purchase an Equivalent Residential Unit (sewer tap) for about every three bathrooms they install. However, the Maryland Department of the

Commissioners Launch GCAP; Families To Receive Computers

The Garrett County Board of County Commissioners, with support from a coalition of county agencies and businesses, announced this week the implementation of the Garrett Computer Adoption Project (GCAP). The commissioners have initiated this project to improve the availability of computer technology to county residents.

The GCAP will provide computers and Internet access to Garrett County households with school-age children who currently lack any computer technology at home. "There is a world of opportunity and learning available to children and families through computer technology," said the commissioners in a joint statement. "The GCAP offers a way for county families to benefit, through increased skills and knowledge."

Frank Shap, information technology coordinator for the Garrett County Economic Development Department, added that the commissioners are "strong proponents of affordable access to information technology for county citizens."

According to Shap, GCAP will be soliciting donations of computers capable of being refurbished and configured to run popular applications such as word processing, spreadsheets, and e-mail. Local high

IT'S A COMPUTER! — "GCAP" the stork is shown above delivering a computer to Garrett County commissioner Wendell Beitzel. The commissioners helped launch the Garrett Computer Adoption Project (GCAP) this week at the Business Education Partnership luncheon. GCAP will provide computers and Internet access to Garrett County households with school-age children who currently lack any computer technology at home. GCAP volunteers will be soliciting donations of computers capable of being refurbished. Local Internet service providers have agreed to donate six months of free Internet access to the adopting families. The project is coordinated effort between several county agencies, businesses, and schools. See story for more details.

Named Trooper Of Year By MSP McHenry Barrack

Maryland State Police Trooper First Class James P. Grinnan has been named Garrett County's Trooper of the Year by MSP Barrack W commander Lt. Randy Resh. He was nominated for the honor by Sgt. D.W. Broadwater, who noted that Grinnan's "dedication and enthusiasm are evident in his overall performance. He is an exceptionally dedicated individual [who] deserves recognition ...[for] his selfless attitude toward the betterment of his fellow troopers and the community which ho serves."

Grinnan was the "highest producer in DWI enforcement and criminal enforcement" at the barrack in 2001. He carried out 38 criminal arrests, 26 of which were drug-related, made 11 juvenile apprehensions, and filed 106 criminal charges. He also made 14 DWI arrests, wrote 662 motor vehicle citations, 4 civil citations, and responded to 671 calls for service.

One of Grinnan's most noteworthy arrests of 2001 occurred the evening of May 11, when he stopped a car for speeding on Interstate 68. After obtaining the driver's consent, Grinnan

Environment And Schools Win Big Building Bucks; Others Must Wait

by Kathleen Johnston Jarboe
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — Lawmakers approved $760 million in new capital debt, awarding large sums to higher education, public schools, and the environment, but sending local construction projects and requests for a Morgan State library home with IOUs.

The decisions came Monday during the last moments of the annual 90-day General Assembly session as select members of the House and Senate ironed out differences between their chambers' versions of the capital budget. While lawmakers toiled, nearly 100 Morgan State students blasted the facade of the State House with their cries for a new library. The students could be heard for blocks in their second day of protesting.

Students complained the facilities are inadequate.

There is no lighting, said freshmen Cherae Robinson. "It looks like we're at a candlelight dinner."

"We have to go to other schools to get our research books," she said, adding that the books were so old that blowing on them produced dust clouds.

While the students' chants forced legislative negotiators to close the windows to hear properly on the warm night, the effort wasn't rewarded with the money they desired. House members, who removed the $3.1 million for building planning from their budget, did not want to grant money to a project that was not ready, said Delegate George Edwards, R-Garrett, a conference committee member. They still needed to do some demolition and to conduct testing, Edwards said.

Instead, lawmakers promised $52 million for planning and construction in fiscal 2009, with the school to be reimbursed for any money spent on the project before that date.

Students were not satisfied and continued their State House vigil until the Assembly adjourned.

"They want more," said Delegate Howard P. Rawlings, D-Baltimore. "I can't blame them."

Not all education projects were slighted though. Overall, education construction proposals did well. Lawmakers set aside $224 million for school construction and $280 million for university construction.

Gov. Parris N. Glendening's environmental priorities were also big winners. The governor met with budget leaders more than once in his mansion to lobby for his causes.

Lawmakers, who initially slashed millions from his environmental programs, rewarded him with nearly 67 percent of his larger program requests, said the governor's spokeswoman, Raquel Guillory.

Environmental projects together, including Rural Legacy and GreenPrint, emerged with $71 million. That money will be divvied out to counties that apply for the programs this summer, Guillory said.

Unusual for the capital budget was the absence of community building projects. Such initiatives, ranging from a grant to Joshua Group Ministries for a Silver Spring drug and marriage-counseling center to money for Howard County Courthouse updates, were deferred until 2004.

Money is typically set aside to fund these proposals, Edwards said. But the Senate wiped them out when revenue reports showed the state was facing a $1.2 billion structural deficit, he said.

Health Dept. Notes Second Rabies Case

The second rabies case of the year has been reported by the Environmental Health Services office of the Garrett County Health Department. The case involved a skunk shot and killed by a Swanton area resident after the animal fought with his currently vaccinated dog.

After the shooting, the skunk's carcass was delivered to the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Rabies Laboratory in Baltimore, which made the rabies confirmation. Two dogs which had been exposed to the skunk will receive rabies boosters and be closely observed for 45 days. There was no human exposure and no need for post-exposure treatment.

Pet owners are urged to check the vaccination status of their dogs, cats, and ferrets, and update if needed. The Health Department will be providing a spring series of low-cost rabies vaccination clinics from Friday, May 3, through Thursday, May 9, in various locations around the county. Details will be published in The Republican in the near future.

For further information, persons may call Environmental Health Services at 301-334-7760.

GCC Registration Opens; Tuition Mostly Unchanged

Registration for summer and fall classes at Garrett Community College got under way this week at the college's Student Assistance Center. Students may register weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. until Wednesday, May 8, then again beginning on Monday, May 20.

Tuition for in-county residents remains at $76 per credit hour, in accordance with a recent decision by the GCC Board of Trustees to hold the line on tuition at the same level as last year. Tuition for residents of other Maryland counties will increase by $3, to $147 per credit hour, while out-of-state tuition will remain at $187 per credit hour.

Three summer sessions are scheduled this year: Early Summer, from May 14 to June 12; Summer I, from May 29 to July 15; and Summer II, from June 10 to July 25. Fall semester classes will begin Sept. 4.

Returning students should contact their advisors for an appointment or call the Student Assistance Center at 301-387-3044. New students who plan to enroll in any degree program or in certain certificate programs should contact the center to schedule an appointment for placement evaluation. Tentative dates for placement evaluation are published in GCC's schedule of classes, which is at the college and at all branches of the Ruth Enlow Library.

Booster Seats To Be Required For Older Youth

by Diana Mota Morgan
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS — A bill requiring children under age 6 to use safety seats awaits the governor's signature after being passed by the Maryland General Assembly the last week of session. The measure, which would take effect Oct. 1, 2003, narrows the gap in Maryland child safety restraint laws and applies only to vehicles registered in the state. The $25 fine may be waived if parents prove they obtained a booster seat after being cited.

Under current Maryland law, and in most states, children under 4 must use safety seats in motor vehicles, but after age 4, children may use adult seat belts. That law doesn't protect older children, who, research shows, still need more restraint than an adult seat belt provides.

After 4 years or 40 pounds, children typically outgrow traditional child seats and use vehicle seat belts, which don't fit properly, said Delegate William A. Bronrott, D-Montgomery, House bill sponsor.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration recommends safety seats for children up to 80 pounds and 4 feet 9 inches tall. Booster seats, it said, "can help prevent injury by making adult-sized seat belts fit correctly."

The agency testified at the bill's hearing that lap belts can ride over a child's stomach and the shoulder belt can cut across a child's neck, resulting in serious or fatal injuries, including damage to spinal columns, spinal cords, livers, spleens, and bowels.

Bronrott and Sen. Jennie M. Forehand, D-Montgomery, first introduced the legislation last year, but it died in the House Commerce and Government Matters Committee. Although the sponsors wanted 6-year-olds included, as in their original bill, both are "delighted" the measure passed this year.

Two years, Bronrott said, is a short time to get new legislation passed.

"This is a great victory," Bronrott said. "[The law] ... kids be kids and not memories.'

Forehand said she is already thinking about extending the bill, including gradually phasing in booster requirements for older children.

Both sponsors said they hope that as the public is educated about booster seat benefits, parents will elect to use them even if it is not a law.

"People," Forehand said, "just don't realize the gravity of the issue."

Tickets Remain For Historical Society Dinner

There are still tickets available for the annual spring fund-raising dinner to benefit the Garrett County Historical Society, according to Robert Boal, society president.

The turkey dinner will be held Friday, April 19, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Guest speaker will be Offutt Johnson.

Tickets may be purchased at Gonder Insurance Agency, Gregg's Pharmacy, and at the Garrett County Museum, all in Oakland. The cost is $20 each, with $10 of that being a tax-deductible contribution to the society. Persons may also telephone the museum at 301-334-3226 for more information.

GEARING UP FOR GARDEN, FLOWER SHOW — Several local garden centers and florists are now in preparation for the Garrett County Garden and Flower Show, slated for Saturday, May 4, at the Lighthouse in Oakland. Sue Corbet of Green Acres is pictured above with some spring arrangements that will be among the many hundred green and flowering items available at the show. She is president of the Preston County Master Gardeners, a group that will be represented at the show. Members will be available throughout the day to answer gardening questions. The Garrett County Lighthouse will celebrate the opening of its new wing by hosting the event, and is working with the Maryland Cooperative Extension, the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland, and FCE Homemakers in organizing the show. It will begin at 9 a.m. and run until 5 p.m., with a wide variety of events, workshops, entertainment, and refreshments. The Lighthouse is located at 20 East Oak Street in Oakland.

Deputies Charge Two Men With Assault Friday

Two men were arrested Friday evening by Garrett County sheriff's deputies when they responded to a residence along Keefer Road in reference to a domestic disturbance in progress.

Timothy Lee Meadows, 22, Oakland, and Edward L. White, 53, Terra Alta, W.Va., were both arrested and charged with second degree assault and disturbing the peace. An ex parte order had been issued on Meadows earlier that day, but deputies were unsuccessful in serving it to him prior to his return to the residence.

Meadows was released from the Garrett County Jail after posting $500 bond. White was released on his own recognizance, according to a jail spokesperson.

Governor Signs

Hafer's SB 5 was also unanimously passed by both chambers. The bill requests that nursing home residents' personal needs allowance be increased from $40 a month to $50 beginning July 1, 2003. Beginning July 1, 2004, the allowance would increase to $60, and adjusted annually beginning in 2005. Taylor co-sponsored the legislation and lobbied for its support in the House.

Edwards's HB 567 was also unanimously approved by the General Assembly. The legislation requests that farmers be allowed to join the Maryland Land Preservation Foundation without natural gas companies having to give up their mineral rights to the lands.

Edwards introduced the bill last year and won General Assembly approval, but it was vetoed by Glendening. The delegate has been working with the Governor's Office to convince Glendening of the bill's importance. More than 20 Garrett County farmers are interested in joining the foundation, but cannot, because of the the mineral rights restrictions, according to Commissioner Fred Holliday.

April 28 is the final date for presentment of bills to the governor. He must sign or veto them by May 28.

"I WISH I WAS AN OSCAR MEYER WINNER" — Jane Britner's kindergarten class at Broad Ford Elementary School recently made a commercial video to enter in a contest for the Oscar Meyer company, and the youngsters are now hoping that their rendition of "I Wish I Was An Oscar Meyer Weiner" will be a winner. The class is one of many submitting a music video in the contest, all with the hope that the Oscar Meyer hotdog mobile will visit the school. The winning school will also be awarded $10,000. Good luck to these singing tykes! In the front row, from left, are Lucas Baker, Wyatt Hinkle, Tanner Massey, Coy Oziaa, Jillian Yant, Amber Hawken, Justice Fulmer, and Tyler Artice. Second row, same order: Alex Mieke, Charles Thompson, Ryan Cosner, Cambria Martinez, Brianna Glass, Victoria Varner, Chanda Beckman, and Cory Hershman. Third row: Brooke Sisler, Rebecca Lee, Anthony Shahan, Shawn Shahan, and Alexis McCulley. In the back are Nancy Livengood and Britner.

Launch GCAP

school and college students will "recycle" the donated computers using new parts if necessary. It is anticipated that students will earn school and community service credits in recognition of their contributions to the program's success.

Over the next year, local charities, businesses, and individuals will be asked to donate computers and or cash to support the refurbishment, training, and ongoing support of the "adopted" computers. Adopting families will be asked to complete a brief application describing how they would use the computer and the benefits they hope to gain through technology in the home. A team of volunteer county citizens will evaluate the applications and select the recipient families.

Local Internet service providers — GCNet, ICI Web, and TCI/Pennswoods.net — have agreed to donate six months of free Internet access to the adopting families. Training and support will be provided to each family to help assure the systems are delivering the intended benefits requested by the family. Ongoing support will be delivered by GCAP volunteers, private citizen "mentors," and local students, who will get practical customer service experience useful when they enter the workforce after school.

The development of this project was the result of public/private and interagency teamwork. Shap will head up the program. "This is really an exciting, win-win program for the county," he said. "The cooperation and teamwork already demonstrated by our volunteer committee is a great indicator of success."

The GCAP team has approximately 20 volunteers from the following organizations: the Department of Economic Development, Garrett Community Action, the Board of Education, Garrett Community College, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, the Partnership for Children and Families/LocalManagement Board, University of Maryland Garrett County Extension, Ruth Enlow Library, Southern High School marketing students, Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, In Touch Communications, Shoup Design, and First United Bank.

Initially, the GCAP has set a modest goal of placing 25 adopted computers in Garrett County households by September.

"Thanks to the generosity of First United Bank, Rob Michael State Farm Insurance, Cuppett Management Co. Inc., and Lohr Distributors," said Shap, "the GCAP already has commitments for the first 25 systems." With the experience gained and the public exposure for the program, GCAP hopes to "grow the program," with a goal of placing an additional 75 computers in Garrett County households by April of next year.

The GCAP was formally announced at the Business Education Partnership luncheon on Tuesday. More information on the program will be available at www.gcap.info or by calling 301-334-5059.

searched the vehicle. While carrying out a routine pat-down search of a passenger (for safety purposes), Grinnan located a plastic baggie with 100 units of suspected MDMA ("Ecstasy"), along with quantities of suspected marijuana and an unknown white powder.

Grinnan, 28, is a native of Boothbay Harbor, Maine. He joined the MSP in July 1997, and graduated from the MSP Academy the following January at the top of his 61-member class. He was assigned to the Berlin barrack, where received the Worcester County Drug Task Force award for producing the most DWI and drug arrests in 1999. He was transferred to the McHenry barrack in February of last year.

Grinnan comes from a long line of family members who have served in police work and the judicial system in a variety of capacities. His younger brother, a recent MSP Academy graduate, has just been assigned to the Berlin barrack; his father was a law enforcement officer in New England for 30 years; a grandfather was a B&O Railroad police officer in the Grafton, W.Va., area; a great-great grandfather was a district court judge in West Virginia; and a great-great-great grandfather, Marmaduke Dent, the first graduate of West Virginia University in 1867, sat on that state's Supreme Court bench for 12 years in the early 1900s.

Explains Rates

Environment (MDE) has a moratorium on sewer taps for the DCL system. Several residents at the meeting were concerned about the additional tap requirements preventing them from building, as there are no more ERUs available.

Petrella noted that the new rates and ERU requirements were prompted by several reasons, including the increase in sewer flow, more development at the lake, and the commission's desire to achieve a more equitable and fair charging method.

According to the Office Planning and Zoning, approved building permits for the first quarter have increased from 65 in 1999 to 124 this year, which is an increase of almost 91 percent. Last year, almost 46 percent of total permit applications were from the Deep Creek Lake watershed.

The square footage of houses being built has also increased. Petrella described them as "mini hotels," with some having 10 bedrooms and 10 bathrooms. Under the old rate, customers with 10 bathrooms paid the same rate as those with only 1 bathroom.

King noted that his home has only two occupants, even though it has several bathrooms. He questioned the fairness of rates based on the number of bathrooms rather than on bedrooms or occupancy, noting that occupancy would be a better indicator of sewage output.

"The large rental properties seem to be the crux of the problem," King said. He noted that single-family homes usually number under 4 occupants, while rental properties have occupancy levels that may permit up to 20 or more people. He added that there are 525 rental properties listed in various brochures and the Vacation Guide.

"You can't continue to punish the renters," said real estate agent Jimmy Railey. "They're already paying accommodation taxes." He added that the vacationers also contributed to the local economy by patronizing restaurants, stores, and various other businesses.

Petrella said the sanitary commission was currently considering allowing property owners to proceed with their construction without obtaining an additional ERU. In lieu of ERU requirements, residents would pay an impact fee, which would be used for maintenance of the DCL sewage system. He added that once the White Face Farm Spray Irrigation Treatment Facility at the airport is finished in 2004, 2,700 ERUs would be available.

In the interim, the district is working with the MDE to obtain a temporary increase in permitted flow, reducing infiltration, and making improvements at the DCL treatment plant.

"I think the goal of the commission is to make this as fair and equitable as possible," said David Maust, commission member. He said the commission would take the public's comments into consideration.

The Sanitary District issued a press release on Wednesday stating that the commission "agreed to rescind its original decision regarding the ERU structure that became effective April 1, and that the ERU requirement would be status quo for the short-term."

The commission plans to make a decision whether to change the structure after conducting a rate review. The commission thanked residents for their comments. Anyone with questions may call the Sanitary District at 301-334-1887.

Library Deadline Near...

April 15 is one of those dates of which every employed adult in the United States is keenly aware, as it is the final day to file one's income taxes without incurring a late penalty. But April 15 of this year takes on another significance for a large segment of Garrett County's population. It is also the deadline for persons to make a donation or pledge to the Re-New Grantsville Library fund and have tnat donation matched, dollar for dollar, by the Garrett County commissioners.

Efforts to raise money for a new library in Grantsville have yielded a tremendous response to date, as more than $200,000 has been donated or pledged to the project. This is an outstanding response from a town that has a population of approximately 500, although there has been support from other areas of the county. However, more funds are needed in order to prevent forfeiture of federal monies. Therefore, we invite and encourage all Garrett County residents, from Kitzmiller to Crellin, from Bloomington to Blooming Rose and all places in between, to make a donation to this worthy project, and to do so before Monday.

We are not all Grantsville residents, and many of us would probably never utilize the services of a new library there. However, we are all Garrett Countians, who have a reputation for working together to support each other in many endeavors. Food and money that are donated, for example, by an Oakland resident to the annual Rotary Christmas Project are used to support folks all over the county, not just in the Oakland area. We do not limit our support of persons in need to those who live next door or in the same town.

There is absolutely no question that Grantsville, the third largest incorporated town in our county, desperately needs a new library. The information and knowledge dispensed by a library are invaluable to users of the library, especially the youth of the community, whose education is crucial to the future of not only their town, but also of the county. Some of our most outstanding county leaders are/were either residents or natives of the Grantsville area (e.g., George Edwards, Duane Yoder, the late Dr. Alta Schrock, and scores of others).

If each of us pitches in, even with a check for 5 or 10 dollars, which will then be matched by the commissioners, that library will become a reality for Grantsville. But Monday is the deadline to double your donation, so please get that check in the mail by this Saturday. Checks should be made out to Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County, earmarked on the memo line Grantsville Building Fund, and mailed to P.O. Box 237, Grantsville, MD 21536.

There are also some fund-raising activities planned for this weekend to support the project (see details in a display ad in this section).

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

This is a follow-up to the letter last week describing the few remaining trees and the spate of development taking place in the county. I think the writer should realize that the whole purpose of this activity must be to turn Garrett County into Ocean City. When there are no trees left, when the county is plastered with billboards, and when the houses around the lake are built so close together that you can't see the water, won't we be just like Ocean City? Is that where we are headed? Is that where we want to go?

Your truly,
Marilyn Moors
Friendsville

To the Editor:

The reason I am writing this is we have a lot of false advertising in our county. You will see signs in various places and newspaper ads stating "People Movers are for Everyone." This is not true. People Movers are for people in Oakland only.

If our families get sick, and we have no way to get them to a doctor, we are told they need to know two days in advance. Who is going to know two days in advance? I was just told this Tuesday when my son woke up with a fever of 103° and a sore throat that I was supposed to have made his appointment two or three days in advance because I do not live in Oakland. I have friends and family in the areas of Deer Park, Sand Flat, Kitzmiller, and Swanton who are getting turned down for rides they need because they do not live in Oakland, even when their children are sick or vehicles are down or emergencies pop up. This does happen every day and we cannot predict it! We do not always have $20 or $40 to pay out for a cab every time.

If people movers are for Oakland only, then the advertisement should read, "People Movers are for Oakland," and not "People Movers are for Everyone."

Michelle L. King

To the Editor:

Just when it seemed people were forgetting about the glass ceiling, it turns out it's much lower than many had believed. The wage gap between most women and men managers actually widened during the economic boom years of 1995 to 2000, according to a recently released study.

Women in top jobs are in worse position than they were five years ago in terms of advancement and pay in seven of the 10 industries that employ 71% of women workers, the data found.

"A New Look Through the Glass Ceiling. Where are the Women?" was done by the General Accounting Office using data from the Current Population Survey.

A full-time female communications manager made 86 cents for every dollar a male made in her industry in 1995. But in 2001 she only made 73 cents on the man's dollar. The data also found that in just five of the 10 industries examined are the number of women managers proportionate to the number of women in the workforce. Women also find it more difficult to balance family and career, according to the study. About 60% of married women managers do not have children currently at home. By contrast, 60% of married men are them to stay here, rather than be forced to move to the big city in order to provide for their families.

When the population increases to an uncomfortable level for me, I will sell, move to a less developed area, and start the process all over again (perhaps to the dismay of the people already there!).

Nita Roberts
Oakland

Dear Ms. Roberts:

Ms. Hill works here at our office, so on her behalf we wish to respond to your letter.

First of all, her comment about having "nothing to do around here" was absolute, tongue-in-cheek sarcasm. She happens to be quite involved in a number of community organizations, including Our Town Theatre and the Garrett County Arts Council.

The main thrust of her letter was her great concern about development in the county, particularly along the shores of Deep Creek Lake, which, in her opinion and that of many others, represents a threat to the future quality of our precious, but delicate, environment.

Editor

To the Editor:

Thank you for the editorial "Minority Rules" and for my opportunity to respond. I too believe that the majority of Palestinians and Israelis want to live as peaceful neighbors. The suicide bombers are a small minority, thankfully.

There is much irony. It is also ironic that the Palestinians themselves are such a minority in their own homeland. With the creation of the state of Israel, in 1948 in the land of Palestine, many Palestinians were forced to leave their homes, jobs, farms, and families, and now are minority refugee populations living in other countries, such as Jordan and Syria. This influx of outsiders causes unrest in many Middle Eastern countries, in much the same way that the influx of outsiders caused the unrest in Palestine. Ironically, Israel fears the return of the Palestinian refugees as part of any agreement over the very issue of majority and minority rule. That is why the Israeli government continues to build settlements on their neighbor's lands and why many Americans even move into those housing settlements to ensure a majority population of Jews rather than Arabs.

I see the irony, too, that such horrendous killing is going on in the so-called Holy Land. It would seem logical that three religions, under God, could live side by side in peace. Sadly, strong belief in one's own God often brings hate and fear for the other religion, and not love and trust of the other believers. I have never understood how the God of the Israeli people would promise the land of the Palestinians to the Jewish people and expect that those folks would just leave their homeland willingly.

I do understand that violence begets violence, and as the Jewish people were rounded up and killed, so now the Palestinians. It is much like family violence — somewhere the cycle of pain must be stopped with care and patience. You can not lock people in refugee camps, in Palestine itself, with no hope and no help, and not expect to breed despair and anger. It's like tying a dog to his doghouse, kicking him regularly, and wondering why he turns mean and bites you.

The question is, how do we stop this cycle of violence? Right now governments do not seem wise and brave enough to step in with some fair-minded solution. The two old leaders are so filled with hate and bitterness that they are propelling their own peoples to destruction. It would seem that the Prince of Peace is the hope here, as in all things. Perhaps we can hold prayer vigils in our churches and homes and hold these suffering people in Jesus' light of compassion and love. Maybe we, the little folk, are the minority who can precipitate positive change. The love of God is more powerful than the hate and fear in man.

There is much for us to learn in witnessing this current tragedy and in trying to understand its meaning for us all. Our country is not without fear and hate of minorities. Many states are already worrying about possible changes as their populations gain a Hispanic majority. Fortunately, these Hispanics have the same God that we have. But, think about it. Suppose their "god" told them to return to their "homeland" of Texas, for instance. Suppose some other country armed them with tanks and helicoptor gunships. Would we then see the desperate acts of suicide bombers on our own land? I trust we will all join in prayer for our brothers and sisters in the Middle East and for our own selves, as well.

Sincerely,
Cynthia Knight
Grantsville

To the Editor:

Bill Welch, you have a wonderful sense of humor. "Garrett County has zero dollars invested in the S.P. deal." Bill, G.C. is the people, and the last time I checked all of the people are required to pay state and federal taxes as well as local taxes. The clever way that you chose to demonstrate one's right to "complain as loudly and inaccurately as the please" was especially funny. Great job, Bill. Do you also do stand-up comedy?

"The claim that all public service boards are handpicked from the quality is patently false." If 1 knew what you were attempting to say, I could give a better response. Whatever is supposed to mean, I never said anything like it, nor did I imply anything like it, but I and others did chuckle when trying to figure it out.

Bill, the current commissioners made glowing comments about S.P. at a public hearing, including exaggerated claims about employment numbers prompting a couple of us to look into it and learn that it was not true. But of course, you wouldn't know about that because you weren't there.

When we attempted to get information about S.P. from Mr. James Hinebaugh, we were handed a brochure on glassblowing. "Full public view?" You wouldn't know about that, Bill, because you weren't there.

On still another occasion we attempted to get information on the Playground for the Rich (the adventure sports center) and were once again rebuffed when Mr. Hinebaugh stated that he was not interested in having any public meetings. But then, you wouldn't know about that, Bill, because you weren't there.

More recently, a bunch of us showed up for the economic development meeting, at the end of which the commissioners finally showed up. We requested that comments made at the meeting be made public. The comments were not made public and, although there was a person who looked exactly like Mr. James Hinebaugh at the meeting, the person who gave a report on the radio must have attended a different meeting because it didn't even come close to describing the meeting that we attended. But you wouldn't know that, Bill, because you weren't there.

"Without S.P. no one would be there, and the building would be a dead loss to taxpayers." The Oracle of Delphi speaks. I really chuckled at that fact, Bill.

I thought that my degree in business from Johns Hopkins University and the management-level positions that I held with various companies would help me understand. Running my own business, one would think, should help. I have read Malthus, Gallbraith, Keynes, Samuelson, Robertson, and others, but I must confess, I don't understand Garrett County's plans for economic growth. Perhaps I could sit at the feet of the master and you could explain to them to me; on the other hand, that would be difficult even for you, Bill. When commenting about ASCI (the Playground for the Rich), which includes a $9 million whitewater kayak channel next to Deep Creek Lake, a very high level state official said, "They have no real business plan. They just have an idea."

I agree with you. "John Hinebaugh had the details and he had them right." He did not go off half-cocked as some are wont to do.

I am proud to say that I have not been appomted to anything by the commissioners, nor am I a member of The Club; I have an aversion to slicksters, spinmeisters, and sycophants.

I have challenged the

THE CHURCH AND CHILD ABUSE

Child abuse is a crime and a grievous sin. The reactions of horror, outrage, and profound grief are fitting upon the recent disclosures of child abuse by Catholic priests. Those reactions have become intensified on learning that some child abuser priests were not only not disciplined, but were sometimes placed in situations where they could abuse children again.

Unfair has been the use of such tragic misconduct exacerbated by misfeasance and malfeasance by church officials to attack the Catholic Church in general. The occasion has also been exploited by those who advocate married priests and women priests to argue further for their positions.

An argument has been made, usually implicitly and sometimes explicitly, that the incidence of child abuse is greater among Catholic priests because they are men under vows of eelibacy. I do not know if there are statistics about the incidence of child abuse among various religious ministers, but I do know that the Catholic priesthood does not have a monopoly on either child abuse or sexual misconduct.

There was a dreadful case of child abuse by a Presbyterian minister. When the facts were disclosed, church officials were initially criticized for not acting quickly enough. Later, when the minister was convicted in a civil court, church officials were criticized for not being compassionate enough to the perpetrator's family. The perpetrator, by the way, was a married man with children.

I hope the Presbyterian Church has not passed along child abusers, but I do know that before a decade ago we routinely passed along ministers guilty of consentual misconduct. It is called "consentual," but we understand today that when someone holds a position of authority, and engages in sexual relations with someone in his charge, then consent by the other party is actually less than consent.

There is more than one minister who has dated, and married, a parishioner. I am one of those. Though I cannot say that I regret having done that — since I came by my three children through the marriage — I can say that I would not do it again and that I would strongly recommend to another minister never to do it.

I can also attest that as a minister I never received sexual misconduct training until about a decade ago when it became mandatory for every minister in our ecclesiastical region, that it was some of the most useful training I have ever had as a minister, and that it has been repeated only once since then though we passed a resolution stating that it should be offered every year.

Sexual misconduct and, specifically, child abuse occur in every kind of church. Though child abuse is especially horrific, any organization that does not take a hard line against sexual misconduct in general permits a culture for child abuse to occur.

There is one rule of thumb applicable to every organization that will not eliminate the possibility of child abuse, but which does reduce it more than any other single stricture: No adult should ever be alone with a child. Even in many family situations that is a good rule to be implemented to the extent practicable since much, perhaps most, child abuse is perpetrated by family members and friends.

What child abuse by Catholic priests tells us is that no office, sacred or secular, will prevent a child abuser from abusing children.

Having said all that, I will also say that I am surprised at how poorly Catholic bishops have handled this matter. It is not their failure to discipline priests that surprises me since, in that regard, Catholics are no better than Presbyterians. What has surprised me is their failure in this time of crisis to explain the Catholic theology of priesthood.

This scandal is wretched beyond words, beyond the usual disgust at the criminal tragedy of child abuse, because the priesthood is such a beautiful thing. The marring of priesthood's loveliness compounds the unqualified victimization of the child who is abused.

The opportunity exists for Catholic bishops to talk about the beauty of the calling, to summon their churchmen to hearken to the call of that beauty. The Catholic Church needs wonderful priests more than ever.

Standing in the ashes of their own culpability, Catholic bishops need to lift high the standard of what God calls a priest to be, beckoning the most faithful, the most virtuous men to step forward in their church's time of need. Bishops and priests alike need to pledge to each other and to challenge each other to mutual accountability. And they need to do that while the world is watching.

Satellite Radio Technology Now Available Here

XM Satellite Radio, America's first nationwide digital satellite radio service, with 100 digital-quality channels of music, news, sports, and talk, is now available in Garrett County.

Allen's Antennas & TV in Oakland is equipped with a listening kiosk where customers can sample XM's 100 channels of programming in CD-quality sound. The programming lineup features 100 coast-to-coast channels: 71 music channels, more than 30 of them commercial-free, from hip hop to opera, classical to country, bluegrass to blues; and 29 channels of sports, talk, children's, and entertainment. XM also provides 24-hour news sources available in the home on cable and DIRECTV. Customers can listen to XM in their cars, homes, or both.

XM radios are available at major electronics retailers and independent retailers nationwide, including models that will easily enable any existing car stereo system to receive the XM service and new AM/FM/XM systems offering other features.

XM was named Product of the Year by Fortune magazine, an Invention of the Year by Time magazine, and won Popular Science's 2001 Best of What's New Grand Award in the electronics category.

Making Impact

FSU's track and field team has two local athletes who turned in fine showings at the first Bill Van Horne Invitational at Wheeling Jesuit University this past Saturday.

Sophomore Trista Smith, a Grantsville native and Northern alumna, set a personal record in the women's hammer throw event by tossing the ball and chain 116-2 to garner seventh place.

Freshman runner Ron Lipscomb, an NHS graduate who grew up in the Lonaconing area of eastern Garrett County, sped to a 2:04:46 finish in the men's 800-meter run, good for 18th place.

The FSU track and field team travels to Virginia this Saturday for the Lynchburg College Classic.

Town Hall

FRIENDSVILLE

- Gene Sines has been named as the maintenance coordinator for both ball fields at the Friendsville Community Park. Gene and Lois Sines will be handling all scheduling for both ball fields. They can be contacted at 301-746-5455.
- The town is purchasing new bases for the ball fields and new nets for the basketball goals.
- Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle attended the Department of Natural Resources Forestry Division PLANT Community awards ceremony in Hagerstown last week. He was presented with the town's Gold Level award.
- Municipal Government Week is April 22-26. Mayor Schlosnagle will be hosting students from the elementary school on a tour of Town Hall.
- Council member Frances King submitted a letter of resignation from her council position, effective April 30. The mayor and council are requesting that "letters of interest" from any town residents who may be interested in serving out the remainder of Frani's term be submitted by May 1 for their consideration. The mailing address of Town Hall is P.O. Box 9, Friendsville. The council will appoint a new council member at the May 6 council meeting at 7:30 p.m.

The next scheduled council meeting is Thursday, April 18, at 7:30 p.m.

political science from Appalachian State University, Boone, N.C., and a master's of business administration from Marymount University, Arlington, Va. He is also a graduate of the National War College in Washington, DC.

Becraft and his wife Carolyn, a former assistant secretary of the Navy for manpower and reserve affairs, maintain residences in Northern Virginia and in the Deep Creek Lake area.

GCC Speakers' Series presentations are open to the public. The series is presented by GCC in conjunction with the Mountain Maryland Entrepreneurial Development Consortium.

Foundation

ject.

In past years, the chamber/promotion council tightened its belt to save dollars for the construction of the Visitors Center in McHenry, Umbel explained. "The federal grants became available for most of these costs, and the chamber was able to establish a reserve fund, which could be well invested in the types of foundation projects we're talking about," he noted.

"A foundation would benefit the whole community as well as the chamber membership," Schroyer said. "I'm all for it." Task force member Browning said that this approach — establishing a foundation — "makes a lot of sense" and that he supports the idea. "In recent years, the chamber has focused on new county-wide initiatives. This would be the next logical step," he said.

The task force concluded that there can be substantial benefits in creating a new foundation and will make its recommendation to the chamber's board of directors at the next meeting on Thursday, April 18, at 8 a.m. at the Visitors Center.

commissioners to come out of hiding and have a public debate on these and other issues. From the gist of your letter, I beheve that you just might be interested in assisting them. If, as you seem to believe, that I am so wrong, heck, I'll be a pushover — silenced forever! Tell you what — if you can convince them to do it, I'll kick in the first $100 toward advertising the event. Another $100 each from the other participants and we should be able to get some good publicity and a real town hall meeting in this county, probably for the first time ever. You know my telephone number. Let me know if you are interested.

Adorable Adoptables

"OKAY, TAKE IT AWAY..." — These twin male cats appear to be a singing duo in action, no doubt crooning the Meow Mix advertising jingle. They and a number of other cats and dogs are awaiting adoption at the Garrett County Animal Shelter, which is open Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., with extended hours on Tuesdays and Thursdays to 6 p.m. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road just north of the Oakland Golf Club, the shelter may be reached by calling 301-334-3553.

Relay For Life Breakfast Set For April 20

A story that appeared in last week's issue of The Republican described several fund-raising activities by various teams in the annual Relay for Life, which benefits the American Cancer Society.

One of those events is an "all-you-can-eat" breakfast, scheduled for Saturday, April 20, at the Loch Lynn Restaurant. The story failed to include the date of this event.

The O'Dell Family team is sponsoring the breakfast, which will be served from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. that day.

APRIL: MONTH OF THE YOUNG CHILD

THE DANGERS OF SECOND-HAND SMOKE
by Crystal Shaffer

The Garrett County Perinatal Partnership is a collaborative effort funded by the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc., the Garrett County Health Department, and Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The Perinatal Partnership, in developing an education plan, has identified that smoking and second-hand smoke is of great concern to children and families in Garrett County.

Second-Hand Smoke — Kids Don't Need It

It's amazing the amount of information that is available about the harm smoking presents to babies and young children. There are literally volumes of papers that document the damaging results of smoking in the lives of our youth. The following just touches the surface.

It Starts Before They're Even Born

Smoking doesn't just harm the individual who smokes. When pregnant women smoke, their babies are at a two-times-greater risk of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS), lower birthweights (which is associated with 40% of the babies who die in the neonatal period), and an increase in illnesses such as asthma, pneumonia, bronchitis, and ear infections. Miscarriages and stillbirths are twice as prevalent for smoking mothers. Children of smoking mothers are twice as likely to have behavioral problems, including Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD). Mothers who smoke one pack a day during pregnancy double the risk of having low birth-weight babies.

And Continues in Their Childhood

Children who are exposed to environmental tobacco smoke (ETS) are subject to bronchitis, pneumonia, coughing and wheezing, asthma attacks, middle ear infections, and possible cardiovascular and neurobiological impairment. This list may be easy to skim through and say, "Yeah, yeah," but if you've ever listened to a child struggling for a breath of air during an asthma attack, it hits a bit closer to home.

To experience what it feels like to have an asthma attack, try this: Get a small coffee stirrer straw. Not one of the big ones you get to put into a soda, but one of the little ones for stirring coffee or tea. Now, put it in your mouth and try to breathe through it for two minutes. This will give you a better idea of what it's like to have to breathe during an asthma attack. Why would we want to do that to our children?

WHO Says Kids Need to Be Free of Tobacco Smoke

The severity of the health impact of environmental tobacco smoke exposure on children has led the World Health Organization (WHO) to call for the right of every child to grow up in an environment free of tobacco smoke. To achieve this goal, greater efforts will be needed to encourage pregnant women and their partners to stop smoking and to the overall consumption of tobacco products.

Everyone Benefits — We All Save Money

In one study funded by the Robert Woods Johnson Foundation, it was determined that if all pregnant smokers were enrolled in smoking cessation programs and quit, the U.S. could reduce the number of annual SIDS deaths by 108 at a cost of $210,500 per life saved. The author (H.A. Pollock) concluded that expanded access to prenatal smoking cessation programs should remain "an important policy goal." This only covers one aspect of smoking. Imagine the savings when it relates to all the smoking-related illnesses suffered by youth.

KEEP YOUR COOL, PREVENT CHILD ABUSE
by Lee Ann Kenney-Shoup, Child Specialist

A child, the most precious gift anyone could ever receive — innocent, carefree, loving, and trusting. It is hard to describe the feeling one gets when seeing or making a child smile. A child's life should be filled with happiness, laughter, and love.

However, this isn't true for all children. Too many children are forced to see the realities of this world all too soon. Child abuse, whether emotional, physical, or sexual, is a very harsh reality that some of our children have to face every day.

We can all take an active role in preventing child abuse from happening and/or continuing. As adults, we all have the responsibility to protect children. Please be responsible and take an active role in preventing child abuse.

Parenting can be one of the greatest jobs in the world. It can also be one of the most frustrating. Here are some tips for parents who may feel overwhelmed, stressed out, and out of ideas on how to Keep Your Cool:

Know your limits. Accept what you can't change . . . for now.*

Ease your tension. Take a walk, listen to music, splash cold water on your face.*

Encourage your children's positive qualities and constructive behaviors.*

Phone a friend. It helps to share your concerns and talk things out.*

Your example helps your children learn to handle anger. Be a good role model.*

Opt for the counting cure, if needed. Count to 10, 20. or 100.*

Use your kitchen timer for "time out" before physically disciplining.*

Remember that everyone slips up at times, including your children.*

Count your blessings, including the children you love.*

Organize time away from your children so you enjoy your times together.*

Out of ideas to handle anger? Consider parenting classes or professional counseling.*

Learn which "cool down" methods work best for you and use them.*

Millions of children each year become victims of emotional, physical, or sexual abuse. Please learn to recognize the warning signs and become actively involved to prevent child abuse.

Signs of child abuse are not limited to obvious physical injuries. Other significant signs include frequent stomachaches, headaches, vomiting, changes in mood, nightmares, wanting more attention, or being withdrawn. Signs of child sexual abuse include the child displaying sexualized be-

If You Have Questions or Need Help to Quit Smoking

GC Infants and Toddlers Program Intervenes Early For Best Results

by Lou Ellen Sturm
Early Childhood Director, Garrett Partnership

Early intervention is the best intervention. The Garrett County Infants and Toddlers Program offers a variety of early intervention services to eligible children with developmental delays (from birth to age 3) and to their families.

Locally, this federally mandated program is an interagency collaboration between the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc., the Garrett County Board of Education, the Garrett County Health Department, and the Garrett County Department of Social Services. These organizations work together to develop a coordinated and community-based system of early intervention services designed to support and enhance the development of all eligible infants and toddlers and their families, regardless of income, the spokesperson said.

The Garrett County Infants and Toddlers Program has been in operation since 1990 and has evaluated and/or provided services to 320 area children. The Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc. serves as the local lead agency, administrates the entire program, and is the "single point of entry." All referrals are registered at this agency and may be submitted by any concerned adult.

Referral sources include, but are not limited to, parents and extended family members, pediatricians and other physicians, and professionals who serve children and their families. Program participation is voluntary, and services are offered to all eligible children at no cost to the family.

A multi-disciplinary team of professionals screens and assesses every child referred to the program to identify health and educational needs. The major developmental areas assessed are cognition, physical, communication, social and emotional, and adaptive, self-help skills development.

The following criteria are used to determine eligibility: (1) Children must function at least 25% below their chronological age in one or more of the above developmental areas or (2) must have a diagnosed physical or mental condition that has a high probability of resulting in developmental delay, or (3) manifest atypical development or behavior, which is demonstrated by abnormal quality for performance and function in one or more of the at ove developmental areas, which interferes with current development and which is likely to result in a delay.

Results regarding eligibility are measured and verified by appropriate diagnostic instruments and procedures. After eligibility has been determined, an Individualized Family Service Plan (IFSP) is developed for each child who has qualified for services. This plan is family centered and is designed to address the child's unique strengths and needs, as well as the family's concerns and resources. It also aids in the exploration of additional resources that may be beneficial to the family.

Based upon assessment results, a child may receive one or more of the following services: speech and language services, physical therapy, special instruction, occupational therapy, assisting technology, audiology, nursing, and service coordination care management.

The Infants and Toddlers Program provides services to eligible children and their families in their natural environment. Services are most often rendered in the child's home or a child-care home or facility. An eligible child and his or her family may participate in the program until the child reaches the age of 3, when a re-evaluation is done. Transition options are explored throughout the child's enrollment in the program in order to ensure continuous service delivery. With parent approval at age 3, he or she is placed into a pre-school special education program and is served by the local school system, or may be enrolled in another community program.

Effective early intervention can often reduce or eliminate developmental delays in young children. Early detection, assessment, and service provision are crucial and present the greatest opportunity to successfully address individual needs. The Garrett County Infants and Toddlers Program offers these services to all eligible children and provides valuable support to their families.

Referrals to the Infants and Toddlers Program can be made by phoning the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families at 301-334-1189.

"Creative Play" Workshop Offered To Area Parents

In celebration of the Month of the Young Child, a workshop titled "Your Child: The Importance of Play" will be offered to parents of children from birth to age 5. This free workshop will be presented on April 25, 7-8:30 p.m., at the Garrett County Health Department.

The necessary stresses and responsibilities of parenting can distance parents from children, a spokesperson noted. The workshop will offer an interactive experience, and participants "should come prepared to play and rekindle those magical earlier skills," the spokesperson said.

The facilitator, Sylvia Vaught, LCSW-C, has a bachelor's degree in nursing from the University of Maryland and a master's degree in social work from the Catholic University. She has an extensive background in the health and human service field and has over 30 years of experience in public and private practice.

The workshop is being presented through an early childhood collaborative, which includes interagency partners from the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families Inc., Garrett County Infants and Toddlers Program, Garrett County Board of Education, Child Care Administration, Garrett County Community Action Committee, Apples for Children, and Garrett County Health Department.

For further information or to register for the workshop, persons may call the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families at 301-334-1189.

THE ROOKIE

Rated G - Running Time: 2:09 - Released 3/29/02

John Lee Hancock's The Rookie tells the true story of high school science teacher and baseball coach Jimmy Morris, whose lifelong dream of playing pro baseball finally came true in 1999 when he was drafted as a relief pitcher at the age of 35 by the Tampa Bay Devil Rays. Morris, who had peaked as a minor league pitcher in the 1980s but was forced to retire early because of a shoulder injury, promised the Texas high school team he was coaching that if they made it to the state playoffs, he would try out for pro ball. When the kids won the regional playoffs, he dutifully fulfilled his end of the bargain, thinking he had no chance. But after the scouts saw his 98-mph fast ball, they signed him on, to his and everyone else's disbelief. These are the events of Morris's autobiographical book The Oldest Rookie, adapted for the screen by Finding Forrester writer Mike Rich.

This movie wouldn't be nearly as good if it hadn't really happened: if it were fiction, it would be impossible to believe. It stars Dennis Quaid (after a lengthy prologue in which Morris is played as a boy by Trevor Morgan), and he does an admirable job in the role. Morris's wife is played adequately by Rachel Griffiths, and his young son by Angus T. Jones. But somehow this film isn't about the actors; it's about the amazing story, and director Hancock takes relish and a very leisurely pace in telling the tale. The film is really like two movies in one—the story of Morris's high school team is the first act, and it has all the ups and downs required, but then act two covers his pursuit and achievement of major-league status, a plot woven around the difficult relationship he has with his father and his desire to avoid the same result with his young son. I don't know if this father-son thing is an invented conflict, but it seems the weakest element, portraying navy officer Jim Morris Sr. (Brian Cox) as an unnecessarily mean father, morosely squashing his boy's hopes and dreams at every opportunity and never encouraging him until it's far too late. Jones, who plays Jim's son Hunter, is cute, but his job is mainly limited to giggling when his dad is pitching.

Normally when you hear of a movie rated G and produced by Walt Disney Pictures, you expect a cartoon or some dippy slapstick comedy. I think it shows a great deal of courage that The Rookie's producers decided to go with a G rating; there are no upbeat songs or talking animals, just a good movie that anyone can enjoy. The filmmakers could have added the foul language which is probably present in most sports locker rooms, and thereby scored a more lucrative PG-13 rating, but instead they wisely realized that this is a great story everyone should get a chance to see—a good family movie about someone achieving his dream.

The film is not perfect, however. In the desire to elevate the story to some sort of mythical status, writer Rich includes a silly and unnecessary legend about two nuns from long ago who, in hopes to strike oil, blessed the ground on which Jimmy now pitches. This does nothing for his story, what it does do is pad the already lengthy running time to over 2 hours, which is unfortunate given director Hancock's sometimes glacial pace and his unwillingness to edit. A little careful pruning could have resulted in a leaner film more suited to the attention span of your average youngster—some kids may get bored before the final reel has kicked in, especially if they are not baseball fans. But Quaid's performance is heartfelt, and Hancock and co. achieve the goal of bringing this amazing story to the screen with the honesty and simplicity it deserves. ★★★★

CLOCKSTOPPERS

Rated PG - Running Time: 1:34 - Released 3/29/02

Remember that episode of Star Trek when Captain Kirk's metabolism was sped up so fast that he flitted around the Enterprise like a fly while everyone else appeared to be standing still? Well, so does director Jonathan Frakes, who played Commander Riker on Star Trek: The Next Generation. Frakes, who has directed numerous episodes of ST:NG and a few of the Star Trek feature films, recycles the idea into a kids' film called Clockstoppers, written by Rob and Andy Hedden and J. David Stem and David N. Weiss. The film, produced by Nickelodeon Movies, is hopelessly juvenile in almost all aspects, with its ultra-slo-mo effects easily the most interesting production aspect. The leading actors, Jesse Bradford and Paula Garcés, are beautiful twenty-somethings who were chosen not so much for their acting as because they are beautiful twenty-somethings, and 3rd Rock from the Sun's French Stewart and SNL's Julia Sweeney lend ever so little to the project by being the only semi-recognizable faces in the cast.

The story involves a spoiled young man named Zak (Bradford) whose distant relationship with his father, physics professor George Gibbs (Robin Thomas), stems partly from the fact that George is too caught up in his work to pay attention and partly because Zak is an insufferable jerk. (I don't think he's supposed to be, but Bradford's characterization is grating to say the least.) Zak's life changes, however, when he borrows a watch from his dad's laboratory that, when the right button is pressed, speeds the wearer up into "hypertime," accelerating the metabolism to the point that one can zoom about unseen while everything in "real time" slows to nearly a standstill. You know, kinda like taking Ritalin with Coke. The watch actually belongs to George's former student, genius scientist Earl Dopler (Stewart), who is being held hostage by government baddie Henry Gates (Michael Biehn). Being a good G-man, Gates wants to use the watch's power to take over the world, but Zak only wants to use it for good, like getting into the pants of school hottie Francesca (Garcés) and teaching his best friend (Garikayi Mutambirwa) how to breakdance.

Director Frakes steps triumphantly into the ring of Hollywood mediocrity with this effort, adding yet another entry to the vast and ever-growing cesspool of bottom-line-oriented kid films churned out in hopes of garnering more dollars while adding nothing to the enlightenment or enrichment of our species. Mentioning plot holes and bad acting would be almost too obvious; the target audience for this film is not supposed to notice or care about such things. Biehn's villainy is as cartoonish as Bradford's bicycle-mounted heroism, and the attraction between the two young leads is sterile and platonic. But the kids don't go to the movies for believable plots or realistic relationships; they want to see cool effects, and they get their (parents') money's worth on that score. ★★

HIGH CRIMES

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 1:55 - Released 4/5/02

High Crimes reunites Ashley Judd and Morgan Freeman, who appeared together in 1997's Kiss The Girls. As in that film, Freeman's easygoing charm makes Judd (and everyone else around him) look good. This film is written by Yuri Zeltser and Cary Bickley, based on the novel by Joseph Finder, and directed by Carl Franklin; it starts out as a taut and intriguing story but seems to get more preposterous as it goes, until the whole credibility of the plot unravels in the final half hour or so.

Judd plays hotshot San Francisco attorney Claire Kubik, whose busy lifestyle leaves her just enough time to try to get pregnant with her loving husband Tom (James Caviezel). The two share an overly cutesy relationship, but one day it all comes crashing down when Tom, a former marine, is arrested and charged with multiple counts of murder in connection with a military incident that took place in El Salvador in 1988. It seems that a U.S. marine slaughtered 9 civilians (a crime punishable by death) after a terrorist bombing had killed a few Americans at a bar. Although Tom tells Claire that he's being framed and the crime was perpetrated by a highly placed soldier named Hernandez (Juan Carlos Hernández), he also has to admit to her that his real name is not Tom Kubik—it's Ronald Chapman—and he's been living a lie about his identity for as long as he's known her. Which tends to undermine her trust a bit. Still, Ron claims he's innocent and the massacre has been covered up all these years by Hernandez and his superior officer, Gen. William Marks (Bruce Davison), a highly decorated officer who enjoys a spotless reputation.

The military defense attorney assigned to the case is 1st Lt. Terrence Embry (Adam Scott), a very young and inexperienced lawyer who, while he has the best of intentions, has to admit he's never won a case. So Claire decides to help him represent her husband, and also hunts down ex-soldier and JAG officer Charles Grimes (Freeman), a renegade with a tiny practice who is known to be 1) the best at military law, and 2) a drunk. When Claire meets Grimes, he declares he's been sober for over a year, but he also doesn't hold out much hope for the case. Their investigation uncovers some very strange things about it, however, including that nearly all the soldiers who were eyewitnesses have died mysteriously in the intervening years. Added to that is the fact that Claire and Grimes find their lives threatened on more than one occasion by some dark, shadowy figures (even including the old "throwing oil on the road" trick popularized by Snidely Whiplash), and every piece of evidence that exonerates Ron is either inadmissable or contradicted by some other clue.

This is a fairly intriguing movie along the lines of A Few Good Men or Rules Of Engagement (both of which, incidentally, are better films); Judd does a fine job for the most part, and Freeman is always reliable. The supporting cast is also effective (Amanda Peet serves well as Claire's sister, who falls for Lt. Embry, causing further complications), but Finder's story becomes less believable as the evidence mounts, and the final twist is just a little too ridiculous to be believed. But if you're in the mood for another military law story and you don't mind working a little harder to suspend your disbelief, you could do worse. ★★★½

VAN WILDER

Rated R - Running Time: 1:32 - Released 4/5/02

Anyone old enough to remember National Lampoon's Animal House will recognize the similarities between it and the Lampoon's new college party movie, Van Wilder. The thing is, no one in Van Wilder's target audience is old enough to remember Animal House. And it's a good thing, because this film doesn't compare very favorably. Telling the tale of a perpetual senior who has decided to make college his home, Van Wilder is mainly a collection of dumb sight gags, gross-out jokes, and comic sex, with a dull-as-dishwater premise and a spotty cast list. While its star, Ryan Reynolds, is reasonably charming and shows a good sense of timing, his romantic opposite, Tara Reid, shows all the sparkle and spontaneity of a wet paper bag. Reid, who holds the award for Most Boring Character in both the American Pie movies and Josie And The Pussycats, proves again she is nothing more than a cheaper version of her former classmate, Sarah Michelle Gellar. That is, a pretty face with no other redeeming qualitites.

Written by Brent Goldberg & David Wagner and directed by Walt Becker (all virtual novices), the film introduces us to its title character (Reynolds), a suave, charming 7th-year undergrad at Coolidge College, who, although he hardly ever goes to class, is more intelligent than anyone else on campus, including the professors, and has a long line of people interviewing for the coveted position as his assistant. The winner is an Indian transfer student named Taj (Kal Penn), who admits that his interest in the post stems from a desire to get laid. But when Van's dad (Tim Matheson) decides to cut off his son's tuition money, Van and Taj must come up with $20,000 for him to stay in school. Thinking this is an interesting story idea, the school newspaper editor (played briefly by Tom Everett Scott) assigns no-nonsense journalist and Most Boring Character winner Gwen (Reid) to get the story.

The film goes predictably from there, with Gwen at first disliking Van, but then discovering that he's really a charming guy with integrity and scruples, as opposed to her own snooty frat-boy fiancé (Daniel Cosgrove), and for some reason, Van is attracted to her, too. Along the way we are treated to every juvenile joke imaginable, from a sex-crazed elderly woman to a dog with huge testicles to a diarrhea-plagued final exam student. It's all absolutely hilarious if you are under 16 years old.

Tara Reid really stinks in this film. I had not noticed how bad she was in the past, probably because in her other films she was wisely relegated to the background (i.e., room decoration) while others were given the more substantive parts. But in the romantic leading role, she shows about as much talent as a stick. She's having no fun and she's not helping us have any, either; her smiles are pasted-on and insincere, her anger is fake, and she reads her lines like the ingredients on the back of a cereal box. Reynolds excels at being the clever bad boy with a heart of gold, and Penn has some mildly amusing moments, but Reid's lifeless technique has a sucking quality that brings everyone else down with it. Although this film bears the same environment as Animal House, the similarity ends there. ★★½

NHS Names Students Of The Month

Northern High School recently released the names of the Students of the Month for January and February. This honor is bestowed on one student from each grade, each month, as an award for excellence in academics, athletics, and extracurriculars, and for displaying a positive attitude.

The students named for January are Micah Plevyak, Torrey Poholsky, Wayne Menges, and Dallas Miller.

Micah Plevyak is the son of Bruce Taliaferro and Vicki Teets of McHenry. He is a representative in the Student Council and is chairperson of the Student of the Month Committee. He has also acted as the official transcriptionist of the National Honor Society, is the class vice president, and is editor of the Viking newspaper.

Plevyak is a member of the STEAM Team to fight tobacco use among minors and takes part in the after-school tutoring program as well. He is a member of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittinger, where he participates as usher, rector, and crucifer, and has also volunteered in the Blind Skier Program and Special Olympics during the winter months.

During his high school career, he has participated on the golf and tennis teams and was awarded Minds in Motion awards for each. He was also named a Maryland Distinguished Scholar, National Merit Scholar, Student of the Month in previous years, Student of the Year, and Outstanding Student of the Year multiple years.

Torrey Poholsky, son of Lenny and Sally Poholsky and resident of Bittinger, is a member of the Bittinger Lutheran Church and youth group and the Bittinger Junior Firemen, and took part in the Bowl for Kids' Sake.

He has played a vital role in both varsity soccer and varsity baseball, where he achieved Minds in Motion awards in both and was named the Best Offensive Player on the soccer team.

Wayne Menges, son of Sharon and Tom Menges, lives in Grantsville. He has been a volunteer for "Kids N' Corporated" during the summer and sings occasionally in his youth group at church. He has received a Certificate of Meritorious Service for his community activity and a Merit Award for attendance.

Dallas Miller, a resident of Grantsville, was also honored. He is a member of the a cappella choir, honor chorus, and concert, marching, and honor bands.

He has received the American Legion award and the Presidential award.

The Students of the Month for February are Karla Buckel, Landon Southerly, Mike Deem, and Blakely Glotfelty.

Karla Buckel is the daughter of William and Tina Buckel of Grantsville. She is a member of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Bittinger and is the president of the Bittinger Junior Fire Department.

In school, she takes part in the Mock Trial and the after-school tutoring program, and is the vice president of the National Honor Society. Buckel was named a Maryland Distinguished Scholar, has twice previously been awarded the Student of the Month award, and took second place in the Behavioral Science category at the Garrett County Science Fair.

She will be attending West Virginia University in the fall, majoring in pre-forensic identification.

Landon Southerly, a resident of Peat Moss Road and son of Bill and Sheila Southerly, is an active member both in school and community. During his high school career, he has played an active role on the basketball and baseball teams, and in Letterman's Club, and was recently named to the National Honor Society.

STUDENTS NAMED FOR JANUARY — The students pictured above were named Students of the Month for January at Northern High School. In the front, from the left, are Carol Miller of M&T Bank, Dallas Miller, Micah Plevyak, and adviser Michel'e Herman. In the back are Wayne Menges and Torrey Poholsky.

NAMED STUDENTS OF THE MONTH — Northern High School recently named the Students of the Month for February. In the front, from the left, are Carol Miller of M&T Bank, Blakely Glotfelty, Karla Buckel, and adviser Michelle Herman. In the back are Mike Deem and Landon Southerly.

He is a member of the Bittinger Lutheran Church, where he participates in numerous volunteer activities through the youth group.

Southerly has received many awards, including Student of the Month, Student of the Year, and Outstanding Student of the Year. He was both a school and Regional Science Fair winner and has been named to the Distinguished Honor Roll every marking period.

Mike Deem is the son of Betsy Deem, Frostburg. He has participated on the wrestling team in ninth and tenth grade and also assists with the youth wrestling program. He is a member of the Faith Independent Baptist Church, where he is part of the youth group and is an usher. He has achieved a place on the Honor Roll in both ninth and tenth grades, as well.

Blakely Glotfelty is the daughter of Marci and Rodney Glotfelty of Bittinger. She plays in the concert, jazz, and marching bands. She is a member of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church and its youth group, and is the secretary for the Bittinger 4-H Club.

The Student of the Month program is supported by both M&T Bank and Railey Realty.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Sussman

Margie and Bob Brenneman, that is "Mountain Bob" and "his gal" Margie, celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary on Monday, April 8. Congratulations go out to this fine couple.

Ruth DiPaolo and her children, Rodney and Barry Glotfelty and Carol Bass, attended the memorial service for Ruth's brother, Wayne Buckle, in Arlington, Va., Saturday afternoon. Also present were her brother Jack, wife Janet, and their sons, Peter Buckle and Bruce, and Betty Buckle from Williamsport, Pa. Another brother, Donald Buckle, Roanoke, Va., and son David and Claire Buckle from Williamsburg, Va., and grandson Chris from Arlington attended. Her daughter, Kim Mills, and husband Phillip, Cumberland, represented Ruth's late sister, Jane Raupach. Wayne's son Keith lives just around the corner at Fairfax Station in Virginia, and we rarely see much of daughter Nadine Sevensen, as she now lives in Herbert, N.C. I read from the bulletin of the memorial service that Wayne would have celebrated his 86th birthday on April 8. He was born in Jennings, later lived in Cumberland, followed by most of his life in Fairfax County, Va.

Gregory Whittemore scored his first career grand slam home run as part of the big win for the Huskies varsity baseball team against Salisbury, Pa. Trey Brenneman also hit a home run in the same game.

Don Sealing was honored for his outstanding service to the 4-H program throughout the state at the 4-H Achievement Night at Southern High School last Saturday evening. Even though Caitlin and Meredith were excited to see their big sister Claire receive a "Character Counts" award, they thought it was much too long, but with all the clubs getting their awards, it does take time. Robbie Glotfelty won an achievement award also.

Just when I thought they would put out some flower buds, the daffodils, jonquils, and crocus got another nasty shock last weekend when another ground covering of snow arrived in Bittinger. I noticed late last week that in downtown Bittinger the daffodils are in full bloom. They were in full glory at the Bender families and across the road from Mary Russell Brenneman Frey's house. In the same lawn I was happy to see a service bush in bloom. Maybe we do not have to have any more snow, as we have had the Groundhog Day, Robin Snow, Easter Snow, and the final Service Snow. Now let's bring in spring.

When spring really comes and you might have so many spring flowers, I would love to use your deadheads for my dolls. I really look forward to getting some new colors. I would be happy to move on from the brown, gold, and green colors still around from last fall. I guess I finally used the last few red petals from the Christmas poinsettias.

One of my out-of-town readers of The Republican who always reads my "Notes from Bittinger" requested my notes from the "delayed items" that were printed several weeks ago. I am afraid I have misplaced them, and am sorry about that.

While riding the school bus down Peat Moss Road, my daughters saw a few swans on Peat Lake. I drove back to see what might be waiting for me to see, but I did not see them. A few years ago I did see a big flock of swans on Deep Creek Lake.

I heard in our church announcements that Vicki Teets Taliaferro had a birthday this week. Not sure hold old she is, but maybe around 43 (she hopes).

Kathryn Bowser spent a week visiting her sister, Grace Miller, and brother, Wilbur Metzler, in Sarasota, Fla., last week. She was accompanied on the trip by her sister Edith, husband Cleo Weaver, Harrisonburg, va., and sister, Mary Stephen, from Bel Air.

Cindy and Sam Stanton met their daughter Lea at Frederick to celebrate her 23rd birthday. They were dinner guests of Steve and Donna Mazer, Glenwood, and daughters, and Tim and Alison Mazer and daughters of Ellicott City.

Pam Poholsky, Murrysville, Pa., was a weekend guest of the Poholskys. She accompanied the "Bittinger baseball team" parents (Bill Southerly, Lesa Whittemore, Lenny and Sally Poholsky) to Hancock to watch the NHS baseball team win with a 9-5 victory. The game was scheduled to be played at Northern, but because of the snow covering and cold weather, they played in Hancock.

Ruth DiPaolo and Brenda Butscher, Oakland, attended the Tri-County Concert Association presentation of the Four Freshmen at Allegany High School in Cumberland on Friday night.

Darryl and Elliot Glotfelty celebrated their 13th birthday Friday night with dinner out and a family celebration following the dinner.

MAJOR ALISSA D. TURNER SPOKE to the attendees at the Garrett County Commission for Women's Hall of Fame breakfast recently. She was the keynote speaker and spoke about the rigors, benefits, and challenges of being in command in a profession traditionally considered a "man's world." Turner is pictured above with county commissioner Wendell Beitzel. Honored for their contributions to the community, their positive image for young women, and the particular roles they represent documenting the progress of women in the history of the county were Beverly Beard and Patricia Bowser. Mary Miller Strauss was inducted posthumously.

On Saturday evening between the hours of 4 and 7 p.m. at Accident fire hall there will be a sausage, gravy and biscuit dinner to benefit Earl "Yogi" Knox for his medical expenses. Lutheran Brotherhood will provide up to $500 in matching funds.

Dwaine and Lisa Platter, Adam and Amanda, Smithsburg, spent the weekend with relatives in the area and were among the Sunday lunch guests at the Ida Reckner home. Afternoon visitors of Ida were Harvey and Elsie Reckner, Confluence, Pa., Lillian and Charee Reckner, and Michaele Puliti, McHenry.

GLAF Gets Grant To Present Ahn Trio This Month

Garrett Lakes Arts Festival is the recipient of a $1,000 grant from ArtsConnect Program of the Mid Atlantic Arts Foundation, which is being used for the presentation of the Ahn Trio performance, scheduled Sunday, April 28, at 4:00 p.m. at Garrett Community College.

GLAF took the lead role in securing the grant nearly one year ago. It worked with other arts agencies to form a group of participating presenters who would present the Ahn Trio and would establish a working relationship to collectively benefit their respective communities. These co-presenters are the Weinberg Center For the Arts of Frederick, the Olin Fine Arts Center of Washington and Jefferson College of Washington, Pa., and the Warren Concert Association of Warren, Pa.

Each has been awarded grant money from the Mid Atlantic Arts Foundation. The Weinberg Center for the Arts will present the Ahn Trio just two days prior to the GLAF performance.

The Ahn Trio will be in Garrett County for three days. Their community performance will be held Sunday, April 28, followed by performances for 600 high school students on Monday and Tuesday, April 29 and 30.

The trio will perform a varied repertoire of classical works for piano, violin, and cello. Included will be classical standards and works by modern composers. Their program, "Ahn-Plugged," is inspired by the MTV "Unplugged" series, and is a "new and creative approach to modern classical music," according to a spokesperson.

The ArtsConnect Program is a program of the Mid Atlantic Arts Foundation with primary funding from the National Endowment for the Arts Regional Touring Program.

Tickets for the performance are $12 for adults and $5 for youth (18 years and younger), and are available through the GLAF office at 301-387-3082.

McGee To Be Featured In Organ Recital

Gerald (Jerry) McGee, a resident of Garrett County, will be the featured organ recitalist at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Key West, Fla., this Sunday, April 14. His program will include works of Mendelssohn, Franck, Bach, trumpet tunes by John Cook and John Stanley, a concert rag for the organ by contemporary composer William Albright, a transcription of Samuel Barber's Adagio for Strings, and two concert works by Percy Fletcher.

His undergraduate degree is from Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., with a major in organ and church music. From New York City's Union Theological Seminary, he received a master of sacred music degree with emphasis in organ performance and choral conducting. While in New York he studied conducting with Abraham Kaplan of the Juilliard School.

Local Performers Scheduled For Amazing Grazing

Local artists will perform at Amazing Grazing II, the spring benefit for Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF), scheduled for Saturday, April 13, at Will O' the Wisp. These artists are Muriel Franc, pianist; Keith Roberts, Rob Smith, Fred Crozier, and Dick Landsbury, acoustic performers; and Sang Run, a Celtic band.

Franc, who has performed, taught, and directed music for many years, will perform from 6:15 to 7 p.m. She has also performed as soprano soloist with the Pittsburgh Symphony and the Tiny Tots Concert series. Franc is currently the organist and choir director at St. Paul's Methodist Church, Oakland.

Twenty years ago, Smith and Roberts performed their blend of acoustic instruments throughout the region. Added to this reunion are Crozier on mandolin/vocals and Landsbury on bass. The group will perform from 7:15 until 8 p.m.

Sang Run will complete the evening from 8:15 until 9 p.m. Initially relying on an instrumental core of fiddle, Irish flute, guitar, and African and Irish hand drums, the group has added the vocals of Jose Pimienta-Bey and Jennifer Asha. The band also includes Alice Fleischman on Irish flute and whistles, Mike Broderick on fiddle, Jeff Gilbert on guitar and mandolin, and Fred Jacoby on percussion.

Amazing Grazing II will also feature a silent auction and a sampling of food and drink from New England, the Deep South, and the Southwest.

For more information, persons may call the GLAF office at 301-387-3082.

FSU Theatre Will Present Fuddy Meers

Frostburg State University Theatre will present the play Fuddy Meers on Friday and Saturday, April 19 and 20, and Thursday through Saturday, April 25 through 27, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Centre's F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre. A matinee performance is set for Saturday, April 20, at 2 p.m.

Fuddy Meers explores the strange dilemma of Claire, who loses her memory whenever she sleeps. Every morning, her husband explains her condition and gives her a book filled with essential information about her life. When a man in a ski mask enters her house and claims to be her brother coming to rescue her, Claire begins a strange journey to find her past and forgotten life. Her adventure brings her into contact with several outrageous characters, including a dim-witted thug, a claustrophobic policewoman, and a crude hand puppet. "Claire's virtual roller-coaster ride as an amnesiac in search of her fractured life is hilarious, yet disturbing and poignant," an FSU spokesperson said.

"Fuddy Meers has the feel of a collaboration between Jerry Springer and the Marx Brothers," said the Boston Globe about this work by contemporary playwright David Lindsay-Abaire.

Tickets are $3 for students and $7 for the general public. For reservations and information, persons may call the Department of Theatre at 301-687-7462, Monday through Friday, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

County Honor Band Concert To Be Tuesday

The top middle and high school musicians of Garrett County will present their annual Honor Band concert at Southern High School next Tuesday, April 16, in the cafetorium.

The Northern and Southern middle school honor band, under the direction of Neil Krebs (SMS) and Sharon McLaughlin (NMS), will perform at 7 p.m. The Northern and Southern high school honor band, directed by Richard Clever (SHS) and William Robinson (NHS), will perform at approximately 8 p.m. There is no admission charge for the concert.

The middle school band will also include some student musicians from Bloomington School.

Pieces to be performed by the high school band will be: "Celebration and Dance" by Swearingen, "Ritual Dances" by Elliott Del Borgo, "Irish Rhapsody" by Clair Grundman, "Finale" by Del Borgo, "Satchemo" by Ted Ricketts, and "The Movies" by John Higgins.

Adult Readers' Group Slates REL Book Discussion

The upcoming book discussion session of the Ruth Enlow Library Book Club will get under way at 6:30 p.m. Monday, April 22, in the Oakland library. All adults are invited to take part in the gathering, which will focus on the Lois Battle novel The Florabama Ladies' Auxiliary and Sewing Circle.

"Florabama, Alabama, is a place where you can stop to sip a co'cola or iced tea and think about money and love," according to the plot summary which appears on the book's jacket. "If you had 'em, you were free to think about other things. If you didn't, you couldn't think about anything else.

"'We've been screwed blue and tattooed,'" quips Hilly Pruitt, upon hearing the news of the closing of Cherished Lady, the local lingerie factory where she's worked a lifetime. The same day the plant closes, Bonnie Duke Cullman, former-deb turned Atlanta-society-wife, has herself been downsized—right out of her marriage and picture-perfect life.

"In an unlikely alliance, Bonnie, Hilly, and the rest of the ex-bra seamstresses join forces in the 'Displaced Homemakers Program' at a podunk community college. Together they endure a midlife survival course where the events of a single year forever alter the way they see the world and their places in it."

Battle has garnered acclaim from readers, critics, and fellow authors alike. She was hailed as "a fearless novelist" by Pat Conroy, and "a peerless limner of strong, complex women" by Annie Rivers Siddons. "Battle creates a rich tapestry of female friendships in this funny, heartfelt, and poignant story about the surprising power of a group of small-town women," according to the book jacket.

Persons may visit or call the Oakland library at 301-334-3996 to reserve a copy of this book. The library also sponsors book club discussions for children ages 9 and older, and information on the book clubs and all library activities is available on the Ruth Enlow Library web site at www.relib.net. All book clubs are funded in part by the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library.

Ubu Roi To Be Presented At FSU

Ubu Roi, the 1896 absurdist play by Alfred Jarry, will be presented by Frostburg State University Theatre's Season Too! in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre this Friday and Saturday, April 12 and 13, at 8 p.m. All tickets are $2.

This satirical reworking of Macbeth is directed by FSU student John Bennett and stars Jessica Dukes as Pa Ubu and Chris Krystoviak as Ma Ubu.

Ubu Roi was among the most controversial plays of the 1890s, causing a tremendous uproar at its opening in France, according to Bennett. Eviscerating the works of one of theatre's "sacred cows," William Shakespeare, Ubu Roi shattered the boundaries of realism and laid the foundation for absurdity in the modern theatre, he said.

For more information, persons may call University Theatre at 301-687-4145.

NHS Chorus, Band Schedule Spring Concert

The Northern High School concert band and chorus will present a spring concert, "Spring Festival of Music," on Saturday, April 27, at 7:30 p.m. at Northern High School. The Community in Harmony Chorus will also be featured.

This event is being sponsored by Aid Association for Lutherans Branch 5821, with assistance from the North Star 4-H Club. There will be no admission charge; however, donations will be accepted, which will benefit Alexi Fratz-Orr, daughter of Richard and Julie Fratz-Orr. Checks may be made payable to Aid Association for Lutherans Branch 5821. AAL 5821 will match donations up to $800.

The Northern Band Boosters will be selling refreshments for the benefit of the band. The public is encouraged to attend.

BUCKINGHAM ON THE ROAD— Former Garrett County resident Scott Buckingham recently returned from Florida where he performed at the Orlando Music Fest with the Stephen Decatur High School, Berlin, show and concert choirs. Both choirs won first place in their respective divisions. While in Orlando, Buckingham sang a solo titled "You'll Be In My Heart" at the Disney Village Amphitheater. He will travel to Los Angeles this summer to participate in the L.A. Acting Workshop.

Theatre Auditions Set For April 20

The Cumberland Theatre will be holding auditions for its 2002 season on Saturday, April 20, from noon to 6 p.m. at the theatre, 101103 N. Johnson Street, Cumberland. Those seeking a part in a musical production should prepare a show tune of their choice in their key and bring the sheet music. For those not trying out for a musical, readings will be provided.

The shows being cast are Guys and Dolls — rehearsals and performances in June; Bye Bye, Birdie — August; Macbeth — September; and Angel Street (Gaslight) — October.

All are invited to audition. Most roles are unsalaried. It will not be possible to schedule specific appointments or to take telephone inquiries, so persons are asked to come to the theatre any time between noon and 6 p.m. on April 20.

Rideout To Make Another Return To Highland Fest

Award-winning Scottish fiddler Bonnie Rideout will return to the concert stage for the Mellenry Highland Festival, set for Saturday, June 1, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds. She is slated to perform at various points during the day's 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. schedule, and again that same evening at the event's Ceilidh, which will take place from 7 p.m. to midnight.

Rideout has been playing music since the age of 8, when she found a violin in her mother's closet. Although she grew up in Michigan, she spent much of her childhood in Maine where she attended a one-room school, and learned to play by ear when the teacher would march all nine students down the road playing Maine's state song. She eventually took formal violin training at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, where she earned her degree in music and fine arts in 1985.

Rideout has won many prizes in fiddle competitions on both sides of the Atlantic, including three U.S. Scottish Fiddle championships. The Alexandria, Va., resident has received numerous WAMMIE (Washington Area Music Association) awards. She has appeared on concert stages in many countries and has recorded on a number of albums, including A Scottish Christmas, Songs From a Scottish Childhood, and Gi'me Elbow Room. She has also performed on National Public Radio's Thistle and Shamrock acoustic music program.

A sanctioned Scottish Fiddling Revival teacher, Rideout was the first American invited to perform 18th century and Highland fiddle styles at the Edinburgh International Festival in Scotland. Her style has been called "fiery yet evocative" and her creative renditions of Highland bag pipe music have earned her the nickname "the Piping Fiddler."

The Highland Festival celebrates the heritage of Scotland, Ireland, and the British Isles through music, dance, games, food, storytelling, and cultural demonstrations. The GCC Pipes and Drums, under the direction of Jerry McGee, will be the host band for the festival, being sponsored this year by Humberson Homes/Mountain Properties. Advanced tickets are $7 each, and are available at Humberson Homes office in Mellenry and the Times-News Weekender office in Oakland. Admission at the gate will be $10 for persons 12 and older.

GLAF Unites With United Way Of Garrett County

Garrett Lakes Arts Festival recently announced that it has joined with the United Way of Garrett County. Because of this association, GLAF will be able to reach individuals of the community who have been previously unable to participate in performing arts activities because of limited means or lack of transportation.

Support from the United Way is used by GLAF to provide reduced tickets and transportation for senior citizens to attend performances throughout the 2002 season. In addition, free tickets are provided for families with the Head Start and Pre-Head Start programs.

GLAF joins 15 other agencies who benefit from the United Way. They are Big Brothers Big Sisters, Boy Scouts, Burlington United Methodist Services, the Dove Center, Christian Crossing Thrift Shop, Community Action, Habitat for Humanity, Garrett County Lighthouse, Garrett County Literacy Council, Salem Children's Trust, Mt. Glade Adult Day Care, Salvation Army, Western Maryland Catholic Charities, Make-A-Wish Foundation, and the American Red Cross.

Hospice Grief Teleconference Slated At GMH

The Hospice Foundation of America (HFA) will hold its ninth annual "Living With Grief" teleconference on Wednesday, April 24, from 1:30 until 4:00 p.m. The conference will be broadcast live via satellite to Grant Memorial Hospital's conference room in the RHI building, Petersburg, W.Va.

Space is limited. Persons should register before Monday, April 22, by calling 304-256-1026, ext. 106. Persons may also call that number for more information.

According to a spokesperson for the event, the teleconference "will examine the needs and barriers faced by our aging population and explore ways that professionals can more effectively assist those coping with the range of losses found in later life."

Moderator for the teleconference will be Cokie Roberts, ABC News. Featured panel members include George Blackwell, DMin, Good Neighbor Baptist Church; Robert Butler, MD, International Longevity Center; Miriam Moss, MA, Philadelphia Geriatric Center; and Phyllis R. Silverman, PhD, Harvard Medical School.

The event is sponsored in part by Foundation for End of Life Care and Last Acts, with additional support from the Project on Death in America.

Pratt Cemetery Group To Meet

The Pratt Cemetery Association will hold its annual meeting at 7 p.m. Saturday, April 27, at the Birds Creek Community Building. Everyone with relatives buried there, who owns lots, wants lots, or is interested in the care and upkeep of the cemetery is urged to attend. Refreshments will be served. Questions and donations can be sent to: Pratt Cemetery Assn., P.O. Box 232, Newburg, WV 26410.

A flower has fallen,
It stands strong no more...
A soul has crossed over,
entering heaven's door.
The hand of our Savior, reached down from above, Caressing the flower, that we dearly loved.

" Dear Jesus, we pray Thee,
let every one know,
This flower was special, it was hard to let go.
But by your grace extended,
deep down in our hearts,
sweet memories linger,
although we're apart.

You bring comfort and peace,
and a smile to our faces,
for our flowers now thriving,
in a much better place.

It will not grow older,
its beauty won't fade,
it lives on forever,
this flower you made!"

Forever loved,
Never forgotten!

Rams Take Four Of Five; Rematch With FH Ahead

A busy slate for the Southern High School girls' varsity softball team leaves the squad still on top of the area with an 8-1 record. The Rams are heading into a coming week that will include a rematch with WMIL arch-rival Fort Hill (7-1) and ace Sentinel pitcher Becky Vance, whom SHS's Jennifer Bosley bested in a 3-0 pitcher's duel in the season debut.

Southern's work began Saturday with an appearance in the four-team Martinsburg (W.Va.) Rotary Mixer Tournament. SHS bested Broadway (Va.) in the opener 2-1, dropped a 3-0 contest to University (W.Va.), then rebounded to down the Martinsburg hosts 4-0. The Rams went on a rampage over their next two games, thumping Allegany 13-3 on Tuesday and shutting down Northern's Huskies yesterday by an 11-0 tally.

Bosley was a workhorse over the week as she struck out 54 batters and gave up just 13 hits in 37 reported innings. (Three additional innings of relief work against University were unaccounted for.) Shortstop Ashley Liller turned in a series of excellent performances at the plate, as did third baseman Autumn Uphold and first baseman Erica Green, just a few of the weapons in Southern's potent array.

The 2-1 win over Broadway was a gutsy come-from-behind victory, as the Rams overcame a first-inning Broadway score to rally for the win. The opponent's lone run came the hard way against Bosley, as a Broadway batter made her way around the horn in increments by walking, going to second on a sacrifice, stealing third, and finally scoring on an error when an SHS fielder's throw overshot the plate.

The Rams patiently bided their time against tough opposing pitcher Laura Billhimmer until the top of the sixth inning, when Liller reached first base on an error, then advanced to second as Bosley hustled to first on an infield single. Catcher Gina Reeves loaded the bases when she was hit by a pitch, then Green took the hero's laurels by stroking a single to score the tying and winning runs.

The , early Broadway score turned out to be a pox on the opponents' fortunes, as Bosley bore down to record a total of 19 strikeouts over her seven-inning, complete-game win.

Southern stumbled against University to lose its first contest of the year, which broke a 20-game Rams' winning streak. Liller, who has demonstrated superb pitching skill in past (although rare) mound appearances, tossed the first five innings for the Rams. She gave up one run in the first and second innings before turning the mound over to Bosley in the fifth. University scored its third and final run in that inning, although the game report did not note its circumstance.

The three runs proved more than enough offense for University, as SHS was held scoreless throughout the contest. Ram batters had just five hits on the day, scattered in harmless fashion, and Southern's fielders committed three errors.

SHS got back into the win column as quickly as possible with Bosley's three-hit, 10-strikeout shutout victory over Martinsburg in the tourney's finale. Reeves scored on a first-inning single. Three more runs were added in the sixth, as Bosley drove home Megan Burner and Liller with a triple before scoring a run of her own on a Martinsburg throwing error.

Bosley turned in a 2-for-3 performance at the plate, and Liller contributed two hits as well.

The Rams and Allegany's Campers got in seven innings of rain-soaked play Tuesday, despite a 20-minute weather delay between the second and third innings. The respite came as the score was knotted at 2-all, and when the teams resumed play SHS went on to score 11 more runs to Alco's one.

Southern scored twice in the top of the first, a tally matched by the Campers in the bottom half of the stanza on an RBI double and an RBI single. The Rams took control in the third inning by scoring three runs. One SHS run crossed the plate in the fifth, three in the sixth, and four in the seventh and final stanza. Alco's last-gasp third run came in the bottom of the seventh on a fielder's choice.

The Rams used a steady flurry of 21 overall hits to put together their 13 runs, punching the ball around the field and their baserunners around the bases in a methodical attack. "We hit the ball better than we have all year, and I was pleased with that," SHS coach Dave Bosley commented.

Uphold was a perfect 5-for-5 in the contest with a double, four singles, and four runs scored, and Liller went 4-for-5 by racking up a double and three singles (along with a walk) on her way to scoring five runs and tallying three RBI. Bosley also went 4-for-5 with a double, three singles, one run scored, and two RBI. Reeves drove home two runs, and Burner and Rachel Friend each had one RBI. Burner also scored twice, and Melissa Flanagan scored once.

Bosley had a good day on the mound, despite giving up an unheard-of seven hits. She tossed seven complete innings and struck out 12 batters while walking just two.

The Ram ace put on a show yesterday at Northern as Bosley carried a perfect game into the final inning before a bloop single put a Husky on base. She struck out 13 batters.

Flanagan cracked a double and Liller knocked out two singles, one which scored a run, to pace Southern's six-hit offense. The Rams' output was aided by 13 walks issued by Northern pitcher Jolene Brenneman, plus three Husky fielding errors. NHS's Emily Rawe blooped the Texas league single just beyond the infield to ruin Bosley's shot at the second perfect game of her career.

Southern (8-1) travels to Westmar this afternoon for a doubleheader, then plays host to Beall on Monday and the Sentinels on Tuesday. The home games each get under way at 4:30 p.m.

T'WAS A TOUGH pair of games on the softball diamond for the members of the Northern High School girls' team, who were crushed last Friday by visiting Allegany, 19-2, in just three innings of play, and fell yesterday to the Southern Rams, 11-0. However, the Huskies recorded a resounding 15-5 win over Westmar on Tuesday. Above, Northern catcher Amanda Frantz tries to calm down her pitcher, Jolene Brenneman, in Friday's game against Allegany. Below, Southern's Amber Bernard connects for a hit off Brenneman in yesterday's contest. Brenneman was tagged for the two losses, but fired a one-hitter to earn the victory over Westmar. # Huskies Sandwich Big Win Over 'Cats Between Alco, SHS Losses

The Northern High School girls' varsity softball squad won one game in three outings this week as its record fell to 1-4. The Huskies started off by dodging snowflakes Friday during a 19-2 defeat at the hands of visiting Allegany, then rebounded to take their first win of the year with a 15-5 demolition of host Westmar Tuesday. NHS fell to Southern by an 11-0 margin yesterday in Accident (See SHS account for details.)

Northern gave up three runs to Alco in the first inning Friday, two in the second, and 14 in the third before the game was called on account of the cold weather. The Huskies got a run in the second inning when Jolene Brenneman slugged a leadoff home run. Brenneman got her second RBI of the day on a third inning single.

Brenneman pitched until the third inning before giving way to Bridget Frazee, who in turn was relieved by Brandi Perez. The Huskies' mound staff gave up a total of just seven hits, but also relinquished a deadly 17 walks.

Brenneman and her NHS teammates turned things around Tuesday in a big way, as the hurler tossed a superb one-hitter, striking out 12 Wildcats in the process. She also slugged a three-run double to highlight a seven-run Husky flurry in the fourth inning

NHS scored two runs in each of the second and third innings before Westmar cracked the scoreboard once in the bottom of the third to make the score 4-1. The NHS rampage of the following stanza featured Brenneman's home run and another Husky hit, three walks, and two Wildcat errors. The hosts scored one run in the sixth, and Northern scored four times in the top of the seventh before Westmar scored three runs in the bottom of the stanza in a last-ditch effort.

Northern had 10 hits on the day, as Brenneman doubled twice for four RBI while sophomore Lyndsi Butler rapped out three singles and tallied a pair of RBI.

The Huskies travel to Bishop Walsh tomorrow and Ilyndman this coming Thursday, April 18.

Ram Jayvees Whip Wildcats, Mountaineers

The junior varsity baseball team of Southern High School upped its perfect record to 4-0 this week by whipping host Westmar, 11-5, last Thursday and then rolling over Beall, 14-8, on Monday in Frostburg.

Tyler Graham, Chad Everd, and Scott Wildesen each recorded a double and a single for the Rams, while Travis Friend contributed a double. Earning the win on the mound was Billy Reams, who fanned eight batters in going the distance.

John Shingler hit a double and a single for the Wildcats (1-2), and Dan Duncan had two singles.

Brad Reese and Reams each recorded four hits in Monday's win over Beall, while Corey Burrell pitched five innings to earn the win on the mound.

Reams had a double and three singles, Reese hit four singles, and Burrell aided his own cause with three doubles. Getting three singles each were Graham and Curt Taylor.

The Mountaineers, who fell to 1-2 with the defeat, were led offensively by Eric Parker with a double and a single, Brandon Bittner with two singles, and Adam Beeman with a triple.

The Rams will play a doubleheader at home this Saturday against Fort Hill, and are slated to play a single game at Bishop Walsh next Tuesday. They will then host BW in another single game next Thursday.

Rams Tied With Spartans, Coast To Win At Westmar

The final result of a game played Friday by the Southern High School varsity baseball team at Bishop Walsh will not be determined until next month, as the two teams were tied at 6-6 and into an extra inning before the contest had to be called because of darkness.

The Rams left no doubt in the outcome of a game played yesterday in Lonaconing, however, as they hammered Westmar in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League contest, 16-1, to remain unbeaten.

The Rams scored a pair of go-ahead runs in the top of the seventh inning against Bishop Walsh on Friday, only to allow the Spartans to match that effort in the bottom of the inning and knot the score at 6-6.

The game went into the top of the eighth, and the Rams scored several runs before the contest was called by umpire Terry Lippold. It was unknown as to whether or not the game will ultimately be resumed at the point it was suspended, or be resumed after the last completed inning with the 6-6 score.

Southern's seventh inning runs came on a two-run homer by Joel Helbig. The Spartans got a solo shot from Brandon Grabenstein, plus an RBI single from Sean Lindner in the bottom of the seventh to force extra innings.

Under normal circumstances there would have been enough daylight to continue play, but that game had been delayed by a snow squall in the fourth inning. It will remain a tied score until the Spartans travel to Oakland to meet the Rams again on May 7. The game will be concluded prior to the regularly-scheduled contest.

Helbig's seventh inning homer was preceded by a lead-off hit by Ricky Reams. Helbig also recorded a run-producing single in the first inning, while J.J. Bolyard provided two singles and three RBI for the Rams.

Grabenstein had a single to go with his home run, Eric Perlozzo singled three times for the Spartans, Kevin Orndorf rapped two singles, and Ben Hendershot added a two-run single. The Spartans (2-1) out-hit the Rams by a 13-9 margin through seven innings.

Bryson Meyers pitched five innings for the Rams, allowing eight hits and striking out seven.

The Rams erupted for 15 hits in the 15-run romp over Westmar yesterday and played errorless defense to up their record to 4-0. The game was called after five innings because of the 10-run rule.

Ricky Reams led the onslaught with a double and two singles for two RBI, Helbig smacked a home run and a single to plate two runs, Bryson Meyers finished with three RBI with a triple and a single, and Chad Panther and J.J. Bolyard each provided two singles.

Only six of the Rams' runs were earned, as the Wildcats were tagged for six errors.

Southern took a 2-0 lead in the first when Reams doubled to bring home Panther, who later scored on an overthrow. Westmar cut the lead in half with a run in the second on an RBI single by Randy Fazenbaker.

The Rams recorded five runs in the third on singles by Helbig and Kevin Goralski, and a two-run triple by Meyers. They added seven more runs in the fourth behind Helbig's solo homer and RBI singles by Meyers, Bolyard, Panther, and Reams.

Run-producing singles by Rodney Baker and Bryan Hauser in the fifth concluded the scoring.

Tobi Stoner earned the win on the mound, and combined for a three-hitter with Dennis Tressler, who came on in the fifth. Stoner gave up just two hits and struck out three.

Aaron Kolberg accounted for two of Westmar's hits, a double and a single. The Wildcats fell to 3-5 overall and 2-2 in the WMIL.

Coach Jim Bosley's squad will play a make-up game today at Keyser. They will host Preston tomorrow in their home opener, which is set to get under way at 4:30 p.m., and will entertain Northern on Monday in another 4:30 game. They will host Allegany next Wednesday.

NHS Evens Record With Wins Over Elks, Panthers, Mounties

Northern High School's varsity baseball team went on a tear this week, taking three straight wins, ripping Salisbury 17-1, Hancock 9-5, and Beall 10-3. The Huskies improved their record to 4-4 on the strength of superb pitching by starters Bryan Lenhart, Jason Rice, and Greg Whittemore, who were supported by some offensive fireworks at the plate.

Salisbury got on the board first with a one-run first inning score last Thursday, April 4, but the host Huskies exploded for 10 runs in the bottom of the leadoff stanza. Whittemore blasted a grand slam, and pitcher Lenhart aided his own cause by belting a two-run homer of his own.

Northern got a solo home run from Trey Brenneman in the second inning, along with an RBI single from Whittemore as NHS took its lead to 12-1. Whittemore swatted a two-run double in the following inning, and Brenneman stroked an RBI single as the Huskies scored five more times in that stanza for the 16-run victory.

Lenhart was a true force on the mound, shutting the Elks down with seven strikeouts and limiting the visitors to just three hits over the course of his five-inning, complete-game victory.

Chad Carr recorded a double and two singles, Elliott Perfetti had a double and a single, and Landon Southerly and Dan Vagnetti each doubled during the Huskies' 15-hit performance.

It was Rice's turn on the mound Saturday at Hancock, and the sophomore struck out eight batters in five innings before Torrey Poholsky was summoned for the final two stanzas of work. The Panthers were limited to just three hits for the day.

Northern led off the contest with four runs in the top of the first before Hancock answered with two scores in the bottom of the stanza and three in the second. NHS knotted the score at 5-all in the third, then walked off the win with two runs in the fourth and one run in each of the fifth and sixth innings.

Vagnetti recorded a triple and an RBI single, while Whittemore added an RBI single.

Yesterday's homefield contest with Beall featured a 10-hit Husky offense, highlighted by Lenhart's pair of RBI doubles and a single. Whittemore and Vagnetti both had two RBI as each recorded a double and a single, and Brenneman netted a pair of RBI as well.

Both teams scored twice in the first inning, then NHS went up 5-2 in the third as Vagnetti, Whittemore, and Lenhart doubled, and Brenneman singled. Northern scored four more runs in the following stanza. Poholsky got the ball rolling with a single, then hustled to third on an error before Lenhart singled him home. Brenneman's sacrifice scored Lenhart, and Danny Ellis also drove home a run during the flurry. Each squad scored a run in the fifth inning as well.

Whittemore was king of the hill, striking out 10 Mounties and giving up just four hits, one a solo home run.

Northern is on the road this week, visiting Hancock Saturday, Southern Monday, and Beall Tuesday.

The Northern junior varsity dropped two games this past week, falling to visiting Bishop Walsh on Monday, 8-6, and to Beall on Wednesday, 13-4, also at Northern.

Eric Johnson was the only Husky who recorded a hit against Bishop Walsh, a single, while Chris Hendershot pitched a no-hitter and aided his own cause with two singles.

Yesterday's game with Beall was called after six innings because of darkness. Trevor Butler hit an RBI single for the Huskies, while Nathan Jackson hit two singles for the Mountaineers to help Eric Parker earn the complete-game win on the mound.

The Huskies, who are 0-4, will play Beall again today in Frostburg.

Lakers Split Twinbill With Hawks, Edged By Trojans

The Garrett Community College baseball team split a doubleheader with Hagerstown on Sunday, winning the first game, 10-9, and dropping the second, 11-9, and then the Lakers saw their record dip to 5-11 yesterday at home when they were topped by nationally ranked Allegany College of Maryland, 7-5. It was the second close loss to the Trojans in the past two weeks.

In the one-run victory over Hagerstown on Sunday, the Lakers overcame a 12-6 deficit in hits against the Hawks, rallied from a 3-0 deficiency and took the lead for good in the bottom of the first inning, and fended off a five-run rally by Hagerstown in the fifth.

Garrett scored seven runs in that opening frame, and picked up another in the second inning on a solo homer by Dean Altavilla, who also had a double, scored twice, and drove in three runs. P.J. Ross provided a double and a single, scored once, and had one RBI.

The Lakers were aided by five walks on balls, three struck batters, and three Hagerstown errors.

Zach Glover hit a double and two singles for two RBI for the Hawks.

The Lakers gave up a 4-1 lead in the second game, trailed by a 9-5 margin before rallying for five runs in the bottom of the seventh and sending the game into an extra inning, only to give up a two-run homer and the game in the top of the eighth.

A two-run single by GCC's Kurt Skacik tied the game at 9-9 to force the extra inning, but Hagerstown's Joe Helisek responded with his two-run blast in the top of the eighth for what would be the winning runs.

This time it was the Laker pitchers who allowed too many walks — 10 of them — with six runs scored by 10 of those batters.

Pacing Garrett's 13-hit effort were Josh Bosley, who rapped a double and two singles, and Brian Rockwell, who stroked a double and a single for three RBI, and also scored twice. Ryan Wetzel provided a pair of singles and scored twice, and James Funk added a double and a single.

In yesterday's encounter with Allegany, the Lakers never led, but trailed by a single run, 6-5, going into the ninth inning.

Reliever Marty Rakaczewski saved the game for the Trojan pitcher Randy Dicken, as he got his team out of a major jam in the bottom of the seventh and gave up only one run. The Lakers had runners at first and third with no outs. Garrett's P.J. Ross scored on a wild pitch, but Rakaczewski then settled down to retire the side and wipe out the Laker threat.

The Trojans built a 3-0 lead before the Lakers rallied for two runs in the bottom of the fourth on a two-run homer by Wetzel.

AC scored three more runs to take a 6-2 advantage, but the Lakers rallied for two more runs in the bottom of the sixth on a two-run blast by Altavilla, and added a single run in the bottom of the seventh when Ross walked, went to second on a passed ball, was sacrificed to third, and scored on a wild pitch.

Wetzel had a single to go with his home run, and James Funk hit a pair of singles. For Allegany, Scott Kintz had three hits, including a solo homer in the ninth. Nick Gozzard recorded a double and a single, and Keith Naylor contributed two singles.

The win upped the Trojans' record to 21-4.

Although the Lakers are 5-11, nine of their losses were by an average of fewer than two runs.

The Lakers are scheduled to play another make-up game at Potomac State College this Friday at noon, host CCBC Essex in a doubleheader on Saturday, travel to Hagerstown for another twinbill next Tuesday, and host Potomac State for a single game next Wednesday.

GCC Lakers Hall And Harrington Named All-Stars

Garrett Community College sophomores Kortaa Hall and Jontae Harrington were among those collegiate players named to the All-Region XX and All-Maryland JUCO first teams.

Hall, a 6-3 guard from Beckley, W.Va., led the Lakers' in scoring this past season with 619 points and a 22.1 ppg average. He made good on 112 of 275 shots from three-point range, and was a 77.7-percent foul shooter, converting 105 of 135 attempts.

Harrington, a 6-6 forward from Hampton, Va., scored 467 points for the Lakers, which was a 16.6 ppg average. He also led the Lakers in rebounding with an average of just under nine per outing.

Hall and Harrington, both two-year starters for Coach Dennis Gibson, led the Lakers to a 21-8 record this past season.

Joining them on the All-Region first squad are Jamar Smith, Erick Wills, and Troy Godwin of Allegany College of Maryland, and Darius Hargrove and Jernavis Draughn of Hagerstown Community College.

Smith, Wills, Hargrove, Eric Brown of Dundalk, Armard Ross of Frederick, Mike Scott of Cecil CC, and Javes Wiggins of Essex were also named to the All-Maryland JUCO first team.

Rams Finish Third, Fourth In Fort Hill Invitational

The Southern and Northern high school track teams were among those competing in the Fort Hill Invitational at Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland on Saturday, and the Southern boys came away with a third-place team finish among nine teams, while the Southern girls finished fourth among 10 teams. The Northern boys finished seventh, and the Northern girls placed ninth.

The Southern boys amassed 75 team points, while Fort Hill won with 198 points and Allegany placed second with 100. Keyser finished fourth with 68 points, followed by Hampshire with 49, Frankfort with 39, Northern with 16, Pendleton County with eight, and Bishop Walsh with two.

Frederick won the girls' competition with 148 points, followed by Fort Hill with 109, Keyser with 105, Southern with 80, Frankfort with 67, Allegany with 20, Hampshire with 11, Pendleton County with nine, Northern with five, and Bishop Walsh with no points.

Matt Stephens led the Southern boys with a first place finish in the high jump with a leap of 5'10", and third places in the triple jump and 110 hurdles. Billy Schmidl finished second in the triple jump and third in the long jump.

Southern's 3,200, 1,600, and 800 relay teams (team members' names not reported) all earned second places, and Chris Lantz finished fourth in the 300 hurdles.

Shawn Fike finished sixth in the 100 dash for the Northern Huskies. Northern's 3,200 and 800 relay teams each placed fifth, and the 400 relay team was sixth.

The Southern girls earned a first place in the 1,600 relay, as the team of Justine Pagenhardt, Mandy Stahl, Jessica Sharon, and Melissa Durst recorded a time of 4:35.1. Pagenhardt also finished second in the high jump, while Durst earned third places in the pole vault and 400 run. Emily Cosner was second in the 3,200 run, and the teams' 800 relay also finished second.

Garnering fourth places for the SHS girls were Stahl in the 800 run, Jenny Hickman in the long jump, Sabrina Scheffel in the pole vault, Sharon in the discus, and the 400 and 3,200 relay teams.

Northern relay teams placed fifth in the 400 and 800 events, and Tiffany Yoder was sixth in the 100 dash.

Southern was slated to compete in a meet at Preston High School in Kingwood Tuesday, but that event was postponed because of rain. The Rams will host Frankfort this Saturday in an 11 a.m. meet and travel to Frankfort next Tuesday for a meet with the Falcons and Beall. The Garrett County Championships will be hosted by Northern next Thursday.

Northern will host Berlin, University, and Beall this afternoon.

BOWL FOR KIDS' SAKE WINNING TEAM — Par-Matt Lanes was again the site of the annual Bowl for Kids' Sake fund-raising tournament, with all proceeds benefiting the Garrett County branch of Big Brothers Big Sisters. The Glotfelty Enterprises bowlers won the Corporate Sponsor Traveling Trophy, which they will retain to display at their business for a year. Team members will also be treated to a dinner at the restaurant of their choice. Nineteen (19) teams competed for the title from among 38 corporate sponsors. This winning group scored an impressive 850 points, with the four bowlers pictured above representing their company. Shown from left are Charlie Harsh, Jeff Friend, Tim Chapman, and Jeff Myers. See story.

Nineteen Teams Go Bowling For Kids' Sake

The annual fund-raising event for the Garrett County branch of Big Brothers Big Sisters took place again this year at Par-Matt Lanes in Oakland, with 19 teams participating in "Bowl for Kids' Sake."

The Glotfelty Enterprises bowlers came out on top, winning the Corporate Sponsor Traveling Trophy, which they will display at their business for a year. Team members Charlie Harsh, Jeff Friend, Tim Chapman, and Jeff Myers, who together racked up an impressive 850 point, will also be treated to a dinner at the restaurant of their choice.

Nineteen teams competed for the title from among 38 corporate sponsors. Each year businesses and organizations are given the opportunity to register a team. Each corporate bowler this year received a Bowl for Kids' Sake T-shirt.

While not every corporate sponsor had a team, many made donations, including Dominion Generation Mt. Storm Power Station, $1,000; Railey Realty, $600; Mettiki Coal Corporation, $500; Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, $500; and Steyer Fuel Inc., $400. The organization expressed special thanks to Barbara Dunbar and her staff at Par-Matt Lanes for hosting the Bowl for Kids' Sake.

WEPCO, last year's winner, came in second with a score of 709 points. A number of teams bowled within a few points of each other in the next highest flurry of scores: Mettiki Coal Corporation, 690; Deep Creek Lions Club, 635; American Legion Post #71, 599; Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, 575; Beitzel Corporation, 552; Phenix Technologies, 547; American Legion Post #71 Auxiliary, 539; and Wisp Resort, 536.

Pledge bowlers who were unable to pick up their incentive prizes and/or T-shirts should call Joan Johnson at 301-334-3591 or 800-400-0735 to make arrangements to get them. Outstanding pledges/contributions can be sent to Big Brothers Big Sisters, 105 S. Second St. #8, Oakland, MD 21550. This should be done as soon as possible, a spokesperson said.

Northern Girls Win Two, Lose One On Courts

The girls' tennis team of Northern High School played three matches this past week, defeating host Frankfort last Thursday, 6-1, edging Allegany, 4-3, in Cumberland on Friday, and falling to host Preston yesterday, 4-3. The loss to Preston was the first in four starts for the Huskies and their coach, Linda Wengerd.

The NHS girls swept the singles matches against Frankfort, with Heather Lander, Ashley Robinson, Moriah Fletcher, and Christie Flockhart all earning victories. The doubles teams of Andrea Green and Nicole Sisler, and Amber Weimer and Rachel Bruch accounted for Northern's other two points.

Tiffany Long and Stephanie Wolford recorded the Falcons' only point by winning their doubles match.

Robinson, Fletcher, and Flockhart were all singles winners against Allegany on Friday, while Michele Seib and Katherine Hawk won in singles for the Campers.

Gaining the winning point for the Huskies was the doubles team of Weimer and Bruch.

Fletcher was the only singles winner for Northern yesterday against Preston, while the doubles teams of Lander and Flockhart, and Weimer and Bruch were also victorious.

Pacing the Knights in singles were Krista Prokochuk, Maureen Conley, and Kathie Copen.

The Huskies will play again next Tuesday when they host Bishop Walsh in a 4 p.m. contest, and will be on the road next Thursday at Beall.

Arsenal Teams Open Mountain West Campaign

Arsenal Football Associates opened its 2002 spring season in the Mountain West Soccer League with matches this past weekend.

The Arsenal under-12 boys were edged by Beall of Frostburg, 3-2. Frank Moravetz scored for Arsenal off an assist by Michael Rosecky, and Alec Holloway scored off a feed by Moravetz. Royce Warnick turned away 15 shots on goal.

Arsenal's under-18 girls team played a double match in Clarksburg, W.Va., and came away with two draws. The first was a 1-1 contest with a team from Robert C. Byrd High School. Alison Ulino scored Arsenal's goal on a penalty kick. Alasha Rush collected eight saves in goal.

The second match, played against Clarksburg, ended in a 2-2 draw, with Arsenal goals recorded by Laura Bonser off assists by Vanessa Logan. Rush finished with nine saves in the net.

All of Arsenal's spring teams will be in action this weekend on the road.

LOCAL ATHLETES GO ADVENTURE RACING — John Simson and Steve Green, members of Team High Mountain Sports, recently competed in the Western Maryland Adventure Race conducted by the Triathlantic Association. The race consisted of a 3-mile "trail run," 2 miles of canoeing, portaging in the middle of the canoe section, 10 miles of mountain biking, and another 2.5 miles of "trail run" with obstacles. The team finished in 2 hours 58 minutes. Complete results will be posted on www.triath.com. The association will host the Sept. 8 Adventure Race at Herrington Manor State Park. Simson of Swanton is the co-owner of Sweitzer Simson & Associates. Green of McHenry is the co-owner of High Mountain Sports. Pictured above are Simson and Green finishing the first lap of the canoe section. They are shown below in the transition area of the race.

Local Student-Athletes Making Impact At FSU

Several graduates of Garrett County High schools have been turning in some fine performences for the Frostburg State University tennis and track and field programs so far this spring, according to the FSU Athletic Department. The Bobcats compete in the Allegheny Mountain Collegiate Conference (AMCC).

The FSU men's tennis team (8-2 overall, 4-1 AMCC) kicked off its recent action with an impressive sweep in the Penn State Behrend Invitational Tournament on Saturday, April 6, held in Erie, Pa. In addition to defeating the tourney hosts 5-0, Frostburg also downed Alfred University (N.Y.) and Thiel College (Pa.), each by the same margin.

Top-seeded FSU player Justin Stephens of Oakland, a Southern High graduate, rolled to an easy 8-1 victory over his Alfred singles opponent, an 8-4 win over his PSB counterpart, and a perfect 8-0 thumping of Thiel's No. 1 seed.

Grantsville's Dave Butler, a Northern grad and half of the Bobcats' doubles team, paired up with Sean Shillinger of Dernestown to down Alfred 9-7 and PSB 9-8 (7-4 tiebreaker). Playing as the No. 3 singles seed against Thiel, Butler triumphed by an 8-5 margin.

The Bobcats took to the same Erie courts the following day, and recorded a 6-3 win over PSB before destroying Lake Erie College 7-0.

Stephens had claimed a 6-0 sweep in his first set before his PSB counterpart retired from that match, then swept his Lake Erie singles opponent by an 8-0 margin. He also joined with FSU teammate Terence Killen of Darnestown to record victories of 8-1 and 8-0 in top doubles flight action against PSB and Lake Erie, respectively.

Butler, seeded No. 4 in the day's singles play, posted an easy 6-2, 6-2 win against PSB, then ran the table for an 8-0 sweep in his Lake Erie match. He and Shillinger turned in an 8-0 victory as the No. 2 doubles team against Lake Erie.

The Bobcat tennis team, winner of its last six straight outings, is slated to host Bethany College (W.Va.) this afternoon at 3 p.m.

Organ Recital

He also pursued graduate studies at Washington University in St. Louis, and the University of Washington in Seattle.

His organ teachers have included Donald McDonald, Robert Baker, Anton Heiller (Austria), and Carole Terry. Among the churches he has served are St. David's Episcopal, Radnor, Pa.; St. John's Episcopal Parish and Day School, Tampa, Fla.; and St. Luke's Episcopal Cathedral, Portland, Maine. While in Portland, he was also appointed municipal organist, one of only two such remaining positions in the country. He was also responsible for a yearly concert series on the 112 rank, 1912 Austin organ in the city hall auditorium.

McGee has also held teaching positions at Mary Institute, St Louis, and Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. As an organist he has performed in churches and concert halls throughout the United States and Europe.

Currently, he is the conductor of the Garrett Community Concert Band, director of music at St. John's and St. Matthew's Episcopal churches in Deer Park and Oakland, and is a teacher at Garrett Community College, McHenry. He is also pipe major of the GCC Pipes and Drums. McGee also works as a manager of the Premier Homes Division of Mountain Properties in McHenry.

After-School Children Design Coloring Books

Students of the Loch Lynn After-School Program, which is sponsored by Garrett County Community Action and the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families, recently participated in a community service activity.

The students individually designed coloring book covers and, with the assistance of staff, placed activity pages and pictures in them. These coloring books, along with a small package of crayons, were donated to the Shriners Clown Unit to be distributed to the ill children at Ruby Memorial Hospital. This activity was a way for the students to help other children.

The Loch Lynn After-School Program is located at the Loch Lynn Community Building at 301 Roanoke Avenue. Persons interested in volunteering at the program with tutoring, mentoring, and recreational activities may contact Mendy Paugh, program coordinator at 301-334-0723, between the hours of 3 and 6 p.m., or by contacting Linda Green, program director, at 301-334-9431, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Goodfellow Among Top Five In Region For Long & Foster Sales

Many local realtors honored for achievements

Long & Foster Realtors recently honored its top sales associates from the Deep Creek Lake and Oakland offices at the annual Long & Foster Awards Breakfast. The event is held each March to honor the company's top producers and to showcase the company's top achievers based on annual production.

Lisa Goodfellow, Swanton, a member of the Gold Team, attained Masters Club status with an annual production of $20,000,000 or more in sales. She is pictured above with Wes Foster, president of Long & Foster Real Estate Inc., who presented awards at the breakfast, which was held at the Shady Grove (Md.) Comfort Inn.

Goodfellow was honored for being one of the company's top five producers based on gross commission in the Maryland/Washington, D.C., region. She is also the top producer at the Deep Creek Lake office.

Ed King, Debra Savage, Steve Ritchie, Sharon Hamilton, Rod Hamilton, Vicki Taylor, Bill Taylor, and Betsy Spiker, members of the Gold Team, achieved Chairman's Club status with annual productions of $5,000,000-$9,999,999 or more in sales.

Barbara Ann Reed, Larry Nesline, and Lisa Gaither, also members of the Gold Team, attained President's Club status with annual productions of $3,000,000-$4,999,999 or more in sales.

Jay Ferguson was inducted into Long & Foster's Director's Club with an annual production of $2,000,000-$2,999,999 or more in sales. In a company with over 8,000 agents, Jay is one of 11 first-year agents to be inducted into Long & Foster's Rookie Hall of Fame as a result of his outstanding production level.

Jan Bernard, Tracey Espada, Sherry Gosnell, Rob Lindsey, Cindy Mahoney, Jerry McGinnis, and Cindy Sanders achieved Executive Club status with annual productions of $1,000,000-$1,999,999 or more in sales.

Debra Savage was presented with the Outstanding Service Award for 2001 for the Deep Creek Lake office, and Cindy Sanders earned the Outstanding Service Award for 2001 for the Oakland office. Lisa Gaither was honored for being the top producer in the Oakland office.

Bill and Vicki Taylor were recognized for being among Long & Foster's top 20 producers in the Md./D.C. region. Steve Ritchie attained recognition in the President's Club Hall of Fame, with 5 years of production greater than $2,000,00 in sales.

Long & Foster is the largest independent real estate broker in the five-state Mid-Atlantic region, a spokesperson noted.

Sang Run Church Sets Re-Creation Of Passover Meal

A re-enactment of a Jewish Seder meal (Passover Feast) will be presented at 7 p.m. this Sunday, April 14, at the Sang Run Christian Center, located west of MeHenry. The "Christ in the Passover" program is designed to instill in Christians an understanding and appreciation of the Jewish background of the Christian communion service.

Larry Dubin, who will be presenting the program, is a member of the evangelistic group Jews for Jesus, which has a dual mission of presenting the message of Jesus to persons of the Jewish faith, and educating Christians about the Jewish roots of their beliefs. He has traveled throughout the world with his ministry, and has presented "Christ in the Passover" to many hundreds of audiences.

Dubin's 45-minute recreation will take place at a table set with traditional Jewish Passover items, much as what would have been on hand at the Last Supper of Jesus, and the ancient customs and Jewish and Christological significance of the ritual and each item will be explained.

To reach the Sang Run Christian Center from Garrett Highway in McHenry, motorists can turn onto Sang Run Road at the Exxon Station and travel west for 4½ miles.

"Christ in the Passover" will also be presented earlier the same day at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren in Oakland. (See the caption information that appears below Rosen's photo on page B-4.)

COURAGEOUS GATORS were recently selected at Yough Glades Elementary School for the month of March. These students were chosen for displaying the character trait of the month, courage. In the front row, from the left, are Amy Knox, Henry Moore, Faiicia Paugh, and Siarra Millar. In the middle are Amber Shaaily, Annia Graham, Shaily Moraland, Sath Lawia, and Colt Mason. In the back are Principal Kaith Harvay, Ryan Shrava, Andraw McCraary, and Courtney Baker.

KIDS 'N CORPORATED

Students of the Grantsville Kids 'n Corporated, which is sponsored by the Garrett County Community Action and the Governors Office of Crime, Control, and Prevention, had another month filled with various activities.

Staff recognized those students who were on the honor role, including: Siobhan Wilcock, Sarah Wilcock, Katie Wilt, Briana Singell, and Heather Singell. These students were given CDs for their efforts.

For the month of March, Kara House was recognized as the Student of the Month. Karen Wood, program coordinator, stated that House has had perfect attendance and has "made significant progress" with her homework completion. House has also become more organized and helpful around the center.

The students made Easter Bunny bonnets for Meals on Wheels and the Grantsville Senior Center participants as their community service activity for the month of March.

The students participated in the Food Stamp Nutrition Education Program with Beverly Carveli, nutrition education assistant, Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service. Carveli discussed the importance of a healthy diet. The students participated in a relay race to see which team could match the food to the right category the fastest.

Several of the middle school students participated in an art cover contest coordinated by the Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families. Those students participating were Lena Durst, Vanessa Fazenbaker, Stephanie Fazenbaker, Kara House, and Miriam Wilt.

Sam Moon, from the Garrett County Health Department, continues to teach the abstinence class to the middle school students. The Life Skills Class continues at the program. "The youth have been enjoying a different session each week," said a spokesperson.

For additional information, persons may contact Karen Wood, Monday through Thursday, between the hours of 3 and 6 p.m., at 301-895-5818, or Linda Green, program director, at 301-334-9431 or 888-877-9431, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

4-H Club News

NORTH GLADE
by Samantha Gibson

The North Glade 4-H Club held its March meeting on Thursday, March 21, with 12 members in attendance, as well as leader Debbie Friend.

The meeting began with the planning of the upcoming fund-raiser. The club will sell hoagies from now until the next meeting on Thursday, April 18. The hoagies will be delivered to the North Glade 4-H building on the morning of April 25, and the 4-H members will be responsible for picking them up and delivering them. Persons interested in purchasing hoagies may call Samantha Gibson at 301-387-2990 before April 18. The cost of the hoagies is $3 each, and proceeds from the sale will go toward repairs to the 4-H building and club events for this year.

Upcoming events were discussed and members were encouraged to attend. The events are 4-H Achievement Night on April 6 at Southern High School; and the 4-H Ag Day on Saturday, April 13, between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. at Garrett Community College. The members decided to attend the Ag Day as a club, and everyone should meet at the college at 2 p.m.

Camp Algawa, to be held June 23 through 27, was also discussed. Members who have attended the camp in the past told their camp stories, and all members (of age) were encouraged to attend if they could.

Other events that the club is planning are a tour of a chicken farm and Steal Bingo at the May meeting. During March, the club went on an outing to Dell Ridge Dairy Farm. The tour was sponsored by Leonard Custer, parent volunteer, and those attending were Derek Gilpin, Mike McConnell, Samantha Gibson, Lee Custer, Todd Custer, Rachel Winegardner, Rebecca Winegardner, Josh McKnight, Emily Lipscomb, Lindsay Lipscomb, and Abby Buckley. Before the group went to the farm, they were treated to pizza in the back of Leonard's truck. The members were also given coloring books and pencils. The members extended a special thanks to Leonard for arranging this outing and to Terry and Jill Hauser for letting them tour their farm.

The next meeting will be Thursday, April 18, at 7 p.m., at the North Glade 4-H building. The program for this meeting will be "Animal Ethics" and it is a mandatory meeting for members taking livestock to the fair this year. Members should also bring their hoagie sale forms. The family of Samantha Gibson will be providing refreshments at the April meeting.

A business meeting will be held following the morning worship on Sunday, April 14.

Vacation Bible school is scheduled for the week of June 24-29 from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Anyone interested in helping is asked to contact Pastor Rose.

Bible study and prayer meetings are held every Wednesday at 7 p.m.

BENEFIT DINNER

A sausage/biscuit benefit dinner will be held this Saturday, April 13, at the Accident fire hall from 4 to 7 p.m. Proceeds from the dinner will go toward the medical expenses for Earl "Yogi" Knox. The event is being sponsored by the Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8483 through its Disaster Matching Funds. Donations may be made to Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8483. The public is invited to attend.

ANNUAL BAZAAR

The Sand Spring Church of God will host its annual bazaar on Saturday, May 4, beginning at 8 a.m. There will be tables set up of new and used items, crafts, and baked goods. There will also be food for sale, such as hot dogs, sloppy joes, etc. Anyone interested in setting up a table may telephone 301-746-5340.

CARD SHOWER

Effie Nicklow will be celebrating her 101st birthday on Saturday, April 27. The family would like to request a card shower for her. Effie is the mother of Park Nicklow and wife June of Addison, Pa., and Margaret Thomas and husband Burgett of Friendsville. Grandchildren include Linda Nichols and husband Peter of Craig, Colo.; and David W. Thomas and wife Nancy of Oakland. She also has four great-grandchildren; Cindy and Matthew Thomas, Peter Nichols, and Penny Nichols. Cards can be sent to her at P.O. Box 105, Addison, PA 15411.

BIRTH ANNOUNCED

Rick and Cindy Lowdermilk announce the birth of a daughter, Rileigh Klarissa, born Friday, April 5, at West Virginia University Children's Hospital at Ruby Memorial in Morgantown. She weighed 5 lbs. 8 ozs. Rileigh is the new sister to Darrick and Brianna. Maternal grandparents are Gene and Lois Sines, and paternal grandparents are Ervin and Dorothy Lowdermilk. Great-grandparents are Ralph and Edna Sines, Olive Grove, and Amanda Lowdermilk.

COMMUNITY WATCH

The Friendsville Community Watch met Thursday, March 14, at the Friendsville Elementary School. Dfc. W.M. Valentine from the Sheriff's Office was present at the meeting and addressed many concerns that were brought to his attention.

Two more neighborhood watch signs will be purchased and placed in the town park.

An Easter egg hunt was held at the town park for middle school through high school youth on Saturday, March 16. Over 20 participated and numerous prizes were awarded, such as movie passes, Smiley's and Citgo gift cards, basketballs, and more.

Teen recreation will be starting on April 16 and held every Tuesday and Thursday evening thereafter. It will be held at the town park from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. for ages 12-18. For more information, persons may call 301-334-7730, ext. 6530.

Some members of Community Watch attended a presentation at the Friendsville Elementary School by Deputy Corley on "designer drugs." The Friendsville Community Watch meetings are held every second Thursday of each month, in the media center at the Friendsville Elementary School at 7 p.m. The next meeting is scheduled for today April 11, at 7 p.m. For more information, persons may contact John Wilson at 301-746-4505.

SENIOR CITIZEN NEWS

On Wednesday, the seniors celebrated the April birthdays of Eleanor Teats, Genevieve Serio, Charles Friend, Carol Wakefield, and Gladys Betley. Birthday cake and ice-cream were served.

LIBRARY NEWS

The library is beginning a spring reading club, Race to Read, for Friendsville Elementary School, Friendsville After-School Program, and Friendsville Head Start. The children are asked to read, have read to them, or complete 10 activities that deal with the theme. Certificates and prizes will be given to those who finish by the end of the summer. There will be an indoor drag race track at the library, as well as special activities throughout the summer.

CEMETERY MEETING, CLEAN-UP DAY

The Blooming Rose Cemetery annual spring clean-up day will be held Saturday, April 27, at 9 a.m. By then, all flowers should be removed from the graves and people are asked to leave them off for at least two weeks. This will give the caretaker a chance to mow and trim.

A mower and trimmer is needed for the new season. Discussion on the matter will be held on that day.

Lunch will be served at noon. All help will be "greatly appreciated."

FARMERS WILDLIFE ASSOCIATION EVENTS

The Farmers Wildlife Association of Asher Glade will hold 3D archery shoots on Sunday, April 21, and Sunday, May 5, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Those with questions may contact Don McKenzie at 301-245-4560, Mike Bittinger at 301-895-4406, or Bubba Friend at 301-387-2051.

There will be walk-thru muzzleloader shoots on Sunday, April 14, and Sunday, April 28, beginning at 1:30 p.m. both days. For more information, persons may contact Eugene Durst at 301-895-3219 or Ervin Sweitzer at 301-895-3122.

BIRTHDAY WISHES

A card shower is being given to celebrate the birthday of Naomi Frantz on April 14. Cards can be sent to her at P.O. Box 344, Friendsville, MD 21531.

THE WISHING WELL
by Lucretia Sines

Betty Shahrokni is a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital. Cards can be sent to her at P.O. Box 10, Friendsville, MD 21531.

Ellen Taylor was recently a patient at Garrett Memorial Hospital. Her address is 33 Paul Fisher Road, Friendsville, MD 21531.

If you know anyone whom you would like to have mentioned in the Wishing Well or Birthday Wishes, contact me at 301-746-5933, or P.O Box 411, Friendsville, MD 21531.

PERSONALS

Guests of Genevieve Serio on Saturday, March 30, were her brother, Charles R. Light, of Glen Burnie and his daughter, Jennifer Paige Light. They had an early birthday visit with her and had lunch together.

On Friday, Genne went to the Cassehnan Inn in Grantsville for a surprise birthday dinner planned by her daughter, Bonnie Kelley, and husband Ed. They were joined by their daughter Carrie and her friend, Nathan Passman. Ed's parents, Cecil and Thelma Kelley, also attended. Genne received many gifts.

Genne's oldest daughter, Nancy Ceska of Coatesville, Pa., and her daughter, Karen Booth, visited on Sunday. Nancy brought a complete Italian dinner and served it to Genne. Bonnie and Ed Kelley were guests for dinner.

Later in the evening they served birthday cake to friends. Nancy and Karen stayed at the Sunset Inn in Friendsville.

Nancy Ceska and daughter Karen joined Genevieve for lunch on Monday at the Friendsville Senior Center before leaving for Coatesville, Pa. Nancy was able to meet again with many of the friends she had met last year when the seniors traveled to the Sight and Sound Theater to see the performance of Noah.

WOW LODGE 45

The next meeting of the Friendsville Woodmen of the World Lodge 45 will be held Thursday, April 18, at the WOW pavilion. Members will meet at 4 p.m. to pick up the garbage along the highway.

NHS CLASS OF 1961

The Northern High School Class of 1961 will meet for an informal dinner on Saturday, April 20, at the Hen House West on Route 40 at 6:30 p.m. For more information, persons may call 301-746-8514.

CUB SCOUT PACK 33

The annual Pinewood Derby will be held this Saturday, April 13, at the Friendsville Elementary School, beginning at 10 a.m. All Cub Scouts should be at the derby by 9:30 a.m.

FRIENDSVILLE FIREFLIES 4-H CLUB

The next meeting of the Fireflies will be held this Friday, April 12, at 6 p.m. at the Friendsville United Pentecostal Church. The children will be doing a "Rock-A-Thon" to help those who are going to 4-H camp this summer. They are collecting pledges. Anyone interested in making a pledge may contact any member or Alice Long at 301-746-8924.

Freedom Chapel Schedule Change Reasoning Given

Pastor Phil Smith of the Freedom Chapel in Friendsville announced last week that the schedule of services at the chapel has been changed. He wished to note the reasoning for the change.

The Sunday school classes, which begin at 10 a.m., will remain unchanged, but the traditional Sunday evening worship has been ended, Smith said. A new praise and worship service following Sunday school at 11:20 a.m. is being added. The pastor said the members feel this new schedule will better serve the people of the area.

"We believe in family. We believe the family is the basic unit of the church," he said. "We believe people need more family time together, so this new schedule will allow Sunday evenings to be set aside for family time or for visiting and fellowship from house to house. The church is all about family, and we welcome your family to come and be a part of ours."

For transportation to the services or for more information, persons may call 301-746-5172.

GCMH EARNS ACCREDITATION BY AABB — Garrett County Memorial Hospital has been granted accreditation by the American Association of Blood Banks (AABB), according to Donald P. Battista, GMCH president and CEO. Accreditation follows an intensive on-site assessment by specially trained AABB assessors and establishes that the level of medical, technical, and administrative performance within the facility meets or exceeds standards set by the AABB. By successfully meeting those requirements, GCMH joins approximately 2,000 similar facilities across the United States and abroad that have earned AABB accreditation. "The AABB's accreditation procedures are voluntary," said Battista. "GCMH has sought AABB accreditation because its program assists facilities around the country in achieving excellence by promoting a level of professional and medical expertise that contributes to quality performance." Pictured above is Lois Rhodes, GCMH blood bank section supervisor.

W.Va Man Pleads Guilty To Felony Theft Attempt

A Preston County, W.Va., man was handed a six-month suspended sentence recently after he pleaded guilty to attempted felony theft in Garrett County District Court. Visiting Judge Milnor Roberts presided at the hearing.

James Jay Abati III, 34, Newberg, had been arrested in February when sheriff's deputies found him hiding inside a vacant Oakland Rosedale Road house. Two other subjects were apprehended outside the residence, and several items that had been removed from the structure were discovered on the porch and in the suspects' car. The other defendants' court hearings have previously been reported in this paper.

In addition to the six-month suspended sentence, Abati was placed on one year of supervised probation and ordered to complete 64 hours of community service. An additional charge of second degree burglary was not prosecuted by the State's Attorney's Office.

In other District Court news, a Frederick man pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated (DWI), while associated charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia possession were not prosecuted.

Craig Allen Appel, 36, was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ) by visiting Judge Timothy Finan, who also levied a $355 fine and placed the defendant on one year of supervised probation. Appel's September arrest came after sheriff's deputies stopped his car along Maryland Highway. After the DWI charge was filed, a routine vehicle search located a bag of suspected marijuana in Appel's pocket, plus a film canister and a soda can in his car that both bore suspected marijuana residue. A pack of rolling papers was also discovered.

David Allyn McPhail, 29, Kitzmiller, was handed a stet ruling on charges of second degree assault and disorderly conduct in a case that stemmed from an ongoing dispute with another local resident. Sheriff's deputies had arrested McPhail in October for allegedly punching William Dale Brown, 19, Swanton, in the face while Brown was sitting in his car in the parking lot of Arby's restaurant.

Both McPhail and Brown were handed stet rulings on charges stemming from their November arrests by sheriff's deputies. McPhail had faced a harassment charge, while Brown faced charges of harassment and disturbing the peace.

McPhail's charge stemmed from an incident in which he allegedly had cursed and yelled at Brown in the Southern High School parking lot, while the charges faced by Brown were filed after he had reportedly harassed some of McPhail's family members at Southern High and by driving past their Kitzmiller home and yelling from his car.

George Brodak, 61, Oakland, was not prosecuted on a charge of second degree assault charge filed via an August arrest warrant. An employee of Brodak's accused him of shoving and cursing at her during a dispute over business finances.

DWI/DUI Hearings

In addition to the Appel case mentioned above, there were several other DWI and DUI (driving while under the influence) hearings that took place in District Court recently.

Brian Michael Wilson, 16, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was fined $500 and handed a six-month sentence, half of which was suspended. Garrett County Judge Ralph Burnett also placed Wilson on two years of supervised probation.

William Bruce Murray, 34, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was fined $500 by Judge Finan, who also handed down a 60-day suspended sentence and placed the defendant on one year of supervised probation.

William Ray Livengood, 60, Md., who had pleaded not guilty to a DUI charge, was nonetheless convicted and received a $400 fine and a 30-day suspended sentence, and was placed on one year of supervised probation.

Anna Lee Miller, 64, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was fined $300, handed a 30-day suspended sentence, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 60 hours of community service by Judge Burnett.

Herbert Melvin Carnell III, 43, Md., who had entered a not guilty plea to a charge of driving while impaired, was handed a PBJ, fined $300, and placed on one year of supervised probation by Judge Finan.

Craig Joseph Morris, 29, Md., pleaded not guilty to DUI but was handed a PBJ, fined $300, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Wayne Allen Moyer Jr., 32, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and was handed a PBJ along with a $300 fine and one year of supervised probation.

Elizabeth Lascaris McDonald, 18, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI and received LIONS SUPPORT OVFD — Dave Turney, the treasurer for the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, was the guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club. Turney expressed gratitude for the community support, which he said is necessary for the fire department to effectively serve the area. He reported that the support of the community has made possible the recent purchase of a new fire truck priced at $240,000. The Oakland/MLP Lions helped with this project by donating $1,000 annually to the department, and by providing a $10,000 interest-free loan. Pictured from left are Lions First Vice President Luther Parrack, Turney accepting the annual donation check, and President Robert Stockslager.

Allegheny Energy/ Union Contract Dispute Drags On

Face-to-face contract negotiations between the Allegheny Energy utility company and the Utility Workers Union of America Local #102 will resume this coming week as a federal mediator brings the two parties together for another round of talks in Pennsylvania. The contractual dispute has been simmering for over a year, and has gained the attention of area residents through a number of homemade signs that have been placed along several local roadways by union members.

The Utility Workers Union represents 1,165 employees of Allegheny Energy who make up approximately 20 percent of the company's total workforce. Union membership is mostly composed of linemen, meter readers, and power plant workers.

The union rejected the company's initial contract proposal nearly a year ago by a vote of 1,012 to 90, claiming that Allegheny Energy was seeking major changes through its proposal that were unacceptable. Literature distributed by the union makes the following specific allegations (each followed with a response by Allegheny Energy communications manager Allan Staggers):

•The company refuses to provide its union with basic information required for contract negotiations. "We dispute that claim," stated Staggers. "It refers to a deadline we missed in submitting material to the union, but it was not out of malice. We did get everything delivered eventually although it was admittedly late. The National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) investigated the union's complaint and ruled that we did withhold information past the deadline, but we are appealing that decision because all the requested material was eventually delivered. We don't believe we violated any laws, and are awaiting the NLRB's response to our appeal with confidence."

•The company wants to force workers to work Saturdays as part of their regular weekly schedule, eliminating overtime pay. Currently workers have a regular five-day shift, but are on 24-hour call for emergencies. Under current rules, employees receive overtime pay for working on Saturday and Sunday. "That claim is in reference to a work schedule that some of our customers have been asking us for," Staggers said. "Our industrial and large commercial customers don't operate on a Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. schedule, and have been asking us for service that provides them with more coverage."

•The company is insisting on paying substantially less toward the cost of health care for its workers and their families. "Our insurance costs are changing annually," responded Staggers, "and our requested changes are consistent with what other companies are doing."

•Allegheny Energy wants to create a separate generation company with an initial public offering of stock, with the goal of selling electricity across the country. "While at one time we were looking into doing so, and made an investigative study, we have decided not to pursue such a course," said Staggers. "On January 31 we made a public announcement that we would not proceed with any such venture. Given the economy at large and the condition of the stock market, we decided it would not be in our nor our consumers' best interest."

Allegheny Energy is putting the final touches on a second contract proposal to submit for the union's consideration, according to Staggers. "We're redoing the contract to try and address the union's concerns to the best of our ability. If you had asked either party last year if we'd still be in negotiations, I'm sure both would have said 'No way.' We're looking forward to getting this matter resolved."

SCOUTS BAKE CAKES — Twenty-seven Cub Scouts in Pack 31 recently participated in a "Fellers' Cake Bake" held at Dennett Road Elementary School. To ensure that the event was indeed an "all-fellers" event, the Scouts could only have other males assisting them. The male helpers could be a relative or even a neighbor, but no female type of help was permitted. The event included game playing, snacking, and cake judging. The Scouts were responsible for determining each den winner, as well as the over-all winner. Patriotic, outdoor, and sports were some of the themes displayed on the cakes. Pictured above, left to right, are the first-year Webelos Nathaniel Walking, Trevor Messenger, Mackenzie Futch, John Compton, and Jeremy Sharpless. Below are the second-year Webelos Jeff Rush, who was the over-all winner, and Bryan Bergheim. Other participants in the cake bake were Tigers Cooper McCauley, Kyler Calhoun, J.R. Upole, Bryson Meadows, Ethen Walking, Wesley Logsdon, and Chuckie DeWitt. Participating Wolves were Alex Mellinger, Nathan Gover, Shawn Gallagher, Jaline Dixon, Josh Bernard, Jacob Getto, Coty Reed, and Zach Finch. Bears Nick Otto, Grayson Shomo, Dougie Burton, Dylan Paugh, and Ben Vanderbilt also baked cakes.

a PBJ, was fined $300, and was placed on one year of supervised probation.

Douglas Dale Bowser, 38, Md., was handed a stet ruling in connection with a DUI charge.

Paul David Coffman, 47, Md., was found to have violated his DWI probation by visiting Judge Paul Stakem, who reimposed a 90-day jail term.

Ronald Ervin Loy, 39, W.Va., was deemed to have violated his DWI probation, and a 20-day jail term was reimposed.

School Bus Violations

Several persons who had been charged with passing a stopped school bus operating its flashing red lights had their cases resolved recently.

Denise Beth Skeweris, 34, Md., pleaded not guilty but was convicted, fined $200, and ordered to complete 20 hours of community service. Marcia Lee Ahern, 19, Md., paid a $270 fine, and Marie Stella Rolf, 35, Md., was handed a PBJ.

Tree Specialist To Make Garden Club Presentation

Donna Gates, a professional landscape designer with Hoffman Nursery of Salisbury, Pa., will present a program titled "Designing with Trees in the Western Maryland Landscape" during the Tuesday, April 16, meeting of the Mountain Laurel Garden Club. The gathering, set to begin at 10:30 a.m. at the Point View Inn in McHenry, will include a business meeting and luncheon.

Gates earned a degree in forest ecology from Michigan State University, East Lansing, and also completed the certification program in landscape design from George Washington University in Washington, D.C. She has been employed by Hoffman Nursery for two years, and is a member of the Garden Club of Cumberland. Her program will include a slide presentation and handouts that will provide tips for siting trees in a landscape design.

Persons interested in attending the meeting are asked to make lunch reservations by calling Tiddie Wheeler at 301-387-5018. The Mtn. Laurel Garden Club is a member of National Garden Clubs and the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland.

FSU Education Majors Score Well On Test

The percentage of Frostburg State University College of Education students who passed the Praxis I basic skills and Praxis II content specialty tests for teacher candidates again surpassed the Maryland average for the 2000-2001 academic year.

In the basic skills portion of the test, 97 percent of FSU students passed, or 148 of the 152 taking the test. The pass rate across Maryland is 95 percent.

In a test of academic content areas, such as math, English, or biology, 94 percent passed, 175 of 186 taking the test. The statewide rate was 93 percent.

Overall, 91 percent, or 139 of 152, passed all tests, including academic content areas, compared with 88 percent statewide.

In the professional knowledge portion of the National Teachers Examination (NTE), which measures the methods and theories of teaching and has been replaced by Praxis tests, 97 percent passed, or 67 of the 69 taking the test. The statewide pass rate was 92 percent. The NTE was once required, but now is no longer administered by the Educational Testing Service.

At FSU, students must pass Praxis I, the basic skills test, to be accepted into the teacher education program. Currently, early childhood/elementary, elementary, and master of arts in teaching elementary majors must pass Praxis II in order to graduate, and all other programs have instituted this requirement in the 2001-2003 catalog.

"With the changes that we have made in our programs in order to assure candidate success, I predict that our test scores will continue to increase," said Dr. Susan Arisman, FSU's dean of the College of Education. "We have excellent programs at Frostburg State University, and the performance of our graduates will continue to confirm this fact."

In the elementary and early childhood education content areas, 100 percent of the students passed the Elementary Education Content Knowledge test (38 students), the Early Childhood Education test (56 students), and the Education in the Elementary School test (50 students). The pass rate on the Early Childhood Education test increased by 16 percentage points from the previous year, primarily because of an increase in the number of required courses for early childhood education.

In the content areas, 91 percent, or 10 of the 11 students, who took the physical education content knowledge test passed, compared to an 83 percent passing rate statewide. Other content areas had too few FSU students taking the test for a passing percentage to be reported.

FSU's initial teacher preparation program enrolled 661 in 2000-2001. The program, with a faculty/student ratio of 5.4 in supervising interns, requires an extended internship consisting of 20 weeks over two semesters for at least 700 hours.

FSU's programs are accredited by the state of Maryland under its Redesign for Teacher Education, recognized nationally by and in compliance with 14 professional content associations and by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education under the new 2000 performance standards.

For more information about FSU's College of Education, persons may call 301-687-4759.

CUTTING HAIR FOR HOSPICE — Perfection Plus will be conducting a fund-raiser for Hospice of Garrett County this Saturday, April 13, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. No appointments will be taken, only walk-ins, and the cost is a donation to Hospice ($5 minimum). In addition to hair cuts, employees will be selling baked goods and refreshments. A raffle drawing will be held at the end of the day. Raffle prizes include a Mary Kay spa collection, a Paul Mitchell backpack with supplies, a Simon Pearce vase, a Longaberger gift basket, and a Mary Kay Velocity Skin Care package. All monies raised will be donated to the Walk for Hospice and will be used toward medications for the terminally ill. Perfection Plus is located at 257 Oakland Drive in the Bayberry Castle near Southern High School. Six stylists will be working, and they are shown above. From the left are Angie Giorgelly, Chrissy Ervin, Jennifer Paugh, Cathy O'Neill, and Tina Ferry. Nancy Green was absent from the photo.

GCSO Releases Statistics For Month Of March

Sheriff Dick Sanders Jr. recently released the statistics of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office for the month of March. There were a total of 1,543 control numbers assigned for various duties performed by the deputies.

Sanders noted a sharp increase in the number of destruction of property reports involving mailboxes. The investigation resulted in the arrest of one individual who was charged with 22 counts of destruction of mailboxes.

Other statistics reported are arrests for 23, driving while intoxicated; 7, controlled dangerous substances complaints resulting in 2 adult arrests and 1 juvenile arrest; 6, domestic complaints; 5, domestic assaults resulting in 5 arrests; 42, destruction of property reports; 24, disturbance complaints; 45, motor vehicle accident investigations; 116, traffic citations issued; 106, patrol checks at businesses and residences; 276, court papers served by deputies; and 127, individuals arrested by deputies on a variety of 169 criminal charges.

Benefit Dinner Set In Gorman

The Gorman Volunteer Fire Department will host an "all-you-can-eat" buckwheat cake and sausage dinner from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. this Sunday, April 14, at the Gorman fire hall. The Gorman VFD Ladies Auxiliary will also be selling baked goods and stainless steel kitchenware at the event.

The dinner menu also includes pancakes and homemade gravy. The cost is $6 per adult and $3 per child, and carry-out meals will be available. The Steyer Brothers, Mike and John Harvey, and Willis Dixon have donated pure maple syrup for the dinner. Proceeds will go toward the department's new truck fund.

Event Set To Recall The Past In Springs, Pa.

Persons with photos of area landmarks or their ancestors are encouraged to bring them to the Folk Meeting House in Springs, Pa., on Monday, April 22, 7:30 p.m., to "spend an informal fun evening sharing pictures of days gone by with others."

According to a spokesperson, people have been "thrilled to find photos of their ancestors never seen before."

The Folk Meeting House is located along Springs Road. This event is sponsored by the Springs Historical Society, and admission is free and open to the public.

For further information, persons may call 814-445-6945 or 814-662-2327.

Cumberland Event Set To Highlight Area Archeology

The Western Maryland Chapter of the Areheological Society of Maryland will mark Maryland Archeology Month with a free family-oriented program from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, April 20, at Canal Place in downtown Cumberland. The event will include displays of historic and Native American artifacts, a Braddock Road display, archeology information, an artifact cleaning and identification lab, demonstrations of primitive tool making, and hands-on activities.

Persons interested in attending are also encouraged to visit the National Park Service C&O Canal exhibit on display in the Western Maryland Station, and the new "First People" display of western Maryland prehistory at the Allegany County Museum. For more information, persons may contact Roy Brown at 301-724-7769.

The Children of the late
Gay & Elizabeth Loughrie,
Aurora, WV
would like to thank the Aurora Community and surrounding areas for the patronage given the establishment of "FAIRLEA MOTEL & RESTAURANT" in Aurora for over 40 years.

The motel ceased operation several years ago, due to age and failing health of Elizabeth. The restaurant continued serving the public under the management of Earl (Now deceased) and wife Betty Moats, along with daughter Sheila until closing March 15, 2002.

FAIRLEA, meaning Fair Meadow, was first started as a tourist home in Aurora under the ownership of the late Dr. George Stemple and wife Bessie McCiish Stemple, parents of Elizabeth in the mid 1920's.

As the trend moved from tourist home to motels, Gay and Elizabeth up-graded and built FAIRLEA Motel ½ mile west on Rt 50 from the original location in the early 1950s. The addition of the restaurant followed in a couple of years to accomodate the increasing needs of the area.

At this time Route 50 was a main artery of travel and business was plentiful. The operation of the motel was managed by Elizabeth, with the constant help of the five daughters and later on son Dennis. Hired help as needed was used at the restaurant along with some at the motel as well.

"As travel increased and interstates became a more popular way of transportation, traffic on Route 50 began to diminish, but the repeat visits of guests to the area always remembered FAIRLEA and the down home feeling they experienced while there, along with the peace and tranquility of the countryside. Many friends and acquaintances were made during those years.

Although no plans are concrete at this time, we are considering an auction at a later date.

Any inquiries may be directed to Janice Hanline, P.O. Box 439, Oakland, MD 21550.

St. Paul's UMW Slates Dinner, BBBS Program

Joan Johnson, local coordinator for Big Brothers Big Sisters of Garrett County, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the United Methodist Women of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, set for the evening of Wednesday, April 17, at St. Paul's fellowship hall. The event will get under way with a 6 p.m. covered dish dinner, and the program will follow at 7 p.m.

"Johnson's presentation will highlight the difference that an involved adult can make in the life of a child. She will also discuss the various volunteer opportunities available through BBBS, as well as the terms of the individual contracts. "Time commitments vary at the discretion of the volunteer," Johnson said, "and volunteers have a unique opportunity to make a significant difference in a child's life."

Both the dinner and the speaker's program are open to the public. St. Paul's is located on the corner of Fourth and Oak streets. For more information, persons may contact UMW president Helen Earles at 301-334-3384, or consult the church's web site at www.gbgm-umc.org/paulsu mc/.

Oakland Women's Club Schedules Lunch Program

The Oakland Christian Women's Club will host a luncheon meeting at Leone's restaurant at the Silver Tree complex, Deep Creek Lake, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Wednesday, April 17. The luncheon will be catered by Taste Unlimited.

The guest speaker for the meeting is Brenda Betz, who will present a program titled "Breaking Out of Your Shell." In keeping with that theme, a program detailing the finely decorated Pysanky Eggs, a Ukrainian art style, will be presented by Susan Helbig, and several of the decorative eggs will be awarded as table prizes.

Persons who are planning to make this gathering their first club meeting are asked to contact Ann Harrison at 301-387-7778 prior to this Sunday, April 14. The cost of the luncheon is $7.50.

The Christian Women's Club is an outreach program of Stonecroft Ministries, and women of all ages may attend its meetings. The club will meet on the third Wednesday of each month through December, and future meeting agendas include special speaker presentations, a fashion show, musical programs, an auction, and craft presentations.

State Parks Set Clean-Up Day

Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls state parks have slated their annual clean-up day for Saturday, April 20. Volunteers are asked to meet at the Swallow Falls concession stand at 9 a.m. in order to spend the day carrying out improvement projects and doing general clean-up work in the parks.

"Anyone interested in preserving and maintaining the natural beauty of these two local parks is urged to participate," DNR park naturalist Caroline Blizzard said. "This is an excellent opportunity for graduating high school students to fulfill their Service Learning hours."

For further information persons may call the Herrington Manor office at 301-334-9180 and ask for Blizzard or Connie Skipper.

McHenry Church To Hold Revival

Rev. Dan Frederick will be leading revival services at the McHenry United Methodist Church Sunday, April 21, through Friday, April 26, at 7 p.m. each night.

Persons wanting more information may call 301-387-9059. These services will be hosted by Pastor Ted Boggs.

Eastern Star Meeting Held

Oakland Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star, met Tuesday, April 2, at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple. Worthy Matron Nancy Harsh and Worthy Patron Theodore Raynovich presided.

The Worthy Matron's opening thought was "A Good Exercise." She welcomed Dottie Csamer, Grand Esther of the Grand Chapter of Maryland, Order of the Eastern Star; Wilda Hile, Deputy Grand Lecturer of Maryland; and Robert Ross, Past Patron, Walter Chapter No. 43, Davis at Thomas, W.Va. She recognized Richard Csamer, Grand Representative to West Virginia.

The Worthy Matron thanked the refreshment committee of Bette Welch and Betsy Care, and her substitutes for the evening, Dottie Csamer, Deborah Raynovich, and David Hall. Her closing thought was "Give the Best That You Have." A social hour followed the meeting.

The next meeting will be April 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple.

"CHRIST IN THE PASSOVER," an educational program presented by Larry Dubin of Jews for Jesus, will take place at the 8:45 and 10:30 a.m. services this Sunday, April 14, at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren, located along Church Street (just off Oak Street) across from the Southern High School gymnasium. Dubin's 45-minute demonstration of an abbreviated Sedar meal (Passover feast) is designed to enhance the Christian understanding of the New Testament by showing the Jewish background of the communion celebration. The presentation will focus on the common history and themes of the Jewish Passover meal and the last supper of Jesus and his disciples the night before his crucifixion. For further information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-2243.

Entrepreneurial Support Venture Nets ARC Grant

The Women's Business Institute, a non-profit organization dedicated to improving entrepreneurial opportunities for women, has received a $54,500 grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC). The award was announced the week by the offices of U.S. Senators Barbara Mikulski and Paul Sarbanes, as well as Representative Roscoe Bartlett.

The grant will be used to expand the scope of the Institute's Economic Opportunities for Women program. The program will provide entrepreneurial education and training to a diverse group of low-income individuals and new entrepreneurs in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties. The WBI will also be using funds to provide training to 10 tenants in a business incubator center that opened in Cumberland recently.

"Entrepreneurship and small business development mean more jobs for Maryland," Mikulski said. "The WBI has a proven track record helping women get the skills they need to be successful."

The WBI is providing an additional $92,875 to the project, bringing the total project funding to $147,375.

Improvement Team Mtg. Set

GARRETT COUNTY TAXPAYERS ALERT!

On April 16th, Tuesday, at 11 a.m. at the Garrett County Commissioners office, there will be a public meeting on property taxes. The Commissioners seek to know if you are satisfied with their spending!

If you own property in Garrett County, this is your opportunity to let the commissioners know that you want them to reduce spending of your tax dollars.

This meeting is very important! If hundreds of us show up the commissioners will take note that their unlimited spending must be reduced. They need to know that the money they are spending is our money and comes from you, the taxpayer.

Public opinion makes a difference! They will be influenced by a large attendance. If hundreds show up they will realize that we are the ones who should be consulted.

If you do not show, they will continue to wildly fund (as if the money is freely taken from a tree) each and every organization who visits their office. We cannot blame them for spending, if we remain silent. They are all good men, but they are spending your money because they think you agree with them. Do you care enough to call your neighbor, your family, and go to the meeting?

This is your opportunity to be heard. It is important enough that you should ask to get the day off from work—that you bring every property owner you can find. You the taxpayer of Garrett County are being gored—so am I.

(Paid for by a property owner who cares. I am not running for any political office. I am simply a property owner who has for 40 years owned property in Garrett County, and I care about my county. Most of us who are older were raised to conserve— a dying trait. Please help yourself and others who own property here. Anyone who is not confined to a wheel chair, or to the house, or a hospital, should be at this meeting.) Thomas E. Doyle

Oteri left SNL in search of greener pastures

By Taylor Michaels
©TVData Features Syndicate

Cheri Oteri

Q: Whatever happened to Cheri Oteri from Saturday Night Live? She isn't on this season. –Karen Listowski, Lynwood, Ill.

A: One of the show's breakout personalities, Oteri left SNL for greener pastures afier earning an Emmy nomination for a hilarious guest appearance on Just Shoot Me and a Blockbuster Entertainment Award for her performance in the film comedy Scary Movie.

The 36-year-old actress recently signed to play a weathergirl in With You in Spirit, a CBS sitcom pilot set in a small New Mexico TV station, so your favorite late-night funny lady soon may officially be declared "ready for prime time."

Q: My sister insists that there was a spinoff of The Golden Girls about their neighbor (name unknown), his two daughters and their dog. This is driving me crazy! Was there ever such a show? –Wanda J. Effrick, Sebring, Fla.

A: Yes, and I am surprised you don't remember it, because the two hit NBC shows aired back to back on Saturday nights for years. Empty Nest starred Richard Mulligan (Soap) as widower Dr. Harry Weston, a Miami neighbor of the characters on The Golden Girls. Kristy McNichol (Family) and Dinah Manoff played Harry's unmarried (and live-in) daughters, Barbara and Carol; Dreyfuss was their enormous dog. Park Overall played Harry's opinionated nurse, LaVerne Todd.

Empty Nest weathered several cast changes, especially after McNichol left the show citing health reasons, but the series still eked out a respectable run (1988-95).

Q: Whatever happened to Jodi Applegate, formerly of NBC's Today Show? –Sandra Heiden via e-mail.

A: Applegate currently is news anchor and co-executive producer at Boston's Fox affiliate, WFXT, which she joined in December of 2000. Her husband, Rob Nikoleski, is sports anchor and reporter at the same station.

Q: I seem to remember a CBS soap opera-type show called The Verdict Is Yours, with a veteran sportscaster as host. Can you fill in the blanks? –Gene Hancock, West Plains, Mo.

A: In an unusual blending of formats, The Verdict Is Yours – which ran on CBS from 1957 to 1962 – was a courtroom drama performed without a script. The show's writers provided only a broad outline for each episode, which featured professional actors playing the litigants and witnesses and real attorneys playing the lawyers and the judges.

Members of the jury were selected from the studio audience. Veteran sportscaster Jim McKay was the show's first "court reporter."

Organic Program Slated At DCL Discovery Center

An organic gardening program will be held on Wednesday, April 17, at the Discovery Center, Deep Creek Lake State Park, for persons interested in gardening, conservation, protection of natural resources and pesticide-free food.

Beginning at 7 p.m., Nancy-Elizabeth Nimmich, along with Katharine and Max Dubansky, will discuss the benefits of organic gardening, natural soil additives, various styles of composting and mulching, soil and water conservation, and natural methods of weed and pest control.

Nimmich began organic gardening in 1975 and founded the Organic Gardening Group of Northern Virginia. The organization sponsored tours of organic gardens and provided the public with information about the basics of organic and gardening.

She relocated to Garrett County in 1999, where she grows and sells organic honey, vegetables, medicinal and culinary herbs, and flowers at Honey Grace Farm in Pleasant Valley, south of Oakland. Nimmich is also a member of Garrett County's Mountain Laurel Garden Club.

Max Dubansky grew up in the New Germany area with parents who gardened organically. He and his wife Katharine are beginning their seventh season of growing organic foods and flowers. Katharine is the secretary of Mountain State Organic Growers and Buyers Association (MSOGBA) and the Mountain Fresh Producers Association. Their farm was certified organic by MSOGBA last November and will be renewed by the National Organic Program (NPO) in a year.

The program is free of charge and open to the public. The event is sponsored by the Conservation Committee of the Mountain Laurel Garden Club. Information about local resources for organic supplies, books, and organizations will be available. Refreshments will also be provided. For more information, person may call 301-334-4445.

AN ORGANIC GARDENING PROGRAM will be held at the Discovery Center, Deep Creek Lake, on Wednesday, April 17, beginning at 7 p.m. Shown above with a composting bin are two of the organic gardeners who will present the program, Nancy-Elizabeth Nimmich, left, and Katharine Smith Dubansky. The third presenter will be Max Dubansky. In addition to composting, mulching, natural soil additives, water and soil conservation, and natural weed and pest controls will also be discussed. See story for more details.

Agency's Bazaar Slated; Benefits Meals On Wheels

Garrett County Community Action's Area Agency on Aging will hold its annual "Spring Bazaar and Roast Beef Dinner" at the Grantsville Senior Center, 125 Durst Court, on Thursday, April 25. The bazaar will be held from 2 until 6 p.m., with dinner served from 4 until 6 p.m. Proceeds will benefit the Meals on Wheels program.

"The bazaar has proven to be a very successful fundraiser for the Meals on Wheels program," said Ronnie Padmos, Community Action. "It also brings together the talents of the seniors in the community who donate their time and talents by making all the crafts, baked goods, and candies featured at the event."

According to Padmos, Meals on Wheels are provided to homebound elderly to assist them in maintaining or improving their nutritional status and ultimately remain in the community, avoiding premature institutionalization. The program impacts more than 225 elderly in Garrett County each year.

The average age of the clients is 76. Most of the clients require assistance with three or more activities of daily living and take a minimum of four medications. Approximately 90 percent are low-income, with 68 percent living alone. Additionally, 74 percent of the clients are female. The program will serve an estimated 36,000 meals in fiscal year 2002.

"Because of Meals on Wheels, frail elderly can sometime regain their health and are able to discontinue their meal [service] and start to enjoy life at the congregate meal sites in the community," said Padmos.

The cost for the full-course roast beef dinner, including dessert, is $5.50. Take-outs will be available. For more information or to make dinner reservations, persons may call the Grantsville Senior Center at 301-895-5818 or the Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431.

JOINS AREA LAW FIRM — Barry E. Sweitzer, a western Maryland native and resident of the Deer Park area, has joined the law firm of Kazary and Robinette, LLP. Sweitzer graduated from the University of Maryland with a degree in electrical engineering and, following a career in engineering and consulting to various heavy industries, earned his law degree with honors at the West Virginia University College of Law in Morgantown. Sweitzer's areas of practice include construction law for both commercial and residential projects, general business law, estate planning, bankruptcy, worker's compensation, environmental issues, intellectual property, and personal injury. The firm of Kazary and Robinette maintain three law offices, located along Westernport Road in Grantsville, South Third Street in Oakland, and Greene Street in Cumberland.

Autism Waiver Training Slated

Frostburg-Maryland Family Voices, a project of Parents' Place and Partners for Success, will be sponsoring a free training titled "Understanding the Autism Waiver" for families and professionals in Garrett and Allegany counties. It will be held Tuesday, April 23, at Beall Elementary School, College Avenue, Frostburg, from 6 to 8 p.m. Pre-registration is advised.

Marjorie Shulbank of the Maryland State Department of Education will be the presenter. She will discuss issues relating to how and when a child would be considered eligible for the available federal funding to the families.

Baby-sitting on site will be available. Refreshments will be served.

For more information and to register, persons may contact Debbie DiPaolo at 301-689-5455 or Gena Fairall at 301-689-2407.

Receives USAA Recognition

Southern High School sophomore Krystle James has been recognized by the U.S. Achievement Academy for her accomplishments with the SHS Band. She was nominated for the academy's award, which fewer than 10 percent of high school students receive, by Southern band director and music teacher Richard Clever.

James is the daughter of Marsha aud Larry James Jr. of Mtn. Lake Park.

4-H Club News

NORTH STAR 4-H

The North Star 4-H Club will host a free rabbit workshop on Saturday, April 27, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds near the rabbit barn/show ring. It is open to all 4-H members, their families, and anyone interested in learning how to judge or show a rabbit.

The workshop will be conducted by Kelley Marsh from Covered Bridge Rabbitry, Oldtown. Marsh has experience showing rabbits all over the state of Maryland and adjacent areas. She has even shown rabbits nationally, and has won many awards.

Topics to be covered include conducting a health check, tattooing, trimming toenails, grooming, and presenting a rabbit for judging. Tips for fitting and showing a rabbit will also be covered. Both youth and adults are invited to either bring their own rabbit, which must be in its own cage, or attend as spectators.

The club will have refreshments available for sale, and door prizes will be awarded throughout the workshop.

Persons wanting more information may contact Darlene Schmidt at 301-746-8732.

COUNTRY KIDS
by Sarah Rexroad
reporter

The Country Kids 4-H Club's March meeting was called to order by President Nathaniel Harris. Bobby Barnard led the pledges. Amanda Bowers reported on county public speaking. Amanda and Bethany Rexroad will represent the club and Garrett County at the Regional Public Speaking Competition in Hagerstown.

Cemetery cleanup will be Thursday, April 25, at 5 p.m. The rain date will be Wednesday, May 1, if needed. Members were reminded to bring rakes and gloves. Achievement Night was discussed. The club decided to recognize Dale Evans as a Friend of 4-H and to nominate the Harveys as the 4-H Family of the Year.

An animal ethics workshop was then presented to all members with animal projects to exhibit at the fair.

Giving demonstrations next month will be Brooke Bowers and Nicole Harvey.

Some days are just like that. Your car battery goes dead or you dump coffee on your best clothes right before that meeting when you plan to ask for a raise. You say, "I just know the whole day is going to be this way!" ...and it is.

Our expectation often mirrors the outcome. God said... "According to your faith it will be done to you." (Matthew 9:29) Notice that despite these young boys' precarious position, (and several previous attempts), there are big smiles on their faces. They were promised that this "photo opportunity" wouldn't last forever and they could soon return to play with their friends.

The next time your day starts badly, try this: Truly believe things can improve. Picture it in your mind... whatever you want it to be. You may be pleasantly surprised. Like the boys pictured here, knowing that the unpleasant event or task is only temporary can enable yon to smile and look forward to the rest of your day.

WHY USE STANDARIZED HERBAL PRODUCTS?

In some ways herbs are like wine. Wines vary in quality depending on many factors: grape type. extraction and processing methods, where grapes are grown, and growing season characteristics. The same is true with herbs which contain munerous complex chemical agents and which vary in quantity from plant to plant. In some respects, herbal products are more complicated than wine. Wine comes from one part of the plant - the fruit. Herbal medicines can fome from llowers, leaves, stems, roots, and other parts. Medicinal agents may be concentrated in one part of the plant and not in others.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

BEAUTIFUL FEET

April 14, 2002

Background Scripture: Romans 10:1-17..
Devotional Reading: Romans 11:1-6.

"Beautiful Feet"—it sounds like one of those ads you see in magazines or hear on television. BEAUTIFUL FEET IN JUST 30 DAYS!—$29.95 and if you act promptly, we'll also guarantee you beautiful hands!

The "beautiful feet" to which I am referring, however, is a quotation from Romans 10:15b, "As it is written, 'How beautiful are the feet of those who preach good news!'" Paul's "As is written" is a reference to Isaiah 52:7- "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him who brings good tidings, who publishes peace, who brings good tidings of good, who publishes salvation, who says to Zion, 'Your God reigns.'"

But why 'beautiful feet'? The prophet is using feet as a metaphor. As he beholds the messenger coming with the good news, he concentrates upon the speedy feet which bring the messenger before the people. He could just as easily have said, How beautiful is the one who brings good tidings! How blessed is the messenger for his message.

How Can We Preach?

Paul has been pondering why the Jews have not responded to the good news of Jesus Christ. Rhetorically, he asks: "But how are men to call upon him in whom they have not believed? And how are they to believe in him of whom they have never heard? And how are they to hear without a preacher? And how can men preach unless they are sent? It is then that Paul remembers the passage from Isaiah about bearing the good news that "Your God reigns."

Our concern today is not just that many of the Jews rejected following Jesus, but that so many people today still reject him and his way. For some it is a matter of not ever having really heard of him. Oh yes, they know the name, Jesus Christ, but they don't have a clue as to what he is all about. Many of these have "not heard" because there has been no messenger to bring the good news. We send missionaries to far corners here and abroad and program evangelism programs, but Paul's rhetorical questions are still very timely: "And how can men preach unless they are sent?"

Be assured, this is not an advertisement to find more clergy. I suspect that with some possible exceptions there are enough clergy to preach in the churches of our land.

Where we are sadly lacking is in finding, training and sending Christians in the pew to be messengers in the world outside the church. Unfortunately, somewhere early in the life of the Church we settled for the notion that the clergy do the preaching and the people do the listening. Not so. While we are not all called to preach, we are all called to be messengers of the gospel.

What You Are

Many Christians would be very uncomfortable if one of the demands of church membership would be to preach a sermon from time to time. But there is more to being a messenger of

Collecting

Q. Several years ago I purchased about a dozen bookends from a small shop that was liquidating its inventory. Most of the bookends are made of cast iron and appear to be from the 1920s and '30s. Where can I find out how much they might be worth? — *Rebecca, Phoenix

A. Even two bricks can be bookends, but collectors are drawn to unusual ones that reflect interesting designs and are signed by the designer or have a manufacturer's mark. Recent online auctions have included cast-iron designs featuring cowboys ($90), hula dancers ($60), GOP elephants ($150) and even the likeness of John F. Kennedy ($70).

Louis Kuritzky is president of the Bookend Collectors Club and edits a quarterly newsletter for fanciers. His addresses is 4510 N.W. 17th Place, Gainesville, FL 32605.

Jerry McBride is a serious collector and the author of "A Collector's Guide to Cast Metal Bookends." His address is 4005 Dellbrook Drive, Tampa, FL 33624.

Taking the Country Out of the Cat

Q. Recently, a scraggly adult cat has been approaching our porch from the woods behind our house, looking for food. We'd like to rehabilitate this cat, but every time my husband tries to approach, the cat hisses and bares its claws. Is this wild cat worth adopting? — *Janine & Kyle M., Malabar, Fla.

A. Unfortunately, feral cats — even those that were once housecats — almost never adapt to life with humans. I say "almost" because I know a few people who have been able to earn the trust of these animals.

Feral cats are the result of many sad factors. Many were abandoned by their owners, for one reason or another. Some became lost on their own. Left in the woods or on the streets, these cats must find their own food and shelter, using hunting skills that are woefully inadequate for their environment. The poor diet and constant stress take their toll on these half-wild felines.

And because many were never spayed or neutered, new litters of feral kittens increase this population. These cats, born and raised away from humans, are impossible to tame.

Add to this problem the many diseases feral cats face. Rabies is a common problem, and can be transmitted to humans. FIV, the feline version of HIV, runs rampant through this population. Feline leukemia also spreads easily among wild cats.

My advice on the cat in your back yard would be to avoid trying to catch it, especially since he or she is hissing and trying to scratch. A bite from a feral cat could be dangerous (if you are bitten, see a doctor immediately). Keep your house pets away from this cat, as well.

Instead, contact a pet rescue organization. These rescue groups often specialize in the capture and care of feral cats.

• If you are an average American adult, you speak 48,000 words, take 23,000 breaths and blink 20,000 times in one day.

• Edgar Rice Burroughs, author of the world-famous "Tarzan" books, never went to Africa.

• Here are a couple of Christmas songs you've probably never heard of: "Daddy's Drinkin' Up Our Christmas" was recorded by Commander Cody in 1972, and in 1963 Clyde Lasley released "Santa Claus Came Home Drunk."

• Technically speaking, a coffee bean is a fruit.

• If you've ever imbibed too much and felt ill the next day, you've probably heard someone tell you that what you need is "hair of the dog," meaning that you should drink more of what it was that caused the hangover to begin with. (Note: I'm not endorsing this "remedy.") But did you ever wonder where the phrase came from? It was the Romans who gave it to us. In ancient times, they believed that to cure a dog bite, you should cut off some hair from the dog that bit you, burn the hair and then apply it to the wound.

• In the 1770s, doctors endorsed Guinness Ale as a cure for insomnia, constipation, nervousness and digestive disorders. It was also considered to be an aid to nursing mothers.

• In high school, actress Halle Berry was class president.

• The first recorded parachute experiments were in 1785 — and they were performed on dogs.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On April 17, 1790, American statesman, printer, scientist and writer Benjamin Franklin dies in Philadelphia at age 84. In his last great public service, he was a delegate to the Constitutional Convention of 1787 and worked hard for the document's ratification. After his death in 1790, Philadelphia gave him the largest funeral the city had ever seen.

• On April 20, 1841, Edgar Allen Poe's story "The Murders in the Rue Morgue" first appears in "Graham's Lady's and Gentleman's Magazine." The tale is generally considered to be the first detective story. Following the publication of Poe's story, detective stories began to grow into novels.

• On April 21, 1895, Woodville Latham and his sons, Otway and Gray, demonstrate the first projected movie in the United States. The demonstration, on Franklin Street in New York City, used a projector that rolled perforated film in front of a lantern.

• On April 16, 1943, the hallucinogenic effects of LSD are discovered when Albert Hoffman, a Swiss chemist working at the Sandoz pharmaceutical research laboratory, accidentally consumes LSD-25, a synthetic drug.

• On April 18, 1983, the U.S. embassy in Beirut, Lebanon, is almost completely destroyed by a car-bomb explosion that kills 63 people, including the suicide bomber and 17 Americans. The terrorist attack was carried out in protest of the U.S. military presence in Lebanon.

• On April 19, 1995, just after 9 a.m., a massive truck bomb explodes outside the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City. The blast collapsed the north face of the nine-story building, instantly killing more than 100 people and trapping dozens more in the rubble.

• On April 15, 1998, Pol Pot, the architect of Cambodia's killing fields, dies of apparently natural causes while serving a life sentence imposed against him by his own Khmer Rouge.

Young Readers' Book Club Sets Novel Dialogue

The Ruth Enlow Library Young Readers Club, a book discussion club for readers 9 through 11 years of age, will host its monthly meeting at 4:15 Thursday, April 25, in the Oakland library. Participants will discuss Lois Lowry's 1990 Newbery Medal-winning novel, Number the Stars, which tells the story of the choice a child is forced to make in the face of a powerful evil.

"Ten-year-old Annemarie Johansen and her best friend, Ellen Rosen, often think about life before World War II," said library spokesperson Keela Pfaff in summarizing the plot. "But it's now 1943 and their life in Copenhagen is filled with school, food shortages, and the Nazi soldiers marching in their town.

"As the German troops begin their campaign to 'relocate' all the Jews of Denmark, Annemarie's family takes in Ellen and pretend she is part of the family. Ellen and Annemarie must think quickly when three Nazi officers arrive late one night and question why Ellen is not blond, like her sisters.

Then Annemarie is asked to go on a dangerous mission. Somehow she must find the strength and courage to save her best friend's life. There's no turning back now."

To reserve a copy of Number the Stars (137 pages), persons may stop by the Oakland library or call 301-334-3996. Participants are encouraged to read as much as they can prior to the discussion, although there is no requirement to completely finish the novel. All thoughts and opinions are welcome at the discussion.

The Young Readers' discussion group is funded in part by the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library. The library also offers book clubs for teenagers and adults. For further information persons may call the library or consult its web site at www.relib.net.

Design A Beautiful Water Garden At Home

WATER LILLIES are just one beautiful feature of a peraonal water garden.

The term "gardening" encompasses much more these days than it used to. Plants can poke their heads out of old tennis shoes or buckets and be bordered by fine china, or you may prefer a more traditional garden complete with a rose-covered trellis.

One trend that is springing up in many more gardens is the use of water as a visual focal point. A pond stocked with vividly-colored koi, a trickling fountain or even a modest birdbath can all add a unique appeal to your garden retreat. Here are some tips to creating a beautiful water garden, according to Alex and Judy Munro, featured in Flower Gardens magazine.

1. Select the site carefully. Avoid low-lying areas that collect water. Hillsides lend themselves to waterfalls. Just put a basin of water at the top that gushes over the hill, slashing into a pond below.

2. Lay out an outline of the pond's shape on the ground using a garden hose. A few large sweeping curves are more pleasing than a lot of smaller ones.

3. Dig! You can use a bobcat or a backhoe if you have one, but these are necessary only for larger ponds. A shovel and a little elbow grease work just fine for small projects.

4. Leave shelves of earth in the sides of the hold to make a place for setting the beautiful grasses that will make your pond come to life. Only lilies and lotus grow on the pond's bottom. The pond's marginal plants tie into the surrounding garden's perennials and annuals.

5. Line the bottom with sand.

6. Use a foam sheet purchased from a garden center to line the sides of the pond or use rubber roofing, which is less expensive and works just as well to protect the pond liner from holes.

7. Install a pond liner. These are heavy enough to conform easily to the pond's shape. Fold the corners just like you would pie dough.

8. Finish pond edges with stones to cover the edge of the liner. Fieldstone is free and lends a natural look. You can even create layers of stone below the water to step or slope the edge so it doesn't look like a tub. Pebbles and mulch along the stones' edges make mowing easier.

9. Fill with water.

10. Install a filter and hook up a pump, which will supply fountain, bubbler; or waterfall.

11. Install potted water plants on shelves of the pond and on the pond's bottom.

12. Enjoy!

Don't Let Your Garden Go to the Dogs

Has your pooch been digging up daisies? Does your prize rose bush look more like tossed salad once Rover returns from his walk? Are bare spots on the lawn rattling your nerves? Well, you're not alone. As long as people have been coexisting with canines, they've been facing the antics of these furry friends (or foes) as it may be.

You've seen what your dog can do to your expensive leather shoes and your new sofa, so it should come as no surprise that he or she can be equally "creative" in the yard. And because dogs don't discriminate and they don't understand improper behavior until they are corrected properly, patience and training is required to make the garden a place for both of you.

* Dogs dig as a part of their nature. Rather than throw a temper tantrum next time Fifi tunnels out a trench that seems to reach clear to China, figure out a feasible solution. Fill in holes that she frequently visits with bricks or coarse stone. Once the dog reaches this layer, she will quickly feel the uncomfortable scrape and move on. Or, cover-up troublesome spots with planters or patio stones. Dogs also do not like to sniff where their scents are most prevalent. Therefore, by burying your dog's waste in spots she is known to sniff, you might also alleviate the problem.

* In some cases you may just have to give in. If your dog is a natural for tearing up plants and ripping off branches, select varieties that are more hardy — ones that can take some roughhousing. Or, choose prickly plants that also are attractive to you so that once pinch will drive poochie away. You may also have to remove temptations like flower pots that always get knocked over, or make a decorative walkway out of your dog's favorite path through the lawn.

* Provide an alternative outlet for your dog's energy. Fence off an area where he or she can just have fun. Include a sand pile just for digging and some safe toys.

* Don't be afraid to reprimand. Dogs respond well to things they find annoying or unpleasant. A well aimed water gun, the clanking of pennies in a jar, or as a last resort, an electrical fence can discourage naughty behavior. And above all, a simple "NO" in a stern voice does wonders for stopping Fido in his tracks.

Natural Landscaping Helps the Environment

People often choose to beautify their landscape because of the pleasure nature brings. However, several of the things they use to create and maintain an appealing landscape can actually have a detrimental effect on the environment. Pesticides, fertilizers and even gas-operated lawnmowers may pollute drinking water and the air, according to the Union of Concerned Scientists (USC). Here is the organization's tips for better and more natural gardening practices:

1. Landscape to minimize mowing, watering and fertilizing needs:
* Plant grass/flower mixtures that grow slowly.
* Switch to alternative ground covers.
* Grow less grass and more shrubs and trees.
* Cultivate plants native to your area.
* Practice companion planting for flowers and vegetables.

2. Enrich your soil by adding compost. For extra nutrients, use organic fertilizers like bonemeal and fish emulsion.

3. Control weeds, and improve soil even more, with organic mulches.

4. To reduce pests, cultivate plants that attract beneficial insects like ladybugs.

5. Keep your mower in good repair.
* Change oil regulariy.
* Clean or replace air filters regularly.
* Get periodic tune-ups.
* Maintain sharp blades.

6. Consider manual yard tools to reduce the amount of energy used and pollution produced.

Battling Underground Pests

(MS) — A wide variety of underground problem pests invade homeowner and farm properties each day across the United States, presenting a frustrating dilemma to those besieged with moles, gophers, voles, groundhogs (woodchucks), rats, chipmunks, ground squirrels, skunks, muskrats, armadillos, prairie dogs or snakes.

At last, the balance of power has shifted to the homeowner in these rodent wars, with an effective solution to defend his or her property. A patented product, the Underground Exterminator easily connects your garden hose to the exhaust pipe of your vehicle. Simply insert the other end of the hose into the pests' burrows. The cone-shaped device is made of high-density, heat-resistant rubber, that easily connects, with its clamp, to cars, trucks and tractors. It maximizes the pressure through the hose to ensure the burrow is extensively penetrated. The suggested engine run time is 15 to 30 minutes.

The effectiveness of this solution is due to the pressurized odorless fumes, which GO TO the rodents who unknowingly breathe them in. A study done by a U.S. veterinary organization found that gasoline engine exhaust kills rodents, "in 5 to 7 minutes without pain or discomfort." With poisons or traps, the rodent needs to discover them and even then, they often avoid consumption or contact. Unlike gas bombs, which are sulfur-based and have a strong odor, from which rodents run, the carbon monoxide immediately puts them to sleep ... for good.

The product also eliminates more than one pest at a time and can be reused year after year, when new underground intruders come to visit, without the danger of poisons to other wildlife.

"I watched my flowers being pulled underground by rodents. I tried everything in my store and nothing did the job like the Underground Exterminator," says Kevin Squire, owner, Danville Hardware in California.

The product costs only $10 to $14 and is nationally available through these hardware chains: True Value (646-919), Do-It-Best (708078), and ACE (7094147). Just bring this article, with these product numbers, to your local hardware store. The product is guaranteed by Manning Products, Inc.

SPOTTING TROUBLE?
Have you ever wondered why dog urine discolors grass in such a stark way? Surprisingly, it is not due to the pH in the urine but rather the concentration of nitrogen present. Female dogs also have a tendency to create larger messes because they often urinate in puddles, rather than the spray of a male dog. If you flush the area with water within eight hours of your dog's visit, it will dilute the urine and reduce the chance of spotting.

The Price May Be Right, But Is The Contractor?

By Steve Lusk
Copley News Service

If you needed heart surgery, would you consider asking three surgeons to submit bids and then go with the lowest one? Of course not. However, many homeowners think nothing of shelling out tens of thousands of dollars to a remodeler they've selected based solely on price.

Granted, a remodeling project is not a life-or-death operation, but it could have a definite effect on a family's well being and financial health. It only stands to reason, therefore, that many factors in addition to price need to be consider before a contractor is selected for a particular project.

A common approach to the selection process is to solicit bids from three different remodelers. The homeowner typically will throw out the high and low bids and accept the middle one, confident he's minimized his risk by dropping the two extremes. The selection is driven by price alone. As an afterthought, the homeowner may or may not check the remodeler's reputation, references and insurance and licensing documentation.

A job interview doesn't begin with salary negotiations, so why should hiring a contractor be any different? Before you discuss compensation, you want to be sure you have a qualified applicant.

One of the first things to check is references. It's important that you talk to people who have hired the remodeler you're considering to do jobs similar to yours. A beautifully remodeled kitchen or bath sheds little light on the remodeler's ability to add a second story to your home. You'll want to ask the references if they had any problems with quality, payment schedule, employees or completion time. The most telling question you can ask someone is, "Would you hire this contractor again?" Some people will be hesitant to make negative comments, but the enthusiasm with which this question is answered usually can tell you everything you need to know.

After you've talked with the reference, take a look at the completed project. Check the quality of the craftsmanship and materials, overall aesthetics and creativity, and how the project blends in with the rest of the home.

Also, verify the remodeler's licensing and insurance. If you hire a remodeler who doesn't carry workers' compensation and one of his employees falls off your roof, you could be liable for the medical bills and lost wages.

One indication of a professional remodeler is membership in a national trade association such as the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) Remodelers Council. A fly-by-night outfit intent on ripping off people is not going to leave a paper trail by joining a professional trade association.

Another indication of professionalism is the type of warranty offered. Most remodelers offer some sort of a warranty. But remember a warranty is only as good as the company backing it.

Once you have done your homework and feel confident the remodeler has a proven track record of quality and service, then it's time to discuss the project's details and price.

As with most hiring decisions the choice in the end may very well be determined by the one with whom you feel the most comfortable and best able to communicate. The remodeler will be spending many hours in your home, so it's important that you feel comfortable with him from the outset. You also should be able to work well together, combining your ideas and his expertise to turn the vision into a final product.

Remember, when you are purchasing a new car, you're getting a product that you can see, touch and take for a test drive. But with a remodeling project, you're purchasing a concept. You won't know what the finished product will look like until well after the contract is signed.

This is why bid shopping works for automobiles but not for remodeling projects. You can ask three car dealers to price a specific make and model and be fairly certain you are comparing like products. But with remodeling, the products could differ significantly. There can be many reasons for a lowball bid, including shoddy materials, poor craftsmanship, inadequate safety precautions and lack of insurance and licensing. Or, the bid may just be from an inexperienced remodeler who's never done a job like yours before.

Once you've selected a remodeler to ask for a bid, make sure the bid and eventual contract are as thorough as possible, including material brand

Spring is the time when most people tackle cleaning and maintenance chores. Make sure you are prepared for your spring cleaning by making a list of the items that will probably need your attention. Here are some areas to consider first, courtesy of www.howtocleanany thing.com.

- Chimneys — clean and inspect flues.
- Siding and trim — Wash siding, touch-up damaged paint and repair loose siding.
- Eaves, downspouts and drains — Clean gutters, straighten and repair damaged downspouts and gutters. Flush downspouts.
- Roofing — Repair damaged shingles and flashing.
- Windows — Clean windows and screens. Inspect them for damage and repair.
- Pests and birds — Check vents, chimneys and other crannies for bird and insect nests.

Planning Is The Key To Home Fix-Ups

Warm spring weather encourages homeowners to get outside and improve their homes. Proper planning will make the job much easier.

No matter who will be doing the work, a contractor or a do-it-yourselfer, proper planning is an important part of any home-improvement project. Contractors should be notified exactly as to what the homeowner wants accomplished. Homeowners need to meet with professionals, explain the work and get realistic estimates. Do-it-yourselfers also should plan ahead to ensure they have set aside enough time for the project, have the right equipment and materials and understand the work.

Having the proper equipment means having the tools specifically designed for the task at hand, but also having tools that are in good condition. It is a nice idea to check that tools are in working order before beginning a project. All handles should be fixed firmly into the tool's working end, and jaw teeth, cutters and blades should be sharp. Throw away any damaged tools.

If, when planning a project, do-it-yourselfers find that they don't have a tool they need, they can buy, rent or borrow it. Renting or borrowing allows them to see if they like a particular model or brand, making the decision easier when they finally decide to buy the tool. If people want to buy the tool, many home-improvement professionals recommend going to a knowledgeable local dealer.

After getting the proper equipment, homeowners should follow the manufacturer's instructions when using each tool. Tools should be kept clean, dry and away from excessive heat. Instead of rocking a tool, there should be steady pressure on jaws or cutters. Before using the tool near electricity, the current should be shut off.

With the proper planning and right tools and materials, people are well on their way to a successful project and a more beautiful home.

Dishing the Dirt about Gardening Soil

By Joe Sherinski

(MS) — Now that summer is just around the corner, it's the perfect time to improve the quality of native backyard soil and help give your plants that extra boost of nutrition they need.

Unfortunately, many gardeners do not know the importance of soil conditioning, so The Scotts Company has developed two new products, along with helpful tips, to help gardeners create the perfect garden soil this season.

To start, there are significant differences between backyard soil, topsoil and garden soil. Gardeners throughout history have misused these terms and used the improper medium when planting. In clarifying their differences, Scotts and Miracle-Gro guarantee the best planting season ever.

BACKYARD SOIL

Native backyard soil tends to lose the essential vitamins and minerals that healthy plants, flowers, vegetables and lawns need to grow after years of abuse from exposure to the sun, overwatering, and compaction. In addition, water absorption, saturation and even water distribution are greatly reduced, leaving an inhospitable, barren soil for plants to live in.

TOPSOIL

Topsoil should be utilized as a base material for filling holes, and leveling lawns, gardens and beds. Topsoil improves the condition of the native soil by replenishing the organic content of the soil as well as reducing shrinkage and providing a stable environment for your gardens and lawns. Although topsoil is an essential foundation for gardens and lawns it tends to be heavy, lack porosity and water retention, and is low in nutrition. Ideally, topsoil should be used in conjunction with high-nutrient garden soils.

SPRING IS THE PERFECT TIME to improve the quality of backyard soil and give your plants the extra boost of nutrition they need.

GARDEN SOIL

Garden soil should be used to improve and condition soils in beds and gardens. Ideally, bagged garden soil should be mixed with native backyard soil or topsoil to achieve a desired growing medium that is rich and nutritious for your plants. The high organic matter content in store-bought garden soil helps improve soil structure by making heavy clay soils more loose and porous, as well as increasing beneficial microorganism and earthworm activity. The added nutrients give plants the quick start that is required for a beautiful garden. In addition, some premium garden soils have added a wetting agent to allow the soil to absorb and disperse water more evenly.

Miracle-Gro(R) Garden Soil for Flowers & Vegetables and Miracle-Gro(R) Garden Soil for Trees, Shrubs & Ornamentals help gardens thrive by improving the condition of outdoor soils and providing plants with essential nutrients that topsoil and backyard soil lack.

Both products are available nationwide in 1 cubic foot bags for $3.33, and are designed to provide superior results when planting outdoor flowers, vegetable, trees and shrubs in native soils. These two unique formulas were scientifically developed to replicate the types of soil that these plants will naturally prosper in.

"We developed these products in response to consumer feedback," states Keith Baeder, Vice President of Marketing for Scotts Growing Media Division. "Our customers told us that they hated all the work that was involved in preparing soil every year. Both products are easy to use, time-saving, all-in-one soil conditioners, with the added plant food that will help make outdoor garden plants as beautiful as potted plants. Our ready-to-use products take the guesswork out of planting while helping to alleviate the problems of moisture retention, fertilization and poor soil composition.

"Great plants grow with great soil," Baeder adds. "These products will grow plants twice as big compared to ordinary top soil, with less effort than the current practice of mixing several products together."

Each is made of rich, organic materials, Canadian sphagnum peat moss, manure plus just the right amount of Miracle-Gro(R) Plant Food, which provides essential nutrients that plants depend on for strength. Unfortunately, most soils around the country lack the proper nutrients that plants need to grow properly. "By adding just 2 to 3 inches of Miracle-Gro(R) Garden Soils to a garden, Scotts guarantees that plants will grow stronger and healthier with half the effort. Even the least experienced gardener can have the garden that he or she always dreamed of without all the hassles, stress and guess work," Baeder says.

Thermometers Valuable For Tool Grilling, Gardening, Storm Watching

(ARA) - As the sun rises higher in the sky and the earth begins to warm, it's not only animals that come out of hibernation.

When warm spring weather finally arrives, it's all about being outdoors. People can't wait to spend time gardening, doing yard work and enjoying activities such as hiking, biking, camping or just soaking up some rays. To make the most of spring and summer, people need more information: the temperature, humidity, barometric pressure, and whether any storms are lurking over the horizon.

Fortunately, there are thermometers that fit the bill for the weekend gardener, the grilling enthusiast, the weather aficionado or anyone in between. And with various celebrations just around the corner, from Mother's and Father's Days to graduations and summer weddings, thermometers make a great gift that's also practical and attractive.

Accurate weather information

If it's weather information you're after, look for digital thermometers and weather stations are the latest trend. These handy devices incorporate wireless monitoring technology and provide the convenience of having a monitor on a table inside the house with a weatherproof sensor outdoors, in the attic or wherever you would like it to be. Acu-Rite's models feature easy-to-read LCD screens that display both the internal room temperature as well as the temperature for up to three remote sensors with a range of up to 100 feet. They also function as clocks with snooze alarms and day/date displays.

The more advanced models will give you barometric pressure and humidity readings and alert you to weather changes and impending storms. If you want to monitor the temperature of your lily pond or swimming pool, the weatherproof sensors also come with a submersible waterproof probe.

If you are really into precision, Acu-Rite's newest model, available this spring at Wal-Mart, will give you not only accurate weather readings, but also will synchronize to the official U.S. atomic clock in Boulder, Colo.

Spruce up the deck

Whether you need to know when to flip the burgers or when to flip yourself to get an even tan, a combination thermometer/clock on the deck is handy during warm weather. Many combination models or sets are available, in designs ranging from a bright mosaic, to garden herbs, to sea shells. Look for sets made from durable sculpted resin to withstand outdoor use and still provide accurate time and temperature information.

Decorative thermometers, including glazed ceramic or earthy terra cotta designs, are suitable for indoor or outdoor decorating. Stoney Creek's ceramic line offers colorful designs with floral, French Provincial and other garden-related themes. Other designs incorporate nature themes such as birds, frogs and flowers that can also function as birdfeeders, key holders or planters. More traditionally-styled thermometers available from Acu-Rite include brass tub thermometers that mount to a window frame, metal verdigris or grape leaf patterns, or a nautical, porthole style thermometer.

Look for Acu-Rite products at major discount stores including Target, Kmart, Wal-Mart, Shop-Ko and Lowe's. Stoney Creek Trading Co. products can be found at specialty retailers. Acu-Rite and Stoney Creek Trading Co. thermometers are made by the Chaney Instrument Company, an internationally-known maker of quality timepieces and thermometers since 1943. To learn more about the Acu-Rite or Stoney Creek Trading Co. brands or Chaney Instrument Co., visit www.chaneyinstrument.com.

Paperhangers' Web Site Available

You'd think a business that trains professional paperhangers would be reluctant to give free advice to do-it-yourselfers, but not the American School of Paperhanging Art in Commerce, Ga. The school's web site at www.paperhanging.com/class/ offers a wealth of instructions and tips that can help anyone do a better job.

The site explains not only what should be done, but why — why it's essential to prime the walls first, why you should always remove the old wallpaper before hanging new, why you shouldn't use tools such as a water tray or a plastic smoother, and so on. It also provides information that's not included in most home-improvement books, such as tips on choosing patterns and instructions for planning a project so you're not left with those impossible narrow strips of wallpaper to hang.

There's even a list of wallpaper brands that the pros love because they're so easy to work with.

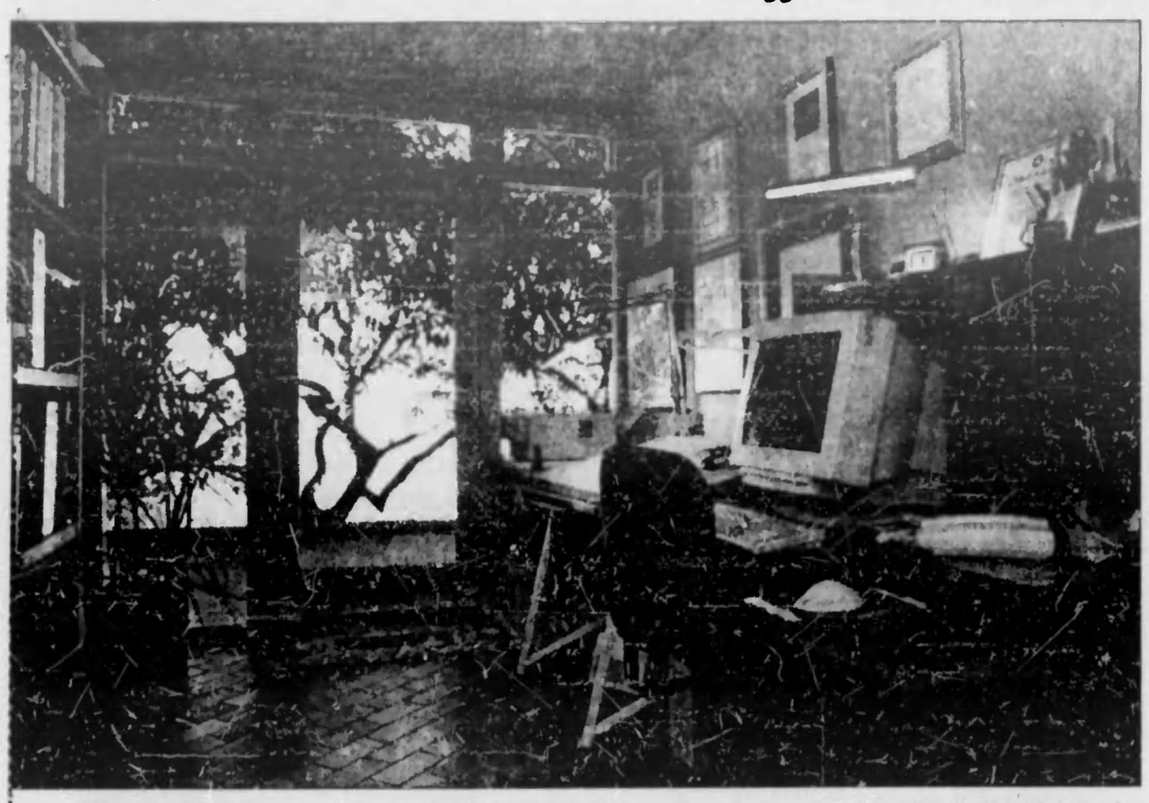
Making Room In Your Home For Office Is Essential



BUSINESS ARRANGEMENT — Interior designer Stephanie Mathews says that your needs and goals should determine your home-office layout. Here, the home office Mathews designed for herself emphasizes function over style.

By Pat Stein
Copley News Service

With more than half of the country's work force telecommuting full or part time, home offices are no longer a luxury, but a necessity.

In 20 years, home offices will be as standard as bedrooms and bathrooms and more common than living rooms, according to a recent survey. In fact, a Kiplinger Newsletter report has predicted that by 2025 all upscale new homes and most mid-priced ones will be routinely designed with one, if not two, fully equipped offices.

Until then, work-at-home couples are coping by carving residential offices out of existing residential space. Some can afford individual offices, but many have to share a room. One of their challenges is designing a work area that serves the needs of both partners, often employed in distinctly different professions.

If you're thinking of converting part of your living space to a home office, first ask yourself some questions, says interior designer Stephanie Mathews, a member of the American Society of Interior Designers.

Will the office be used to operate a business? Will it be a space for handling home finances or doing on-line shopping? Will it have to accommodate work that requires special equipment? Does it need space for meetings with customers or collcagues?

"Your needs and goals determine the home-office layout that will work best for you. You must have a plan," advises Mathews, who works out of a home office she designed for herself. "The important thing to remember is that it has to be functional and well organized so you can get things done.

"The purpose of having a home office is to help you be more productive and effective, so it needs to be well lighted, well organized and pleasant to work in."

With your needs clearly in mind, office design experts like Phil Jennings of Next Design Team suggest creating a list of components. Among the basics are a desk/shelving system that will house a computer, monitor, printer, fax and telephone, plus filing and storage space for books, stationery supplies, documents and special tools.

Optimal space use generally is achieved with custom cabinetry, according to Mathews, but free-standing office furniture brings the advantage of flexibility plus it's less expensive. But, Mathews points out, costs of a well-designed home office most likely can be recouped in added home resale value since home offices are in such demand.

MAKING THE CHANGE

Rob and Kim Hirsch explored all the options — from assemble-it-yourself office furniture to designer cabinets — when they decided to transform their dysfunctional home office into a pleasant, productive workplace.

The Hirseches live in a modest condominium. Kim, a photographer, needs work space for viewing negatives and mounting photographs. Rob, who works for a computer software company, needs a home office where he can handle administrative chores.

Even with such disparate demands, the duo managed to turn a small (10½ feet square) spare room just off the entryway into an office that suits both their professions.

The pair had been working out of a hodgepodge office furnished with one free-standing desk and a makeshift desk created from a door and two file cabinets. An armoire that belonged in the dining room served for storage.

About a year ago, Rob says, they threw up their hands in frustration, admitted "this isn't working," and began to shop around.

They consulted companies that specialize in closet organizers but also offer home office, garage and kitchen cabinetry. Although priced at about $4,500, the cabinetry "would have looked too much like a kitchen," Kim said, "and since the office is the first room people see when they enter our home, we wanted it to look nice."

They also rejected free-standing furniture from home office stores because it would not make the best use of the available space. More than "an instant office," Rob says he wanted "a clean, uncluttered look and the best use of space."

That desire led the couple to chose built-ins designed, built and installed by the Next Design Team. Working with the company, they created an efficient office that served both of their needs.

Kim now has a table for cutting mattes to mount her photographs and space for a small light table for viewing negatives. Under the table there's storage for her specialty black-and-white art photos and negatives.

"The table had to be a special height so I could work standing and have proper leverage when cutting mattes," Kim said.

Rob needed a spot for his laptop computer, while Kim wanted space for the PC she uses to publish the Women in Creative Photography newsletter. The resulting U-shaped desktop has two separate work stations.

Rob has a distant peek-a-boo view of the ocean out of the corner window behind his laptop work station. The PC is in the other corner and Kim's work table is against the fourth wall.

Storage space is provided in cabinets that stair-step smartly up the walls, following the angle of the room's vaulted ceiling. Shelving is adjustable and the walls above the desktop are handy bulletin boards for hanging notes and calendars.

Making Room

The cabinetry's cherry wood-toned laminate is both warm and practical. Before it was installed, the Hirsches painted the walls off-white and installed new beige carpeting. The result is a light, airy space that belies the room's modest square footage and pleases both users. "I'm more of a function kind of a person and Kim is more of a form kind of person," Rob said. "The office works for both of us."

Cost of the project was about $8,000 — the best money they've ever spent, the Hirsches say.

MERGING STYLES

Grumpy from eyeing each other across a common desk, interior designer Carol Spong and her husband, Fred, couldn't wait to redesign the office in their condominium.

Carol does much of her interior design work in her home office and Fred, a physician now retired, works on projects such as family genealogy and does a bit of medical consulting.

The problem was not so much different pursuits but different work styles. She often needs lots of "stuff" around — fabric swatches, paint samples and more, while he's more of a tidy guy.

"We needed to be visually separate," Carol said.

In her redesign, they now work with their backs to each another and a view of beautiful hanging plants in the side yard, rather than across from each other.

Each has a side of the room, with a corner computer work station and other amenities geared to their individual needs.

Carol has a small drafting table as well as a PC and phone on her side. Fred's work station is dominated by the PC. They share the fax and printer which sit in the middle of the U-shaped desk and serve as a dividing line between the two work spaces.

"I chose not to have a peninsula divide the work areas because we wanted to maintain an open feeling," Carol said.

Although the Spongs' office measures only 13-by-11 feet, there's plenty of work and storage space. Lateral files fit under the desktop and the upper cabinets are fitted with adjustable shelving for storing books and resource materials.

They chose a stylish charcoal gray laminate finish for the built-in cabinetry instead of white or beige because, Carol said, "we didn't want the glare." (The room is flooded with light from a skylight and windows during the day.)

The built-in cabinetry makes efficient use of space and gives the office a clean look. Carol advises anyone contemplating a home office to "bite the bullet cost-wise and make it the way you want it, otherwise it won't work for you."

Cost of the Spongs' office installation was about $5,000.

FUNCTION FIRST

In the best of all worlds, couples who work at home have separate offices. This is what interior designer Stephanie Mathews created in the family's spacious home.

Her husband, Charles, a corporate investor, works out of an office on the top floor of the guest house the couple built behind their main house. It is outfitted with a table for board meetings, telecommunications equipment, a large free-standing desk, television set, PC and all the wireless technology needed for conducting international business from a home office.

There's a wet bar, bathroom and a separate billiards room in Charles's spacious office suite.

Before they built the guest house, Stephanie and Charles worked out of separate but adjacent offices inside the main house. Now Stephanie uses both of those spaces for her design work.

Surprisingly, Stephanie's office emphasizes function over style, and contrary to what she might suggest for clients, its furnishings are free-standing pieces, rather than built-ins.

"The office is designed to suit my needs. It's strictly functional," she said.

There's plenty of enclosed and open-shelf storage for catalogs, a closet for fabric and carpet samples, and shelves lined with three-ring binders jammed with project plans and drawings. Stephanie does most of her design drafting on the computer, but she also works at a specially designed adjustable-height desk that resembles a drafting table. Basket files on casters hold materials for each project under way.

Back issues of design magazines are tucked into holders in a book case to keep them organized. Since many catalogs are now produced as CDs, she has a CD rack on her desk. A wire shelving unit stands on casters behind her desk, providing handy, movable storage.

A large window and French doors provide a view of avocado trees, part of the grove that covered the property before the house was built, the tennis court below and the guest house where Charles works.

Stephanie says the dual office arrangement works for them.

"It's important to him to have an office to go to and to go away from — even if it's just across the pool yard," Stephanie said.

With adequate work space and storage, Stephanie says her office has made her work-at-home life more pleasant and manageable.

Read. Then Recycle.

SPRING/SUMMER HOME FACTS

Painting tips

Do the job right to reduce repeat work.

- Use quality paints. Cheap paints will not wear or adhere well. Oil base paints do not work well on damp surfaces.
- Proper surface preparation is important. Spray away all loose paint.
- A primer should be used in almost all cases. There are primers made for nearly every surface. Surfaces of bare wood and old chalky paint need a primer. There are primers made for appling latex to old oil paint surfaces. Concrete and masonry need special primers, as do metals. Seek advice from a paint expert.
- Surfaces painted before 1980 may contain lead-base paints. Wear a mask or ask for expert advice before sanding or removing these old paints.
- Use a dowel rod in the rung hole of a ladder as a great paint can holder.

Quick Tips To Keeping Plumbing In Top Shape

(ARA) - Although you may not feel qualified to take on major plumbing installations or repairs around the house, there are many small things that you can easily do to repair, clean or maintain your plumbing.

How do you clear a clogged drain? What do you do to keep a faucet looking and running like new? How do you prepare for a plumbing emergency? What is the best way to clean fixtures? Read on for the answers to those questions as well as tips for maintaining your plumbing.

Be Prepared for a Plumbing Emergency

Homeowners hope they will never have to face a plumbing emergency, but the best time to prepare is before it happens.

"When water is spewing from a broken pipe or creeping slowly towards your carpet is not the time to be hunting for a water shut-off valve," says Mike Pickett, vice president, Product Development at Moen Incorporated. "Our plumbing experts first recommend making a plumbing discovery tour of your home. A few minutes of your time now can provide the assurance you need to handle a crisis down the road."

Make a Plumbing Discovery Tour

A "plumbing discovery tour" involves locating and clearly marking all shut-off valves in your home. First, find the main water shut-off valve. This valve is usually located in the basement on the pipe coming through the wall on the street side of your house (near the water meter). By shutting off this valve, you will shut off water to your entire house, which may be necessary for a serious emergency.

Be aware, though, that if you do shut off the water at the main valve, a gas hot water tank must be turned down to as low possible (find the control on the face of the tank and set it to the "vacation" setting). An electric tank should be shut off at the electrical panel. If you have a hot water heating system, you will also need to check that the furnace has a sufficient supply of water so it does not run dry.

During your tour, you also should note the locations of shut-off valves for other plumbing fixtures. Below your kitchen sink

Computers Measure Up To Builders' Needs

By Lisa Coon
Copley News Service

A painter, dressed in white T-shirt, white painter's pants and a white cap steps into the superintendent's trailer at the site of a new housing project called RiverWest. A beeper and cell phone are attached at the waistband of his pants.

He talks briefly about some touch-up work needed on one of the 200 townhouse units Diversified Buildings Inc. is responsible for constructing as assistant project manager Steve Lehman updates the construction schedule on a laptop computer.

Project manager Scott Turnbull's cell phone rings periodically. It's not a typical cell phone, but one with computer and two-way radio capabilities.

Back at Diversified's home office, chief estimator Marc Robertson can pull up the project file on his computer and view the daily reports, equipment use, visitors to the site, what materials were delivered, letters and more. Technology is changing the way business is done, and that includes at large and small construction sites.

No longer does construction have the image of being just a toolbag industry. Technology is everywhere — laptops in the field, palm pilots, cellular phones with computer capabilities, digital cameras used to communicate with out-of-town architects, digitized estimating equipment, software for improved tracking of project schedules and materials, laser equipped concrete spreading machines, global positioning satellite equipment for more accurate surveying...

"The industry is changing very quickly," said Diversified's Robertson. "Ten years ago, it was unusual to find computers in construction offices, let alone in the field. We have job sites where the superintendent has a computer in the trailer, the office for the site. We use it to better communicate with the field and do project administration tasks — record keeping, daily reports, logs. At least half of our job sites are now online."

The use of computerized record keeping is a marketing tool, and one customers find attractive, Robertson said.

"They can dial up our system and with a password, they can access the same reports and see where the project is."

Digital cameras in the field have saved a lot of time, according to Turnbull, RiverWest's project manager for Diversified's $15.5 million share of the $44 million project.

"We use it to correspond with the architect. If we have a problem, we take a picture of it, e-mail it to her and talk about it on the phone," Turnbull said. "What would normally take a week to get them down here from Chicago to look at something, we can do it in an hour."

Concrete work at a 200,000-square-foot Lowe's Home Improvement Warehouse and parking lots was completed using a laser screed, some of the latest technology in the field. Otto Baum Company Inc. did the work as part of Diversified's $15 million contract.

"The operation we used down at Lowe's was a giant man-saver. Instead of striking concrete by hand, the laser screed strikes an area of 12-foot by 20-foot in 20 seconds," said Mike Childers, field coordinator for Otto Baum.

TOOLS OF THE TRADE — Steve Lehman, River West assistant project manager, updates segments of the construction projects completion schedule.

An area like that would typically take four workers 10 minutes to complete, he said. Traditionally, when concrete is poured from a truck, it's dumped into a pile and workers use two-by-fours to strike it off to the elevation needed.

With the laser screed, a $250,000 piece of equipment Otto Baum rented for the Lowe's project, a 12-foot-wide screeding head is mounted on a 20-foot telescopic boom. This allows for 240 square feet of laser-level concrete to be handled in less than one minute. The self-leveling screed head consists of a plow that removes excess concrete and an auger that cuts concrete to grade. The hydraulic four-wheel drive machine has two independently mounted laser receivers with an on-board computer control panel that determines the level of the concrete based on inputted coordinates.

"This is one of the newest things on the market," Childers said. "By using the laser screed, it probably cuts the time down to a quarter of what it traditionally would be. Typically, it would have taken two months to get all that concrete down vs. a couple weeks.

"The laser screed produces a more accurate pour, it saves on manpower, it's much faster and produces a much better product — a more level floor. It doesn't have the bumps in it," Childers said. "This creates a more perfect floor."

An attachment to the laser screed, called a profiler, also allows for concrete to be poured on a surface that is not flat. All the coordinates and elevations of a multi-elevated site are input into a computer, and the laser screed then strikes the concrete based on those coordinates, Childers said.

"We were able to use that attachment on part of the parking lot," he said.

Field use and project administration aren't the only areas where technological advances have been seen. Diversified's Robertson said technology has proven to be a time saver in the front end, before a job has even been bid.

As chief estimator, a year ago, Robertson would pull out his ruler and calculator to begin estimating what it would cost to prepare a site for construction — such as how much concrete or asphalt it would take or how much dirt or gravel needed to be hauled in or dug up and hauled out. It was a timely and sometimes less than accurate way to cipher what it would take to do a job.

Now, Diversified has $10,000 in computerized equipment that has cut the estimating time in half and has proven to produce much more accurate figures. It's done by placing a copy of the elevation plans for the site onto a large digitized drafting board. An electronic pen is then used to trace around the plans and that image is transferred to a computer screen above the drafting table. The computer then calculates the amount of material needed to be exported or imported. A national database tweaked to reflect area wages then calculates the cost.

The next technological advancement Robertson hopes to take advantage of is the way architectural plans can be retrieved for the purpose of bidding. Currently, one person is responsible for ordering new plans, copying them, logging them and sending back old ones.

"They say we'll be able to order plans electronically, download them and print them out," Robertson said. "It's very clumsy now. That'll be great technology to have when it gets here."

Don't Shudder About What's Under Shutters

By Steve Lusk
Copley News Service

Windows play a major role in how your home looks and works. They also make up a major expense when you build or remodel. So whether you are choosing windows for a new custom home on the drawing board or selecting them for your existing home, it will pay your to get ahead of the learning curve before making a purchase.

Type, style, material, comfort, convenience, security, glass, quality, manufacturer and price are all variables from which you have to make your choices. There are more than 225 manufacturers of windows and window hardware available in the U.S. With so much to choose from, the homework you do beforehand will be repaid many times over in time and money you save — and choices you will be happy with in the long run.

Begin with the understanding that the aesthetics of all windows involve framing daylight. Just as you would pick a frame for a work of art or fine photograph, you should select windows that are appropriate to the view and scenery, quality of your home, neighborhood and budget. With that in mind, here's a guide to making some smart window shopping decisions.

BUDGET

Have a good idea of what you can afford before you begin. The cost of windows for an average-size house can range from a few thousand to several thousand dollars. Your contractor, designer or architect can help you set your budget. Although material glass options and window type are fundamental to setting your budget, the material choice will pace the cost for the whole job.

MATERIALS

Aluminum, vinyl and wood are your material choices and each has its advantages.

Aluminum is most cost-effective with vinyl and wood costing more, in that order. If you can afford the best, choose the material that is appropriate for the house and neighborhood and then select the glass, hardware and security options from a high-quality manufacturer for a high comfort level for your money spent.

Don't just buy wood because it is the best if nobody else in the neighborhood has wood windows. Spend your money on comfort features with aluminum or vinyl frames instead.

TYPES

Window types include sliding (traveling side to side on a track), casement (usually hand-crank operated, swinging outward from a side pivot), awning (same as casement, but swinging outward from a top pivot) and hopper (same as awning, but swinging inward from a bottom pivct).

Hopper-style windows are common in older factories and basements. Hung windows slide up and down. Single-hung means that only one sash slides up or down with the other sash fixed in place. Double-hung means that both sashes move up and down.

STYLES

The window style is usually determined bv the architecture of the building. If you've ever seen a "funny-looking" window that just does not look right in a home, it's probably because the style choice was made without regard for the design and overall appearance of the house.

The type of architecture should provide a basic guide to window selection. For example, divided lights or window panes would be appropriate in a Cape Cod or country-style home, while full lights without dividing the window unnecessarily are suitable in contemporary designs and architecture. Other styles include, accent windows (geometric shapes or round feature windows), bay windows, bow windows (arranged in an arc), corner picture windows with bent glass and without the obstruction in the corner, and clerestory windows set in a raised element above the roof line of the rest of the house, picture windows and glass blocks.

COMFORT CONSIDERATIONS

How well your new windows meet your comfort and satisfaction level has a lot to do with glass (single pane or dual pane), tinting for heat and glare, coating to reduce the ultraviolet ray passage (low emissivity, called "low-e"), window frame and overall quality.

Temperature control is a function of those options plus frame color and material. Aluminum is most heat-conductive and least desirable with WINDOW SHOPPING — Windows do much more than provide light and ventilation. Windows frame your view of the world outside and can add style to any room.

DRY CONDITIONS can damage your garden. Reduce the effects of a drought by amending your soil with Canadian peat moss.

Don't Let Dry Conditions Stunt Landscape Growth

(MS) — Whether it is due to an area drought or just your desire to conserve water, you can enjoy a beautiful water- wise landscape with a little planning.

Soil improvement is the easiest and surest place to start. Soil that is well prepared before planting will yield the best results. Healthy soil needs lots of organic matter—like peat moss —for proper drainage, aerating plant roots and retaining moisture and nutrients. You can amend your soil by working one inch of Canadian peat moss and

One inch of eompost into the top 6 inches of soil. This will not only help you create healthy plants, but also a drought-resistant environment in which for them to live. Amended soil also helps control the weed population, which is always in direct competition with your plants for precious water.

Conditioning the soil is good for your lawn as well. By aerating and top dressing your lawn with a 1/2 inch of peat moss, you will ensure maximum water penetration and promote deeper grass root growth.

"Choose wisely" is another rule of thumb when planning a drought-proof landscape. It is best to talk to your local professionals to see which plants will do well in your area. There are a variety of plants that thrive with little water consumption and they may fit into your plans nicely. Once you decide which plants to use, group together those that require the same amount of watering.

Create a watering schedule that works best for you. Efficiency is the key. You do not necessarily need an elaborate system like an in-ground sprinkler, just deep infrequent waterings to promote root growth. Peat-amended soil helps save water by absorbing and holding moisture, creating ideal growing conditions and a greater tolerance of dry spells. Remember to water early in the day or late in the evening to reduce loss due to evaporation.

By planning and following these simple guidelines you will have a drought-defying environment in no time. To obtain more information on "How to with peat moss," send an unstamped, self-addressed, business-size envelope to Peat Moss, Box 385102, Minneapolis, MN 55438. You can also visit their Web site at www.peatmoss.com or e-mail them at cspma @peatmoss.com.

Landscape Should Be Checked By Potential Home Buyers

A HOME'S LANDSCAPING can greatly affect its value.

If you are considering buying a new home, then you've probably already started your research. According to Mark Whitelaw of the Texas Nursery & Landscape Association, although most prospective home buyers are sure to check out the sizes of rooms, functions of appliances and the quality of the plumbing fixtures of homes they are considering, too few check the landscape for potential costly problems, which can take some of the excitement out of getting a new home.

Before you enter the whirlwind experience of buying a home, consult Whitelaw's checklist for oft-overlooked landscaping problems which may help you negotiate a better buying price, or cause you to pass up a house altogether.

DRAINAGE

Improper drainage can lead to weakened foundations, loose facing materials, rotted supporting wall studs and base plates, structural damage from insects and poor growing conditions for landscape plants. In short, drainage is one of the most important landscaping concerns you should consider before purchasing a home.

* Be particularly aware of surrounding terrain which may cause rainwater runoff into your landscape.

* Look for cracks on interior and exterior walls and along the foundation's perimeter for clues to drainage problems.

* Check rain gutters for good drainage and adequate size to handle the rainfall in the area.

* Be sure that solid surface areas like driveways, patios and walks are graded away from the house.

RETAINING WALLS

The main purpose of retaining walls is to prevent unnecessary soil erosion. Replacing a retaining wall can cost you tens of thousands of dollars, so check these items carefully:

* What type of materials are used in the retaining wall and how old are they? Creosote railroad ties last about 15 years; CCA-treated landscape timbers about 20 years. Masonry can last for centuries if properly installed, but missing mortar may mean the wall is structurally weak.

* Walls higher than 4 feet should be engincered by a professional. Are engincering drawings available and certified by an approving authority?

* Is there adequate drainage through the walls? Solid masonry requires "weep" (drainage) holes equally spaced along the base of the wall.

FENCES

Fences are the ideal tool for security and privacy. Some municipal codes requirc locking fences for homes with swimming pools. Here are some other questions to keep in mind:

* What is the general repair of the fence? Are posts, rails, pickets and hardware free of rot and rust? Are wood products made from rot-resistant timber?

* Is there a clear space between tlic bottom of the fence and the soil's surface? Wood fencing will wick moisture into the pickets if they come in contact with the soil and metal fencing may rust more quickly.

TREES, SHRUBS, GROUNDCOVERS AND LAWNS

With new homes, many landscape plantings (called softscape) may be too close to the foundation. This can cause future problems when the plants (and roots) mature.

* Full-sized, quality landscape trees should be no closer than 15 feet to the foundation or concrete drives and walks. Fast-growing and shallow-rooted trees should be much further.

* Watch for messy fruit-, nut- or seed-producing trees close to driveways, walkways, pools, ponds and patios, or plants that can outgrow their locations.

OTHER THINGS TO CONSIDER

* Water — Pools, fountains, ponds and bird baths are attractive features for your landscape, but they may also require a lot of maintenance. Check these features carefully to decide whether you want the additional effort and expense.

* Lighting — Lighting can provide security and beauty, but some systems can cost a lot of money if repairs are needed.

* Unwanted landscape visitors — Some environments are conducive to unwanted visitors from nature. Your potential home could be visited by deer, raccoons, coyotes and other wildlife.

No Place Like Home To Care For Aged Parents

By Pat Stein
Copley News Service

Caring for aging parents is as much a part of contemporary life as fast food and personal computers.

The choices Steve Lusk faced, about how to provide long-term living arrangements for a parent as well as himself and his wife, are typical today and will grow in importance as longevity increases.

A few years ago, Lusk, who is in his mid-50s, had to decide how to care for his mother, Mariellen Draise, after she had knee replacement surgery and other health issues had arisen.

Now in her 80s, his mother is still very spry and mobile, but back then Lusk was concerned about her living alone in a condominium. He wanted her within shouting distance, not driving distance.

And he didn't want her in a care facility.

"I had seen my grandmother rot away in a rest home and I vowed that would never happen to my mother," Lusk said.

In 1995, he began making plans to build a residence for his mom that would be just a few steps away from his own home. With that project in mind, he purchased a 57-year-old house in and converted the original garage into a structure that included an apartment for his mother on the second floor with the garage below. The project also included a complete remodel of the original two-bedroom house that he and his wife, Lynn, now occupy.

Separated by a pleasant, low-maintenance courtyard with a spa both structures feature universal design. "The goal of universal design is to make a house usable by people with a wide range of abilities, yet have the appearance of a 'normal' house," Lusk said of features like wide doorways and lowered light switches.

Lusk included similar elements in his own home, he said, because his aging mother's needs had made him think about his own journey into the golden years.

"I wanted to create a transitional space where my wife and I also could live for a long time," Lusk said.

MOM'S PLACE

Security, privacy, accessibility, proximity and a pleasant ambience were key considerations in design of the compamon residences.

Draise's second-floor apartment above the garage can be accessed from an elevator in the garage or by a staircase that ascends from the courtyard. The garage elevator, which cost about $20,000, provides not only access but security.

"Older people tend to associate living on the second floor with safety. But my mother has had knee replacement surgery so walking up stairs was not an option for her," he said.

"With the elevator, she can enjoy the sense of security of living on the second floor without walking up stairs. She drives her car into the garage, closes the automatic door behind her, steps into the elevator and goes up to her apartment without ever having to go outside."

Draise's guests enter through a gate in the enclosed courtyard while the Lusks' guests enter their home through the front door facing the street. The arrangement gives both households a sense of privacy and independence.

The apartment has two suite-style bedrooms with adjoining bathrooms, a living room with fireplace and a balcony. The complete kitchen is separated from the living room by a peninsula bar where Draise said she likes to have breakfast while reading the paper or sharing a cup of coffee with her son.

Lusk said he designed the 1,200-square-foot apartment with two bedroom suites in case his mother needs a live-in caregiver in the future. The bedroom suites are separated by the living room to provide privacy.

"Having a private suite for a caregiver makes it easier to find quality care," Lusk said.

Draise uses the second bedroom as a home office with a desk for her computer, a sewing room, space for craft making, which is one of her hobbies, and a guest room when her grandchildren or other overnight guests visit.

"I've always liked to sew. I made clothes for my children when they were growing up and now I make clothes for my five grandchildren," Draise said.

The bathrooms feature showers with wide doors, a built-in seat, grab bars and a hand-held shower.

"The showers were designed to reduce the hazard of falling and to permit wheelchair access," Lusk said.

Doorways in the bath and throughout the apartment are 30 inches wide to permit access for a wheelchair or walker. In the kitchen, there also is enough open space for a wheelchair or walker.

Bathroom vanities and kitchen counter tops are 36 inches high instead of the standard 32 inches, to reduce the need to bend over while preparing meals or doing clean-up. Kitchen cabinetry features roll-out shelving, a slide-out pantry below

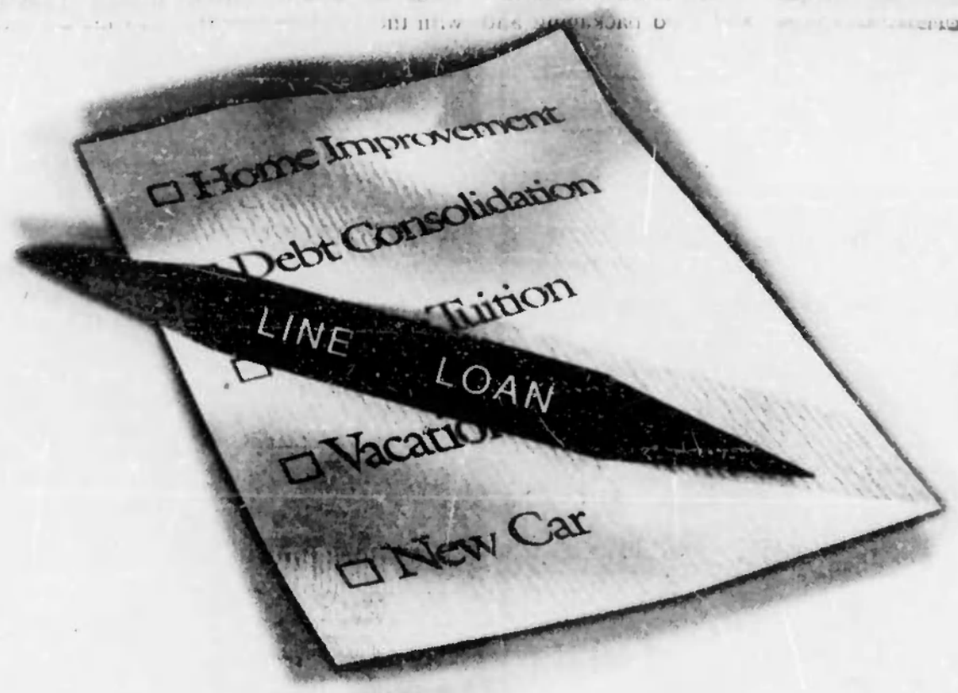
For Home Equity With More Flexibility, There's Only One Choice.



Introducing M&T CHOICEquity.
A Line Of Credit And A Loan In One Account.

SPECIAL INTRO RATE 3.70% VARIABLE APR* FOR FIRST 6 BILLING CYCLES

Finally there's one home equity account that's flexible enough to take care of all your needs. With a fixed-rate loan option built right into a line of credit, M&T CHOICEquity can handle whatever your life may call for. You can use either the line or loans – or both – to consolidate expensive credit card debt, make home improvements, or buy a car. You can even use them at the same time – as long as your total outstanding balance falls within your approved credit amount. M&T CHOICEquity gives you the best of both worlds.

And the best part is, once you're approved, your M&T CHOICEquity Account is there whenever you need it. No closing costs* No application fees* No reapplying. No additional paperwork. Plus, you'll have only one combined monthly statement and payment, and the interest you pay may even be tax deductible.*

You can apply for an M&T CHOICEquity Account at any M&T Bank branch, or simply call the M&T Bank Home Equity Center at 1-800-724-6444, 8am-8pm Monday-Friday, 9am-5pm Saturday, and 10am-2pm Sunday.

REGULAR RATE 4.75% VARIABLE APR* THEREAFTER

M&T Bank

*Prime-1.05%, currently 3.70% APR, is an introductory variable rate applicable to the Base Account for the first six billing cycles of the account for a line amount of $70,000 or more. After that, the rate for the Base Account will be the regular rate of Prime+1.20%, currently 5.95% APR, for the life of the line if your approved line amount is less than $40,000. For line amounts of $40,000-$59,999, the regular variable rate of Prime+.25%, currently 5.00% APR, will apply to the Base Account for the remaining life of the line. For line amounts of $60,000-$500,000, the regular variable rate of Prime+0, currently 4.75% APR, disclosed here will apply to the Base Account for the remaining life of the line. For Choice Loans between 12 and 36 months the regular fixed APR is 6.75%. For Choice Loans between 37 and 72 months the regular fixed APR is 7.25%. For Choice Loans between 73 and 180 months the regular fixed APR is 7.75%. Rates are current as of 4/1/02. Maximum APR of 15.90%. Loan to value ratio not to exceed 85%. Your APR during and after the introductory discount period for the account may vary monthly, based on changes in the Prime Rate. However, once a Choice Loan is established, the APR for that Choice Loan will not vary over its term. The Prime Rate is the highest rate published by The Wall Street Journal in its "Money Rates" table. Property insurance and flood insurance, if applicable, are required. If you cancel the line within 48 months, you must reimburse us for third party fees paid in connection with opening the line. This does not apply to Pennsylvania home equity lines of credit. See your tax advisor for details on the tax deductibility of interest. Offers subject to credit approval and are for new accounts only. M&T CHOICEquity Accounts cannot be used to pay off existing M&T Home Equity or CHOICEquity Accounts. Offer good on properties located in Maryland, New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia only.

wood and vinyl increasingly more efficient.

GLASS OPTIONS

The glazing of your new windows is critical to the performance of the window system. Don't even consider single-pane windows. Today's market is driven by dual-pane (or dual-glaze) manufactured products. Two panes of glass are separated by a small space that is usually filled with argon gas for insulation. Be sure to ask about this feature because some cheaper windows do not use gas at all, just air. It is the argon that keeps the window panes from forming condensation between the panes.

Placement of windows is an important item to consider when it comes to glass type. The use of tempered glass, which is stronger than regular glass and doesn't break into sharp points, has important safety considerations in heavy-use areas such as in or near entryways. Federal law requires that if a window is within 18 inches of the floor or next to a door, the glass must be tempered.

SECURITY

The type of window you select and the way it opens have security considerations. Picture windows do not open at all. Sliding windows are easier to jimmy open than hung windows. And casement, awning and hopper windows are all very difficult to break into. In fact, if the window is properly locked, you probably have to break the glass to defeat the window.

The quality of the hardware and the locking devices mainly determine the security reliability of the window. Especially on gliding doors and large windows, multipoint locking devices are a must when you purchase. Be sure to ask what the standard hardware is because mid-priced window and door companies usually offer these features as extras, at additional cost. Expensive windows are usually loaded with these features as part of the quality package.

With so many people making windows today, the market is very competitive and built on service.

PRICE AND QUALITY

Features, finishes and quality are directly related to the price you pay. Well-designed and manufactured products require quality materials, quality control in manufacturing, and good packaging and transportation to get them to your doorstep ready for installation.

Service after installation is important if you are willing to pay for that type of quality up front. If you make a price-driven decision, do not expect to get high quality service after the installation.

There are three basic price levels in windows from the perspective of a builder: Minimum quality found in entry-level housing, mid-priced quality that makes up most of the retrofit marketplace and move-up housing and high quality that is found in upper-end and custom-home construction.

Look for well-designed windows in the category you choose. Look over the manufacturer's warranty on glass and the window system when you compare one brand with another. Do business with a reputable dealer or contractor who has credentials and a known, good reputation. Check with the building department m your community to find out if a building permit is required. You'll be glad you did when selling your house in the future.

SPRING/SUMMER HOME FACTS

Protect your deck

- Keep debris from collecting between cracks in the boards.
- Keep loose nails or boards hammered down. Exposed nails will rust. Aluminum or galvanized nails are best.
- Sand or replace splintered boards. The cracks hold moisture.
- Seal deck with a sealer that contains a mildewcide and resists ultraviolet light.
- Use a long-nap paint roller for the surface and a sponge brush for the cracks.

the peninsula counter, a microwave oven built in at eye level, a built-in oven at waist level, a water-saver Bosch dishwasher and a cook-top.

The unit is oriented to provide maximum sunlight through windows and also includes a skylight that opens for ventilation. Having noticed that older people tend to keep their windows closed, Lusk installed a special HVAC system to circulate air. The apartment also has a water filtration system to keep the glass doors and cultured marble surfaces of the showers spot free without any elbow grease.

The interior is straightforward but with some classy touches such as granite on the kitchen counter tops and fireplace hearth. The decor that Draise has chosen is similarly unfussy. The living room is furnished with an easy chair and sofa and there are a few cherished pictures on the walls.

The three-car garage houses Lusk's vehicles and his mother's car, as well as the laundry facility shared by both households.

When she's not enjoying her home and easy proximity to her son, Draise said she likes to play bridge and go out for lunch with friends, and travel to visit her three other children and five grandchildren.

"I feel safe, secure and loved," she said.

PLANNING AHEAD

The same universal design concepts Lusk built into his mother's apartment were incorporated in the remodel of his own one-story, cottage-style house.

Features of universal design include doorways that are wide enough to permit wheelchair access, showers with low curbs for easy access, open space under counter tops to make sinks and work areas wheelchair accessible, lever handles on faucets, light switches low enough to be reached from a wheelchair but not so low that they're inconvenient for others, an open kitchen plan without an island, and appliances that are at a convenient height.

Lusk's knowledge about how to fill the shelter needs of physically challenged persons has been gleaned from books and periodicals and through experience. "I modified a house for my stepfather, who was in a wheelchair about 10 years ago," he said.

Most of the products Lusk used in his remodel are factory made but with some modifications. The kitchen cabinets and bathroom vanity, for example, are stock items but Lusk modified the units to make the counter tops higher. The built-in shower seats are custom built.

But, Lusk said, universal design adaptations add to project costs "only marginally. It all comes down to planning, design and product choices," Lusk added.

The remodel, essentially on the footprint of the original house, was from the foundation up, Lusk said.

"We wanted to replace the original 1942 house with a millennium house but we wanted the new house to be consistent with the community. It's important for remodels to fit in with the feel of the neighborhood," Lusk said.

He came up with a Cape Cod cottage-style design with dormers and a peaked roof that fits in the area, but with a twist. Looking ahead to his own future when routine exterior maintenance such as painting might be problematic, Lusk tapped into his experience as a builder-remodeler to find materials that are weather resistant and low maintenance.

Instead of wood siding, he used Hardi-Plank synthetic siding, which is made of wood fiber and cement but is indistinguishable from wood siding. The white shutters are constructed of plastic-foam material that also mimics wood. Window frames and panes are aluminum-clad wood.

Beneath the siding, the house is wrapped in Tyvec, a material designed to reduce termite infestation. The roof is covered with asphalt shingles for fire safety and durability.

The project took more than five years from conception to completion. A drawn-out permit process gave him plenty of time to plan and think about the features he wanted in both units. Actual building took a year and was accomplished in two phases — first the apartment and then the house remodel.

"Planning for the future is the key," he said.

Lusk sank considerable money into the project and he is convinced that transitional housing concepts built into his own home and his mother's apartment will add extra value to the property "when its use changes" and if he decides to sell it.

Looking ahead, Lusk said he envisioned a time, hopefully far in the future, when he and his wife might live in the apartment now occupied by his mother.

"There may come a time when we don't want or need a big house. We lived in the apartment while our own house was under construction and my wife loves it. We could live comfortably in the apartment and rent or lease the main house," he said.

As for the current daily contact and affection that the project has made possible, Lusk said "it's priceless."

Children Should Stay Far Away From Riding Mowers

(MS) — Each spring, as the flowers blossom and the grass begins to grow, millions of people follow the annual path to lawn and garden care. Friendly neighbors haul out their mowers, lawn tractors, edgers, tillers and chipper/shredders because they know this equipment provides the best and easiest route to beautifying the landscape. Unfortunately, some also haul out old, unsafe operating habits and this is where they unknowingly turn down a dangerous path toward the possibility of accidents, especially if children are in the work area.

One of the first and foremost safety precautions for parents is never to take children for rides on lawn & garden tractors and riding mowers. In fact, the tendency to give a child a ride on a lawn or garden tractor is a careless and dangerous practice that needs to be stopped.

Bill Harley, Outdoor Power Equipment Institute (OPEI) President and CEO says, "Riding mowers are designed to cut grass, and they come with many safety features which are provided for a single operator. They are absolutely not built for passengers."

MISLEADING MEDIA

OPEI has long been concerned about photographs that mislead readers by showing unsafe habits. Each spring, someone inevitably snaps a "cute" photo of a child on the lap of a parent operating a riding mower and some of these photos end up in the newspaper. OPEI encourages readers not to be influenced by this type of coverage. Simply stated, never take children for rides on riding mowers. Bill Harley agrees, "This type of coverage is unintentionally irresponsible because it sends the wrong message."

Another very important message is to keep children away from the work area when using any kind of outdoor power equipment. Do not allow children to stand near (or walk behind) mowers, riding mowers, trimmers, edgers, chain saws, chipper shredders and snow throwers. When using outdoor power equipment, keep children inside. If any child does enter the work area, turn off the machine immediately.

SAFETY FIRST. Keep children away from all outdoor power equipment, and never give them rides on riding mowers.

MOM, DAD, CAN I HELP?

Young children often express an interest in helping mommy or daddy with chores. This is a normal part of their development. Make sure children understand the importance of safety precautions while helping out. Ask your kids to pick up debris to clear the area to make it safe for mowing. Emphasize the importance of this job by calling it "Safety Patrol," explaining that toys or rocks may be thrown hundreds of feet by a lawn mower and injure someone or they may damage the machine. Smaller children can make a game out of the number of sticks, toys, rocks and any other debris that might be on the lawn.

After completing the "Safety Patrol," parents should send children inside to watch from a window and make sure the job is done correctly. This removes your children from the work area while giving them an "important" job — keeping an eye on mom or dad.

SAFETY SUMMARY

To once again highlight important safety recommendations, the OPEI offers the following advice:

*Always read the owner's manual before operating any equipment.

*Keep children away from the mowing area, preferably indoors.

*Be alert. If children enter the mowing area, turn off the mower.

*Before going into reverse, look behind and down for small children.

*NEVER take a child for a ride on a mower.

*Don't let children operate ANY outdoor power equipment.

For further information on safety and other related industry topics, visit the OPEI Web site at http://opei.mow.org.

Practice First Aid for Azaleas

(MS) — Do your azaleas exhibit signs of sickly yellow leaves? If so, they are likely suffering from lack of iron due to a high alkaline soil pH. Canadian sphagnum peat moss may be just what the plant doctor ordered.

The ideal pH level for healthy azaleas is 4.5 to 5.5. A soil pH test will determine the acidity of your azalea bed and is a measurement for prescribing treatment.

A quick remedy is an over-the-counter iron product applied to the leaves according to directions. But like most pain relievers, it is only a short-term fix. Other treatments must be done to cure the alkalinity problem.

Sphagnum peat moss applied an inch thick as a top dressing and lightly worked into the soil is ideal. Canadian peat bogs are normally quite acidic ranging 3.5 to 4.5. The acidic nature of this harvested product is a plus when used in combination with acid-loving plants. In plantings with thick shallow roots, mix sphagnum peat with soil at a 50/50 ratio and place on the surface up to 2 inches thick. Covering the peat/soil mix with a shredded hardwood bark better holds the mulch in place. With time the peat helps to lower the soil's pH, allowing the plants to absorb nutrients like iron. If the pH test results are over 6.5 it is advised to mix a soil sulfur product according to directions with the peat moss.

In new plantings, incorporate the sphagnum with the existing soil at a ratio

AZALEAS DO THEIR BEST In acidic soil. Work in some Canadian peat moss around existing plants to ensure the proper soil pH.

For Kitchen Counters, It's Hard To Top Zodiaq

By John O'Connell
Copley News Service

The latest in kitchen countertop materials is a granite-like substance called Zodiaq that its maker hopes will become as popular as the natural stone.

Dupont, which years ago created the hottest-selling solid-surface material called Corian, has developed a whole new pro-duct that looks and feels like granite, but with a more consistent color.

"It's so new that we are being cautious with it," said designer Brad Robinson. "Right now there is a very loose distribution network for Zodiaq."

Dupont says its new material is composed of 93 percent quartz, which provides aesthetics coupled with extraordinary strength and durability.

"Zodiaq is the latest miracle of science," according to Mac McCall, business manager, Dupont Zodiaq.

"As beautiful as quartz is in its natural form, it's not applicable that way for use as countertops or tub decks. Through 'science creativity,' we have been able to transform nature into an expressive material for interior applications."

In a home setting, Zodiaq quartz surfaces can be used for kitchen and bathroom countertops, wet bars, tub decks and shower surrounds.

This new product comes in 16 colors, ranging from Cloud White to Vortex Black. Consistent color is its primary advantage, according to Robinson and kitchen designer Sue Moreland.

"It has many of the same qualities as granite, but you can get lighter colors," Moreland said.

"Granite comes in a variety of colors, but typically dark. Zodiaq offers colors that granite cannot."

But don't look for this "miracle" product to be less expensive than granite. Its the same in cost or even a little more, according to the designers.

Concrete is another countertop surface material. But it gets very little notice in many regions.

"Concrete is one of the fastest-growing materials for countertops," Robinson said. "It's very durable, and it has a unique texture."

It can be smooth or rugged in texture, bright or subdued in color. Because it is porous, it would require a sealant to help protect against stains.

"Concrete countertops are really good-looking," Robinson said. "But the trouble is...it's primarily being sold in big metropolitan areas."

Some of the most widely used countertop materials include laminate, solid surface, solid-surface veneer, ceramic tile and granite.

•Laminate countertops, composed of a thin plastic laminate bonded to chipboard, plywood or fiberboard, continues to be the countertop material of choice in this area, according to the designers.

"It's the most popular, because it's the most affordable material," Moreland said. "It ranges from $24 to $46 a linear foot. It is attractive and comes in a wide range of colors. But price is the biggest reason for choosing laminate."

Laminate, which has been available for decades, however, has some distinct disadvantages. It has visible seams, non-repairable if burned or scratched and it can only be used with drop-in sinks.

"I would say that 85 percent of our business is laminate countertops," Robinson said.

•Solid-surface countertops are basically composed of acrylic-based materials. Corian is the most popular brand name.

"Because the color and pattern goes all the way through solid surface, you can buff a scratch, nicks or burn out of it," Moreland said.

Solid-surface countertops are rich in color, very durable, seamless, stain resistant, nonporous, easily repaired and easily cleaned.

"Solid-surface countertops come in wide variety of colors," she said. "They have the beauty of natural stone."

They are also more adaptable to design than natural stone. Many customers create borders by using two different colors.

"One of the main advantages of a solid-surface countertop is you can have a sink and the countertop all in one piece," Moreland said. "This eliminates the lip and seams, which makes the sink easier to clean and more attractive. The sinks always come in solid colors."

Solid-surface countertops are pricey, which is its primary drawback. They can cost as much as $150 a linear foot. A solid-surface sink would be about $900.

•Solid-surface veneer (SSV) was created in hopes of providing some of the advantages of solid-surface countertops at a reduced cost. Most solid-surface materials are one-half-inch to three-quarters of an inch thick, where SSV is one-eighth-inch thick. The veneer is glued down to a substrate of particleboard.

"It typically is about 25 percent less than solid-surface, but it can cost as much as Corian, depending on the options you get," Moreland said.

•Ceramic tile is another material that can be used for countertops.

"It is heat-resistant. You can set hot pans on it without harming it," Robinson said.

And designers can create a wide variety of styles with tile.

"Tile can look very attractive, but it can be hard to clean," Robinson said. "It has an uneven surface. And it is porous. It needs to be sealed."

•Granite is a hard igneous rock that was formed by heat and pressure. It's ideal for countertops and food preparation islands. It is so hard it resists stains, flames, food acids and cutting.

"It's bulletproof," said Rich Murray, who owns Rich Murray Granite and Marble Works. "On the hardness scale, granite is a nine, where a diamond is a 10."

It's so hard that one homeowner with granite countertops uses a cutting board when slicing and dicing. The cutting board isn't used to protect the granite but to keep his knives from being dulled on the hard surface.

Thinking Small Can Yield Big Returns With Planning

By Steve Lusk
Copley News Service

When carefully planned and executed, small spaces feel good and return higher per-square-foot value.

Whether you live in a small house you're going to remodel or moving to a smaller place, think and plan with four words in mind: inviting, open, bright and efficient. Toward that end, here are 20 tried-and-true ideas to help you make the most of your small room or house:

1. Front yard. Start by getting rid of overgrown trees and shrubbery that make the house look small and old. The entry should invite visitors. Design your entry with proper scale, materials, lighting, full light French door (with obscure glass) and side windows that suggest harmony beyond. Consider a wall or fence to create an entry court if you have the space.

2. Entry view. Eliminate the dark feeling of a "boxed in" entry that does not offer a sight line straight through the house. If possible, redesign the entry hall or foyer for view straight through the living area to the rear yard.

3. Rear yard. Design a patio with a wood patio trellis/sun shade structure, landscaped gardens, a fountain or barbecue feature area adjacent to the kitchen that adds recreation and outside dining and entertainment space.

4. High ceilings. If designing a small new house or condominium, opt for 9-foot ceiling heights (8-foot is standard) wherever possible. The taller ceiling will give a more spacious feeling. Consider using scissor trusses for the ceiling itself. Because of the structural flexibility offered by scissor trusses, you can get a vaulted ceiling for little expense.

5. Tall windows. High ceilings allow taller windows that frame more light for the living space. Consider lowering the sills to 18 inches from the floor as well (lower than 18 inches requires expensive tempered glass).

6. Minimize hallways. Hallways take up space and, if they are long, hallways do not feel good. Consider moving walls to combine hallway footage with adjacent areas in existing homes and design to minimize them in new spaces.

7. Flowing, multipurpose rooms. Design space or remodel existing space to combine living and family room and eliminate dining rooms. Design flow-through spaces from kitchen to dining to multi-purpose room. Incorporate other design ideas that follow for space definition, openness and light.

8. Use pony walls. Define areas and activity spaces with short walls. Pony walls can be decorative when built with two-by-six lumber and trimmed on top with a finely finished cap of wood or marble. Also consider building a pony wall out of glass block.

9. Glass block. Light with privacy is the mantra of the glass and acrylic block industry. And rightly so. Here is a list of places you can consider glass block to make small spaces appear and feel bigger:

- Zone off space between toilet and vanity with short wall.
- Build wall between rooms to define space while allowing light to flow.
- Large windows in bath, end of hall, or under stairs built on outside wall.

10. Corner windows. Marvin, Pella and other manufacturers make corner view windows that give a wide open view from the corner of a room. They create a visual spaciousness with a unique look.

11. Skylights. Kitchens and bathrooms will stay bright and fresh with operable skylights. Frame the plenum (light shaft) with flares to give the ceiling opening a larger light frame extending down from the skylight. An added benefit is passive ventilation and free natural light to put on your best face.

12. See-through fireplaces. Design them for location and use between spaces. Most manufacturers have models that allow view and enjoyment from two rooms. Look for the perfect see-through and corner fireplaces for your situation. Also consider a raised hearth for a place to sit and enjoy the heat on your back. Raised-hearth fireplaces put the ambience of a fire at eye level.

14. See-through cabinets. When the kitchen is designed with a peninsula counter between the kitchen and family room, use overhead suspended cabinets with glass doors on both sides. You can install low-voltage recessed lights inside and make the feature an interesting room divider with a classy look.

15. Recessed lighting. Recessed lighting is clean looking with long-lasting design advantages. Installation is not a difficult job for your remodeler and, when finished, it makes a dramatic mood change and appearance. Avoid suspended lighting unless it is clean and delicate looking. Reduce view pollution as you look across small space rooms.

16. Stack washer and dryer. Probably the easiest space-maker idea on this list. Maytag and Frigidare make full-size tub units that stack and perform to the same standards as side-by-side units in half the floor space. Try to relocate the laundry near the bedrooms in a hallway, or between the master bedroom and bathroom, adjacent to a bathroom and near existing plumbing if possible. You'll love the convenience and won't mind saving all the round trips to the utility room or garage where laundry hook-ups are usually located.

17. Closet organizers and built-ins. You'll be amazed at the amount of stuff your closets will hold if you hire a design/build closet organizer company to assess your needs and build in drawers, shelves and clothes hanging areas. When properly done, they permit you to eliminate dressers and chests from the bedroom.

Hang the TV from the ceiling with stainless steel cable or buy a wall mounted TV rack. Build shelving attached to walls for books and all sorts of other easy-to-reach, often-used articles. Presto — less furniture and more space. The bedroom will feel larger be-

18. Floor coverings. Limit floor covering choices to one light color carpet for all carpeted areas. Allow the floor plan to flow without changing flooring materials from carpet to tile to wood as you travel through the house. Think light (colorwise) and keep it simple to achieve the look.

19. Wall colors and materials. Ask an expert for help to coordinate your color choices and textures. Smooth wall surfaces or very light trowel "knock down" texture with an off-white latex paint color work well. If you must change colors, they should be monochromatic.

20. Furniture to fit. Decorating with furniture and accessories that fit the space is essential to making small spaces look big. Seek professional advice in using furniture and accessories you own and buy additional items to complete the project. Do not use furniture, accessories, art and plants that you already have unless they are right for the mood and atmosphere of your new digs.

Enjoy!

Hard To Top

Granite has a richness and natural beauty that man-made materials can't match, according to Murray, whose shop is the largest fabricator of natural stone in central Illinois. Because it is a natural stone, it is unique in its colors and patterns.

But granite is not perfect, Moreland said.

"It shows seams, which is a disadvantage," she said.

"And some people don't like the feel of granite because it holds a chill. But holding a chill can also be an advantage. A chill makes it a good surface for candy-making or baking."

Granite has become increasingly popular in recent years. A survey by the National Kitchen and Bath Association found that granite and solid-surface materials are used about evenly in kitchen remodeling jobs, according to Bill Schankel, a spokesman for the association.

"Just two years ago our survey found that solid surface countertops were more popular than granite by at least 5 percentage points," he said. "So you can see the growth in granite countertops."

Most people believe granite is much more expensive than the man-made solid-surface materials, Murray said.

"It's roughly the same cost as the high-end solid-surface materials," Murray said. "And I have tons and tons of granite remnants. By going with remnants that makes a job much cheaper."

Murray said he installs about three or four kitchen countertops each week. A typical job using granite costs about $3,500.

"But we may do an island in granite for $800 or less," Murray said.

Like most on a budget, Moreland has laminate countertops in her kitchen.

"If I had my choice, I probably would go with the higher-end materials," she said.

"I think the ideal would be a solid-surface material for the main countertops because it doesn't show seams and I could incorporate a solid-surface sink. It would go together in one seamless piece. Then I would use granite on an island for its natural beauty.

"The higher-end countertop materials are expensive, but they can really sell a house. They can be viewed as an investment."

Six Easy Steps For Growing Perfect Mini Roses Offered

A VERY FLORIFEROUS — yellow mini rose, Sweet Diana(TM) is new for 2002.

(MS) — It seems like everyone is growing miniature roses these days, and with good reason. Mini roses are real roses on a smaller scale and they're very easy to grow. When planted in the perennial garden, they provide nonstop flowers all season. They're winter hardy even in the coldest climates, exceptional as container plants and wonderful bedding plants. Mini rose plants offer a variety of flower colors, shapes and sizes that are colorful in the garden and impressive as cut flowers in bouquets and arrangements. Follow these six easy steps to ensure that your mini roses will be show stoppers:

1. Select a spot that has at least 6 hours of direct sunlight.

2. Your mini roses will arrive on your doorstep already growing in small pots. Unpack them immediately.

3. Repot in a 6-inch container, or plant in the ground as soon as possible. Remove the plant from its pot and insert both of your thumbs into the bottom of the rootball and gently separate the roots. You'll end up with the soil and roots shaped like an upside-down "V." Place the "V" over a cone of soil in the planting hole, and backfill the hole. Water the soil thoroughly to settle.

4. Always keep the soil moist. Don't ever let it dry out.

5. Don't fertilize your rose until it has started to develop new growth. Then fertiiize weekly with a good all-purpose fertilizer mixed at half strength.

6. Give mini rose foliage a shower once a week if Mother Nature doesn't do it for you. A strong spray that reaches the undersides of the leaves will keep insects and diseases at bay. Just make sure you do it early in the day so the foliage is completely dry by nightfall.

Nor'East Miniature Roses offers the largest selection of quality miniature rose plants by mail order. Contact them for a free color catalog. Write to Nor'East Miniature Roses, Inc., P.O. Box 307, Rowley, MA 01969; call (978) 948-7964; or visit www.noreast-miniroses.com.

Read. Then Recycle.

Celebrate Patriotism in the Garden

People are feeling very patriotic these days and are displaying flags everywhere, from their houses to their cars to their clothing. Another way to show off your patriotism is in your garden. Decorate with a "flag" of flowers. Use edging to define the patterns. Here are some examples: Stripes of red and white impatiens and a box of blue lobelia can create the American flag; red petunias can be set against sweet alyssum for the Canadian flag.

Create Beauty Through Gardens

One of the easiest ways to transform a landscape or bring beauty to a dull gray area is through gardening. Whether expansive flowering blooms, well-placed shrubbery or a purposeful vegetable patch, greenery can enhance most any area.

In many cities across the country, urban renewal projects are in full swing, and often include setting aside plots for parks or even city gardens. Also, with the advent of "adopt-a-highway" programs, many of the individuals involved have chosen not only to just keep their chosen property litter-free, but to enhance the view with shrubs, flowers and other landscaping accessories.

Just in time for Keep America Beautiful and Earth Day celebrations, here are a list of flowers and the seasons in which they bloom so that you can keep your neighborhood and community beautiful throughout the entire year. Information courtesy of "The Cottage Garden" (DK Living), by Christopher Lloyd and Richard Bird.

WINTER

*Weeping Forsythia (Forsythia suspensa) — This graceful, deciduous shrub has slender shoots and narrow, trumpet-shaped, yellow flowers. Prefers full sun and well-drained soil.

*Christmas Rose (Helleborus niger) — A small evergreen perennial noted for its lovely cup-shaped white flowers and golden stamens. Prefers partial shade and well-drained soil.

*Winter Aconite (Eranthis hyemalis) — Cheerful, cup-shaped yellow flowers with leaf-like bracts brighten this clump-forming plant. Prefers partial shade and moist soil.

SPRING

*Bleeding Heart (Dicentra spectabilis) — Heart-shaped, pinkish-red and white flowers and fern-like foliage grace this herbaceous perennial. Prefers partial shade and well-drained soil.

*Oxslip (Primula elatior) — Delicate, fragrant, tubular yellow flowers appear on this rare, British-native, clump-forming perennial. Prefers partial shade and moist soil.

*Lilac (Syringa x persica) — This variety of the deciduous shrub produces fragrant purple flowers. White, yellow, pink and carmine varieties are available. Prefers full sun and well-drained soil.

SUMMER

*Peony (Paeonia) — These exotic, luxuriant flowers can be single, double or anemone-form and bloom in white, yellows, pinks and reds. Prefers full sun and well-drained soil.

*Snapdragon (Antirrhinum) — A perennial favorite with children with flowers in white, pink, red, purple, yellow and orange. Prefers full sun and well-drained soil.

*Sneezewort (Achillea ptarmica) — A quickly spreading, upright perennial that is wreathed in large heads of small, pompon-like, white flowers. Prefers full sun and well-drained soil.

AUTUMN

*Ice Plant (Sedum spectabile) — Flat heads of dense, rose-pink flowers have great appeal for butterflies above fleshy, gray-green leaves. Prefers full sun and well-drained soil.

*Chrysanthemum (Chrysanthemum) — There are many different flower forms that come in a range of colors. Prefers full sun and well-drained soil.

*Coneflower (Rudbeckia fulgida) — Prominent, conical, black centers differentiate this flat flower from others with daisy-like flowers. Prefers full sun and moist soil.

Azaleas

of one part peat to one part soil. Azaleas perform best in moist organic soils that drain well. Sphagnum acts like a sponge keeping the right blend of air and moisture around the plant roots. Likewise, peat loosens clay particles and binds sandy particles providing an ideal blend of organic material.

Rest assured that the Canadian peat industry is taking steps to avoid depletion of this natural resource. Less than .02 percent of all bogs are being harvested — millions of acres are preserved and can never be harvested. On virgin peat bogs, peat is accumulating 50 times the rate of harvest due to the enormity of the bogs. If that isn't comforting enough, there is cutting-edge technology developed for the industry that enables producers to restore harvested bogs back to ecologically balanced wetland systems within 3 to 5 years.

You can't find a better prescription for what's ailing your azaleas than an application of environmentally safe Canadian Sphagnum Peat Moss.

If you would like more information on "how to with peat moss," send an unstamped, self-addressed, business-size envelope to Peat Moss, Box 385102, Minneapolis, MN, 55438. You can also visit their Web site at #www.peatmoss.com or e-mail them at cspma@peatmoss.com.

Skylights, Roof Windows Help Lighten Up Things

By Steve Lusk
Copley News Service

Natural light is the key to brightening your home and enhancing the use and enjoyment of the living space around you. And one of the easiest ways to open up and improve your home with everyday comfort is to install skylights and roof windows.

Introducing more natural light into your home will make your rooms feel more spacious, expansive and more beautiful. The difference can be stunning. Imagine your family room filled with sunlight and cooling breeze; a bright and airy kitchen that easily ventilates food odors; or a bathroom with natural light for putting on your "happy face" each morning; and natural lighting dim hallways and powder rooms.

It's all possible with a skylight. There are skylights and roof windows on the market that can enhance the enjoyment of your home when installed in just the right places.

First some definitions. While both are mounted on the roof, the difference between a roof window and a skylight is simple. If you can reach the hand crank that operates the unit, it's called a roof window. If it's out of reach, it is a skylight. Skylights can be operable (ventilating) or stationary (non-operable). A third type of roof-mounted device, a cylindrical light-gathering reflective tube, is marketed as "Solatube" and "Sun Tunnel."

There aren't any set rules about which rooms can have skylights. What is important about skylights and roof windows is that they serve a utilitarian function (letting in light and ventilating air) and that they look good in the roof line of your home. Your building or design professional can help you with selection of window styles (flat or dome), glass color and glass selections. Design of the plenum (the shaft built between the skylight and ceiling) is vital to the finished appearance of the installation. And, it is important that you have an experienced professional design or build this crucial element.

Consider an example: If there is enough vertical distance between the ceiling and roof when installing a small skylight, flare the plenum to a ceiling opening that is larger than the actual skylight. This makes the skylight appear larger than it really is and brings in more light.

Their placement in the roof is an important consideration when selecting skylights for your home. The sun angle and prevailing wind direction (if the skylight is operable) are things to consider when choosing roof location and orientation for mounting the unit.

One of the most beneficial features of operable skylights is that they can be kept slightly opened in your kitchen or bathroom for air circulation during the day when you're not at home. However, you will want to be sure that the opening side of the skylight is away from the prevailing wind in case of rain. Opening away from the wind is also the best orientation to help draw air out of the house.

BRIGHT IDEAS — A skylight will flood a room with natural light, making it feel more spacious and beautiful.

Operating skylights feature manual hand-crank poles, and manufacturers offer electric motors for a price. If you want to really impress your neighbors, you can get remote controls.

Skylight and roof-window manufacturers offer many of the same glass options offered by window manufacturers as well as shade devices that can be controlled manually or electronically — all, of course, at additional cost. And speaking of cost, you should budget about $1,000 for each conventional skylight you want to add to your existing home. That figure will depend on your specific situation and design requirements.

My personal favorite for low-cost natural lighting in hallways, bathrooms, powder rooms and closets is the remarkable reflective tube skylight. First, it really works and is of high-quality design and manufacture. And second, it is inexpensive when compared to conventional skylights. Solatube and Sun Tunnel skylights light up to 100 square feet and cost about $300 installed. If you are a do-it-yourselfer you can purchase these products for about $250 and install them yourself.

However, my advice is to pop for the installed package. It's just too easy and too good a deal to pass up with the installed warranty. Furthermore, the installer's truck is loaded with all the parts and pieces necessary to complete your installation in about two hours with just one visit.

Clients often ask me about the possibility of leaks. It seems that in most people's minds the word skylight is synonymous with leak. But it's not the skylight that's the problem. Leaks result from improper installation of the unit. If it is purchased with the manufacturer's recommended flashing kit and installed by an experienced con-

Pools And Spas Make A Splash With Owners

By John O'Connell
Copley News Service

When Dr. Richard Schock gets done mowing his grass or working in his gardens, he likes to cool off with a dip in his L-shaped pool.

"I tell people we got the pool for our four children and grandchildren, but I use it more than they do," the Illinois family physician said. "I don't golf, and I don't fish much. This is my recreation."

There aren't many days from May through September that someone isn't making waves in the in-ground pool.

Pools are still cool with homeowners across the nation, according to figures from the National Spa & Pool Institute.

"Family togetherness and fitness are two of the benefits that motivate families to take the plunge into pool ownership," according to Patty Hulbert, a spokeswoman with the National Spa & Pool Institute.

MAKING A SPLASH

Modern pools can be designed in any shape and size, according to Don Walker, president of D & J Pool & Spa Inc. of Peoria, Ill.

The cost for an in-ground swimming pool can run between $3,700 to more than $20,000 for do-it-yourself kits, according to Daniel Morrison, branch manager with Central Pool Supply Inc.

"You come close to doubling the cost, if you have someone install the pool," Morrison added.

Above-ground pools are big sellers, but in-ground pools are hard to beat for looks. With elaborate landscaping, a backyard pool can become an impressive focal point.

"Some people install waterfalls and fountains around their pools and landscape them to look very natural like a pond or lagoon," Hulbert said.

The basic types of in-ground pools are concrete, fiberglass and vinyl-liner.

MAINTAINING POOL

Nationally, concrete pools are the most common type of in-ground pool. But they require more maintenance than vinyl-liners. Concrete pools need to be pumped out and scrubbed down about every year and painted about every five years. A vinyl liner will need to be replaced about every 10 years.

Improved chemicals and pool accessories are taking much of the work out of maintaining a pool. Pools can now be equipped with automatic chlorinators and cleaners. Schock once relied on his children to vacuum out his pool. Now he has an automated pool cleaner that vacuums up debris.

Pools can be equipped with solar covers, which use the sun's rays to help heat the pool. But in this area it's no replacement for a heater, one dealer said.

"A heater is a good investment," Morrison said. "You need one for those cool nights and days. A heater will add a month of swimming to each end of the season."

Heaters can range in price, Morrison said, from $700 to $1,500 for a typical home pool. Schock's pool is not only heated, but comes equipped with fiber-optic lighting, which illuminates the swimming pool with vibrant colors. The lighting can be set to continuously change colors from blue to bright red, brilliant green or even bold gold. Such lighting, according to the National Spa & Pool Institute, can change the mood from a backyard water park by day to a romantic playground at

Potential Water Bans Mean Gardeners Need To Be Smart

(ARA) - With water bans in effect in several states last year and another dry year being predicted, gardeners need to be smart about watering. When it comes to watering, how you do it can be more important than if you do it. In fact, improper watering can do more harm than good, and there are many things gardeners can do to avoid having to water at all.

Here are five tips from Kathy LaLiBerte, a gardening expert from Gardener's Supply of Burlington, Vt., that will allow gardeners to have an abundant harvest, beautiful flowers and green lawn even if rain is scarce.

1. Prep your soil. Plants need a continuous supply of moisture, which they extract from the soil particles that surround tiny root hairs. If soil is too sandy, water rushes away; if there's too much clay, water collects and can drown roots by keeping them from getting oxygen. To create a rich, crumbly, water-retentive soil, work plenty of organic matter such as composted cow manure or leaves, peat moss, or green manures into beds before you plant. Be sure to prep beds at least 18 inches deep and break up any compacted soil so roots can grow freely in search of moisture over a wide area.

2. Use mulch. Planting thickly and using mulches helps shade the soil and keep available moisture from evaporating. Chipped bark, straw, grass clippings, cocoa hulls and compost are all effective as mulch. However, when using bark or anything else that does not break down readily, be sure to apply no more than an inch or it may keep water from percolating down to the soil where it's needed. Mulches made from organic materials add valuable nutrients to the soil as they degrade.

3. Plant appropriately. Consider planting varieties that are drought resistant and appropriate to your geographic area and climate. In addition, cluster plants that have similar moisture needs. For example, many herbs, plants with hairy or gray leaves, and sun-loving perennials such as coreopsis and yarrow do better in a sunny, fairly dry bed. Keep moisture-loving plants like roses and classic perennials such as delphiniums and peonies together in a bed that can be watered more frequently.

4. Minimize wind. Wind can suck moisture out of soil and plant leaves faster than the blazing sun. Plant or set up wind breaks that allow the sun in, but shield plants from strong winds in exposed garden areas.

5. Measure moisture. Before turning on the sprinkler, determine how much water your plants really need. Especially if you've been following the advice above, you might be surprised how much moisture your beds retain, even when it hasn't rained for a week or more. Dig down into the top 12 inches of soil and make sure it's dry before you water. If you do water with a sprinkler, put a bucket out to measure how much water is falling onto the ground.

Water in the morning so plants have the resources they need to face the noontime sun. Watering in the morning also helps reduce fungus and disease problems, because the foliage has a chance to dry before nightfall.

The following tips will also help you conserve water:

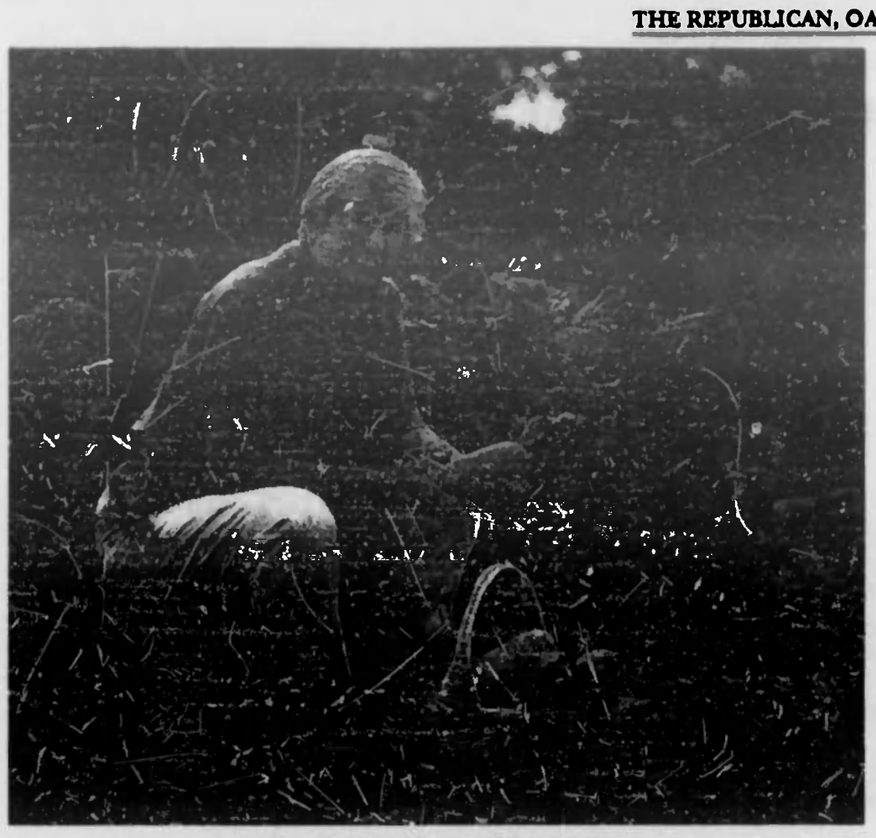
1. Water infrequently but deeply. Roots grow where the moisture is. If you only water the top couple of inches of soil, that's where the roots will stay. If you water deeply, they'll extend their reach and be more able to withstand occasional dry spells in the future. Be sure to water long enough for moisture to reach at least a foot into the soil.

2. Put the water where it's needed. Plants take up water with their roots, so this is where the water should go. Build small dams around the base of your vegetable plants to act as catch basins, and direct the hose or watering can onto the ground, not over the top of your plants. Apply water slowly so it soaks into the soil, rather than rushing away over the top.



GARDENING EXPERT KATHY LALIBERTE

3. Choose a water-wise sprinkler for watering. Sprinklers can waste a lot of water through evaporation and by scattering moisture to areas that may not need it. There are a variety of water-wise sprmklers available, but also consider using soaker hoses for beds and water spikes for individual plants.

4. Weed, wait, cultivate. Reduce competition for water resources by keeping your garden well-weeded. Wait until plants show signs of distress, such as limp leaves, before watering; most plants will quickly recover. Break up compacted soil so water will absorb into it rather than run off.

Following even some of these good watering practices can reduce water consumption and time consumption by as much as 50 percent. This savings is particularly important when hot weather arrives and many communities begin implementing water bans.

Here are some other products from Gardener's Supply that can help keep your garden green while conserving water.

To get water directly to the roots, use Gardener's Supply's Aqua Cones. They provide an economical method to get moisture directly where and when it's needed. Recycled plastic soda bottles hold the water and the flow can be adjusted for any type of soil. They're also useful for plants such as roses that are prone to mildew or black spot if the leaves get wet. Aqua Cones cost $12.50 for six or $20.00 for 12.

WaterWells are a new product from Australia where professional landscapers plant trees in large wells to ensure that nutrients and water get to the roots without running off. WaterWells give your plants the same benefit without all the digging. They hold water, fertilizer and mulch to prevent wasteful runoff, keep out weeds, and protect trees from the string trimmer. They "unzip" for use on both new and established plantings. Made of recycled plastic, they are excellent for slopes and poor soils. Water Wells cost $19.95 for a set of three and measure 19 inches in diameter and 7 1/2 inches high.

Self-watering patio gardens, window boxes and hanging planters use water effectively by watering from the roots up and are a great way to save water and time. A built-in reservoir holds up to four gallons of water and fertilizer so plants get all the moisture and food they need, easily and consistently. Self-watering patio and hanging garden containers range in size and style and cost from $14.95 to $59.95.

The Noodlehead sprinkler has 12 individual nozzles that can be positioned independently to direct water precisely where it's needed up to 15 feet away. It's especially effective for watering irregular beds, and in windy areas since the nozzles can be positioned to aim low, directly onto the soil. The Noo-dlehead sprinkler is 3 1/4 inches in diameter and costs $19.95.

Gardener's Supply has offered the Hydro-Grow soaker hose system since 1984, and its easy, efficient performance has made it a customer favorite. A new mini soaker hose is perfect for perennial beds. It's available in 50 and 100-foot lengths and comes with end caps and hose fittings. The mini soaker hose is less bulky and perfect for weaving through raised beds or perennial gardens. Soaker hoses work most effectively on relatively level ground, for runs up to 100 feet. If lack of rainfall is a problem in your area, or if you are often on water rationing, a soaker hose is a great solution. The Hydro-Grow hose costs $19.95 for 50 feet or costs $37.95 for 100 feet. The mini soaker hose costs $11.95 for 25 feet.

Why Term Insurance?

Term life insurance is often referred to as "pure" protection because all of your premium dollars go toward purchasing coverage.

If you are trying to decide if term insurance is for you, ask yourself these questions

- Why do I need the coverage?
- How long do I need the coverage?
- How much can I afford to spend?

Because the answers to these questions can be so varied, Woodmen offers a complete line of term plans to fit every need and budget.

To learn more, call your Woodmen representative today!

Quick and Easy Driveway Tips for Professional Results

(MS) — Sealing and maintaining your driveway is easy and will increase the beauty and value of your home while protecting your investment. However, preparation is a critical step that should not be overlooked or neglected. You can eliminate more than 90 percent of potential problems by following these simple steps. PREP — Clean, PATCH —Repair, PROTECT — Seal.

STEP 1 — Rinse driveway. STEP 2 — Use driveway cleaner. STEP 3 — Treat oil spots with primer. STEP 4 — Apply crack/filler patch. STEP 5 — Apply sealer.

1. Clean and repair all cracks and holes the day before sealcoating. Neglecting this step promotes further driveway deterioration. Winter freeze and summer heat with prolonged sun exposure, will cause additional damage to an already weakened surface. Look for products like Driveway Essentials, Crack Stopper and RePave to make driveway maintenance easy and long-lasting.

2. Turn buckets upside down prior to opening, to promote easier mixing (make sure that the lids are securely attached). Many blacktop sealcoatings require thorough mixing before and during application, to ensure consistent color and coverage. However, recent scientific advancements have developed "gel-like" coatings which require no stirring and apply smoother and faster than their non-gel counterparts. A gel sealer like PRO-GEL by Gardner, provides the technology with a six-year warranty.

3. Beat the heat. Applying the sealer in the morning hours of a warm day allows easier spreadability and proper time to dry. If your driveway is more than 85 F, lightly mist the surface to cool down and aid in spreadability of the material.

4. Use a brush/squeegee applicator to apply sealcoating, not rollers.

5. Apply sealer in a side-to-side motion. Start from your home and work to the street. This will hide imperfections and improve the look of your driveway. Two thin layers are recommended rather than one thick layer. See the manufacturer's label for drying times between layers.

6. Place empty buckets at the end of the driveway. This is the easiest and most cost-effective protection for blocking your newly coated surface. When surface has cured, dispose of buckets in an environmentally responsible manner.

For more information on getting the best results for your driveway, visit www.gardnerasphalt.com, or send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Gardner-Gibson, Inc. P.O. Box 5449, Tampa, FL 33675, Attn: Info Request #GA-1001 SH022220

Helpful Books

CREATIVE PAINT IDEAS

Stunning paint designs for interior surfaces from rough to sleek applied with the newest paint products, will inspire amateurs and professionals alike in Modern Paint Effects: A Guide to Contemporary Paint Finishes by Anne Sloan (Firefly Books, $29.95).

Walls, floors and furniture painted in multicolored stripes, plaids and abstracts are featured with easy-to-follow instructions. Many of the 214 full-color photographs illustrate step-by-step operations on the way to finished designs.

One of Sloan's most basic and easiest paint techniques, for example, is to use two coats of different colors, then rub off the top coat of paint to create depth and a unique design.

More ideas are:

•Instead of hiding an old wall, use gold and copper paint to highlight its unevenness.

•Use several colors of bright paint in an irregular pattern, then doodle black swirls on it.

•Create a faux skyline by rolling big strips of color on the wall and highlighting it with several layers of sparkle paint. (CNS)

REALITY CHECK

Lyn Peterson is one of us, not one of those la-di-da designers who gild persimmon branches all day. She has four children and a husband and refers to her furniture as "not child-abused, more like child-destroyed." She's coped with not enough money, not enough time, not enough space.

So when Peterson talks about decorating, it's likely to be about Real Life Decorating, which also is the title of her book (Creative Homeowner, $27.95). "It's meant to give women confidence," Peterson said.

"It's like a book of recipes that you can pick up when you need to know something, like how high a chandelier should hang over the dining room table (30 to 34 inches)."

Peterson's no-nonsense approach has earned her the nickname the Erma Bombeck of decorating. Her advice for summertime decorating is practical and very doable: "Take some things away."

"Take the throw rugs away and leave bare floor." "If you have four pillows on the couch, take two off."

"Take away a piece of furniture, leaving an airy feeling."

"Take away your dependency on electricity — use candles and hurricane lamps in the evening; it's romantic and will save money and energy."

"Fold your heavy comforter up and put it in a closet; a summer bedspread can be a lovely thing."

But most importantly, Peterson advises: "Enjoy the process." (CNS)

RENT-A-HUBBY

Don't be put off by the title of The Official Rent-A-Husband Guide to a Safe, Problem-Free Home. This book's intention isn't sexism; it's empowerment. Kaile R. Warren Jr., founder of the Rent-A-Husband handyman business, wrote the book with Jane MacLean Craig because he saw a benefit in teaching people the basics of home maintenance and repair. A little knowledge allows them to fix small problems themselves and avoid getting ripped off by unscrupulous contractors, he says.

His incentive comes from having watched his mother struggle to keep the family's construction business going after his father's heart attack. "It was during this period I witnessed the terrible advantage taken of women in this male-dominated industry, and vowed someday to find a way to empower them," he writes.

The book covers basic repairs, home storage ideas, safety information and even ways to get family members to help with chores, with insider tips and a good dose of humor mixed in.

The Official Rent-A-Husband Guide is published by Broadway Books and is priced at $17.95. (CNS) names and models, cost, payment schedule, procedure for change orders and completion date.

If you like the contractor and are confident about his work, but his bid comes in beyond your budget, all hope is not lost. Ask him what modifications can be made to bring the cost within reach. It very well could be something minor, such as using quality stock cabinets instead of cabinets that are custom designed, or selecting less expensive materials for tile, countertop or trim.

Plumbing

you will most likely find shut-off valves for both hot and cold water. In the bathroom, there are three primary valves operating the faucet, toilet and bathtub/shower. These valves are typically located below the fixtures for easy access, though the tub valve(s) may be in the basement (or behind the bathroom wall in a bedroom closet, for example).

Continue the tour in every room that has a plumbing-related appliance. Be sure to locate, test and tag valves to your washing machine, dishwasher, hot water heating system, water heater, refrigerator ice maker, water softener — every place in the house where water is used.

Check the Condition of Your Valves

It is important to check all valves often since they may become "frozen" from lack of use. A wrench or some WD-40 carefully applied will probably loosen any stuck valves.

Leaks, Clogs and Other Problems

For more serious matters it is usually best to call a plumber, but there are some things you can do yourself to take care of small problems.

Clogged Drain

To clear a clogged drain, first try a plunger. If that does not remove the problem, use a hand auger, which is a flexible steel cable that can be pushed into the drain to break up the obstruction. Your next step of defense is to use a blow bag that hooks to a garden hose and uses water pressure to clear the clog. Use caustic, acid-based chemical drain cleaners only as a last resort since they may damage pipes.

Continuously Running Toilet

If water continuously runs in your toilet, it may be a problem with the float rising too high, causing water to trickle down the overflow tube. To fix this, bend the rod slightly downward so the float ball is lowered. If fixing that doesn't help, see if the trip lever chain is tangled or has fallen off. Next check the tank flapper at the base of the tank and the ballcock, which is located near the top of the tank. These items may have to be cleaned, adjusted or replaced if they have worn out.

Toilet Won't Flush

If a toilet won't flush, it is likely that the chain has slipped off or a new flush-handle assembly is needed. Start by examining the inside of the tank. Is one end of the chain attached to the flush handle and the other to a rubber seal at the bottom? If the chain has slipped off, reattach it. If the handle itself is broken, you will need to replace it with a new assembly.

Leaky Faucet

If you have a cartridge-type faucet, a leak usually indicates that the O-rings need to be replaced. This is a simple repair that even the novice do-it-yourselfer can perform. If the faucet leaks from the handle, the upper O-ring probably needs replacement, while a drip from the spout will indicate a problem with the O-ring at the base of the spout assembly. O-rings also form a seal between the hot and cold supply lines, so be sure to examine these once you have the faucet disassembled. When replacing O-rings, give them a light coating of heatproof lubricant. If replacing O-rings doesn't solve your problems, you may need to replace the cartridge itself.

A ceramic disk faucet that leaks at the base of the handle means that one or more of the inlet seals on the cartridge may need replacing. These seals can be easily replaced. You may also want to clean the inlet ports on this type of faucet since they can become clogged with mineral deposits. A complete cartridge replacement may be needed if leaking problems persist.

A rotating ball faucet is difficult to repair because of its many parts. You should first disassemble the cam, ball and spout to see if there are any problems there - many leaks result from a worn out ball or gasket. If those seem fine, remove seals and springs to check for blockages. Leaks also can spring from around the handle or from under the base of the spout. Handle leaks indicate that the adjusting ring has loosened or the seal above the ball is worn. Leaks from under the spout result from O-ring failure. Examine all O-rings encircling the body of the faucet to see if they look worn.

Hard-to-Move Faucet Handles

If you are having trouble turning your faucet on and off, you probably have a problem with mineral deposits. To solve this problem, simply clean the cartridge and apply a thin film of FSA-approved silicon grease — never use petroleum jelly.

Basic Maintenance of Plumbing Fixtures

Faucets

One of the easiest plumbing fixtures to care for is a faucet — the only things needed for cleaning are some water and a little elbow grease.

"Many people think you need to use a commercial cleansing product to clean a faucet, but the best thing is a soft, damp cloth and warm water," says Pickett. "To keep your faucet looking beautiful for years, you will want to stay away from abrasives and harsh cleaning materials. Occasionally applying a high-quality wax polish will further ensure the beauty of your faucet."

If water pressure seems low or the flow pattern is inconsistent, it is recommended that you clean the aerator (the round attachment at the end of the spout). This can be done by unscrewing the part, then using a toothbrush dipped in vinegar to remove dirt or trapped particles.

Composite Sinks

For minor stains on a composite sink, use warm water and mild dish soap. For more serious stains use a cleanser with bleach, though this type of product should not be used on a daily basis.

Hard water stains are best treated with white vinegar followed by a thorough rinsing, while yellowing due to calcium and lime deposits requires a de-liming solution. Polish your sink only with those products suitable for acrylic surfaces. Never use abrasive cleansers or even abrasive scrub pads.

Stainless Steel Sinks

If maintained properly, quality stainless steel sinks will not chip, peel, rust or discolor. For routine cleaning, use soap, ammonia or detergents with a soft sponge or cloth. Hard water spots can be removed with white vinegar and water, while persistent spots and stains may require a stainless steel cleaner or household cleanser. Never use steel wool pads for cleaning these sinks.

Homeowners should not use rubber mats with stainless steel sinks since residual water deposits and food particles trapped underneath these mats can cause sink discoloration. In addition, wet sponges, cloths and cleaning pads should not be left on the sink's surface. Many liquid hand soaps contain chemical additives that will affect the original shine of the finish if left to dry in your sink.

Showers

To clean a showerhead that seems to have lower water pressure, unscrew the swivel ball nut using a wrench (put electrical or duct tape on the flange to protect the fixture). Unscrew the collar nut from the showerhead and then clean the outlet and inlet holes with a thin wire. Anti-lime and calcium cleaners can also be used — simply dip your showerhead in these products for easy cleaning.

Like faucets, shower fixture exteriors should be cleaned with warm water and a soft cloth to remove water spots.

Drains

Regular maintenance of drains will help reduce the risk of clogging. Flush drains bi-weekly with hot tap water, especially those drains that are not used often such as in a guest bathroom. Once every six months, use a non-caustic drain cleaner on all household drains.

To prevent lint from building up and eventually clogging drainpipes near the washing machine, put an old nylon stocking over the end of the rubber drain hose. This will trap all of the lint from your washing machine water before it reaches your drain, and should be changed as necessary.

Pipe Maintenance

There are a couple tricks of the trade that you can use for pipes in your home.

Prevent Pipes from Freezing

The best thing you can do to prevent frozen pipes is insulate them. Pipe jackets in standard lengths can be purchased at local home centers. For a less expensive alternative, you can cut regular insulation into strips and bundle it around pipes. If you use fiberglass insulation, however, be sure to wear gloves, long sleeves and long pants to avoid contact with the irritating particles that come off of this kind of insulation. These techniques will also stop noisy pipes from banging against wall studs or joists in your home.

Pools And Spas

For Schock, the pool is great for both entertaining and exercise. But he especially enjoys swimming laps in the evening when the crowd has left. The Schocks designed their pool with volleyball and basketball in mind. The short part of their L-shaped pool is more shallow and reserved for games. The longest stretch gradually goes from a depth of 4 feet to 8 feet around the diving area.

The doctor does all the maintenance on the pool himself, including opening and closing the pool at the beginning and end of every swim season. He estimates he spends about $500 each season on chemicals to kill bacteria and algae, lower and raise the water's pH, and keep scum from building up on the sides of the pool.

"You have to keep a handle on the chemical balance," the doctor emphasized. "If you don't the water turns cloudy and even green. I keep my pool crystal clear."

RELAXING IN SPAS

Schock also maintains an in-ground hot tub, which was constructed next to the pool.

Sales of spas or hot tubs, which can range in price from $2,000 to $7,500, also have seen a dramatic increase in the past few years, according to the industry's trade association.

"People are buying spas for the therapeutic benefits of hot, swirling water," Walker said. "It's very relaxing. If you are tense, 20 minutes in a hot tub will completely relax you."

And whirlpool tubs are becoming commonplace in new upscale homes, Walker said. Sales of whirlpool tubs for bathrooms have doubled in the last 10 years as manufacturers are offering new styles and sizes.

"A whirlpool tub and a spa are two different things," Walker explained. "A whirlpool tub is basically a jetted bathtub, which you fill from your hot water heater and drain after use. It's more for personal use. Spas are used for entertaining and exercise. And nine out of 10 people use their spas outside all year long."

Skylights

tractor in a competent roof, your new skylight will not leak and should give you years of enjoyment.

Remember, the age and condition of your roof will have a lot to do with the integrity of any roof penetration. If the roof is on its last legs, it's not a good candidate for a skylight. A good rule of thumb for a roof is 20 years of life. Ask your contractor to survey your entire roof while he's up there planning the installation of your new skylight.

Book Helps One Select Textures

If contemporary is your thing, check out Living Textures by Katherine Sorrell (Chronicle Books, $19.95) for an inspiring guide to designing a texturally rich interior without the help and cost of a decorator. The main book is filled with expert advice. But the swatchbook portion with 600 textures and colors to choose from helps you weave your own look.

Functional design principles include ideas on how to create a textural room, how light affects texture and how to choose one dominant grain with a host of secondary fabrics.

Chapters for the texturally inclined include: Neutrals for living, sleeping, eating and bathing; Soft colors for working and playing, and Strong colors for every room in your home. (CNS)

Designer Resource Book Available

If you're thinking about hiring an interior designer but aren't sure how to go about it, Home Portfolio's Designer Directory at www.homeportfolio.com is a non-threatening place to start.

The web site has teamed up with the American Society of Interior Designers to compile the directory, which includes a listing for each of the professional organization's nearly 20,000 interior designers. The listing can be researched by ZIP code or metropolitan region.

The site also offers tips for hiring and working with a designer and a link to the ASID web page, which provides additional information on the profession. (CNS)

Water Bans

Commercial landscapers rely on Terra-Sorb to protect plants in heat-stressed, drought-prone areas like city parks and traffic medians. This nontoxic gel absorbs up to 200 times its weight in water, and then releases it gradually as plants need it. And because Terra Sorb is potassium-based instead of sodium-based, it breaks down into fertilizer instead of soil-damaging salts. This environmentally-friendly mix is offered exclusively by Gardener's Supply. Terra-Sorb costs $10.95 for a one-pound jar and $39.95 for a five-pound jar. One pound would cover 100 square feet in the garden, and one teaspoon is needed per gallon of soil in containers.

To ensure that you make use of all the rainwater that comes your way, a Rain Saver water barrel can collect rain and roof run off. It's a heavy duty, 50-gallon, recycled plastic barrel that has an angled, locking lid to catch every raindrop while keeping out critters and kids. The Rain-Saver water barrel costs $59.99, and the deluxe rain barrel costs $125 or $225 for two barrels and a linking kit.

Visit the Gardening Info section at www.gardeners.com for more information on water-wise gardening, or call (800) 955-3370 for a free water-wise bulletin and catalog.

ELKS ELECT NEW EXALTED RULER — Sandra Brantner has been elected Exalted Ruler of Oakland Elks Lodge, where she succeeds Immediate Past Exalted Ruler Larry Smith. Brantner is the first woman elected to the local post, and the only woman serving as Exalted Ruler in the Western Maryland District, which stretches from the Baltimore suburbs to Garrett County. Her accomplishment is even more remarkable when one considers that no women were allowed to join the organization as a member until just a few years ago. Brantner has served as vice president of the Oakland Lodge Ladies Auxiliary, has won election to every local Elks Lodge office, and chaired the Oakland organization's National Elk Foundation fund-raiser, leading it to a No. 1 ranking in the Western District. The Garrett County native, who is employed as a surgical technician at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, will represent the Oakland Lodge at this year's Grand Lodge Convention in Reno, Nev. Several other Oakland Elks Lodge members were elected to the following posts as well: Dave Turney, Leading Knight; Dwight Miller, Loyal Knight; Michael Smith, Lecturing Knight; Michael Saunders, Esquire; Joseph Matthiesen, secretary; Robert Stockslager, treasurer; Dale Layton, Tiler; John Foley, Inner Guard; Richard Layton, chaplain; and Smith, five-year trustee.

Senior Health Fairs Set In Two Locations

Two Senior Health Screenings and Fun Fairs, one in Grantsville set for the end of this month and the second in Oakland at the end of May, have been scheduled by the Garrett County Community Action Committee's Area Agency on Aging.

The first event will take place Tuesday, April 30, at the Grantsville Senior Center and will be followed by a Wednesday, May 29, event at the Maty Browning Senior Center in Oakland. Both fairs begin at 9 a.m. with a walk, and a continental breakfast will be served at 9:30 a.m. Lunch will be served at noon (reservations required) and a number of door prizes will be distributed.

The health screenings, which get under way at 10 a.m., include the following services: body mass index and blood pressure measurements, provided by Adult Evaluation and Review Services; depression screening by the Garrett County Health Department and Mountain Top Mental Health; posture screening by Garrett Rehab Services; oral cancer screening (at Maty Browning Center only) by the health department; auditory screening by Rehab Solutions; and vision screening by the Regional Eye Center.

The Fun Fair will feature booths where information will be available on salt intake and car safety. Some of the activities will include pantomime, circle dancing, music and movement, and easy stretching exercises. There will also be a skin cancer screening device that will help participants determine skin damage caused by over-exposure to the sun.

The screenings and fairs are sponsored by the Area Agency on Aging, the health department and Garrett County Cooperative Extension. For more information persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 137.

WOW HELPS DCL STATE PARK RECYCLE — Woodmen of the World Lodge 45 donated the funds and labor to construct this new recycling station at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Located at the campground entrance, the station accepts aluminum cans and clear, brown, and green glass bottles, helping keep the park environment clean and safe. Several aluminum can crushers have also been installed at various locations throughout the park. Park ranger Carole Walker is shown above doing her part by recycling a soda can.

Morgantown Man Gains Acquittal In Escrow Case

Kirk W. Overfield, 43, Morgantown, W.Va., was acquitted last week in Garrett County Circuit Court on charges of failing to escrow monies provided under a building contract. Upon the completion of the state's case, Judge Jim Sherbin granted a defense motion for acquittal, citing the state's lack of evidence as to one of the elements of the crime.

Overfield was charged by officers with the Garrett Bureau of Investigation in September 2001 after investigating allegations that Overfield had not placed certain building funds advanced to him by a homeowner into an escrow account and had failed to report to the homeowner the manner in which those monies were disbursed to subcontractors and suppliers, according to Lisa Thayer Welch, Garrett County state's attorney.

NOTICE TO THE RESIDENTS OF ACCIDENT

The Town of Accident will participate in the Garrett County Landfill Municipal Bulk Cleanup Event on April 25, 2002. Town residents are asked to call the town shop at 301-746-8144 or the town office at 301-746-6346 if they have items to be picked up. The event will consist of one collection per household. Items accepted are: white goods, furniture, up to 100 pounds of construction debris and other household items not normally accepted at the weekly trash pick up. Item not accepted are: commercial waste, liquid waste including containers of paint, tires, batteries, large automobile parts, yard waste, brush, stumps, and over 100 pounds of construction debris. Also prohibited are refrigerators, freezers, air conditioners, dehumidifiers, and any other appliance with refrigerant.

Garrett County History Courses Slated At GCC

"Garrett County History," a series of four classes outlining the mountaintop's history from pre-history to today, will be presented from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. over four consecutive Tuesdays, April 23 — May 14, at the McHenry campus. The instructor will be local historian John Grant.

The first session will feature a discussion of the area's geological history and some little-known geographical oddities of the county, and how those influenced the settlement and industrial development of the frontier. The second session will cover post-colonial history up to the Civil War, with topics including early settlers, turnpikes, the arrival of the railroads, and the operation of the "Underground Railroad."

The third session will focus on early industries, the development of resort hotels, natural resources, and the creation of the new Garrett County. "A Few Famous People" is one of the themes of the fourth session, which will also cover the development of Deep Creek Lake, the growth of recreation, and the changing industrial climate.

Materials for the class will be provided by the instructor, who will augment the discussions with historical photographs and slides. For additional information, or to register, persons may call GCC's Continuing Education and Training Division at 301-387-3069.

Local Man Gets 18 Months For Parole Violation

Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Shane Matthew Oester in Garrett County Circuit Court last week to 18 months for violation of probation. Sherbin then suspended all but 60 days of the sentence. Oester, 23, had pleaded guilty to the charge. Following his release from the Garrett County Jail, Oester will be placed on 16 months of supervised probation.

Oester pleaded guilty in June 2000 to a third-degree sex offense involving a 14-year-old female and was sentenced to two years in the Department of Corrections. All but six months of that sentence was suspended. Upon his release from the Garrett County Jail, Oester was placed on two years' supervised probation. He was also ordered to have no further contact with the victim and to have his address listed with the Sex Offender Registry.

In January of this year, Oester moved from Maryland to Pennsylvania. He violated his probation by failing to notify his probation officer of his change of address, as required by Sex Offender Registration laws.

Bolyards Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Fred and Sylvia Bolyard of Swanton, Ohio, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday, April 27, with family and friends at the American Legion Post in Whitehouse, Ohio. The event is being hosted by the couple's children.

Sylvia is the former Sylvia Poturalski and is currently the manager of the Church Women United Thrift Shop, Holland, Ohio. Fred was born in Deer Park. Before retirement, he was employed as an operating engineer working out of Local 18 International Union of Operating Engineers of Greater Toledo.

The Bolyards were married May 5, 1952, in Oakland by the Rev. Teagarden. They have six children: Mary Symington and husband Brad, Fred Bolyard Jr. and wife Dawn, Nora Ludwig and husband Rodney, Phillip Bolyard and wife Victoria, John Bolyard and wife Kimbra, and Kathleen Van Tuinen. The Bolyards also have nine grandchildren.

Filsinger-Miller Wedding Slated

Michael and Lona Filsinger, Swanton, recently announced the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Lorrie Michelle Filsinger, to Jason Todd Miller, son of John and Carolyn Livengood, Swanton, and George and Lois Miller, Keyser, W.Va.

The bride-to-be is a 1995 graduate of Southern High School, Garrett Community College, and Frostburg State University. She is currently attending the University of Maryland, Baltimore, School of Medicine, and will graduate in May with a master's degree in physical therapy.

The prospective groom is also a 1995 graduate of Southern High School. He attended GCC, and is currently employed at Mead-Westvaco Corporation, Luke.

The wedding date has been set for July 20 at Faith Evangelical Free Church. Invitations have been sent, but all friends and family are invited to attend.

Wotrings Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Keith and Carol Wotring of Aurora, W.Va., will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, April 14, with an open house at the Aurora fire hall from 2 until 5 p.m. The couple were married on Feb. 23, 1952, in Oakland.

Carol, a homemaker, is the former Carol Jackson of Oakland. Keith was born in Aurora. Before his retirement he was employed as a mechanic at Seneca Sand, Thomas, W.Va.

The couple has one daughter, who is hosting the event, Kathy Wiles and husband Kevin, Aurora. The Wotrings also have two grandchildren. The families invite all friends and relative to the celebration, but request that no gifts be given.

Marriage Permits Recently Issued

Eight couples applied for their marriage licenses this week, according to David Martin, clerk of Garrett County Circuit Court. One couple requested that their names not be published.

Brian William Salter, 32, and Lee Ann Marshall, 30, both of Elkridge.

Harry Evans Stoner, 71, Dawson, Pa., and Betty Rae Haimour, 51, Tarboro, N.C.

Eli M. Shelter, 56, Apple Creek, Ohio, and Fannie M. Bender, 44, Oakland.

Christopher Robert Tout, 23, and Angela Virginia Martinez, 20, both of Mtn. Lake Park.

Edwin Frank Dunson Sr., 70, Terra Alta, W.Va., and Betty Ann Metheny, 64, Bruceton Mills, W.Va.

John Peter Coffman III, 25, Keyser, W.Va., and Erin Marie Wampler, 21, Oakland.

Thomas Lee Uphold, 22, and Kristy Lynn Sweitzer, 18, both of Oakland.

HOSPICE CARE AND GCMH TEAM UP — Garrett County Memorial Hospital Sub Acute Rehabilitation Unit has entered into an agreement with Hospice Care Corporation to provide interval care and/or pain management for area hospice patients. "Taking care of a loved one who is terminally ill can become both stressful and time consuming," said Elizabeth Daniels, GCMH Sub Acute Rehabilitation Unit nurse manager. "This agreement allows hospice patients to stay up to five days in the GCMH Sub Acute Rehabilitation unit for interval care, providing the patient's family a therapeutic break." Prior to this agreement, hospice patients did not qualify for the level of care provided in the Sub Acute unit. Hospice Care Corporation is a community organization located in five counties in north central West Virginia. Cammilie Western, Hospice Care Corporation representative, is pictured above speaking to the rehab unit staff members.

ACCIDENT

The April town hall meeting was held on Monday, April 1, at Town Hall.

- The newly elected councilmen, Ed Golden and Dave Hook, took their oath of office. They will each serve two-year terms.
- Mayor Carlson presented Joanne Durst, Linda Margraff, Rev. Randy Nairn, and John Brenneman (on behalf of the late Leah Brenneman) the 2001 Volunteer of the Year Award. They were recognized for the time they spent raising money to purchase the new Christmas decorations for the town.
- Mike Mullan, the new Garrett County circuit rider, was present to introduce himself to the council.
- The council reviewed the bids received for the trash removal for the town. They elected to award the bid to the low bidder, Perry's Solid Waste of Oakland.
- The council reviewed a letter from Thrasher Engineering concerning phasing the sewer project.
- The council discussed the bids received for pest control at the Drane House. Home Paramount submitted the lower estimate and will be notified.
- The council set the service fee for the semi-annual property tax payments at 1.65%. This is the same as last year.
- The council decided to have a bulk clean-up day in the month of April. The date will be announced.

The next meeting will be Monday, May 6, at 7:30 p.m., in the Accident town hall.

LOCH LYNN

The mayor and town council meeting was held on April 2.

- The public hearing was held prior to the meeting to discuss Ordinance #2002-1 (To Regulate Installation and Repairs of Utilities in Streets and Alleys.)
- A second reading of Ordinance #2002-1 was done at the meeting, and the ordinance was adopted.
- Bids are being accepted for various street paving.
- The Appalachian Crossroads cleaning contract for the community center was extended until June 30.
- The Easter egg hunt has been rescheduled for April 13 at 2 p.m. at the town pavilion.

The next meeting of the mayor and town council will be held on May 7 at 7 p.m. at the Town Hall.

GCC Is Long-Time Leader In Hi-Tech Education, Support

by Joan Crawford

April has been designated as Technology Month by the Garrett County commissioners. This article highlights the technological initiatives and achievements that Garrett Community College has produced during its 30 years of service to the mountaintop community.

What began more than 10 years ago as a shared vision of Garrett Community College president Dr. Steve Herman and Information Services director Don Storck, who saw the need to bring the college and this rural community into the Information Age, has resulted in GCC's becoming a leader in technological development. This leadership role became apparent when the college helped to organize the community network through the Garrett Rural Information Cooperative (GRIC); today it is evident in the state of the art facilities of the Information Advanced Technology Center on campus and in the academic programs that have been implemented to prepare students for careers in the electronic world of the 21st Century.

Garrett's technological leadership will be showcased in many dimensions at the Technology Opportunities Conference scheduled at the college April 19, but probably the most visible manifestation is the nearly completed Garrett Information Enterprise Center (GIEC), located on the Mosser Road side of the campus, which will be open for tours. The GIEC is scheduled to open in June.

Designed to incubate up to 20 small businesses at below market rental rates, the GIEC will provide technical assistance and support services, linkage to high speed Internet services, maintenance, digital photocopying and fax services, and document binding, plus business counseling. The Small Business Development Center of GCC will be located in the incubator building, and its services will be readily accessible to the tenants. GIEC director Sandy Major expects that the building's location in a hub zone will be highly beneficial to small businesses seeking government contract work. The Hub Zone Empowernent Program stimulates economic development and creates jobs in rural communities by providing federal contracting preferences to small businesses.

PREPPING TO MAKE AN IMPACT, these students of the High School Computer Academy at Garrett Community College are training for the high-tech field and careers that can take them as far as they want to go. This is the second year. The 14 participants, all seniors at Northern and Southern High schools, are preparing to take certification tests for computer repair technician and/or certified web site designer during afternoon classes at the McHenry campus. Shown in the front row, from the left, are Jarod Clevenger, Cody Morfoot, Jason Snyder, Angelina Glotfelty, Doug Gelica, and Jocelyn Wotring. In the back row are Tyler Friend, Brandon Kling, Elliott Perfetti, Steve Keraton, Jamee Thomas, and William Harvey. Not pictured are Greg Whittamore and Mark Bergstrom.

"The main goal of GIEC is to create new jobs in Garrett County by fostering the development of start-up technology businesses that will be financially viable when they graduate from our incubator building," Major said. "This usually takes 2 to 3 years." A study published in 1997 titled "The Impact of Incubator Investments" showed that 30 percent of incubator businesses typically graduate each year, and that 87 percent of those graduates remain in business.

Like the GIEC, next week's Technology Conference is designed to help small business owners and managers enhance their entrepreneurial skills. Twelve different topics will be presented in workshops scheduled throughout the day in three consecutive time periods. These topics range from marketing techniques and positive web images to venture capital and federal contracting. Over 30 county, state, federal, and private exhibitors will be available to discuss government contracting opportunities and financial and technical resources for small businesses. Over 230 persons are expected to attend the conference.

Another visible change on the GCC campus is the new Information Advanced Technology Center (IATC), located in the former Tech Center, which formerly housed building construction program classrooms and shops. The new center has state-of-the-art facilities that offer a wide range of voice, video, and data capabilities. Two compressed video rooms are available for point-to-point or multi-point connections, and an interactive media conference room incorporates dial-up compressed video, data projection, an electronic whiteboard, and a conference phone. These facilities are now used by college and community groups for meetings, classes, and video conferences. Some classes are scheduled in the Maryland Interactive Distance Learning lab (MIDLN), which connects to four other sites in the state, making it possible for high school students to take college courses without leaving their schools.

The Technology Center also houses seven Pentium-level computer labs with Internet access and network connections to printers, plotters and scanners, as well as the Hub Room, the telecommunications "nerve center" for college and community networks. In addition to these physical facilities, the IATC provides a cable television channel, nine local area data networks, two satellite downlink systems, and dial-up and ISDN desktop video.

"There is still further technological development to come," Storck said. A wireless network currently under construction will blanket the entire campus and connect with the wireless network already in operation in the Center for Adventure and Outdoor Studies (CAOS). Information Systems coordinator Randall Harman, who is "engineering" this network, explained that antennae placed beneath the eaves of buildings will provide wireless access to data, video, and voice services.

"Wireless and compressed video H.323 (a dial-up service that can be done on a desktop and over the Internet) are the waves of the future," stated Storck. "These technologies afford much more flexibility than MIDLN and can be used for one-on-one communication. We plan to install the Internet Protocol voice system in the CAOS this year and in the college's Grantsville Outreach Center next year. We want to provide telecommunication support that gives flexibility to the user and greater access to the range of information services for faculty and students."

Another technological first has occurred with GCC's becoming the first community college to link with two Maryland state telecommunication networks: the University of Maryland's UMATS telecommunications high-speed network and Network.Maryland.

UMATS links all of the state's public four-year colleges to enhance the delivery of video services for academic and administrative use. It also provides access to Internet II, a network that links all the major research institutions in the United States. Network.Maryland presently provides GCC a direct data and voice link into the Annapolis/Baltimore area.

The college's ongoing development of academic programs that train students for jobs in the Information Age has also kept pace with GCC's cutting-edge technology. A curriculum that began with a variety of computer applications courses has expanded to include programs in network administration, Internet specialist, and computer repair technician. Since the organization of the Career Institute for Business and Information Technology two years ago, all business and computer programs are under the direction of Dr. Terry Norris. His efforts helped forge the partnership with I-Tech through which GCC became the first college to offer Microsoft certification courses and Comp Tia A+ Computer Repair courses for credit with the option of an associate in arts degree. A new program, Certified Internet Webmaster Site Designer, has been implemented this year, and a second new program, Microsoft Office User Specialist, will be offered next year, said Norris.

Another academic initiative began last year with the first session of the High School Computer Academy. A cooperative effort of the Garrett County Board of Education, GCC, and I-Tech, the academy trains high school seniors to take the certification test for computer repair technician and certified web site designer. Students attend classes at Northern and Southern High schools in the morning, then report to the college campus in the afternoon for the Computer Academy. Fourteen students are enrolled this year.

A new employment opportunity for students enrolled in Business and Information Technology programs has been created by Sycamore Associates of Frederick. The company has hired GCC students to work 30 hours a week on a research project, where they learn programming while they are taking college courses. Nine students are currently employed in this program, Norris said.

Norris expects the job market for persons with computer skills to improve. "There are more jobs locally than there were when we started," he observed, "and I think they will continue to increase. The GIEC will help to create jobs that will be right here on campus."

The ever-increasing technological leadership of GCC is tribute to the vision of a few far-sighted individuals, and has come to fruition and with the help of grant funding and support from the Garrett County commissioners and the efforts of Economic Development director Jim Hinebaugh and state and federal government representatives. GCC has become a leader in the Information Age.

SWANTON NEWS

80TH BIRTHDAY

An 80th birthday reception will be held for Thomas E. Wilson this Saturday, April 13, at the Swanton U.M. Church from 2 to 4 p.m. In lieu of gifts, a card with well wishes is requested by the hosts, Tom's two sons, David Wilson of Swanton and Floyd Wilson of Elizabethtown, Pa. Friends and family are invited. His address is 246 Bittinger Road, Swanton, MD 21561.

STEAK DINNER

A baked-steak dinner will be served this Saturday, April 13, starting at 4 p.m. at the Swanton Community Center. The dinner includes homemade rolls and homemade desserts. All are welcome. The cost is $6 for adults, $3 for children, and free for children under age 5. This benefit supports the activities of the Swanton Community Center Inc.

The regular meeting of the S.C.C.I. will be held at the center on Monday at 7:30 p.m. All are invited.

SENIOR MEALS

Persons may sign up for hot meals at the Swanton site by calling the center at 301-387-9191.

Health nurse Sandy Sulton will be at the center on Monday to do blood pressure checks for anyone who seeks the service.

CHESTNUT GROVE CHURCH DEDICATION

The dedication service for the new addition to the Chestnut Grove U.M. Church was held Sunday. Pastor Don Nelson led the service. Representing the former church pastors were Rev. Robert Nealis and Rev. Louise Nealis, Mrs. Jeff Anderson and children, and Rev. Jay and Linda Six. Rev. Jay Six conducted the morning worship service at Bloomington U.M. Church. Co-superintendents of the Potomac Highlands District, Rev. Keith Simmons and Rev. Ruth Simmons, were present. Rev. Keith Simmons delivered the message, and Rev. Ruth Simmons sang an arrangement of "Softly and Tenderly." Other music was provided by Kim Tichnell and Robin Beaver; Pastor Nelson sang "It Is Finished"; and the church children sang under the direction of Mrs. Susie Rexroad.

The new addition was constructed by the people of the church. The heavy equipment was lent by Timothy Schwinabart, and the floor covering was done by Butch and Carolyn Helbig and their son Jeff and family. These people were present for the dedication, along with several other visitors with family origins to the church.

FRIENDS OF LIFESKILLS — The Mental Health Center Inc. recently held its monthly Celebration of Parenthood luncheon at its office along Weber Road. The most recent topic was "A Toolbox for Parents," which included a presentation for parents about the use of a variety of parenting tools available to them. This month's sponsor was Rob Michael of State Farm Insurance. He is pictured above (left) with Brandon Moran of the LifeSkills program. Former luncheon speakers have included Irmgard Koscielniak of the Maryland Extension Service. She has made presentations on effective parenting strategies and brain development in children. She is pictured below (left) with Dianna Frantz of the LifeSkills program. For more information about the LifeSkills program or the Mental Health Center, persons may contact Jeff Graham at 301-334-9002.

The buffet dinner after the service was attended by approximately 110 people.

OTTERBEIN U.M. CHURCH

The regular April meeting of the administrative board will be held Tuesday, April 16, at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary.

A special church evaluation meeting was held Monday evening in the sanctuary under the leadership of George Rexroad.

MISSIONARIES VISIT

A covered-dish dinner was served Friday evening in the social hall to visit with a past local minister and his family, Rev. Jay and Linda Six and two sons, David and Timothy. The Sixes were called to the mission field approximately 23 years ago while they were serving the Bloomington-Swanton Charge. They were placed "on loan" by the Michigan U.M. Church to OMS International (formerly the Oriental Missionary Society) to serve in Haiti as evangelists. They remain "on loan." Rev. Jay Six is now the financial controller at the OMS International Office in Indiana, and a member of the Christian Motorcycle Association, along with sons Jeremiah and Timothy. Linda Six serves at the world headquarters as an administrative assistant, updating the location of all their missionaries every two weeks. She volunteers as a child advocate in the courts, and works with MOPS (Mothers of Pre-schoolers).

To help support the mission work of Rev. Jay and Linda Six, persons may write to OMS International, Box A, Greenwood, IN 46142.

SPRING REVIVAL

Spring revival is scheduled for April 18-21. The services will be held in the sanctuary at 7 p.m. each evening. A pot-luck dinner will be served in the social hall before the meeting on April 18 to greet and meet with the evangelist, Rev. Jeff Anderson, and his wife, Carla Llewellyn Anderson. The speaker and his family reside in Middlebourne, W.Va. All are invited to attend. There will be special music each evening. Judy Bennett from Keyser, W.Va. will sing Friday night, and Lynn Beckman will share his music on Sunday evening.

PERSONALS

Norma Lee Sweitzer Guthrie, age 52, died Thursday, April 4, 2002, at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. Norma was the wife of Roy G. Guthrie, and the mother of Patricia Stillwagon, Kitzmiller, and Rodney and Christopher Guthrie. She was the daughter of the late Junior and Pauline Sweitzer.

A son was born to Gerald Eddie Friend Jr. and Crystal Harman Friend on April 3, 2002, in Petersburg, W.Va. He weighed 6½ lbs. The Friends reside in Dorcus, W.Va., and have three other children: Michael, Destiny, and Harlee. The grandparents are Gerald and Phyllis Friend.

Chester Friend, Snowshoe, W.Va., spent Friday through Tuesday home with his parents, Gerald and Phyllis Friend. Chester is a chef for the Junction restaurant.

Charles and Margarie Hardesty returned to their home on Altamont Road from Arcadia, Fla., in time to open their business, Charlie's Bargain Center, on April 1.

Orval and Mareva Teets had lunch with Bob and Fannie Rizer Tuesday at the Western Sizzler in La-Vale.

The family of Charles and June McCluskey traveled to Dunkirk in southern Maryland to spend Easter weekend with June's parents, Paul and Barbara Donaldson. They also visited their friends, John and Karen Radisch, and attended their children's birthday party.

A Victorian tea party was held at the home of Anna Jean Ford on her 8th birthday, Saturday, March 16. Her mother, Fran Ford, and Tammy Whitacre were the hostesses and make-up artists. Anna's father, Stan Ford, was the photographer. Dressed in afternoon party attire with gloves, heels, and tiaras were Anna and her friends Tiera Friend, Brittany Sweitzer, and Kendra Hardesty.

The Ford family traveled to Baltimore Easter weekend to visit Fran's father, Tom, and Louise Kronawetter.

Anna Jean Ford was honored for "Courage" during the Student of the Month ceremony at Broad Ford Elementary School on April 4. Anna's teacher presented her with a certificate and blue ribbon. One student for each class was honored. The parents were invited. Fran and Stan Ford attended.

Lenny Ford, son of Stan and Fran Ford, is coaching a pee wee soccer team in Guam.

Jerry and Janet Tichnell hosted missionaries Rev. Jay and Linda Six with their sons David and Timothy from Greenwood, Ind., Thursday through Sunday.

A.J. and April Fleming hosted the Six missionary family for Saturday breakfast. April and Linda Six went shopping at Charlie's Bargain Center Saturday afternoon.

While in the area, Linda and Jay Six visited some of their mission supporters in New Creek. Others visited were Bill and Dessie Welsh, Bob and Louise Nealis, Bob and Edith Llewellyn, Luella Baker, and Dave and Mary Wilson.

Saturday visitors of Ray and Carol Sweitzer were Marty Duncan and Jim Miller of Frostburg, Al and Joan Evans of Cresaptown, and Al's sister and family, Virgil, Denny, Vicky, and Greg Stone of Vanceburg, Ky. Along with Carol and Dick Paugh, they attended the steak dinner at the Kitzmiller fire hall. They spent the evening with gospel music and in Christian fellowship. Jack Smith and Jim Miller were Tuesday morning guests.

Dottie and Bennie Beckman returned home Sunday evening from their winter home in Sebring, Fla.

Fraction Of Maryland Farmers Get Millions In Federal Subsidies

by Candia Dames
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON — Maryland farmers got $318.8 million in federal farm subsidies from 1996 to 2001, with 65 percent of that amount going to just 10 percent of the farms participating, according to newly released U.S. Department of Agriculture data.

The Environmental Working Group, which compiled the data, said the disparity in subsidies means struggling family farms are being left with less money to compete. That disparity needs to be evened out, the environmental group said.

"We would like to see more money going to the two-thirds of farmers nationwide who don't benefit because they don't grow a particular crop," said Chris Campbell, who analyzed the data for EWG.

The federal subsidies are provided to farmers who grow any of the eight commodity crops: corn, wheat, rice, cotton, soybeans, sorghum, oats, and barley.

But Maryland farmers and agricultural officials defended the subsidies as necessary, and said the fact that some farms get bigger subsidies than others merely indicates that some farms are bigger than others and have had bigger financial shortfalls.

"I don't know if it says anything," said Maryland Farm Service Agency executive director Steve Connelly, of the gap in subsidies. "I think those farmers had the most exposure because they're running the largest operations."

State officials stressed that the subsidies are helping to keep farmers in business.

"The misnomer is that these are welfare programs," said Don Vandrey, a spokesman for the Maryland Department of Agriculture. "The non-farming public looks at these as free handouts to the farmers, but they are payments geared toward environmental needs and maintaining the overall economics of agriculture."

The environmental group's analysis of the data showed that 8,449 farmers in the state got $318.8 million from county agricultural offices during the six-year period. Subsidies to the state grew from $17.6 million in 1996, when 4,861 farmers participated, to $86.5 million last year, when the number of recipients grew to 6,156. Nationally, farm subsidy payments tripled in the same period, from $7.3 billion to $20.7 billion.

The five-fold increase in subsidies to Maryland farmers is due directly to the fact that commodity markets have gotten progressively weaker since 1996, said Pat McMillan, a state assistant secretary of agriculture.

"Prices were strong in '96. The intent was to let the global marketplace determine prices," McMillan said. "But prices went south and it quickly became apparent that farmers needed these payments for their survival."

He said the subsidy data, while "good information," is misleading.

"The data doesn't tell you how much those operations had to spend in relation to how much they produce," McMillan said. "In all the hullabaloo of this data, there is no context."

Greg Gannon agreed. His family runs Cecil Gannon & Sons Inc., a 2,200-acre Easton farm that got $740,000 in subsidies over the six years, $223,000 last year alone.

Gannon said that money is not enriching farmers, but is ultimately going to pay the agribusinesses they support, like tractor dealers, Gannon said.

Four farms in Maryland — Pleasant Valley Farm, Harborview Farms, Pen Farms and Hunt Ray Farms — received at least $1.1 million in government subsidies over the past six years.

Six farms got subsidies of more than $275,000 last year, with Harborview Farms in Rock Hall getting $569,000.

Farmers say that without the subsidies, the price of food in America would skyrocket. Farm payments ensure that Americans pay a lower cost for food proportionate to their income than other countries in the world, said Kenneth Bounds, vice president of the MidAtlantic Farm Credit, which provides loans to farmers. While Americans spend 10.9 percent of their income to eat, Germans spend 17.3 percent, Israelis 20.5 percent, and Indians 51.3 percent, he said.

"Subsidies are designed to bridge the gap between the cost of producing crops and commodity prices on an open market," Bounds said. "In a perfect world, an open market should dictate the price, but that's not been the case because of foreign competition and other factors which have caused commodity prices to be below break-even."

But EWG argues that subsidies actually increase the price of commodities by driving up the cost of the land. Campbell said subsidies support mainly large farms, increasing the demand for land. He said the end result is that small farmers cannot compete and end up selling their operations to corporate farmers.

EWG believes the government should limit the amount of money it gives to any one farmer, in an effort to steer some of the money away from large farms. The Senate has proposed a cap of $275,000 per farm on the farm bill, which is in conference committee now.

But the idea of a cap does not sit well with Bill Malkus, whose Blackwater Farms Inc. got $258,000 in 2001 and a total of $887,000 over the past six years. If Marylanders want to eat cheap, they have to pay the cost, Malkus said.

"It seems unfair for there to be any type of limit," Malkus said. "Most everyone I'm talking to these days who's farming says these payments are what's keeping them going."

Starting Transplants

When growing flower or vegetable transplants follow a few simple guidelines:

1. Use a soilless growing medium containing peat moss, perlite and vermiculite.
2. Keep the medium moist, not soaking wet.
3. Speed up germination by providing bottom heat and keeping temperature between 70-75 degrees F.
4. Use cool white fluorescent tubes and run them for a minimum of 14-16 hours each day.
5. Keep seedlings 1-2 inches from the lights.
6. Pot plants up to larger pots so they don't become root-bound.
7. Fertilize transplants that have to be grown for more than 6 weeks, with a weak soluble fertilizer according to label directions.

How to Improve the Effectiveness of Burndown Herbicides

Environmental conditions are usually not optimal when burndown herbicides are applied, thus reducing activity and weed control. Even though the daytime temperatures are increasing, at night it is still in the 20's and 30's, which impacts active weed growth and herbicide uptake and activity. Also, larger annual weeds and perennials that have overwintered tend to be more difficult to control under cold conditions.

In general, herbicides such as glyphosate (Roundup, Touchdown, etc.) and 2,4-D provide the best control when annual weeds are 6 inches tall or less and still in the vegetative stage of growth. Winter annuals that are flowering may require additional attention.

* Wait until a few days of warm, sunny weather have occurred before applying herbicides. Herbicides work slower under cool conditions.

* Use ester formulations of 2,4-D, instead of the amine. Esters are usually more effective under cool conditions and on perennial weeds. Also, esters usually penetrate the waxy leaf surface (cuticle) better than amines.

* Adding ammonium sulfate (AMS) to glyphosate is helpful under cold conditions.

* Increasing the rate of herbicide may be necessary if weeds are stressed by cold and drought conditions or are larger in size.

Callisto 4SC-New 'Kid' on the Block

This past winter many of you were introduced to the herbicide Callisto 4SC (Syngenta). Callisto contains the active ingredient mesotrione, which is a pigment inhibitor in the callistemone herbicide family. Callisto has good activity on many common annual and some perennial broadleaf species including lambsquarters and pigweed (including triazine- and ALS-resistant), cocklebur, smartweed, velvetleaf, jimsonweed, and nightshade. Callisto provided partial control of horsenettle, Canada thistle, and yellow nutsedge. Callisto has no activity on grass species, except for large crabgrass. Callisto can be applied either preemergence or postemergence. The typical pre rate is 6 fl. oz./A, while the post rate is 3 fl. oz./A. Always include crop oil concentrate (not MSO) and UAN or AMS in the post spray solution and apply before corn reaches 30 inches tall. Tank-mix with a typical grass herbicide to control grasses, and/or include atrazine (0.5-1 lb/A) to improve broadleaf weed activity. Callisto provides some burndown activity and may be used in a burndown/pre program. There are no insecticide restrictions when Callisto is applied preemergence, but be cautious of restrictions with post-applied Callisto when OP and carbamate insecticides are used. Small grains can be planted 4 months after a Callisto application. Soybean and sorghum can be planted the following season, but there is an 18 months recrop restriction for alfalfa and clover.

SHEEP PRODUCERS RECEIVE ASSISTANCE

The U.S. sheep industry has experienced a continual drop in profitability and loss in equity. To enhance the competitiveness of the domestic lamb and sheep industry, the Secretary of Agriculture has authorized an additional $37.7 million in funds to extend the Lamb Meat Adjustment Assistance Program (LMAAP) for an additional year through July 31, 2003. In addition, a new ewe lamb incentive payment will be available to help relieve economic injuries suffered by the domestic lamb and sheep industry and help stabilize market conditions. Sheep and lamb producers may apply for this incentive payment during the third and fourth years of LMAAP. Incentive payments became available earlier this week.

A one-year extension has been authorized to allow feeder and slaughter lamb payments through year 4, which begins Aug 1, 2002, and continues through July 31, 2003.

NAP PROGRAM

In other FSA news, producers are reminded that the deadline to apply for coverage under the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) for 2001 and 2002 crops is Thursday, April 18. NAP nonrefundable service fees of $100 per crop are capped at $300 per county, not to exceed $900 for farmers with interests in multiple counties.

It is important to note that producers who did not previously file for NAP coverage for crop years 2001 and 2002 and have already suffered losses in these years can still obtain benefits by filing an application and paying the NAP service fee by April 18, 2002, provided a timely notice of loss and a crop acreage report were filed. Producers are also reminded that they may certify or provide actual production records of prior crop year production for approved yield purposes through April 18. Actual production records to support an application for payment for 2001 crop losses may be filed with the FSA office through the 2002 acreage reporting date for that crop.

CROP ACREAGE REPORTS

Preston County farmers should be aware of the importance of timely filed Crop Acreage Reports which are required for selected Farm Service Agency programs. Reports are required when applying for Commodity Loans and Loan Deficiency Payments, and the Conservation Reserve, Farm Storage Facility Loan, and Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance programs.

Acreage reporting dates for the 2002 crop year have been established and are as follows: Jan. 2 — hay and maple sap; May 31 — small grains, alfalfa, clover, grass, legumes, lespedeza, lettuce, mixed hay, peas, strawberries, timothy, and vetch; July 15 — all other crops not specifically assigned another reporting date; and Sept. 30 — ornamental nursery and aquaculture.

For further information on USDA-FSA programs, persons may visit Preston County Farm Service Agency located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, or call 304-329-1923.

Subsidies Matter Of Conscience And Survival

by Candia Dames
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON — Michael Tabor balanced his conscience against his farm subsidy and finally decided his conscience was worth more. While many farmers defend federal farm subsidies as necessary to the continued efficient operation of agriculture, Tabor, a Takoma Park farmer who operates a small farm in south central Pennsylvania, said the subsidies are little more than a welfare program for large farmers.

Dorsey Owings bristles at such suggestions. The 81-year-old farmer has been in the business for more than six decades. He said that operations at his Millington farm would grind to a halt without the federal subsidy payments.

Over his lifetime, Owings has seen a boom in agricultural technologies that have been a godsend on one hand, but which have also created an overabundance of harvest.

"We've gotten so efficient," he said, "we're putting ourselves out of business."

That's where federal help comes in, he said. Owings' farm got nearly $676,000 in federal aid between 1996 and 2001 to keep the 2,000-acre operation afloat, according to recently released U.S. Department of Agriculture data. The money goes to help farmers who grow any of the eight commodity crops: corn, wheat, rice, cotton, soybeans, sorghum, oats, and barley.

The Environmental Working Group, which analyzed the data, said Maryland farmers received more than $318.8 million in subsidies over the six-year period, with almost two-thirds of that amount going to large farms like Owings'.

"We feel a little guilty about what we're taking," Owings confessed. But he echoed farmers around the state. "Without it, I don't see how we would have made ends meet."

But Tabor said the "few" hundred dollars he used to receive from the government not to produce certain crops made no difference to his profit margins.

Besides, Tabor said he had moral issues with the payments.

"I was reimbursed for not growing certain grains," he said. "It didn't make sense to me because I wasn't going to grow them anyway.

"I just decided my principles and beliefs were contrary to that kind of system," he said.

GCC Agriculture Club Event Part Of "College Day"

The Agriculture Club of Garrett Community College will host an open house at the Center for Adventure and Outdoor Studies (CAOS) from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, April 13. The open house will showcase the many programs offered by the college's Agriculture Department, as well as the Adventure Sports (AVS) and Natural Resource and Wildlife Technology (NRWT) programs, both of which share the CAOS facility with the Ag Department.

The event will follow that morning's two-hour "College Days" information fair, which will take place on the main campus. College Days will get under way at 8:30 a.m. with a speakers' program featuring short presentations by GCC president Steve Herman and a number of staff and faculty members. A series of workshops detailing specific programs will take place from 9:30 to 10 a.m., and tours of the college will be offered from 10 to 10:30 a.m.

The GCC Ag Club will be sponsoring two scholarships next year for new or existing students who enroll in Garrett's Agriculture program. The open house event will help the club to finance these scholarships, as well as well as other club activities planned throughout the school year.

Registration for the open house will begin at 10:30 a.m., and each registrant will receive a ticket entitling him or her to one of a number of door prizes that will be given away during the daylong event. (See details below.)

Agriculture Department staff and club members will conduct tours of the CAOS facilities starting at 11 a.m. Among the tour stops will be the shop area where woodworking, small engine repair, and welding displays will be explained by welding instructor Greg Carrico; the hydroponics greenhouse and horticulture area in tours led by horticulture instructor Leah Broadwater; and the Aquaculture building, where agriculture instructor and Ag Club advisor Willie Lantz, will explain the fish-rearing process, marketing and feeding procedures, and the equipment used at the facility.

The Ag Department's small livestock meat production demonstration projects will be outlined by club president Amanda Gregory and GCC farm manager Kris DeWitt, farm manager. The college's rabbit and goat herds will also be available for viewing. There will be also be displays stationed in the main CAOS building, including exhibits provided by several Cooperative Extension departments, a wood identification table supplied by L. Gregory and Sons, and a seed identification display.

The AVS and NRWT programs will also have displays and instructors available to answer questions during the open house, and mini-seminars on topics including soils, GPS (Global Positioning Systems), and precision farming will be presented. The soils and GPS presentations will take place during hayrides (weather permitting).

The open house will also include displays of antique tractors, tractors and other farming equipment, dealers, stock trailers, and a tractor-driven ice cream machine. There will also be demonstrations of chainsaw wood carving, areas where steers, goats, sheep, dairy cattle, and rabbits can be viewed, and children's pedal tractor rides. A human-powered "tractor pull," where a team will try to pull a tractor a certain distance for time, will take place if enough interest is shown.

Lunch will be available beginning at noon (for a small donation), and the menu includes a hog and goat roast prepared by faculty member Tim Foster.

Persons who participate in an Ag Challenge Room activity will be eligible for special door prizes. The day's periodic door prize drawings require ticket-holding winners to be present to claim their prizes. In addition, a raffle drawing set for approximately 3:30 p.m. will include such prizes as: a chainsaw wood carving by Appalachian wood carver Shelly Upole; a Stihl 017 chain saw and Stihl FS75 weed eater, supplied by Green Acres Garden Center; and a Dickies jacket donated by Naylor's Hardware store.

Garrett's Agriculture program offerings will be specifically outlined in a 4 p.m. program presented by Lantz, who will answer questions and distribute applications.

Cool Weather Delays Field Work Slightly

Cooler temperatures during the week delayed the development of spring crops in some areas. Farmers had an average of 5.2 days suitable for field work for the week ending Sunday, April 7, which they used to continue land preparation and planting activities. Small amounts of potatoes, tomatoes, cantaloupes, watermelons, snap beans, and sweet corn have been planted thus far. Peaches, apples, and strawberries have begun to bloom in some areas; however, weather conditions have held the progression below the average for this time of year.

Small grains were reported in mostly fair to good condition with winter wheat rated 1 percent very poor, 3 percent poor, 18 percent fair, 69 percent good, and 9 percent excellent. Barley was rated 1 percent very poor, 4 percent poor, 13 percent fair, 73 percent good, and 9 percent excellent. Pasture was rated 4 percent very poor, 21 percent poor, 38 percent fair, 35 percent good, and 2 percent excellent. Hay supplies were rated 11 percent very short, 19 percent short, 69 percent adequate, and 1 percent surplus.

Rain showers over the past couple of weeks have helped, although much more is needed to restore soil moisture to adequate levels. Topsoil moisture is 4 percent very short, 44 percent short, 51 percent adequate, and 1 percent surplus. Subsoil moisture is 38 percent very short, 46 percent short, and 16 percent adequate.

UNDER and by virtue of the authority contained in a Deed of Trust dated July 3, 2000, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber 809 at Folio 364, granted by Harvey Junior Bittinger to the trustee or trustees named therein, JEFFREY B. FISHER, MARTIN S. GOLDBERG and CRAIG INGRAM having been substituted as trustees in the place and stead of the trustee or trustees originally named by Deed of Appointment of Substitute Trustees duly executed and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, with all of the powers granted to the trustee or trustees originally named therein, including a power of sale upon default, and default having occurred in the terms and conditions thereof, the said Substitute Trustees will sell at public auction at the Courthouse entrance of the

CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY AT COURTHOUSE STEPS
AT OAKLAND, MARYLAND ON
TUESDAY, April 16, 2002, AT 3:00 p.m.,

all that property described in said Deed of Trust, as follows:

Being all that parcel or parcels of land as described in a Deed recorded among the land records of Garrett County, Maryland dated April 18, 1979, and recorded April 23, 1979, in Liber 397, Folio 381, said real property description being incorporated within this Deed of Trust/Mortgage by reference.

BEGINNING for the same at a small bounded white oak tree standing about ten perches east of the Meadow Mountain Road, and running from thence, with an allowance of 2½ variation, to the right; North 41 East, 100 perches to a stake, with a locust and chestnut tree marked as pointers; North 49 West, 40 perches; to a stone pile; South 41 West, 100 perches to a stake; with two hickorys marked as pointers; South 49 East, 40 perches to the beginning, containing 25 acres, more or less.

EXCEPTING, however, from the operation of this deed 16.39 acres, more or less, heretofore conveyed; leaving 8.61 acres, more or less, to be conveyed herein.

BEING part of the land conveyed by Elizabeth Mayhew, et vir, to Harvey Bittinger and Viola Bittinger, his wife, by deed dated March 6, 1945, and recorded in Liber A.G.R. No. 134, folio 537&c., one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland. Upon the death of Viola Bittinger on March 3, 1979, the property vested in Harvey Bittinger, as surviving tenant by the entirety.

THIS deed is subject to the rights heretofore granted Melvin C. Bittinger to obtain and use water from a spring located on the 8.61 acres, more or less; which said right to obtain and use water is in common with both of the parties hereto.

RESERVING AND RETAINING, however, unto the said Harvey Bittinger, a life interest and estate in and to the property hereby intended to be conveyed, which said life estate is hereby expressly reserved and retained unto the said Harvey Bittinger, and the grantee, by acceptance of this deed does hereby expressly ratify and confirm the retention of the said life estate or estates.

SAID LAND AND PREMISES being in the Twelfth Election District of Garrett County, Maryland, and being improved by a dwelling bearing the street address of 1491 New Germany Road, Swanton, MD 21561. Subject to all covenants, restrictions and easements of record, if any.

TERMS OF SALE: A cash or cash equivalent deposit of $5,050.00 will be required at the time of sale, the balance to be payable in cash within ten (10) business days after ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, with interest on said balance from the date of sale to date of settlement at the rate of 9.25% per annum. Failure of the purchaser to settle will result in resale of the property at the risk and cost of the purchaser, or forfeiture of deposit at the election of the Substitute Trustees, who specifically preserve all legal and equitable remedies available to them. The Substitute Trustees reserve the right to waive the deposit requirements if the noteholder is the purchaser. Sale is "AS-IS" and Substitute Trustees make no warranty of any kind whatsoever regarding the physical condition, physical description, or title to the property. Taxes, rents, annually payable public charges and assessments, including the front foot benefit charges of the appropriate governing agency, if any, and condominium fees and/or homeowner's association dues, if applicable, will be adjusted to the day of sale and thereafter assumed by the Purchaser. All costs of conveyancing, including transfer taxes and recordation taxes will be paid by the Purchaser. The purchaser's sole remedy in the event the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey marketable title is the return of the deposit. Upon return of the deposit, the sale shall be null and void.

14689 GARRETT HIGHWAY, OAKLAND, MARYLAND 21550

Separate sealed BIDS for the construction of the DEER PARK WATER SYSTEM, CONTRACTS 1 & 2 -- WATER DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM will be received by the Garrett County Sanitary District at the office of the Garrett County Sanitary District until 11 a.m. (Daylight Saving Time) April 26, 2002, and then at said office publicly opened and read aloud.

The contract documents may be examined at the following location:

Garrett County Sanitary District
14689 Garrett Highway
Oakland, Maryland 21550

upon payment of $100.00 for each set.

A Pre-Bid Conference will be held at the office of the Garrett County Sanitary District located at 14689 Garrett Highway, Oakland, Maryland 21550, at 11 a.m. (Daylight Saving Time) April 19, 2002.

Participation by bidders is encouraged but is not mandatory.

INFORMATION FOR BIDDERS

BIDS will be received by the Garrett County Sanitary District (herein called the "OWNER"), at 14689 Garrett Highway for the Deer Park Water Project until April 26, 2002 at 11:00 a.m. and then at said office publicly opened and read aloud.

Each BID must be submitted in a sealed envelope, addressed to Ronald W. Petrella at Garrett County Sanitary District. Each sealed envelope containing a BID must be plainly marked on the outside as BID for Deer Park Water Project and the envelope should bear on the outside the BIDDER'S name, address, and license number if applicable, and the name of the project for which the BID is submitted. If forwarded by mail, the sealed envelope containing the BID must be enclosed in another envelope addressed to the OWNER at

14689 Garrett Highway
Oakland, Maryland 21550

ALL BIDS must be made on the required BID form. All blank spaces for BID prices must be filled in, in ink or typewritten, and the BID form must be fully completed and executed when submitted. Only one copy of the BID form is required.

The OWNER may waive any informalities or minor defects or reject any and all BIDS. Any BID may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of BIDS or authorized postponement thereof. Any BID received after the time and date specified shall not be considered. No BIDDER may withdraw a BID within 60 days after the actual date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the OWNER and the BIDDER.

BIDDERS must satisfy themselves of the accuracy of the estimated quantities in the BID schedule by examination of the site and a review of the drawings and specifications including ADDENDA. After BIDS have been submitted, the BIDDER shall not assert that there was a misunderstanding concerning the quantities of WORK or of the nature of the WORK to be done.

The OWNER shall provide to BIDDING, all information which is pertinent to, and delineates and describes, the land owned and rights-of-way acquired or to be acquired.

The CONTRACT DOCUMENTS contain the provisions required for the construction of the PROJECT. Information obtained from an officer, agent, or employee of the OWNER or any other person shall not affect the risks or obligations assumed by the CONTRACTOR or relieve the contractor from fulfilling any of the conditions of the contract.

Each BID must be accompanied by a BID bond payable to the OWNER for five percent of the total amount the BID. As soon as the BID prices have been compared, the OWNERS will return the BONDS of all except the three lowest responsible BIDDERS. When the Agreement is executed the bonds of the two remaining unsuccessful BIDDERS will be returned. The BID BOND of the successful BIDDER will be retained until the payment BOND and performances BOND have been executed and approved, after which it will be returned. A certified check may be used in lieu of a BID BOND.

A performance BOND and a payment BOND each in the amount of 100 percent of the CONTRACT PRICE, with a corporate surety approved by the OWNER, will be required for the faithful performance of the contract.

Attorneys-in-fact who sign BID BONDS or payment BONDS and performance BONDS must file with each BOND a certified and effective dated copy of their power of attorney.

The party to whom the contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement and obtain the performance BOND and payment BOND within ten (10) calendar days from the date when NOTICE OF AWARD is delivered to the BIDDER. The NOTICE OF AWARD shall be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and BOND forms. In case of failure of the BIDDER to execute the Agreement, the OWNER may consider the BIDDER in default, in which case the BID BOND accompanying the proposal shall become the Property of the OWNER.

The OWNER within ten (10) days of receipt of acceptable performance BOND, payment BOND and Agreement signed by the party to whom the Agreement was awarded shall sign the Agreement and return to such party an executed duplicate of the Agreement. Should the OWNER not execute the Agreement within such period, the BIDDER may by WRITTEN NOTICE withdraw the signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of the notice by the OWNER.

THE NOTICE TO PROCEED shall be issued within ten (10) days of the execution of the Agreement by the OWNER. Should there be reasons why the NOTICE TO PROCEED cannot be issued within such period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the OWNER AND CONTRACTOR. If the NOTICE TO PROCEED has not been issued within the ten (10) day period or within the period mutually agreed upon, the CONTRACTOR may terminate the Agreement without further liability on the part of either party.

The OWNER may make such investigations as deemed necessary to determine the ability of the BIDDER to perform the WORK, and the BIDDER shall furnish to the OWNER all such information and date for this purpose as the OWNER may request. The OWNER reserves the right to reject any BID if the evidence submitted by, or investigation of such BIDDER fails to satisfy the OWNER that such BIDDER is properly qualified to carry out the obligations of the Agreement and to complete the WORK contemplated therein.

A conditional or qualified BID will not be accepted.

Award will be made to the lowest responsible BIDDER.

All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over construction of the PROJECT shall apply to the contract throughout.

Each BIDDER is responsible for inspecting the site and for reading and being thoroughly familiar with the CONTRACT DOCUMENTS. The failure or omission of any BIDDER to do any of the foregoing shall in no way relieve any BIDDER from any obligations in respect to its BID.

Further, the BIDDER agrees to abide by the requirements under Executive Order No. 11246, as amended, including specifically the provisions of the equal opportunity clause set forth in the SUPPLEMENTAL GENERAL CONDITIONS.

The low BIDDER shall supply the names and addresses of major material SUPPLIERS and SUBCONTRACTORS when required to do so by the OWNER.

The CONTRACT DOCUMENTS may be examined at the following locations:

Garrett County Sanitary District
14689 Garrett Highway
Oakland, Maryland 21550

Copies of the CONTRACT DOCUMENTS may be obtained at the office of Garrett County Sanitary District located at 14689 Garrett Highway upon payment of $50.00 for each set.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS
GARRETT COUNTY SANITARY DISTRICT
14689 GARRETT HIGHWAY, OAKLAND, MARYLAND 21550

Separate sealed BIDS for the construction of the KEYSERS RIDGE WATER PROJECT will be received by the Garrett County Sanitary District at the office of the Garrett County Sanitary District until 11:00 am. (Daylight Saving Time) May 3, 2002, and then at said office publicly opened and read aloud.

The Contract Documents may be examined at the following location:

Garrett County Sanitary District
14689 Garrett Highway
Oakland, Maryland 21550

upon payment of $50.00 for each set.

A Pre-Bid Conference will be held at the office of the Garrett County Sanitary District located at 14689 Garrett Highway, Oakland, Maryland 21550, at 11 a.m. (Daylight Saving Time) April 25, 2002.

Participation by bidders is encouraged but is not mandatory.

INFORMATION FOR BIDDERS

BIDS will be received by the Garrett County Sanitary District (herein called the "OWNER"), at 14689 Garrett Highway for the Keysers Ridge Water Project until May 3, 2002 at 11:00 a.m. and then at said office publicly opened and read aloud.

Each BID must be submitted in a sealed envelope, addressed to Ronald W. Petrella at Garrett County Sanitary District. Each sealed envelope containing a BID must be plainly marked on the outside as BID for Keysers Ridge Water Project and the envelope should bear on the outside the BIDDER'S name, address, and license number if applicable, and the name of the project for which the BID is submitted. If forwarded by mail, the sealed envelope containing the BID must be enclosed in another envelope addressed to the OWNER at

14689 Garrett Highway
Oakland, Maryland 21550

ALL BIDS must be made on the required BID form. All blank spaces for BID prices must be filled in, in ink or typewritten, and the BID form must be fully completed and executed when submitted. Only one copy of the BID form is required.

The OWNER may waive any informalities or minor defects or reject any and all BIDS. Any BID may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of BIDS or authorized postponement thereof. Any BID received after the time and date specified shall not be considered. No BIDDER may withdraw a BID within 60 days after the actual date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the OWNER and the BIDDER.

BIDDERS must satisfy themselves of the accuracy of the estimated quantities in the BID schedule by examination of the site and a review of the drawings and specifications including ADDENDA. After BIDS have been submitted, the BIDDER shall not assert that there was a misunderstanding concerning the quantities of WORK or of the nature of the WORK to be done.

The OWNER shall provide to BIDDING, all information which is pertinent to, and delineates and describes, the land owned and rights-of-way acquired or to be acquired.

The CONTRACT DOCUMENTS contain the provisions required for the construction of the PROJECT. Information obtained from an officer, agent, or employee of the OWNER or any other person shall not affect the risks or obligations assumed by the CONTRACTOR or relieve the contractor from fulfilling any of the conditions of the contract.

Each BID must be accompanied by a BID bond payable to the OWNER for five percent of the total amount the BID. As soon as the BID prices have been compared, the OWNERS will return the BONDS of all except the three lowest responsible BIDDERS. When the Agreement is executed the bonds of the two remaining unsuccessful BIDDERS will be returned. The BID BOND of the successful BIDDER will be retained until the payment BOND and performances BOND have been executed and approved, after which it will be returned. A certified check may be used in lieu of a BID BOND.

A performance BOND and a payment BOND each in the amount of 100 percent of the CONTRACT PRICE, with a corporate surety approved by the OWNER, will be required for the faithful performance of the contract.

Attorneys-in-fact who sign BID BONDS or payment BONDS and performance BONDS must file with each BOND a certified and effective dated copy of their power of attorney.

The party to whom the contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement and obtain the performance BOND and payment BOND within ten (10) calendar days from the date when NOTICE OF AWARD is delivered to the BIDDER. The NOTICE OF AWARD shall be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and BOND forms. In case of failure of the BIDDER to execute the Agreement, the OWNER may consider the BIDDER in default, in which case the BID BOND accompanying the proposal shall become the Property of the OWNER.

The OWNER within ten (10) days of receipt of acceptable performance BOND, payment BOND and Agreement signed by the party to whom the Agreement was awarded shall sign the Agreement and return to such party an executed duplicate of the Agreement. Should the OWNER not execute the Agreement within such period, the BIDDER may by WRITTEN NOTICE withdraw the signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of the notice by the OWNER.

THE NOTICE TO PROCEED shall be issued within ten (10) days of the execution of the Agreement by the OWNER. Should there be reasons why the NOTICE TO PROCEED cannot be issued within such period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the OWNER AND CONTRACTOR. If the NOTICE TO PROCEED has not been issued within the ten (10) day period or within the period mutually agreed upon, the CONTRACTOR may terminate the Agreement without further liability on the part of either party.

The OWNER may make such investigations as deemed necessary to determine the ability of the BIDDER to perform the WORK, and the BIDDER shall furnish to the OWNER all such information and date for this purpose as the OWNER may request. The OWNER reserves the right to reject any BID if the evidence submitted by, or investigation of such BIDDER fails to satisfy the OWNER that such BIDDER is properly qualified to carry out the obligations of the Agreement and to complete the WORK contemplated therein.

A conditional or qualified BID will not be accepted.

Award will be made to the lowest responsible BIDDER.

All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over construction of the PROJECT shall apply to the contract throughout.

Each BIDDER is responsible for inspecting the site and for reading and being thoroughly familiar with the CONTRACT DOCUMENTS. The failure or omission of any BIDDER to do any of the foregoing shall in no way relieve any BIDDER from any obligations in respect to its BID.

Further, the BIDDER agrees to abide by the requirements under Executive Order No. 11246, as amended, including specifically the provisions of the equal opportunity clause set forth in the SUPPLEMENTAL GENERAL CONDITIONS.

The low BIDDER shall supply the names and addresses of major material SUPPLIERS and SUBCONTRACTORS when required to do so by the OWNER.

The CONTRACT DOCUMENTS may be examined at the following locations:

TRUSTEE'S SALE
726 East Oak Street
Oakland, Maryland 21550

In execution of the Deed of Trust dated May 27, 1999 recorded in Liber 774, folio 418, among the Garrett County land records, the undersigned Substitute Trustees, any of whom may act, will offer for sale at public auction on APRIL 23, 2002, at 11:40 a.m., at the Rotunda within the Courthouse for the Circuit Court for Garrett County, at Oakland, Maryland, the following property:

Lot 27 and eastern one-half of Lot 26, Brant's Addition to the Town of Oakland, Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland and as more particularly described in the Deed of Trust.

The property and improvements will be sold in "as is" physical condition without warranty of any kind and subject to all conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same.

TERMS OF SALE: A non-refundable bidder's deposit of $6,500 by cashier's/certified check required at time of sale except for the party secured by the Deed of Trust. Risk of loss on purchaser from date and time of sale. The balance of the purchase price together with interest thereon at 6.625% per annum from date of sale to receipt of purchase price by Trustees must be paid by cashier's check within 10 days after final ratification of sale. All real estate taxes, water rents and public charges/assessments shall be adjusted to date of sale. Purchaser shall pay all transfer, documentary and recording taxes/fees and all other settlement costs. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining possession of property. Time is of the essence for purchaser. If purchaser defaults, deposit will be forfeited and property resold at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser who shall be liable for any deficiency in the purchase price and all costs and expenses of both sales. If Trustees do not convey title for any reason, purchaser's sole remedy is return of deposit. (#5594).

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption from tax sale on the following properties in Garrett County, State of Maryland, sold by Patty L. Glover, Collector of Taxes for the state of Maryland and the County of Garrett to Plaintiff, Michael S. Murphy. The parcels of land are described as follows:

Parcel 1. All that parcel of land assessed to Robert J. Wilkerson and Nancy D. Wilkerson, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.47 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 26, Section 5, Block B, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 2. All that parcel of land assessed to H. Henry Elmiger and Delores H. Elmiger, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.46 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 12, Section 4, Block B, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 3. All that parcel of land assessed to Thomas C. Thomas and Rita M. Thomas, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.46 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 14, Section 4, Block B, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 4. All that parcel of land assessed to Charles A. Noel, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.47 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 25, Section 5, Block B, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 5. All that parcel of land assessed to Eloina P. Cistaro, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.80 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 14, Section 3, Block M, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 6. All that parcel of land assessed to William A. Shank and Dorothy S. Shank, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.67 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 13, Section 3, Block M, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 7. All that parcel of land assessed to Anthony Marcantonio and Jane Marcantonio, in Election District 6, containing 0.60 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 8, Section 4, Block H, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 8. All that parcel of land assessed to Edward W. Miller, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.59 acres, more or less. and known as Lot 32, Section 4, Block H, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 9. All that parcel of land assessed to William A. Palmer and Dorothy E. Palmer, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.47 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 4, Section 5, Block D, Piney Mountain Corporation.

Parcel 10. All that parcel of land assessed to Daniel J. Stedman and Patricia S. Stedman, in Election District No. 6, containing 0.60 acres, more or less, and known as Lot 7, Section 4, Block H, Piney Mountain Corporation.

The Complaint states among other things, that the amounts necessary for redemption have not been paid. The sale was on June 19, 2001 and more than six (6) months have passed since that date.

It is thereupon this 1st day of April 2002, that the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland,

ORDERED that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this order in one newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week for three consecutive weeks, on or before the day of 2002, warning all persons interested in the properties to appear in this Court by the day of 2002, and redeem the property and answer the Complaint or thereafter the final judgment will be entered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the Plaintiff to said properties in fee simple, title free of all liens and encumbrances.

David K. Martin
Clerk of Circuit Court

PLUMBING & HEATING

How To Buy An Outdoor Furnace

1. Read the warranty. Will the dealer give you a copy to look at? Know what you're buying.
2. Look in a new furnace, not a used one. See what you're buying. Is it designed well to save on wood and coal?
3. How many years has the furnace been manufactured?
4. 20 year warranty? What does it cover?
5. Shop the Internet for furnaces and warranties. If warranty isn't listed, they don't want you to know. Look Out!

Where service is a certainty!

Dear Long & Foster Realtors:

Today I will close on my first home, and I just wanted to take a moment to inform you of how impressed I was with Cindy Sanders. Cindy has been wonderful every step of the way from arranging a variety of homes to show me in the beginning to the last minute details of the closing process.

I obtained my financing with the help of Garrett County Community Action's First Time Home Buyers Program. I know that going through this program required a good deal of extra work on Cindy's part. My work schedule was such that it was difficult for me to meet with her during normal working hours and she made special arrangements for me.

All of the things I listed above were very important. However, most important to me was how comfortable she made me feel throughout the process. A lot of the process for a first timer is quite overwhelming and scary, but I always knew she was there to answer my questions and look after my best interests.

She did a truly exceptional job. She went well above the level of what I would have expected. You are very lucky to have her as a member of your organization; I believe she is quite an asset. I would recommend her to anyone! I thank Cindy and your organization for making a dream come true for me.

Sincerely,
Nikki E. Brown

GC United Way Pledge Campaign Near Conclusion

With less than two weeks to go before its conclusion, the 2002 United Way of Garrett County pledge campaign is well within reach of attaining its stated goal, according to campaign chairperson Jeannette Fitzwater. The campaign is officially slated to close on Tuesday, April 30, and through this week over $80,000 had been raised toward the stated goal of $85,866.

United Way of Garrett County has been in existence for only two years, and this year's local United Way Campaign has already doubled the tally of last year's pledges. "We are encouraging all local residents to pull together to meet our final campaign goal," Fitzwater said. "All funds raised in Garrett County go exclusively toward meeting the needs of Garrett County agencies, and our initial support commitments to those agencies are based on meeting the full campaign goal."

Local volunteers selected the group of 16 area agencies that benefit from the campaign, Fitzwater explained. Each year a group of local volunteers evaluates the effectiveness of the projects the United Way funded from the previous year, while at the same time the agencies present their plans for the upcoming year. This same group of volunteers determines how the funds will be distributed among the agencies for the coming year.

"It is important to note that United Way funds support specific, measurable projects, rather than serve as donations solely for general funds," Fitzwater noted. "We take pride in having total local autonomy and decision-making, as well as placing a strong emphasis on accountability for results. It's Garrett County residents who work to assure that the dollars are being used locally for the results-oriented programming."

One example of how United Way funding is utilized by a local agency is through the numerous programs of the Boy Scouts of America Potomac Council. Funds raised in Garrett County help fund camp scholarships and many other efforts.

COMMISSIONERS PUTTING UP THE BREAD — The challenge to those wishing for a new library in Grantsville was set, and this week resoundingly met. The community was given a task in January when the Garrett County commissioners promised to match any amount raised by April 15 to build a new library in Grantsville. Apparently it is good advice to challenge a Garrett Countian, as the community, with support from all areas, presented the impressive total of $325,506 to the commissioners on Tuesday. Good as their word, the commissioners quickly approved a match of the same amount. Gary Ruddell, co-chair of the library fund-raising committee, said a final meeting Monday evening was interrupted continually by people making last-minute donations. "We got $1,400 just during the meeting. I think Fred [Commissioner Holliday] was getting a little nervous," he joked. Holliday, pictured above (with the bread) at this weekend's auction, served on the fund-raising committee as well. All kidding aside, the commissioners said Tuesday that they are pleased to be able to meet such an amount, and that the effort shows the true strength of Garrett County's people. Native auctioneer Rodger Ware, pictured at left, donated his time (as did his family) for the event, which raised a total of $7,323.50, with an additional $800 in matching funds from Ald Association for Lutherans. See additional photos and a feature story in this section of today's issue.

Planning Commission Approves Subdivisions During April Meeting

The Garrett County Planning Commission's recent monthly meeting featured reviews of 10 subdivision plats, three of which were classified as major subdivisions. All 10 plats were approved unanimously by the commission (some on the condition that specified stipulations were met), and one additional preliminary proposal was set aside for action at a future meeting.

The major subdivisions approved were:

•Deep Creek Highlands West — Located along Mountain Road near Deep Creek Lake, this planned residential cluster development is composed of 65.04 acres divided into 52 lots and a common area. The development is the second phase of Deep Creek Highlands East subdivision, which was approved earlier. Bob Rudy and Karen Myers were on hand at the meeting to answer questions on behalf of the DC Development Corporation.

The project's greater than typical density, less than one acre per home, is made up for by a common area that comprises 38 percent of the development's acreage. In contrast, the DCL Watershed Zoning Ordinance sets a minimum standard of 25 percent common area allotment.

The commission approved the Highlands West project with the stipulation that the county attorney must approve the homeowner's covenants and restriction document in writing.

•Summit Phase III — Proposed by Steve Richards, this six-acre, six-lot subdivision located along Shingle Camp Road was the subject of lengthy discussion. Dr. Gary Clendenin, a

Three Students Charged With Making Threats At Northern

The Garrett Bureau of Investigation has charged three students from Northern High School in a conspiracy to murder another high school student. The conspiracy charges resulted from an investigation at the school after administrators located a "hate list" containing 81 names of current or past students.

Jerry Dean Staub Jr., 18, Frostburg (Garrett County), Misty Ann Smith, 15, McHenry, and Megan Dawn Ryan, 14, Grantsville, were all arrested and charged with one count of conspiracy to murder a 14-year-old female student at NHS.

Staub is additionally charged with one count of stalking, two counts of second degree rape, two counts of perverted sexual practice, and two counts of second degree assault. These additional charges stem from a prior sexual relationship that Staub was involved in while the 14-year-old was 13 years old, investigators said.

Staub is currently incarcerated on $600,000 cash bond. Both juveniles were charged as adults because of the severity of the charge. Smith is incarcerated on $100,000 cash bond and Ryan is awaiting a bond hearing.

The names of the juveniles were released because of the severity of the charges.

The investigation is continuing and more charges may be forthcoming, authorities said.

According to Gary Reichenbecher, principal at NHS, the staff is very confident that the situation is under control and that the three main people involved have been removed from the school.

"We feel that the school is a very safe place to be," he said. "It is also important to note that there were only serious threats made against one person. Threats were not made against any of the other people on the list."

Dr. Wendell Teets, school superintendent, added that the three suspects are being dealt with "administratively to assure the continued safety of all students."

Persons with more information may call GBI at 301-334-1909, from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m., and speak with Sgt. J.W. Hare or Sgt. J.D. Murphy.

Local Groups Getting Involved In Highland Fest

More local organizations are becoming involved in the 15th Highland Festival that will be held Saturday, June 1, at the Garrett County fairgrounds.

The Southern High School Band Boosters are selling tickets to the festival to earn money for band expenses and instruments. The boosters were the first to take advantage of the festival's new program to let organizations earn money.

Other county groups selling tickets are the Knights of Columbus, Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company, and Dennett Road Elementary School. The groups can keep $1 for every advance ticket sold to the festival and $1 for every Ceilidh (or evening party) ticket sold.

Advance tickets cost $7. Tickets will cost $10 at the gate. Children under 12 years of age are admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Three Critically Injured In Motor Vehicle Accident

A motor vehicle accident Wednesday around 9 p.m. sent three critically injured persons to the hospital, according to Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Roger Lee Helbig, 21, Oakland, operating a 1993 Chevrolet Lumina eastbound along Paul Friend Road, failed to see a 2000 Dodge truck and gooseneck trailer pulling from a private drive and heading west along Paul Friend Road, police said.

The truck was driven by Robert Dean Kauffman, 24, New Paris, Pa. According to the police, Helbig's vehicle struck the towed trailer in the right front portion.

Helbig was taken by Trooper 5 to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, and was transferred to the University of Maryland Shock Trauma Unit, Baltimore, where he is listed in serious but stable condition, according to a hospital spokesperson.

Bruce Allen Liller, 27, Oakland, the right front passenger in the Helbig vehicle, was transferred from Garrett County Memorial Hospital to Ruby Memorial, Morgantown, W.Va., where he is listed in serious condition.

Michael Paul Miller, 24, Oakland, the rear passenger in the Helbig vehicle, was also transferred from GCMH to Ruby Memorial, where his condition was not known at press time.

Investigation into the accident is continuing.

Virginia Man Arrested On Drug Charges

Jean Pierre, 41, Winchester, Va., was recently arrested and extradited on drug charges, according Lisa Thayer-Welch, state's attorney for Garrett County and spokesperson for the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force.

The charges are the result of an investigation that involved the suspect fleeing on foot after a traffic stop on Route 50 on April 3. After an additional investigation and identification of the suspect, an arrest warrant was obtained for the subject, who was later arrested without incident on April 5 in Bayard, W.Va., on the strength of that warrant.

Pierre then waived extradition before a West Virginia court and was returned to Maryland to face charges of distribution of suspected crack cocaine and possession of crack cocaine. Pierre is currently being held on $50,000 bond in the Garrett County Jail, pending trial in Garrett County.

THEFT SUSPECT SOUGHT BY MSP — This white male subject, shown in an image captured by a store surveillance camera at the LaVale Lowe's, is being sought by the Maryland State Police in connection with a felony theft of $900 worth of power tools from the home improvement store. The DeWalt brand tools were purchased on March 19 on the credit account of a Grantsville construction company without that firm's knowledge. The pictured clean-shaven suspect has black hair, and is wearing glasses and a brown jacket. Persons with any information concerning this crime are asked to contact Cpl. David Paskowski of the MSP LaVale barrack at 301-729-2101. Anonymous information may also be relayed through the Allegany County Crime Solvers office at 301-722-4300.

County Commissioners Propose Maintaining Current Tax Rate

The Garrett County commissioners held a public hearing this week to propose that the county property tax rate for FY 2003 remain at $1.036 per $100 of assessed value.

Though the assessable base of real property in the county increased by 5.4 percent from the previous year, the commissioners want to keep the tax rate the same to generate more revenue for the county. Ten residents attended the hearing, asking the officials to reconsider their decision.

The state requires that a hearing be held if a county proposes a rate that is higher than that of the constant yield tax rate, explained Wendy Yoder, Garrett County Financial Office director.

"The constant yield tax rate is calculated by the Department of Assessments and Taxation for each taxing authority in Maryland," she said. "It represents the real property tax rate for the coming tax year that will generate the same amount of revenue that was generated during the current tax year. As assessments increase, the constant yield tax rate decreases."

The state calculated that the tax rate for FY 03 could be lowered to $.983 and still generate the FY 02 revenue yield of $17.1 million. By keeping the rate at $1.036, however, the county could receive an additional $873,755, said Yoder.

"You need to give consideration to fiscal responsibility," said county resident Tom Doyle. He questioned spending tax money to increase the salary of the county's part-time attorney, "fringe benefits" for the commissioners, and site work that was done during the construction of the Visitors' Center at McHenry. "Many areas should be cut," Doyle said, adding that the county faced a deficit.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg noted that the commissioners' "fringe benefits" included such items as Social Security and health insurance.

"This is one of the few times of the year," said Commissioner Wendell Beitzel, "that people ask us to reduce [spending]." He said that the rest of the year people from various organizations and agencies request the commissioners increase their funding.

Commissioner Fred Holliday noted that in FY 02, 10 of the state's 24 tax authorities actually raised their rates. The commissioners are not proposing to increase Garrett's rate, only

NHS Teacher Named Christie McAuliffe Fellow

Y. Michelle Harman, mathematics and science teacher at Northern High School, is one of six veteran teachers from Maryland who will serve as national Christa McAuliffe Fellows.

These teachers will assist the Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE) in furthering the efforts of the Maryland Initiative for New Teachers (MINT) in supporting and sustaining Maryland's new teaching staff. With 8,000 new teachers joining Maryland's workforce for the 2001-2002 school year, the MSDE made new teacher support a priority.

Each of the teachers selected was chosen based on professional experience and accomplishments, ideas about teacher retention, demonstration of community/partnership involvement, and leadership experience. The fellows will be part of a core group that plans regional socials and seminars for new teachers, oversees on-line buddy relationships between veteran and new teachers, and further develops the overall MINT program.

The Christa McAuliffe Fellowship Program was created in 1987 to provide fellowships to classroom teachers in memory of Christa McAuliffe, the New Hampshire teacher who served as an astronaut on the space shuttle Challenger in January 1986.

NEW BLACK BEAR STAMP DESIGN UNVEILED — The Maryland Department of Natural Resources has selected "Perfect 6," this painting of a sow and her cub, as the winning entry in the 2002-03 Black Bear Conservation Stamp design contest. Galestown resident Wade Henry, a DNR employee assigned to the LeCompte Wildlife Management Area on the Eastern Shore, painted the work by melding several photographs into one image. "I gathered photos for reference, using different details I liked about different bears," stated Henry. "I would like the eye from one, the paw from another, and worked it all together." The Black Bear Conservation Stamp Program was inaugurated by the Maryland General Assembly in 1996 with the goal of generating funds to compensate farmers who have sustained crop damage caused by black bears. The new stamps may be purchased for a minimum contribution of $5 and will soon be available on the DNR web site, at any DNR Service Center, or by calling 1-800-873-3763. They will also be available for purchase locally at the Deep Creek Lake State Park Discovery Center and at state park offices located throughout Garrett County.

AHN TRIO SET TO PERFORM — Garrett Lakes Arts Festival will present the Ahn Trio on Sunday, April 28, at 4 p.m., at the Garrett Community College auditorium. The three sisters — Angella on violin, Lucia on piano, and Maria on cello — create a "new wave of energy" for classical music. They present their music through the MTV-inspired "Unplugged" series. The three Seoul sisters became the Ahn Trio when they made their first public ensemble appearance on Korean TV in 1979. Southern and Northern high school students will also see a performance by the trio. Sponsor partners are Eric Tribbey and Margaret Kaiser, MD, Total Biz Fulfillment, and Hobby House Press. Tickets are $12 for adults, and $5 for youth (18 years and younger). Persons may call the GLAF office at 301-387-3082 for advance, reserved tickets.

Power Of Small-Town Unity Evident In Quest For Grantsville Library

by Jeremy Carr

What began as a modest fund-raiser in the form of a lemonade stand two years ago eventually turned into a perfect example of the close-knit unity that is synonymous with a small town community, and what can be accomplished when people pull together.

Recognizing the need for more space for the Grantsville library, several individuals decided to do something to help. Not only was there a lack of space inside, but parking was also a concern. A committee was formed consisting of members of the community who were devoted to assisting the town in its need for a new library.

Committee members are Sheila Miller, Gary Ruddell, Cathy Ashby, Rosie Cupler, Fred Holliday, Kim Lishia, Jack Caruthers, Gail Broadwater, Lori Bender, Maxine Broadwater, Walt Walters, Carol Humberson, Gerry Beachy, Sig Benson, Lisa Rounds, Cindy Downton, and Carolyn Collen-DuBose.

When word got out about the library project, town residents began to take notice. "The board of trustees had a vision and a dream, but the town of Grantsville took hold and made it work," committee member Rosie Cupler said.

Among the donations that truly helped kick off the fund-raising campaign was the large amount given in the name of Elsa Naser, a Grantsville native who was murdered in March of 2000. The total given in her memory was a substantial $27,000 and helped get the project on its feet.

That was just the beginning of the ReNew Library Fund, as it was dubbed. Once it was made known the need for a new library building, citizens of Grantsville, as well as neighboring towns, including some in nearby Pennsylvania, combined efforts and proceeded to get the large undertaking into full swing.

The negatives of four Leo Beachy prints were donated for fund-raising efforts, two potato bars were held, the Grantsville Lions provided food for several events, and a chorus and band performed as part of Grantsville's Concert in the Park. The list doesn't stop there, however. Hot chocolate and snacks were served at the Grantsville Elementary School after the lighting of the Christmas tree in town, bingo was held, and there was a Rotary auction/dinner and a Lions auction.

There was also a letter campaign to local businesses, to which many of the establishments responded faithfully. Small, individually owned businesses as well as larger ones all did their part to aid in the building fund. Toy raffles, 50/50 drawings, the selling of bricks at $100 each for the "Walkway of Learning," and a snow tubing event at the Wisp were just some of the other ways that the community assisted in the development of a newer, larger, and more up-to-date library.

Individual donations were also given by many residents, with amounts ranging anywhere from $10 to $20,000, some of which were given in memory of loved ones.

Grantsville and Route 40 elementary schools also got in on the action. Students wrote 250 letters to Governor Parris Glendening asking for assistance. As of yet there has been no response, though the town of Grantsville has given $50,000.

Mayor Gerry Beachy said he is very pleased with the response from residents.

"It says a lot for a town of this size to accomplish something like this. Everybody really pulled together," he said. "We want to have a nicely equipped library for the future."

Churches are a staple in community togetherness, and several area congregations made generous donations. Service clubs throughout the area gave considerable amounts of money as well.

The ReNew Library Campaign eventually garnered statewide attention when an article was printed in the Baltimore Sun, resulting in a generous $10,000 donation from a Baltimore attorney firm. Local, continual coverage by The Republican newspaper also resulted in action from the entire community, with donations coming in from across the county and beyond.

As of April 15, the total amount of money raised is $325,506, which will be matched by the county commissioners. Coincidently, the matching and the announcement of the total happened to fall during April, which is National Library Month.

Though the matching of the amount raised is over, residents are still reminded that donations will continue to be accepted.

In the end, while the total received is quite impressive, what should definitely be noted is how the funds were assembled. Individuals from all around the community, including those who may never fully utilize what the new library will offer, gave their time and money to advance a cause that is unanimously considered vital to a growing town.

GIVING UP ICE CREAM FOR BOOKS — Students at Grantsville Elementary School had their priorities in noble order when they participated in a fund-drive for ReNew Grantsville Library. The youngsters offered to give up their ice cream money for a period of time, donating the nickels, dimes, and quarters to the fund instead. About $600 came in, according to a school spokesperson. The Parent Teacher Organization (PTO) at the school then matched $500 of that total. A number of other fund-raisers also took place over the past two school years, and the school finally presented its total donation of $1,114.66 to library fund organizers. The students pictured above, from left, are Nathan Maust, Timmy Knox, Eric Maxim, Cody Humberson, Kelsey Durst, Malloy Brenneman, Tyler Opel, Katie Wilt, and Chelsea Kling. Pictured in front are Linda Buckel, school principal, and Gary Ruddell, co-chair of the ReNew Grantsville Library Committee.

ONE OF MANY FUND-RAISERS — People of the Grantsville community and all those surrounding it worked hard to pull in the cash to build a new library. They were spurred on early this year when the Garrett County commissioners promised to double any amount they could gather by April 15. Help came from all corners, with donations flowing in from across the county and the surrounding states, a $300,000 HUD Economic Development Initiative Grant obtained by Senators Barbara Mikulski and Paul Sarbanes and Congressman Bartlett, and matching funds from several service organizations. Local activities included auctions, potato bars, and in-school projects, among others. Library committee member Carolyn Collen-DuBose is pictured above at a recent sale featuring Corelle Dolls, a specialty item donated by Hobby House Press, which reportedly raised an additional $942.46.

TIME TO PAY UP — In January of this year, the Garrett County commissioners issued a challenge to the ReNew Grantsville's Library Committee — whatever the committee could raise in pledges for the new library by April 15, they would match "dollar for dollar." The match included all private funds the group had raised since its inception in Feb. 2000. The committee accepted the challenge and raised $325,506 through various fund-raisers, surpassing everyone's expectations. "This shows what a community really can do," said Fred Holliday, commissioner and committee member. Shown above seated, left to right, are Commissioner Wendell Beitzel, Holliday, and Commissioner Ernie Gregg. Standing in the first row are Cindy McKenzie, committee member; Sheila Miller, committee chairperson; Rosie Cupler, Ruth Enlow board and committee member; Hannah Sincell, board member; and Mimi Demarea, board member. In the second row are Jack M. Caruthers, committee secretary; Sue Beachy, committee member; Cathy Ashby, library director; Gary Ruddell, honorary fund-raiser; Sharon Schwalm, board member; and Delegate George Edwards, Grantsville resident. Other committee members not pictured are Lori Bender, Gail Broadwater, Maxine Broadwater, Kim Lishia, Grantsville mayor Gerald Beachy, Sue Beachy, Lisa Rounds, Walt Walters, and Sigvard Benson.

IT WAS NO SMALL POTATOES at Friday night's tater bar — the amount raised for the ReNew Grantsville Library fund, that is. The community came out in great numbers to enjoy an evening of food and fellowship, and to continue their support of the library project. The potato bar was held at the Grantsville Elementary School and resulted in a total of $2,108.50, including a $500 match from Lutheran Brotherhood.

PASSING THE BUCKS — There is an adage: "What goes around comes around," and this was certainly proved true during the fund-raising effort for the new Grantsville Library. To make a rather complicated story short, the community combined efforts in the mid-1970s to establish a health care center. With the help of an Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) matching grant, a total of $45,000 was raised to purchase land and establish the center. In 1998, the Northern Garrett Co. Rescue Squad purchased the building from the Health Center Committee, again for $45,000, and that money was then invested. On April 3 of this year, health center and town officials decided that the entire amount, now $55,000, would be donated to the library ReNew fund. In the photo above left, ReNew Grantsville Library committee member Gary Ruddell is pictured as he receives a check from Rachel Miller, treasurer of the Western Maryland Health Care Corporation.

THE TOWN DOES ITS PART — The town council of Grantsville was not lax in its participation in the library fund-raising, as it offered an impressive donation of $50,000 toward the project. Kim Liahia, the librarian at the Grantsville branch, is shown as she accepts the check from Mayor Gerry Beachy.

Firesafe House To Be Part Of Flower Show

Organizers of the Garrett County Garden and Flower Show, slated for Saturday, May 4, at the Lighthouse in Oakland, have announced that another feature of the day will be the "Firesafe House" from Cumberlaud.

The Firesafe House is equipped with a non-toxic smoke generator, a thermostatically controlled hot door, an emergency ladder, and other features. It is used as a teaching tool for children and adults to help them understand the characteristics and dangers of fire in a home.

Cumberland firefighters will lead participants through the Firesafe House, which includes a kitchen, living room, and a bedroom, complete with an escape ladder for practicing exit drills. Children will also be taught how to dial 911 on an actual telephone.

The garden and flower show is being hosted by the Garrett County Lighthouse, which will be celebrating the opening of its new wing on that day. Other organizers include the Maryland Cooperative Extension, the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland, and FCE Homemakers.

Representatives from a number of area greenhouses and flower shops will be on hand throughout the day to sell their wares as well as answer gardening questions. The Department of Natural Resources and staff from the Discovery Center will hold a special Children's Nature Program from 10 until 11 a.m., and Charles Strauss of Accident will preside over the "Nature Room," which will include an active bee hive. Jon Boone will present a program at 10:30 a.m. about local birds and wildflowers. Musical entertainment is planned as well.

The garden show will begin at 9 a.m. and continue until 5 p.m. The Lighthouse is located at 20 East Oak Street, Oakland. Parking will be available on site or at Oakland Parking Lot, and a shuttle service will operate from that lot. Admission is free, and refreshments will be available for purchase.

GCC Accepting Registration For Some Fall Classes

Garrett Community College will offer credit courses in Oakland and in Grantsville during the fall 2002 semester, according to a college spokesperson. The Student Assistance Center is currently accepting registration for each of the classes listed below.

Two computer courses are scheduled at the Maryland National Guard Armory in Oakland. Microsoft Access (CA 185) will be taught by Paul Warnick on Mondays from 6:35 to 9:35 p.m. Introduction to Computers (CS 105) will be taught by Herbert Lambert on Wednesdays from 6 to 9 p.m.

Four courses are scheduled at the Grantsville Outreach Center. Expository Writing (ENG 101) and Art Appreciation (ART 103) will meet on Wednesdays from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. Human Growth and Development (PSY 102) is scheduled for Tuesdays from 5 to 8 p.m., and Accessing the Internet (CA 251) is scheduled for Thursdays from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Students may register for these courses at the Student Assistance Center on the McHenry campus weekdays during business hours. Fall semester classes will begin on Wednesday, Sept. 4. Persons interested in further information about these courses, or other fall offerings at the college, may call 301-387-3044.

to maintain the current one.

The commissioners cited the need to promote economic development to bring more jobs to the county as another reason to maintain the current tax rate. Gregg indicated that economic development was an ongoing priority with the commissioners.

Additionally, the commissioners have proposed that Oakland and Mountain Lake Park residents will receive tax differentials, because of parallel services that their towns provide the county. The proposed FY 03 county tax rate for Mtn. Lake Park is $.988. For Oakland, the proposed rate is $.961, according to Yoder.

"The county commissioners have approved a preliminary budget based on the FY 02 tax rate," said Monty Pagenhardt, county administrator. The budget and tax rate will not be final until the commissioners officially approve them on Tuesday, May 7, at 10 a.m., in their meeting room.

Commissioners Proclaim Day For Auctioneers

The Garrett County commissioners this week proclaimed Saturday, April 20, as National Auctioneers' Day in the county. Commissioner Ernie Gregg said the proclamation was issued to recognize the Auctioneers Association of Maryland's contribution to the Make-a-Wish Foundation, which raised more than $160,000.

The group also contributes to the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital and various other causes. Locally, there are about 20 auctioneers who donate their time and talents to such causes such as White Tails Unlimited and the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club.

"We're glad to do it," said auctioneer Bob Custer. He added that only about four or five local association members work full time as auctioneers.

Political Correctness?...

Among the buzz terms of the past decade or so is "politically correct," which refers, among other things, to appropriateness of word selection when describing a given group of individuals. One must use politically correct descriptions in order to not offend the persons being described, and the political correctness changes over time.

For example, we used to label persons with physical or mental insufficiencies as handicapped or disabled, which is now politically incorrect. The appropriate description of such folks is persons with disabilities, or persons who are physically or mentally challenged. There is indeed something more positive, possibly less demeaning, about the latter wording.

African Americans were once referred to as colored people, then Negroes, then blacks, and now African Americans, with "people of color" seemingly to be acceptable as well. Meanwhile, we really don't know what words to use to describe white folks in a politically correct manner (German Americans? English Americans [some of whom may be black]? People without color?). Why can't we just all be Americans, as Teddy Roosevelt suggested?

We don't dare use the term midget or dwarf, but "little person."

And of course, we take things to rather humorous extremes, such as describing snort people as "vertically challenged," or those with poor eyesight as "visually challenged."

However, there is a fairly new example of what has been deemed as "political incorrectness" that has raised the ire of a large group of our young people, and their adult leaders, right here in Garrett County.

Ever since the 4-H program was started, the use of Indian (sorry, Native American...no, American Indians...anyone born in this country is a native American, right?) names have been used for the various "tribes" at 4-H camps, such as the Cherokees, Apaches, Algonquins, etc. Well, no more. An edict has come down from the grand pooh-bahs of the 4-H program that the use of these names is "politically incorrect," somehow offensive to the real tribe members, and that their continued usage at 4-H camps is forbidden.

Meanwhile, we don't see the Washington Redskins organization being forced to change its team name. Clearly, the term "red skins" is derogatory. But then, that's a money issue.

We agree that the 4-H edict is outrageous, and that the use of the tribe names by these young people is in no way denigrating to Native Americans, but in fact brings honor to these Americans. We also suspect that it was not the members of these actual tribes that forced the issue, but more likely Civil Liberties Union zealots who really need to get a life.

Letters to the Editor

Editor's note: The following two letters and editor's response were to have appeared in last week's issue, but the letters were inadvertently "mixed together" leaving readers totally confused about both of them, as well as the response. They appear this week in their entirety.

To the Editor:

Just when it seemed people were forgetting about the glass ceiling, it turns out it's much lower than many had believed. The wage gap between most women and men managers actually widened during the economic boom years of 1995 to 2000, according to a recently released study.

Women in top jobs are in worse position than they were five years ago in terms of advancement and pay in seven of the 10 industries that employ 71% of women workers, the data found.

"A New Look Through the Glass Ceiling. Where are the Women?" was done by the General Accounting Office using data from the Current Population Survey.

A full-time female communications manager made 86 cents for every dollar a male made in her industry in 1995. But in 2001 she only made 73 cents on the man's dollar. The data also found that in just five of the 10 industries examined are the number of women managers proportionate to the number of women in the workforce. Women also find it more difficult to balance family and career, according to the study. About 60% of married women managers do not have children currently at home. By contrast, 60% of married men are currently raising children. This is a financial issue that impacts all families. It's a wake-up call not only for corporate America, but all America.

Martha Burk, chair of the National Council of Women Organizations in Washington, said she blames the backlash on a more relaxed regulatory environment and a complicated court system that does not encourage women to sue their corporations for discrimination. "When you know no one is monitoring the speed limit, you can speed," she said.

Over a working lifetime, this wage disparity costs the average American woman an estimated $250,000. April 16 is the day into the new year that a woman must work to, to earn the wages paid to a man in the previous year.

To the Editor:

I take issue with the comment by Melodee Hill in her April 4th letter to the editor. She states, We have been driving around the county just for fun since there is never anything else to do around here." There is plenty to do around here! One need only to read The Republican, browse the Visitors Center's information displays, and review the G.C. Tourist Guide to learn entertainment schedules and the many activities that are available here in the Oakland and Garrett County area.

In addition, there are numerous organizations and clubs whose collective goals are to better the lives of our residents and improve our community. Most all offer both fellowship and group work activities to help one get more personally involved in, and become more responsible for, their community. Just to mention a few:

Churches — In addition to the religious rewards, churches offer social opportunities, too. Both Republicans and Democrats have organizations that welcome new members; the League of Women Voters provides forums for political candidates to share their views with the public; the AARP/IRS Volunteer Tax Assistance Program is just coming to an end, but there's uext year; the fire departments and their auxiliaries, schools, hospital, Red Cross, Hospice, Lighthouse, GLAF, and more, always need interested volunteers. The Lions clubs work toward better sight; the Civic Club is very community oriented; the Garden Club beautifies the grounds around the library; and many others that space limitation prohibit listing.

None of these organization's/club's activities just happen. People make them happen. Want to help? The choices are boundless, as most want, need, and welcome new members. The personal satisfaction received after participating in a successful fund-raiser and passing on the proceeds to, say, school kids or House of Hope or Dove Center is very rewarding indeed. All of these clubs and organizations schedule time for social activities. Most are involved in community fund-raisers to support the charities to which they are committed.

Instead of big city theme parks, mega shopping malls, Kennedy Center, and nightmarish traffic jams, Garrett County offers the Wisp Ski Resort, Deep Creek Lake, Agriculture Fair, Highland and Autumn Glory festivals, neat small gift and clothing shops, a great theatre featuring impressive local talent, both elegant and medium priced restaurants, and no traffic jams (well, maybe a little one or two). Most people know what Garrett County has to offer, and what it doesn't, before deciding to move here. If big city life is what one wants, perhaps to live in the big city is the best choice. Perhaps one could form a new group/organization based on selected interests. If one is bored for lack of anything to do here in Garrett County, it appears to me that he/she isn't really looking for a satisfactory solution.

Some people who move to Garrett County seem to have the attitude, I'm here now, so let's close the doors (roads) and don't let anyone else build as it will become crowded." These new people are attracted to this area for the same reasons that brought the more established residents here. Is it not true that where your (& your & your) house now stands, trees and shrubs once grew, blackberry vines and wild strawberries were once enjoyed by the birds and animals, and bears and deer roamed freely over what is now your property? Yes, of course, I admit there is less green here than 17 years ago, and I believe the green will continue to be sacrificed. I understand that progress and growth will have some adverse affect on Garrett County, such as over saturation of the lake surface. I also understand that growth and progress create jobs for its citizens which allows them to stay here, rather than be forced to move to the big city in order to provide for their families.

When the population increases to an uncomfortable level for me, I will sell, move to a less developed area, and start the process all over again (perhaps to the dismay of the people already there!).

Dear Ms. Roberts:

Ms. Hill works here at our office, so on her behalf we wish to respond to your letter.

First of all, her comment about having "nothing to do around here" was absolute, tongue-in-cheek sarcasm. She happens to be quite involved in a number of community organizations, including Our Town Theatre and the Garrett County Arts Council.

The main thrust of her letter was her great concern about development in the county, particularly along the shores of Deep Creek Lake, which, in her opinion and that of many others, represents a threat to the future quality of our precious, but delicate, environment.

To the Editor:

If you're an honest, hardworking person seeking a career as a bank teller, don't seek employment at one of our local banks.

After years of dedication, you may find suddenly one day you don't have a job because a customer comes in one day with proper identification and deposits a large portion of a check into his checking account and receives a smaller portion in cash, only to find out a week later that the check is counterfeit.

These girls aren't properly trained to detect counterfeit checks. With all the technology today, how can you tell and why aren't

View from My Window

GOOD FRIDAY, THE CAT

It was Good Friday when I noticed a cat lurking on the perimeter of my homestead. There are feral cats in this area, so the sight of an uuknown cat did not surprise me. Each time I left the house I noticed the cat again, tiger-colored with a white chest. She hunkered down in the grass as if ready to pounce upon some unsuspecting prey, all the while watching me when I did my chores.

Rabies always concerns me when any animal, of domesticated or wild species, wanders into my farm. This cat did not look sick in any way. Her eyes were bright and her coat glossy. I put out a dish of dogfood. By the next morning she was on my porch. She wanted to come into the house, by which I inferred that she had been inside someone else's house.

I picked her up, and immediately felt swollenness. My first thought was of some kind of growth. The swelling turned out to be her mammaries. She had recently nursed kittens. This looked like a case of kittens drowned and cat dropped off. That is speculation that will never be confirmed and almost as unlikely, never disproven.

By Easter Monday I had a cat. I called the vet, and made an appointment. By that time my fear had shifted from rabies to leukemia. Feline leukemia poses no threat to humans, but any cat infected with it is a potential carrier for every other cat. Any infected cat should be put down. I had the vet run the test. Both of us thought it likely that the test would prove positive on a cat that had just wandered in.

He gave her a rabies shot since, until the results were known from the leukemia test, the preventive step against that greater scourge had to be taken. The week went by. The results came back. She was leukemia-free. The veterinarian's assistant said, "We don't have a name down for that cat."

I had forborn to name an animal that I thought likely I would have to kill out of concern for the health of the feline population at large. At the same time, I had known all along that the cat's name was "Good Friday" or "Goodie" for short. I told the vet's assistant Goodie's proper name, and made an appointment for the next day for her to get a leukemia vaccination.

The leukemia booster shot is three weeks after that. Sometime thereabouts I shall also have Goodie spayed. By the time all that initial doctoring is complete, I shall have more than $200 in this stray cat.

I am very much of two minds about spending such a sum of money on a cat. When I was a boy — longer and longer ago — we only had barn cats. They muhiplied at will. We fed them some spare milk from our dairy herd. They served a purpose — holding down the rodent and bird population in the barn — and were not collectively pets. One or two might be singled out for naming and subsequent attention, but they really had a semi-feral character.

Many such cats lived and died without ever having been touched by human hands, all the while living on human largesse and working alongside humans. If they got sick and died, well, another litter replaced the cat population. If the population grew too large, then they were given away or drowned. If the population grew too small, then cats from some neighboring farm were imported.

Such a system seems callous today, and yet it was not without its benefits. I routinely saw young cats that died of distemper, indicated by disgusting yellow mucous. The advantage over the years was that the cats with a natural resistance to distemper were the ones that remained to breed. I have not seen a cat with distemper for decades. Natural selection does have its purposes.

On the other hand, disease naturally selects as well, thus endemic feline leukemia today, something I never heard of 40 years ago.

Only in the mid '80s did I have every cat in sight vaccinated against rabies when we had a scare in this area. It wasn't that we had not known about rabies. I was among the generation that had wept over Old Yeller. As with so many other dangers on the farm (children riding on or driving tractors, for example), we have become more aware of the risk as time has passed.

I have purchased some measure of public health with the money spent at the vets. Not without some guilt have I done so, however, since the amount would have sustained a poor family for a year in Afghanistan or Bangladesh or Somalia. The same sum would have vaccinated a village of children against polio anywhere in the Third World.

The name "Good Friday" shall always remind me that somebody somewhere is suffering and that I have a duty to spend as much money to alleviate the suffering of poor human beings as I do on this cat that on its name day chose to join my menagerie.

THE RAIMENT'S REVENGE

by Mary Sincell McEwen

I think it has happened, although I hesitate to say so in case I jinx the whole thing. But I'm fairly certain that spring has arrived, especially since all the plantlife has suddenly, and I mean suddenly, turned green. Buds of all sorts are fat and ready to open, and the daffodils in my yard that didn't get whacked in that bitter snowstorm a few weeks ago are at last showing their cheery faces. It did seem so sudden, almost like popcorn exploding. As much as I love the sweet scent of spring, I have to face the fact that with the warm weather comes the inevitable Attack Of The Clothes.

I think our three sons were pretty sure their mother had lost her mind Tuesday morning. The weather was to be hot and sunny all day, and I, with the best of intentions, decided the boys could wear shorts. Seems simple, doesn't it? Ha! Within a matter of minutes, I was throwing clothes over my head, frantic to find one, just one, pair of shorts that was not one of the following: ridiculously small, torn, stained, enormous, or bright pink. Honestly, the shorts I did manage to locate seemed to come alive, all purposely being the wrong size or hiding a big rip in the crotch until one of the boys had them on. I thought I would go mad, and the boys did, too. They were so sweet and accommodating. "It's okay, Mom," Alex said, patting my arm. He was squeezed into a pair of shorts about three sizes too little. "I can wear these," he offered. "I'll just leave them unzipped and put my shirt down over the top." (I didn't let him do that, although I appreciated his gesture.)

I tried to explain to them how all these clothes — these piles and piles of them — how their destiny is in my hands, and my hands alone. It is up to me, just me, to decide what goes where. "And I'm just not in the mood," I said, my hair flying and eyes wild. They stepped away from me, walking backward, smiling big fake smiles. "It's okay, Mom, really," they assured me, glancing at each other. I think they telepathically agreed that I was not to be messed with. I did assure them that this was not their fault, and they would just have to ignore my ravings. They continued to wear their faux grins as they backed out the door and dashed to the bus stop.

I had finally found clothes for everyone, and clothes that fit pretty well. But I'm now on the edge of panic because I'm not sure where all the summer stuff is. I know I packed it away, and I'm fairly sure I know where, but I certainly couldn't find it Tuesday morning. The clothes have taken over my upstairs. And with the rather quick change in the weather, the long-sleeves that were being worn regularly up until a week ago are now being pushed to the side. The warm PJs are, too, and the heavy jeans. They are stacked everywhere. This pile's too small, this is to give away, this pile needs buttons, this pile is good for playing but not for school, and this pile is for when the boys are about 20 years old — good clothes, but eight sizes too big.

The clothes are closing in. The paths in our bedrooms are shrinking — the old jeans seem to be spreading like ivy vines, twining around divorced socks. And I don't have a grip on what size everyone wears anymore because they all three insist on growing. I even thought I would take the day off Tuesday and dive into the trenches, beating back the encroaching apparel and reclaiming my second floor. But I couldn't bear it. It was better to just leave the ominous piles for yet another day with the feeble plan of "really getting into those clothes tonight."

The problem is, of course, that I work outside the home. I can't stay home all day and clean, even though I actually dream of doing that. If I didn't work, I think I would conquer those clothes, once and for all. Of course, we'd be broke, so on the one hand wouldn't have nearly as many garments to begin with. But I'd probably go nuts inside all day with just a senile Siamese cat to talk to. And I'd read more magazines with articles about parenting, and I'd get nervous. Of course, those articles are often written by people who don't have kids. It's not terribly helpful to read the advice of a 23-year-old grad student whose closest brush with family life is an occasional one-night stand with an English doctoral candidate named Chad who isn't sure he's ready for a commitment. Wow, I'm rambling now. But I'm frazzled, you see. It's all compounded by the fact that just when I'm about to launch an attack against the advancing A-shirts, I have to stop and do a papier maché project with my one son who's bored to tears with school, or help the older one spell "indentured servant" (which takes longer than you might think), or find the youngest a bandage for his latest war wound in a series. Yes, I'm frazzled. And on top of all this, there are those stray boxer shorts creeping into my bedroom. They are conspiring with the size 6 BVDs, I just know it.

Maybe I'm feeling the effects of co-habitating with four males. Mothers of three sons, unite! We need each other. But let's not trade clothes this season, okay? Really, I am just not in the mood. I'll get better, especially after I really do jump into the mess and defeat the clothes at last. But I need a little time. Meanwhile, if you see my kids and they are rather ill-clad, please be kind. Their mother is going through a phase.

To the Editor:

This letter is in regard to several issues in this county and the state of Maryland.

I for one stand behind every word that Mr. George Falter speaks. He speaks a lot of truth, which a lot of people don't want to hear.

I remember when there was no funding from our tax dollars going to the Dove Center, and very little going to the Meals on Wheels program. But there always seems to be money for catering to Deep Creek Lake and other areas that don't really need it as much as they think they do.

Like the cigarette tax going to be raised again. Yes, it might help a few to quit, but a lot of people like me who work away just buy them out of state. In the long run, I think the state of Maryland is losing money.

As for work in this county, I don't see good quality jobs until we bring back production jobs which pay decent money.

James Tasker
Oakland

P.S. Keep up the good work, George Falter!

To the Editor:

Free countries need free libraries. Americans depend on our libraries to enter school ready to read, to go on-line, to research vital health facts, to find a job, to understand world events, to explore business opportunities, to seek inspiration, and to find food for the soul. Libraries are at the heart of the American dream. They offer opportunities for education, self-help, and lifelong learning.

One of the things librarians have discovered in the aftermath of September 11 is that many people are taking a fresh interest in what it means to be an American, especially in today's global society. According to First Lady Laura Bush, a former librarian, 'Libraries are community treasure chests, loaded with a wealth of information available to everyone, equally, and the key to that treasure chest is a library card."

This week, National Library Week, and every week, celebrate your freedom to read, learn, and grow at the Ruth Enlow Library.

Sincerely,
Cathy Ashby
Director
Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County

To the Editor:

Dear George (Falter):

Sure, we pay state taxes and federal taxes, but federal and state monies brought here are already spent. It is the government aid equivalent of sunk money. You understand sunk money from Johns Hopkins Business School, right? Some local government is going to get it, so why shouldn't Garrett County get what we can?

This county commission hasn't yet put on a united front for incompetent reasons the way the previous five or six county commissions did. These commissioners have disagreed in public. Disagreement among officials is a key indicator of healthy government. Our present commissioners are competent individuals, not a hillbilly cohort hiding collective insecurities behind everybody else does it and a Byzantine factotum.

Are they perfect? No, they are not. But if some specific issue really got to me, you can be sure I'd provide specific details on my objections rather than generalizations on general issues.

Jim Hinebaugh has a tough job. He's trying to bring jobs to an area that isn't on the way to anywhere. [Aside: That's why some people want to pave the county under roads. Roads always produce jobs, they claim, without producing a single shred of evidence.] A few think it matters there isn't a four-laue to Oakland. (Heh heh, sometimes you just have to laugh.) End aside.] My personal experience getting information from Jim is it might take some time because his people have more to do than look up statistics for me. But I always got the information because I submitted my questions in writing and made them as narrow and specific and easy to answer as possible.

Are you really surprised Jim's view of a public meeting was different than yours? Try to imagine him going on radio and saying, "Well folks, we had another desultory public meeting last night. The commissioners were late and the highlight was George Falter telling us how bad we were blowing it. Thanks for your time." Is that the report you expected to hear?

The last public issue I took an active interest in was Euclidean [map] zoning. I asked for information from officials and got it. I prepared a formal report and presented it to the commissioners. Then I went to all but two of the public meetings and presented my views with respect for all views. Was I instrumental in defeating map zoning here? Who can say? But it was defeated, and I was at the front of the crowd who wanted it defeated.

Again, with all due respect for you for going to public meetings and taking an interest in public affairs, framing your issues narrowly and providing plenty of specific detail supporting your points, including reasonable alternatives, is more likely to advance your views than hurling insults and generalizations into the debate.

Sincerely,
W.L. Welch
Gortner

To the Editor:

The recent election for office of Town Council in the town of Friendsville has left me with many concerns regarding the council's intentions to follow the will of the people and their ability to qualify candidates for an election. According to Section 17-7 of the Municipal Charter of Friendsville, it is the responsibility of the council to qualify the election of its members. Living inside the town borders is one of many requirements to run for office.

A couple of weeks before the election of 2-12-02, the council president tipped me off about the questionable residency status of one of my fellow running mates and subsequent council member. I was informed that the candidate lived outside of Friendsville and had the water turned off at her residence inside of town. I began to question other town office holders about her residency status prior to the election. They, too, were of the opinion that she was not living in town and that I could lose votes in the election if I continued to make waves by asking questions over this issue. I continued to speak with town officials about my concerns, and finally one council member had the guts to bring the issue up at the last meeting before the election. The candidate/councilwoman denied the residency conflict in an emotional display and no other council members pressed the issue, not even the president. The candidate involved went on to win the election and then resign shortly thereafter due to living outside the town of Friendsville.

I am therefore left with questions as to why the council did not press the issue. What would be the benefit to the council? Town Charter Section 17-37, "Vacancies," empowers the council to bring in anyone of their choice to fill her seat. The last two times there was a vacancy in council office, the council used Section 17-37 and brought in the runner-up of the previous election to stay consistent with the people's choice. Why now does the council decide to forego the precedent they established the last two times? Possibly because if the precedent were honored, I would become a council member, since I was the runner-up of the February election.

Why did the president of the council inform me about the candidate living outside the town and that her water was turned off at her in town residency prior to the election? And in contradiction to his tip, why did he not question the candidate about her residency at the last meeting before the election? After all, if he were so sure that she lived outside of town to tip me off, certainly he would have pressed to disqualify her, don't ya think? I can only offer my opinion — the intent was to keep "UN-desirables" off the council so the council would have the ability to choose someone that would be more agreeable to the council's motives, and not necessarily reflect the people's choice through a fair voting process. In my opinion, Section 17-37 was used conveniently in combination with a qualification misrepresentation to circumvent the election. In short, fixed. I think that 17-37 is too great a temptation and needs to be changed.

Over two weeks ago I made a vocal request to the mayor and council to fill the vacancy, and so my request was heard at the last meeting. Their response was to solicit, in this paper, RAILEY HELPS RENOVATION PROJECT — Railey Realty recently became a major contributor to the Capital Campaign for Garrett County Memorial Hospital by making a pledge of $50,000 to help fund the upcoming expansion/renovation project. "Railey Realty's very generous gift will help to ensure the success of the project," said Elaine McDonald, campaign chairman. "We are also pleased that as a result of this gift, Railey Realty will be naming the hospital's new registration area." Pictured above at the check presentation are Kathy Greaser, GCMH director of development; Elaine McDonald, campaign chairman; and Bill Weisagerber Jr., Jim Railey, and Kevin Liller, all of Railey Realty. "As Garrett County's leading real estate company," said the management team at Railey Realty, "we are proud to participate in this exciting and worthwhile project. Garrett Memorial Hospital is a vital part of our community, and this expansion will help ensure quality health care to the citizens and visitors of Garrett County." Additional naming opportunities exist as part of the GCMH's Capital Campaign. For more information, persons may call the Foundation Office at 301-533-4178.

GLADYS W. BROADWATER

Gladys W. Broadwater, 87, a resident of St. Vincent de Paul Nursing Center, Frostburg, died Wednesday, April 10, 2002, of complications from emphysema at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

She was a daughter of the late George and Eleanor Neff Wilson. She graduated from Allegany High School. After attending Frostburg State (then the Normal School), she began her teaching career in the one-room Bond School near Savage River in Garrett County. She boarded with various families whose children attended the school.

After graduating from Frostburg State, she taught at Okltown, Midland, and Cresaptown elementary schools in Allegany County. She later received a library science certification from Madison College in Harrisonburg, Va., and continued working as librarian for Central, Barton, Ellerslie, and Corriganville elementary schools.

She was involved with the Frostburg AAUW, with whom she was awarded a special lifetime membership for outstanding contributions in 1998. She volunteered her services at the Allegany Red Cross and at the Frostburg Village Nursing Home gift shop, where she received her 20-year service pin last year. She was also honored as Frostburg's Woman of the Year in 1988.

Surviving are three sons, Steven Broadwater, Spotsylvania, Va., David Broadwater, Frostburg, and the Rev. Daniel Broadwater, Catonsville; one daughter, Sandra B. Chase, Medford, N.J.; 10 grandchildren; and numerous great-grandchildren

As her longtime wish, her body was donated to the Maryland Anatomy Board for scientific research.

A memorial service will be held in the chapel of St. Vincent de Paul Nursing Center on Saturday, April 20, at 2 p.m.

Donations in lieu of flowers may be made to a charity of choice in her name.

SUB ACUTE STAFF MEMBERS HONORED — Liz Daniels, nurse manager for the Sub Acute Rehabilitation Unit at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, recently honored several employees for their "loyalty and dedication." Including Daniels, there were seven unit employees who had perfect attendance records for 2001. They are pictured above. Seated are RNs Lori Davis, Chris Wildasan, and Melissa Harsh. Standing are Brenda Hartsell, activities coordinator, and Lola Rhodes, RN. Not pictured is JoAnn Frazee, CNA. "These employees have shown their dedication not only to our unit, but to the hospital," said Daniels. "What I find amazing is that these employees had no call-off days once the schedule was posted, and even when days off were requested ahead of time, they worked around the schedule to keep the unit staffed." Daniels presented the staff members with gifts to show her appreciation. The Sub Acute Unit is designed for patients of all ages who are too ill to return home or go to a traditional nursing home, but are not ill enough to remain in the normal hospital setting, such as post stroke and surgical patients. The unit provides patients with the care and education needed to function upon discharge in a home-like setting.

Thank You!

I would like to thank the following for all their help and suggestions. We have the best contractors in the state. I would like to recognize the ones that brought Tee Wees together.

To my husband and his crew, M&T Construction: Mike, Steve, Jamie, Rick, and Sherm. It helps having a contractor in the family! Mike, you're my HERO!

My great staff: Karen, Lacey, and Sally.

Ed Wilburn Construction: Ed, Betty, Rodney, Roger, Brian, and Greg. Great work and some great laughs. Slatwall is their specialty.

Ringer Electric and Scott Electric: Doug, Charlie, Brad, and Jim. Doug, your lighting ideas with Holly's help give the store that one-in-a-million look.

EZ Excavating: Paul and all the gang. They love their Tonka Toys!

The Welding Rod: The foundation of great buildings.

Shirer's Tin Shop: For the heating and air conditioning. Jay, Charlie, Brent, A.J., and all the rest. They can heat you up or cool you down.

Glass Unlimited: The view is beautiful. Now...do you do windows?

The Floor Store: Not a wrinkle anywhere.

Domenick Signs: Barry, Sharon, and the rest of his crew. Barry has a knack for making beach ball lights come to life.

Tom Matthews and Judy Rush: The art work flows. I hope your phone rings off the hook.

Jim Torrington of the Zoning Commission. Also, Chuck and Inspector Keith. Regulations, regulations, but we did it!

Eastern Tent Caterpillar Nests Begin To Appear

Encouraged by warm weather, eastern tent caterpillars have begun hatching and building their characteristic white-colored webs, or tents, in roadside and landscape trees. These caterpillars are not terribly damaging to trees, but are often confused with the very different, and very damaging, gypsy moth caterpillar, so it is important to distinguish between the two, according to the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

"The presence of eastern tent caterpillars is easy to detect because of their white, tent-like nests which are beginning to form in the branches of trees now," said Dr. Robert Rabaglia, Maryland Department of Agriculture forest entomologist. "Many people confuse eastern tent caterpillars with the much more damaging gypsy moth caterpillars. Gypsy moth caterpillars usually hatch about mid-April and they do not make tents or webs."

Eastern tent caterpillars are dark gray with a white stripe down the middle of the back. They have a row of blue spots along each side and are covered by short dark hairs. Gypsy moth caterpillars are mottled gray, have tufts of long hairs along each side, and have a double row of blue dots behind the head, followed by a double row of red dots along the back.

Eastern tent caterpillars are very common in Maryland trees during the early spring. They prefer to feed on the leaves of wild cherry trees, but can be a nuisance in residential plantings, since they will feed on the leaves of crab apple, hawthorn, peach, and plum trees. Fortunately, the caterpillars only feed for a short time and pupate early, giving the trees a chance to refoliate and recover, Rabaglia said.

"Eastern tent caterpillar populations can usually be controlled by destroying the nest, or by tearing it open so that birds can get to the resting caterpillars. Where possible, the nest can be removed from the tree and soaked in soapy water to drown the caterpillars. Removing the nest early, when it and the caterpillars are small, will prevent most of the damage that might occur," said Rabaglia.

While eastern tent caterpillars prefer to feed on wild cherry and other fruit trees, gypsy moth caterpillars prefer the leaves of oaks and other valuable neighborhood landscape trees such as birch, beech, willow, hawthorn, and linden. Gypsy moth caterpillars do not make tents or web nests. They hatch in mid- to late-April, several weeks later than eastern tent caterpillars, and feed for 10-12 weeks.

Since the larger gypsy moth caterpillars eat voraciously as they get older and feed so much later into the summer, trees do not have time to refoliate and recover from severe leaf loss, Rabaglia explained. This leaves the trees severely weakened and more susceptible to disease, drought, or other insect pests. A cycle of two or three years of gypsy moth defoliation can cause severe dieback, or even death, of the tree. Controlling gypsy moths on a large scale requires a professionally operated aerial spray program, which will begin later in the month.

The Maryland Department of Agriculture and the University of Maryland are providing additional information about eastern tent caterpillars and the gypsy moth on the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service Home and Garden Information Center line at 1-800-342-2507 and www.agnr.umd.edu/users/hgic/. Users should click on publications, on-line publications, then ornamentals.

Information and pictures of both the eastern tent and the gypsy moth caterpillars for comparison are on line at www.mda.state.md.us/forestp/gmgen.htm.

In Loving Memory of
John L. Lee
on his birthday, April 22

A birthday is a special day for those whom you love
So God, take this birthday wish to the heavens above
And tell my husband I love him,
That I miss him more each day.
When he departed from this life,
The blow was so severe.
The hurt inside my aching heart
There fell an endless fear
For he could not bid me goodbye before he went away.
There were no farewells that we could say
I think of how it used to be,
to have him in my midst.
If only he could know how sadly he is missed.
He is in my thoughts and on my mind
each second of the day.
My love will always be with him
Even though he's far away.

Loved and still missed, wife Freda

SHS Names Students Of The Month

The student of the month winners for March, as chosen by the faculty of Southern High School, are William White, social studies; Melody Friend, math; Nick Perry, foreign language; Suzanne Gilbert, science; Aaron Gregg, vocational; and Chelsea Wall, English.

William White, freshman, is the son of James and Teresa White. He has received the Success in School Achievement and the U.S. Achievement Academy awards. He is on the honor roll and won first place in the Tobacco Prevention Poster Contest. In the future he plans to attend college and major in architecture or graphic design.

Melody Friend, a sophomore, is the daughter of Jim and Debbie Friend. She is a Southern cheerleader, English student of the month, and has represented Garrett County students in a photography exhibit. She attends the Loch Lynn Church of God, and will be participating in the Miss Maryland Teen Pageant in July. In the future, Melody plans to attend a university in Virginia and major in photography.

Nick Perry, also a sophomore, is the son of Dr. Richard and Denise Perry. He plays soccer and received the JV defensive player award. As a freshman, he played tennis and basketball, and was on the honor roll. In the future, Nick plans to attend a college in Maryland.

Suzanne Gilbert, a senior, is the daughter of Jeffrey and Elizabeth Gilbert. Suzanne is drum major and section leader in the marching band, section leader in concert band, and is the National Honor Society historian. She attends St. Mark's Lutheran Church, and is involved in various productions at Our Town Theatre, including several school plays. In the future, Suzanne plans to attend college.

Aaron Gregg, senior, is the son of Larry and Joann Gregg. He is a member of the Skills USA VICA Club. He won the bronze medal in the state Quiz Bowl competition and, in the future, hopes to earn a master's in both plumbing and electric.

Chelsea Wall, also a senior, is the daughter of David and Cindy Wall. She has received the Marketing Award for business students, is a volunteer at Ruth Enlow Library, and has worked at Hickory Environmental Center with children at summer camp. In the future, Chelsea plans to attend Frostburg State University, majoring in business management and advertising.

The business partner for the month of March is Naylor's Hardware.

GOP Committee Slates Meeting, Lincoln Dinner

The Garrett County Republican Central Committee has made final plans for its 30th annual Lincoln Day Dinner. The dinner will be held Friday, April 26, at the Wisp McHenry House, beginning at 6 p.m., with a social hour. Dinner will be at 7 p.m.

Congressman Roscoe Bartlett will be the featured speaker, to be introduced by Senator John Hafer. Delegate George Edwards will serve as master of ceremonies.

"Many elected officials and candidates will be attending the dinner," said Brenda Butscher, spokesperson. "The public will have an opportunity to talk issues with them during the social hour."

Dinner tickets are still available by contacting any elected officials and members of the Republican Central Committee.

Smith Receives FSU Scholarship

Timothy "T.J." Smith recently received a Dr. Oliver Ralph and Virginia Roth Scholarship to continue study at Frostburg State University.

Now a freshman at FSU, Smith is majoring in biology/pre-medicine and minoring in chemistry. He hopes to become an orthopedic surgeon. Smith is in FSU's Honors Program and has received a Louis J. Ort Regional Science Scholarship and Delegate Scholarship.

A 2001 graduate of Allegany High School, he participated in the Schwab Genetics and Biotechnology Institute and was selected to attend the National Youth Leadership Forum on Medicine. At Allegany, he was also captain of the baseball team. He volunteers at the Western Maryland Health System and is employed at American Eagle Outfitters.

He is the son of Timothy and Sharon Smith of Cumberland and the grandson of John and Ann Schlossnagle of Oakland.

ASHER GLADE CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

The Asher Glade Church of the Brethren will host an estate planning seminar sponsored by the West Marva District Stewards Commission and the Church of the Brethren general board on Sunday, April 21, from 6 to 9 p.m. Ray Gluck from the Brethren funding office will assist in the workshop. Information on planning wills, estates, trusts, and living wills, and working with charitable gifts will be presented. There will also be a question and answer session. The seminar is set up for informational purposes only. Everyone is welcome to attend.

FRIENDSVILLE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Hannah Fike and Emily Manges were the acolytes for Sunday, April 14. The congregation recognized the birthdays of Gene Sines and Amanda Lowdermilk.

There will be a trustee meeting held at the church on Tuesday, April 30, beginning at 7 p.m. Trustees are Nancy Thomas, Doug Sines, Gene Fike, Julia Sines, Ward Frazee, and Mary Friend. There will also be an administrative board meeting the same evening.

Bible study will be held Thursday mornings at 11 a.m. and alternate every other week to the Grace Lutheran Church. This Thursday, April 18, Bible study will be held at the Grace Lutheran Church and next Thursday, April 25 at Friendsville United Methodist Church. Those attending are asked to bring a bag lunch.

There will be a co-op parish meeting this Sunday, April 21, at Mt. Zion at 2 p.m.

The next meeting of the Brotherhood will be held Tuesday, May 14, at the Friendsville Church.

GRACE LUTHERAN CHURCH

Bible study will be held on Thursday, April 18, at Grace Lutheran Church beginning at 11 a.m. Those attending are asked to bring a bag lunch. It will then be alternated every other Thursday morning with the Friendsville United Methodist Church.

LAUREL RUN CHURCH OF GOD

Children and youth activities are held in the church annex every Thursday from 6 to 7 p.m.

NATIONAL DAY OF PRAYER

Thursday, May 2, is the National Day of Prayer. Friendsville will be celebrating the day with a get-together at the vacant lot across from the Friendsville Elementary School (the Jessie Sines property) from 1 to 1:30 p.m. that day. All ages are encouraged to attend this special day dedicated to prayer and to bring Christian flags and chairs for those who need to be seated.

For more information, persons may contact Pastor Ross Glotfelty at 301-746-8491. The event will be held, rain or shine.

SPAGHETTI DINNER BENEFIT

St. John's Lutheran Church will be sponsoring a spaghetti dinner at the Addison Community Building next to the fire house on Saturday, April 27, from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Proceeds will help to pay for a wheel chair ramp and deck for Dalias Humberson.

The meal will consist of spaghetti and meat sauce, cole slaw, applesauce, bread, cake, and beverages. Take-outs are available. The cost is $5 for "all you can eat." Johnny B. Good will supply the music. All are invited.

FARING WELL AT SCIENCE FAIR — Twenty-five Northern High School students recently participated in this year's Regional Science Fair held at Allegany College of Maryland, and brought home more than 40 awards for their accomplishments. Pictured above (listed with placement and/or special award), from the left, are Brandi Broadwater, first place; Mitchell Guard, second place and TAM Award; and Annie Winter, first place, Association for Women Geoscientists Certificate, and TAM Award. In the middle are Karla Buckel, honorable mention; Heidi Hare, second; Tessa Folk, first; Kristin Hoffman, third; and Chris Clever, third and TAM Award. In the back are Derek Buckel, second; Landon Southerly, second; and Robbie Glotfelty, third, AES Warrior Run third place $500 scholarship, TAM Award, and U.S. Army Award. In the bottom photo, in the front, are Will Gallagher, honorable mention; Jamie Livengood, U.S. Army Award; and Megan Zimmerman, first and Top 5 Army Winner. ANNUAL BAZAAR

The Sand Spring Church of God will host its annual bazaar on Saturday, May 4, beginning at 8 a.m. There will be tables of new and used items, crafts, baked goods, etc. There will also be food for sale. Anyone interested in setting up a table may telephone 301-746-5340.

CEMETERY MEETING AND CLEAN UP DAY

The Blooming Rose Cemetery annual spring clean-up day will be held Saturday, April 27, beginning at 9 a.m. By then, all flowers should be removed from the graves, and people are asked to leave them off for at least two weeks. This will give the caretaker a chance to mow and trim.

A mower and trimmer is needed for the new season. Discussion on the matter will be held that day.

Lunch will be served at noon. All help will be appreciated.

RABIES CLINIC

A rabies clinic will be held at the Friendsville Elementary School on Wednesday, May 8, from 5 to 6 p.m. The cost is $5 per animal, and only dogs, cats, and ferrets will be vaccinated at this time. Dog licenses will be available also.

TOWN NEWS

Town council member Frances King submitted a letter of resignation from her council position, effective April 30. The mayor and town council are requesting that "letters of interest" from any town resident who may be interested in serving out the remainder of Frani's term be submitted by May 1 for their consideration.

The council will appoint a new council member at the May 6 council meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Letters can be sent to the Town Hall at P.O. Box 9, Friendsville, MD 21531.

The next scheduled council meeting will be tonight, April 18, at 7:30.

Kids First is an interagency collaborative working to better serve Garrett County children and their families.

Highland Fest

will be donated to United Way of Garrett County. Besides selling tickets, the festival will offer other opportunities for organizations to earn funds. The League of Women Voters recently agreed to promote and become part of the festival.

"The Highland Festival Board is trying to encourage more local residents and children to take advantage of this opportunity to enjoy a day of Celtic music, games, food, and a variety of other activities, including a craft show, livestock shows, athletics, dancers, an encampment, Celtic vendors, and a car show," said Jerry McGee, festival board member.

The Garrett County Pipes and Drums will be the host band again this year. Four other bagpipe bands will play at the festival, joining together twice during the day for a massed-bands performance.

"Foodland Fresh has already signed up as a $500 sponsor, and other area businesses are starting to come on board," said McGee. Sponsorship information is available at the website www.highlandfest.info or from Sheila Reeves-Menchaca of Decorator's Nook. The site is sponsored by TCI Computer Systems and designed by Paul Browning.

The Garrett County Promotion Council started the festival 15 years ago. The past two years the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club sponsored the festival. Many members are helping with this year's festival, sponsored by Humberson Homes Inc. and Mountain Properties. Jerry Humberson said he would like to see the festival expand and involve the entire county.

A board of directors was established to keep the festival going as a celebration of Garrett County's past, according to McGee. For more information, persons may call McGee at 301-387-8300 or e-mail him at jerry mcgee@humberson.com

Rams Still Perfect; Whip Keyser, Preston, Allegany

The members of the Southern High School varsity baseball team are in a familiar spot so far this season — undefeated and in first place in the area standings; that is, tied for first place with unbeaten Frankfort.

The Rams upped their overall record to 7-0 with three victories this past week, a 9-4 drubbing of host Keyser last Thursday, a 10-0 blanking of visiting Preston on Friday, and a 14-4 Western Maryland Interscholastic League disposal of Allegany yesterday, also in Oakland.

Leading an eight-hit attack against Keyser last Thursday were Steve Skipper, who rapped a triple and a single, and also scored twice; Kevin Goralski with a double and a single with one RBI; Ricky Reams, who hit a triple for an RBI and also scored three times; Chad Panther, who doubled and scored twice; and Joel Helbig, who contributed a pair of RBI and also scored once.

The Rams took the lead for good with a run in the top of the first. They added three runs in the third, two in the fifth, and three in the sixth.

Earning the win on the mound was Bryan Hauser, who went the distance and allowed six hits.

Getting two of those hits for the Golden Tornados was Nathan Biser, who doubled twice and scored once. Eric Melody and Corey Szafran each hit a double. It was the fifth loss in nine starts for Keyser.

Pacing the Rams offensively against Preston on Friday was Brad Palmer, who smacked a three-run homer and two doubles to account for a total of four RBI. Also recording home runs were Panther and Helbig.

Southern wasted no time taking control of the game, scoring four runs in the first behind Helbig's two-run shot. Panther hit a solo blast in the second, and Palmer's three-run round-tripper came in the third. The contest was called after five innings because of the 10-run rule.

Meyers went the distance on the mound and allowed just two hits.

The Campers of Allegany came to Oakland yesterday sporting a 6-1 record, but were not match for the Rams, who put 14 runs on the board in just three innings of play while holding the Campers scoreless. The contest was called after 4½ innings because of the 10-run rule.

Tobi Stoner earned the win on the mound and was also among the leaders in the Rams' offensive effort, as he drove in four runs with a pair of doubles. Kevin Goralski finished with three hits, a double and two singles, to plate three runs. The Rams finished with a dozen hits in just four innings.

Stoner struck out nine batters before giving way to Dennis Tressler in relief in the top of the fifth. The two combined for a five-hitter.

Tim King had a double for the Campers, and starter Jon Irons took the loss on the mound.

The Rams are scheduled to face Allegany again this Friday in Cumberland, host Beall on Monday, and entertain Westmar next Wednesday.

CAMPERS NO MATCH FOR RAMS - The Southern High School varsity baseball team continues to dominate area baseball, as tha Rams hosted 6-1 Allegany yesterday and sent the Campers packing back to Cumberland with a stinging 14-4 defeat. The victory was the third this week by the Rams, which upped their record to 7-0. Getting the win on the mound was Tobi Stoner, pictured during his delivery in the photo above left, while an Alco base runner attempts to steal second base. ## SHS Jayvees Top Sentinels And Spartans

The junior varsity baseball team of Southern High School kept pace with the Ram varsity in terms of maintaining a perfect record this week, as Coach Tom Bosley's players edged visiting Fort Hill on Saturday, 8-7, and rolled over host Bishop Walsh Wednesday, 11-1, to up their record to 6-0.

The Rams trailed Fort Hill, 5-4, in the sixth inning, but Billy Reams ignited a four-run rally with a two-run single in that inning to make the score 8-4. The Southern defense then cut short a rally by the Sentinels to record the one-run win.

Reams finished with two run-producing singles, and Cory Bosley and Brad Reese each scored twice for Southern. Scott Wildesen earned the win on the mound, from which he fanned 10 batters, walked just one, and gave up six hits.

Corey Burrell fired a three-hitter for the Rams yesterday against Bishop Walsh, as he allowed three singles and struck out five.

Reams and Jason Weeks led the Ram hitting with two singles apiece.

Getting two of the Spartans' singles was Matt Hawkins.

The same two teams will square off against each other again today at Southern, with that game slated to begin at 5 p.m. The Rams will host Northern next Tuesday in another 5 p.m. clash.

Huskies Run Streak To Five By Downing Hancock, Beall

After a slow start, the Northern High School varsity baseball team climbed past the .500 mark for the first time this season with Saturday's 6-0 shutout victory over Hancock and a 14-12 slugfest win over Beall Tuesday that took NHS's winning streak to five straight. The action improves the hot-handed Huskies' record to 6-4. (A rained-out game at Southern High Monday was postponed to Tuesday, April 30.)

The victory over the Mounties featured a thrilling come-from-behind effort that NHS coach Phil Carr called a "an ugly win, but a real character check." Carr has reason to be pleased with his troops, and expects even bigger things from them as the season progresses. "We knew we had potential going into the season, and we're finally getting on our way to playing the kind of ball we're capable of. Our pitching is strong, and our hitters have come off a slow start and are now batting .310 as a team."

Northern's mound crew, which the Huskies' skipper had predicted would be the squad's strong suit this year, helped key the homefield win over Hancock. Sophomore Jason Rice hurled a masterpiece, notching 14 strikeouts on his way to his three-hitter. Two of the Panthers' hits were infield singles, and Rice issued just three walks during the seven-inning, complete-game win.

NHS got on the board early as senior Greg Whittemore stroked a run-scoring single to key a two-run first inning. Classmate Bryan Lenhart belted the ball over the fence for solo home run in the fourth, then Whittemore sparked another two-run stanza in the following inning with a fielder's choice RBI. NHS added an insurance run in the sixth to take the six-run win.

It was offense that paced the Huskies to Tuesday's win, as NHS rapped out 11 hits and 14 runs to Beall's 15 hits and 12 runs. Northern's fielders committed seven errors, which were "more mental mistakes than physical ones," according to Carr.

NHS garnered an early 1-0 lead on a first-inning, two-out RBI single by Derek Workman. That advantage vanished almost as soon as it was gained, however, when the Mounties scored three runs in the bottom of the first and two runs in the second to go up 5-1.

The Huskies stormed back in the third inning with five runs. Danny Vagnetti led off with a single, then, after a batter hit a flyball out, Lenhart doubled to put runners on second and third. Two runs scored as Brenneman and Workman rapped out successive RBI singles. Chad Carr capped the flurry by cranking the ball over the left-field fence for a three-run home run to put NHS up 6-5.

Northern widened the gap to a six-run advantage in fourth inning. Whittemore led off with a double and Lenhart drew a walk before a passed ball moved both runners into scoring position. Brenneman walked to load the bases, then Workman was hit by an errant Beall pitch to force home a run. After the stanza's first out, and with the bases still loaded, Dan Ellis was hit by a pitch to force home another run. A short time later, with two outs on the scoreboard, Poholsky was hit by a pitch to force home the inning's third run. Northern then scored two runs the "old-fashioned" way when Vagnetti cracked a two-run single to left.

Beall proved to be a game opponent, however. The Mounties took advantage of several crucial Northern errors to score seven runs in the fifth and take a 12-11 lead.

Refusing to throw in the towel in their final turn at the plate, the Huskies went to work in the seventh inning to wrench their victory from the jaws of certain defeat. After the lead-off batter popped out, Whittemore drew a walk and advanced to second on a ground ball out. Brenneman then drew a walk, and a Beall passed ball advanced the runners to second and third.

With the tying and winning runs in scoring position, and two outs showing, Workman calmly settled into the batter's box for the game's deciding at-bat. After working the count to 2-2, the right-handed batter pulled a long drive to left that bounced to the fence, and by the time the fielder had run the ball down, two runs had scored and Workman was perched on second base with what turned out to be a game-winning double. He moved to third on a passed ball, and eventually scored an insurance run on a wild pitch that put the final tally at 14-12.

Poholsky, who had relieved starter Vagnetti in the fourth stanza, shut Beall down in the final half of seventh inning to close out the victory and gain credit for the win.

"It was an ugly win," Carr said, "but sometimes you win ugly, and sometimes you lose ugly, so it all evens out. We're not happy about all the errors, but with the warm weather coming on we'll be getting plenty of fielding practice to work out the kinks. Getting outdoors should only help our hitting as well, and it could be fun to see what some of our guys who are already ripping the ball will do as they hone their swing."

So far this season Whittemore is pacing the squad with a .432 average and 17 RBI, Vagnetti is hitting .367, and Lenhart has a .345 average that includes the team lead of two home runs.

On the pitcher's mound, Whittemore and Rice both possess a fastball that "really moves well and cuts up and in to right-handed batters," said Carr. Lenhart is doing a fine job relying on his strong power pitches, according to the coach, while Poholsky drew kudos for his off-speed pitches.

Northern is slated to play a 4:30 p.m. make-up contest at home this afternoon against Mapletown, then travel to Westmar tomorrow and Salisbury on Saturday.

Lakers Salvage Two Victories Among Five Losses; Now 7-16

The Garrett Community College Lakers continued to struggle on the baseball diamond this week, although they did pick up a pair of victories amidst five defeats. In action last Friday, GCC was crushed by host Potomac State, 15-1. They defeated visiting CCAC South in the first game of a doubleheader on Sunday, 6-2, but dropped the second one, 5-3. They split another twinbill with host Hagerstown on Tuesday, winning the first game, 5-3, but losing the nightcap, 8-0. Garrett met Potomac State again yesterday in McHenry, and lost both ends of a doubleheader, 3-0 and 18-0. The results left Coach Ed Wildesen and the Lakers with a 7-16 record.

Potomac State tagged a pair of Laker pitchers with 15 hits in Friday's game at Keyser, and took control of the game right away by scoring six runs in the first inning.

Matt Prior calmed down and held the Catamounts scoreless through the next three innings, but the home team erupted for seven more runs in the fifth to break the Lakers' backs.

Kyle Jones led Potomac State with a three-run homer and a two-run double, while former Paw Paw standout Josh Delawder contributed four RBI with a two-run homer and a two-run single. Mike Brown added a two-run shot in the sixth.

The Lakers got just five hits off Mark Atkins, who went the distance to earn his seventh win of the season. James Funk drove in GCC's only run with a single in the fifth, and hit two other singles.

The win upped the Catamounts' record to 19-12.

The Lakers used the long ball to grab the lead for good in the first inning of Sunday's first game against CCAC South.

After Shane Donley hit a solo shot for South in the top of the first, Garrett's Ryan Wetzel smacked a two-run homer, and Funk followed with a solo round-tripper to give the Lakers a 3-1 advantage.

Garrett added single runs in the third, fourth, and sixth to seal the victory.

Josh Bosley hit two singles and scored twice for Garrett, while Brian Rockwell hit a double.

Chris Fisher struck out 10, walked jnst two, and allowed only four hits to earn the complete-game victory. One of those hit was a solo homer by Jon McCullough in the seventh inning.

The second game was called after six complete innings because of rain. A two-run homer in the top of the first by Tim Donley gave South the lead for good. Shane Donley led a seven-hit effort for South with a double and two singles, while Bob Weihauf contributed two singles.

Dean Altavilla recorded two of the Lakers' six hits, both singles, and Rockwell stroked a double. Drew Binder took the loss on the mound.

Josh Bosley and Mike Berry combined for a four-hitter in the first game against Hagerstown CC on Sunday, while Ryan Wetzel rapped a pair of RBI singles, P.J. Ross singled twice, Joe Walker added a triple, and Jeremy Shaffer provided a double.

The Lakers scored single runs in five different innings. Bosley pitched the first four innings and struck out five to gain the win, while Berry picked up the save by striking out three in the final three innings.

Getting half of South's hits was Les Martin, who tripled and singled.

Tossing a five-hit shutout for the Hawks in the second game was Matt Bellon, who struck out four and walked four.

Meanwhile, the Hagerstown offensive effort yielded a dozen hits, including a double and three singles for four RBI by Joe Helisek. Justin Wenger hit three singles and Justin Warner provided a double and a single.

The only multiple hitter for the Lakers was Rockwell, who singled twice.

The first game played against Potomac State yesterday was scoreless until the top of the eighth inning when the Catamounts put three runs on the board and retired the side in the bottom of the inning to win the game. GCC's Mike Berry went toe-to-toe with Catamount starter Dan Lindner through seven scoreless innings, and each team finished with four hits.

Greg Butcher led off Potomac State's half of the extra inning with a walk. Drew Jackson followed with

Husky JVs Best Beall, Fall To Alco; Now 1-4

The junior varsity baseball team of Northern High School took a 9-7 victory over Beall this past Thursday in Frostburg before dropping a 12-6 contest yesterday at Allegany.

NHS's Mike Wolf rapped out three singles against the Mounties, and teammate Eric Johnson recorded a double and a single. Dan Ellis gained the win for NHS as he struck out five Beall batters in five innings.

Details on yesterday's loss to Alco were not reported. The jayvee Huskies' record stands at 1-4, and NHS is slated to take on Westmar Tuesday.

Rams Whip Westmar, Nip FH In Classic Pitchers' Showdown

Ace Southern High School varsity softball hurler Jennifer continued to dish out pure poison from the pitcher's mound to opposing batters this week, while the action was more a Jekyll and Hyde showing for the SHS offense. The high-flying Rams crushed Westmar 20-1 last Thursday before Bosley and Fort Hill standout Becky Vance squared off Tuesday for a duel that met everyone's expectations, if not the Sentinels' hopes — a nail-biting 1-0 SHS victory by virtue of a single unearned run.

The action gives Southern a 10-1 record (5-0 WMIL) heading into this week's full slate of four games, which include contests with North Marion and Beall, two of the tougher squads on the Rams' schedule. A win over Beall Saturday (rescheduled after a Monday rain-out) would quite likely clinch the league crown for Southern.

SHS's offense hit on all cylinders last Thursday in Lonaconing, as the Rams ripped 10 hits in five innings off three Westmar pitchers. The Rams led off with three runs in the opening inning before exploding for a 10-run rampage in the second stanza, six in the third, and adding a single score in the fourth for good measure. The Wildcats' lone run came in the fourth inning.

Senior Erica Green paced the Rams' attack by whacking a double and single for three RBI. Classmate Autumn Uphold stroked a pair of singles and scored three times, and Bosley belted a two-run double. The Rams drew 13 walks and took advantage of eight errors.

Bosley worked the first two innings, and recorded five strikeouts before hanging up her pitcher's glove without relinquishing a hit. Junior Rachel Friend was tapped for relief duty, and gained some valuable experience by limiting the Wildcats to a fourth-inning double in three innings on the mound, striking out several batters, and not issuing a single walk. Bosley was credited with the win, and Friend picked up the save.

Tuesday's showdown with Fort Hill drew a large, loud crowd to Southern to cheer the squad on to victory. The contest seemed almost a re-run of the past two years' worth of Ram-Sentinel battles, as Bosley and Vance locked horns seemingly out-for-out. The score was deadlocked at 0-0 after 4⅓ innings, when the stalemate was broken with what would prove to be the winning run — by Bosley herself.

After punching out a single, the senior took an aggressive lead off first base, rattling Fort Hill's chains as she showed a coming steal attempt. Her break toward second caused Vance to throw wildly to the plate, and once the catcher fielded the ball she uncorked an errant toss to second that ended up in center field. Never breaking stride, Bosley rounded the horn and sped home with the game's only score. Fitting enough for such a talented pair of pitchers, the contest ended up being decided by an unearned run.

Bosley recorded 13 strikeouts and gave up just one single and a lone walk. Ram batters netted five hits off Vance overall, including a double and single from Uphold.

By way of coincidence, the Rams' five hits matched the tally they stroked off Vance in a 3-0 season-opening win at Fort Hill in March. It is also interesting that Southern's victories over FH last year came by scores of 3-0 and 1-0, as Bosley bested Jennifer Vance in a near-identical series of mound battles to help pave the Rams' road to the 2001 state title.

"Things are coming together pretty much the way we thought they would," SHS coach Dave Bosley commented after Tuesday's win. "We're very pleased with our pitching and are continuing to work hard on boosting our output on offense, which we knew would be a little weak." Ashley Liller leads the Rams with a .424 average, eight RBI, and 17 runs scored. Also in a groove at the plate are Autumn Uphold and Jennifer Bosley, who are hitting .395 and .394, respeetively.

As Coach Bosley pointed out, however, it's not just big numbers that have led to the Rams' wins. "Our one-two batting combination at the top of the order has really helped us out recently. Lead-off batter Autumn Uphold is reaching base a lot, and has upped her batting average by 180 points over the last five games. What really makes that part of our offensive go is the unselfish work of Megan Burner, who bats in the second spot. When Autumn gets on base, we can count on Megan to put down a perfect sacrifice bunt to advance the runner to second and put us in a position to score with the heart of the line-up coming to the plate. Megan is a true team player," commented the Southern skipper.

The Rams head to West Virginia tomorrow to take on a potent North Marion High squad, which recently "crushed" University High — the only team to defeat Southern this season. Beall visits Oakland for a noon battle Saturday, then cross-county rival Northern will be at SHS Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. Keyser's Golden Tornado blows up the mountain for a 4:30 p.m. contest Wednesday.

Ram Softball Standout Signs With Radford

Jennifer Bosley, a mainstay of the defending state champion Southern High School varsity softball squad, has signed a letter of intent to attend Radford University, located in southwestern Virginia. The senior's pitching and hitting have helped lead the Rams to a 10-1 record so far this season.

A virtual shoo-in for her fourth consecutive Area Player of the Year honor, Bosley has accumulated a 10-0 record so far this season with 137 strikeouts in 63 innings pitched. The mound expert has given up only 18 hits and nine walks, and just three earned runs for a 0.31 ERA. She also has tallied a .394 batting average at the plate.

A Division I school, Radford competes in the Big Sun Conference and has struggled to a sub-.500 record to date. Bosley is expected to make an immediate impact for the Highlanders next spring.

A standout on both the softball field and on the basketball court, Bosley was a starting forward for the Rams' varsity basketball team, one of the best in the state. Her athletic accomplishments are matched by her classroom performance, where she currently maintains a 3.94 GPA.

Bosley is the daughter of Lu-Jean and Dave Bosley of Oakland.

SHS Softball Jayvees Demolish Petersburg Twice

Southern High School's junior varsity softball squad exploded for a 27-9, 19-4 doubleheader sweep of the Petersburg Vikings last Wednesday, April 10, in Grant County, W.Va.

In the opener, SHS sophomore outfielder Sharon Harvey swatted four singles and drove home four runs, in addition to scoring three times. Sophomore first baseman Nina Stoner and freshman outfielder Sarah Bittinger each singled three times, and Bittinger recorded three RBI. Julia Bosley, also a freshman, took the win on the mound.

The fireworks continued through the second half of the twinbill, as Harvey doubled and singled to account for two RBI. Sophomore third baseman Alexis Storey and freshmen Kayla Nazelrod and Stephanie Brenneman each singled twice. Sophomore hurler Sarah Mullenax claimed the victory.

The Rams' JV unit is coached by Christy Eyler, who is in her seventh year at the Southern helm.

NHS Softball Squad Stymied By Losses To Beall And BW

It has been a struggle so far this season for the Northern High School varsity softball team, and the squad's woes continued this week as NHS fell to Beall 10-5 this past Thursday, dropped a 13-6 contest to Bishop Walsh Friday, and fell in a Tuesday rematch with the Mounties by a 10-3 margin. The Huskies have a 1-6 record heading into a full week's slate of five games.

Beall wasted no time in getting the upper hand in Northern's first outing of the week as the Mounties scored three runs in each of the first two innings. NHS responded with two scores in the bottom of the second stanza to cut the Beall lead to 6-2, but the Mounties added three more runs in the fifth to go up by five. The Huskies scored twice in the sixth, then each team traded lone scores in the seventh and final inning on their way to the 10-5 conclusion.

Senior Bridget Frazee singled and drove home two runs for Northern, and sophomore Lyndsi Butler contributed a pair of singles as the Huskies recorded a total of six hits off up-and-coming Beall freshman pitcher Katie Rephann. Senior Jolene Brenneman started on the mound for NHS, and was relieved by classmate Valene Snyder in the second inning. Beall rapped out 15 hits off the Husky duo.

The following day's road trip to Bishop Walsh had a deja vu quality to it, as Northern's batters recorded six hits for the second straight game while the Spartan hosts rapped out 13 hits off three NHS pitchers.

The Huskies started off on the right foot by leading the game off with two runs, then Beall cut the margin in half in the bottom of the first inning. The hosts went to work in the second stanza by scoring five runs, NHS scored once in the top of the fourth, then Beall put together another five-run tally in the bottom of the inning to take an insurmountable 11-3 lead.

Northern refused to go down without a fight, however. The Huskies scored twice in the fifth and once in the seventh, but BW managed to squeeze its 13th and final run in between during the sixth inning.

Northern's offense got two singles each from Butler, junior Autumn Kitchen, and freshman Sarah Masters, while senior Emily Rawe ripped a double. Kitchen tossed the first two innings, Brenneman the next two, then Kitchen returned to the mound in the fifth to work the rest of the game.

NHS's second meeting with Beall on Tuesday saw the Huskies take a one-run lead in the top of the first inning, but the Mounties answered with two runs in the bottom half of the stanza. Northern retook the lead with a two-run second inning, making the score 3-2, but Beall exploded for five runs in the bottom half to quickly run up a four-run lead of its own. The Mountaineers added two runs in the third and one in the fifth for the final 10-3 tally.

Both squads recorded five hits on the day, as junior Stephanie Hutzel and Masters each rapped out an RBI single. Brenneman started for NHS on the mound, and Snyder was summoned for relief duty in the third inning. Rephann earned her second complete-game win of the week over the Huskies.

Northern has a full slate ahead, starting with a visit to Hyndman this afternoon. Preston comes to the Cove for a noon doubleheader Saturday, and the Huskies visit Southern on Tuesday and host Westmar this coming Thursday, April 25. Those last two contests both get under way at 4:30 p.m.

a single, and both advanced on a sacrifice by Kyle Jones. A sacrifice fly by Morgan Clendenin brought Jackson home for the first run of the game, and Justin Poletti followed with a two-run homer.

Berry, who was relieved in the eighth by Chris Fisher, struck out eight batters.

The second game belonged entirely to Potomac State and was called after five innings, as Jim Samolovitch went the distance for the Catamounts and allowed only one Laker hit.

Meanwhile, PSC hammered three Laker pitchers with a total of 17 hits, including two home runs apiece by Matt Gainey and Chad McKown, and single shots by Beucher, Jackson, Jones, Clendenin, and Josh Delawder.

The pair of victories upped Potomac State's record to 19-12.

The Lakers are scheduled to play at Essex this Friday, host Anne Arundel CC for a doubleheader on Saturday, entertain Allegany College in a single game next Tuesday, and go on the road next Thursday to face the Marietta, Ohio, junior varsity in another twinbill.

Southern Track, Field Teams Place First In Five-Team Meet

The girls' track and field team of Southern High School topped four other teams in a meet held yesterday at Frankfort High School, Short Gap, W.Va., and the SHS boys' team shared top honors with Hampshire.

The Southern girls amassed 88 team points to defeat Beall with 65 points, Frankfort with 63.5, Hampshire with 27.5, and Westmar with 8. The Southern boys finished with 77 points, as did Hampshire, while Beall finished third with 62, Frankfort recorded 27, and Westmar garnered 9.

Leading the Southern girls' effort were Robbin Gregg, Melissa Durst, Justine Pagenhardt, and Jenny Hickman. Gregg placed first in the 100 dash with a time of 13.19 seconds, was on the winning 400 relay team (54.2 seconds) and finished second in the 200 dash. Durst was the winner of the 400 dash in 1:03.2, Pagenhardt won the high jump with a leap of 4'8", and Hickman won the long jump with a distance of 13'1".

Joining Gregg on the winning 400 relay team were Chelsea Remley, Eileen Mouyard, and Brittney Friend.

Jessica Sharon was second in the shot put and Emily Cosner finished second in the 3,200 run. Also placing second were the Southern 3,200, 800, 1,600, and shuttle hurdle relay teams.

Matt Stephens recorded a pair of first places to lead the Southern boys, as he won the 110 high hurdles in 16.4 seconds and the high jump with a height of 5'8". Chris Lantz won the 300 hurdles in 45.72 seconds and was second in the 110 hurdles, and Rieky Curry placed first in the discus with a heave of 117'8".

The Southern 800 relay team, consisting of Karl Hillen, Bryan Hinebaugh, Shane Riley, and Billy Schmidl, won with a time of 1:38.59, and the Ram 400, 1,600, and 3,200 relay teams all finished second. Schmidl was also second in the long jump.

The Southern teams also defeated Frankfort at home on Saturday, as the boys won with 106-31, and the girls earned an 84-53 victory. (See box scores below for individual results.)

The Rams, who are coached by Steve Cosner (girls) and Jamie Beeman (boys), will travel to Northern High School today to compete in the Garrett County Championships, which will get under way at Husky Stadium at 6 p.m. They will travel to Beall next Tuesday for the Western Maryland Interscholastic League Championships.

OLL Opening Day Ceremonies Set To Honor Heroes

The Oakland Little League is among the thousands of Little League organizations across the globe that will be sponsoring special "Hometown Heroes" opening day ceremonies this Saturday, April 20. The local event is set to get under way at 10 a.m. at the OLL complex at Broadford Park.

"All of us realized, after the tragic events of September 11, that every community is blessed with men and women who are willing to risk their lives every day as part of their jobs," said Stephen D. Keener, president and chief executive officer of Little League Baseball. "After the attacks, Little League began preparations for an event to honor not only those whose lives were lost, but those 'Hometown Heroes' that are found everywhere. This is Little League's way of saying 'thank you,' and it also supports Little League's mission of using the sports of baseball and softball to educate children."

Little League players around the world, including those in Oakland Little League, are wearing a special "Honoring Hometown Heroes" patch this year on their uniform. The OLL's observance will feature the participation of area firefighters, EMS personnel, police officers, and military service veterans who have been invited to participate. The pre-game activities will include a field dedication ceremony and the recognition of dignitaries, which will be followed by a special presentation honoring Garrett County's "hometown heroes," including an active duty soldier currently serving in Afghanistan.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office Honor Guard will be on hand for the ceremonies, which will feature a 21-gun salute by the Deer Park VFW Post rifle unit, presentations of certificates of appreciation, and the Broadford Gospel Quartet's rendition of the national anthem. The public, particularly persons associated with fire, police, or EMS agencies, as well as military service veterans, are encouraged to attend.

Little League Baseball, founded in 1939, is the world's largest youth sports program with more than 2.8 million children and 1 million volunteers in more than 100 countries. More than 30 million boys and girls have played in Little League programs, including President George W. Bush.

The Oakland Little League, founded in 1951, currently serves approximately 400 children. For further information on the opening day ceremonies or on the league in general, persons may call OLL president Jane Roberson at 301-387-6991, or board members Brad Frantz at 301-334-7619 or Chuck Fitzwater at 301-334-4375.

The Mtn. Top Ringer Slingers horseshoe pitching league will inaugurate its 2002 season with a singles competition this Sunday, April 21, at Accident Town Park East (near the Accident fire hall). All interested persons must complete their qualification round by 2 p.m.

For further information, persons may all Jim Shahan at 301-387-4433.

Northern Boys, Girls Finish Fourth In Four-Team Meet

The track and field teams of Northern High School hosted a four-team meet last Thursday, and both the NHS boys and girls finished fourth in the team standings.

Beall won the boys' team title with 86 points, followed by University of Morgantown with 74 points, Berlin with 67, and the Huskies with 36. The Beall girls also captured first place with 108.5 points, followed by University with 65.5, Berlin with 44, and Northern with 28.

Shawn Fike paced the Northern boys with a first-place finish in the 300 hurdles in 44.81 seconds, and a second place in the 110 hurdles. Tom Menges finished second in both the shot put and the discus, while Chris Clever was second in the 3,200 run and third in the 1,600 run. The Huskies' 3,200 relay team placed second, and freshman Michael Pickrel finished third in the 3,200 run.

The Northern girls got a third place in the 100 hurdles from Megan Zimmerman. Placing second were the NHS 400, 800, and 3,200 relay teams, while the 1,600 relay team finished third.

The Huskies will compete again today by hosting Southern in the Garrett County Championships. They will vie in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League Championships next Tuesday at Beall High School.

LADY HUSKY BASKETBALL AWARDS — The Northern High School Lady Husky Basketball Banquet was held last month, with several young women earning recognition for their efforts on the court. The event took place at Uno's restaurant. The Minds in Motion Award, given to students who have maintained a grade point average of 3.25 or above, was presented to Jackie Folk, Lakin Welmer, Tiffany Yoder, Karie Kamp, Kayla Kamp, Amanda Frantz, Heather Lander, Molly Wolf, and Bridget Frazee. Molly Wolf won the Varsity Hustle Award, and the Most Improved went to Jolana Brannaman. Amanda Frantz was recognized for Best Offensive Player and Bridget Frazee was named Most Outstanding. Junior varsity awards went to Tiffany Yoder, Hustle Award; Lakin Welmer, Best Defensive Player; and Kayla Kamp and Jessica Gibson both cited for Best Offensive Player. Pictured in the front row, from left, are Jessica Gibson, Kayla Kamp, and Molly Wolf. In the back, same order, are Amanda Frantz, Lakin Welmer, and Jolana Brannaman.

FLOCKHART TO JOIN DAVIS & ELKINS NETTERS — Northern High School volleyball standout Christie Flockhart has signed a letter of intent to play volleyball at Davis & Elkins College, located in Elkins, W.Va. Flockhart was named to the All-WMIL First Team this past season as she received the third highest vote tally from area coaches, after earning All-WMIL Second Team honors in her junior year. She helped lead the 2001 Lady Huskies to a 13-5 record, was recognized as the student athlete of the month in November, and for the past two consecutive years she was named the Huskies' Outstanding Hitter. Flockart, who currently plays for Western Maryland Junior Olympic Volleyball Club, is the daughter of Bill and Sandi Flockhart of McHenry. She plans to study psychology at Davis & Elkins, an NCAA Division II school and member of WVIAC North Atlantic Region. Flockart is shown at the signing flanked by Husky volleyball coach Linda Wengerd and NHS principal Gary Reichenbecher, with her mother Sandi standing behind the group.

Spring Turkey Season Open As Of Today

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary J. Charles Fox reminds hunters that Maryland's 2002 spring turkey hunting season opened today, April 18, and will continue through Thursday, May 16.

Turkey populations are at near record levels throughout most of Maryland, and this year's hunting season could again produce a record harvest. Turkey poult production was excellent across most of the state in 2001. The highest turkey harvest per square mile of forestland traditionally occurred in the western four counties. However, populations in the eastern part of the state, established by DNR's trap and transplant program, continue to grow.

In recent years, turkey harvests in Calvert County and the lower shore counties of Dorchester, Somerset, Wicomico, and Worcester has grown substantially. Dorchester County has now moved into the top three counties for harvesting a turkey.

Turkey hunters should follow basic turkey hunting safety procedures while pursuing this wily game bird. The National Wild Turkey Federation, in conjunction with DNR, asks hunters to:

- Positively identify your target. Be absolutely certain that you identify the beard on the turkey, thereby verifying that the turkey is a legal bird.
- Make your position known to other hunters by speaking loudly to them. Do not wave a handkerchief or your hand at other hunters.
- Never shoot at a noise that you think is a turkey. It may be another hunter calling a turkey. Always identify your target, and be aware of a safe shooting background.
- Eliminate red, white, and blue from your clothing. These colors are naturally found on wild turkey gobblers.
- Obey and support all wildlife laws and report any violations that you may encounter. Please keep your sport honorable and promptly report any violations to the local Natural Resources Police.

For additional information concerning Maryland turkey hunting regulations, persons may consult the DNR publication Hunting and Trapping in Maryland 2001-2002. For further information about turkey hunting opportunities on public lands, persons may consult the Guide to Public Hunting Lands in Maryland 2001-2002. Both publications are issued to hunters when they purchase a 2001-2002 hunting license and are available at all DNR service centers.

CHANGING LANES

Rated R - Running Time: 1:39 - Released 4/12/02

Changing Lanes shows what happens when you take a bad idea and throw talent at it. It succeeds on the merits of its execution, on the technique of Samuel L. Jackson and Ben Affleck (not to mention a surprisingly high-pedigree cast of supporting players), and not its foundation. It's not that Michael Tolkin's screenplay is bad; on the contrary, it has believable dialogue and complex, well-crafted characters, but the story by Chap Taylor, on which it is based, is built on a weak premise. It's about people making mountains out of mole hills, people who willingly choose to have a misunderstanding.

Director Roger Michell, himself changing from the lighthearted romantic comedy lane of Notting Hill to the psychological drama lane, begins his film with a montage of scenes showing us that high-powered Wall St. attorney Gavin Banek (Affleck) and down-on-his-luck telemarketer Doyle Gipson (Jackson) are both basically good guys. Gavin is the legal representative of a multimillion-dollar foundation that supplies musical instruments and playgrounds to low-income New York schools, and Doyle is a recovering alcoholic trying to convince his estranged wife not to move away (with their two young sons) by putting all his credit on the line to buy her a house. But one morning something happens that brings these two strangers together, and brings out the worst in both of them. As they battle their way through rush-hour traffic, both on their way to court, they have a fender-bender on the freeway. Doyle's car is disabled; he asks for a ride, but Gavin leaves him there, stranded, with the insensitive phrase, "Better luck next time." But in his rush to leave, Gavin drops a file he needs for his case. The file is important; not finding it could mean jail. Meanwhile Doyle, who because of the accident is late for his last-chance divorce hearing, loses any hope of reconciling with his wife. But he finds Gavin's file and keeps it, at first not realizing how important it would become.

So begins a psychological game between the two men, with Gavin trying everything he can think of to get the file back, from pleading with Doyle to having his bank accounts frozen, and Doyle not only refusing to return the file, but perpetrating a few other schemes to get revenge. Both have moments of reason, but Doyle has a temper, and Gavin has a mean streak, and the escalation continues, one desperate act sparking another.

This film shows how an event that at first seems insignificant can spiral out of control to the point of insanity. The trouble is believing the first half hour. While we are all aware of the stereotypical "me first" attitudes of New Yorkers, it is unlikely that two reasonable men would not simply trade insurance information and be done with it. After the audience is forced to swallow this very large pill, however, the rest goes down easily. Affleck and Jackson both show considerable insight into human nature with their portrayals of men on the edge, forced into the abyss by the slightest touch. Affleck is becoming used to portraying guys treading the fine line between good and bad (see Bounce, Reindeer Games, Forces Of Nature...), and Jackson takes a role that could really be just a two-dimentional hothead, and makes him human. Also on hand and lending considerable depth are supporting cast members William Hurt (as Doyle's A.A. sponsor), Sydney Pollack (Gavin's boss/father-in-law), Amanda Peet (Gavin's wife), Toni Collette (his lover and co-worker), and Kim Staunton (Doyle's wife). Changing Lanes is a good movie built on a dumb premise. But it's a good movie all the same. ★★★★

BIG TROUBLE

Rated PG-13 - Running Time: 1:33 - Released 4/5/02

A successful ensemble film requires a number of key elements, such as a director who can get all the players to interact with a sense of consistency, a cast of actors who are capable of such cooperation without letting egos get in the way of the greater good, and a script with just enough complexity to be interesting without becoming bogged down in minutae. This description almost perfectly fits Barry Sonenfeld's Big Trouble, a wacky farce with a hilariously complex plot and a varied and surprisingly diverse cast list. Sonnenfeld, the cinematographer-turned-director who helmed Get Shorty and Men In Black, brilliantly manages a veritable laundry list of prominent and talented actors, and the result is a highly enjoyable romp that is as multi-faceted as it is tightly constructed (after all it's only an hour and half long).

Based on the novel by well-known Miami humorist Dave Barry, Big Trouble is adapted for the screen by Robert Ramsey and Matthew Stone. Describing the story would be not only difficult but also a disservice to both the writers and potential audience members, since the success of some elements depend greatly on their surprise factor. But to give an inkling of this very complex scenario, the action begins when a homeless Fritos™-lover named Puggy (Jason Lee) witnesses a pair of attempted shootings at the upper-middle-class home of balding, conceited letch Arthur Herk (Stanley Tucci) and his bored and frustrated wife Anna (Rene Russo), and their teenage daughter Jenny (Zooey Deschanel). One of these shootings is a hired hit intended for Arthur by two professional assassins (Dennis Farina, Jack Kehler), and the other is a playful prank with a squirt gun against Jenny by school friend Matt Arnold (Ben Foster).

Neither of the shootings hit their marks, but their occurrence sets in motion a bizarre chain of events that involve not only all of the above, but Matt's dad Eliot (Tim Allen), a former Miami newspaper columnist who has recently fallen on hard times, the Herks' Latina maid Nina (Sofía Vergara), two members of the Miami police force (Janeane Garofalo, Patrick Warburton), a pair of Russian weapons dealers (Daniel London, Lars Arentz-Hansen), two federal agents (Heavy D, Omar Epps), and two hopelessly stupid thugs (Tom Sizemore, Johnny Knoxville). Central to the plot is a large metal suitcase, which nearly all the characters either possess or hope to possess at some point in the story.

This movie plays like It's A Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World, or its recent ripoff, Rat Race, with a huge cast of characters (mostly paired in twos) related by one object. The difference is that instead of money, the object of their obsession is an extremely harmful thing—but only some of the characters know that. Its brisk pace and hilarious characterizations are underscored by the frenetic music of James Newton Howard, and there is no mistaking the ascerbic wit of author Dave Barry.

Big Trouble was originally scheduled for a fall 2001 release; you'll know why it was postponed when you see the airport sequence. Although it would undoubtedly have done better with its original release date (that is, if the events of September 11th had never happened), it's definitely worth a look while it lasts. ★★★★

THE SWEETEST THING

Rated R - Running Time: 1:24 - Released 4/12/02

The Sweetest Thing, at its worst moments, is like a female version of Freddy Got Fingered. At its best, it's like a 1½-hour episode of Friends. Yeah—that's at its best. Written by South Park staff writer Nancy Pimental and directed by Roger Kumble, whose only directing credits are the abysmal Cruel Intentions and its direct-to-video prequel cleverly titled Cruel Intentions 2, this film mixes smut and wacky girlfriend antics in equal parts, often scoring the guilty chuckle in spite of itself, with plenty of bra-and-panty shots to please the guys. Luckily it stars Cameron Diaz and Christina Applegate, who, while they do not embody the archetypes of thespianism, interact easily and seem to be having a really good time. Thomas Jane, who inhabits the film's one substantial male part, seems mainly there for decoration.

Diaz plays Christina Walters, a female Casanova—a player who uses men for fun and sex and never calls them back, with a long line of emotionally wrecked ex-lovers behind her. In trying to teach her roommate Jane (Selma Blair), who was recently dumped by her boyfriend, how to take life and love less seriously, Christina introduces her to an attractive and anonymous man with the highly symbolic name Peter (Jane) at a noisy nightclub. While Jane and Peter don't hit it off (Jane ends up tangling tongues with another guy whom she describes as "so cute—so stupid"), Christina can't get The Beautiful Peter out of her mind. So she and her other roomate, Courtney (Applegate), decide to take a road trip to Peter's brother's wedding several hours away. This trip is a girl-girl yuk fest fraught with all sorts of bra-and-panty adventures, but it ends disappointingly for Christina when the wedding turns out to be Peter's. So while Peter and his intended (Parker Posey) decide they don't want to get married after all. Christina and Courtney drive dejectedly home and the film attempts to switch gears from a sexy sorority party to a romance with some actual meaning. It isn't a comfortable transition.

Any success this film has comes from the obvious enjoyment its players have together. Boasting such infantile situations as two (not one, but two) females suffering potential facial injuries caused by penises, and a -ahem- suspicious dress stain being tasted by a dry cleaner to determine its origin, its script is definitely not its strong point. But the aforementioned interaction saves the film on numerous counts, and it really does succeed simply on the abilities of Diaz, Applegate, and Blair to be funny. Since Diaz's breakthrough film There's Something About Mary, seminal fluid has become an unfortunate staple of raunchy comedies, and no disgusting or embarrasing problem is out of reach for subject matter. But if you have a cast who has fun while they're making the film, chances are the audience will have fun too. Such is the case here. ★★★

Planning Comm.

resident who lives adjacent to the proposed development, raised several environmental concerns for the commission to consider, including the potential for stream encroachment, well contamination, and excessive/improperly managed stormwater runoff.

After discussion, the commission approved the project with the following stipulations: The developer must provide an approved sediment and erosion control plan; the six lots must be designated to have no access to the common areas; and the county attorney must approve the homeowner's covenants and restriction document in writing.

•Cedar Village — This Adrian Enterprises project proposes subdividing a two acre plat located behind Deep Creek Drive (part of the McClive's tract) into six building sites, one of which will be dedicated to a commercial business.

The subdivision was approved with these stipulations: The developer must provide an approved sediment and erosion control plan; the applicant must build or bond the road to the development; and the county attorney must approve the homeowner's covenants and restriction document in writing.

In other matters that came before the commission, an application for a 191-acre tract along Shady Dell Road to be added to the Agriculture Preservation District was approved unanimously. The land is owned by Ken Brenneman.

A preliminary proposal for a major 10-lot subdivision located on the Eugene Shreve property along North Glade Road was introduced. The preliminary sketch of applicant Victor Hines has undergone an initial review by county planning director John Nelson, who stated that the slope of the access road needs to be checked. The commission had no comments on this preliminary proposal.

The next regular meeting of the Garrett County Planning Commission is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, May 1, in the county commissioners' meeting room.

Spruce Forest Seeks Artisans For Weekends

Spruce Forest Artisan Village, located east of Grantsville along the Old National Road, is seeking artisans and demonstrators who are interested in renting spaces in the village during high-traffic weekends. The village is adjacent to the Casselman Bridge and Penn Alps Restaurant and Craft Shop.

Artisans would be required to submit applications and samples of their work for jurying by the Spruce Forest Artisans' Guild. If approved, an artisan would select one of the following date groups for demonstrations and sales: May 25 to 27, June 14 and 15, July 4 to 6, August 2 and 3, August 31 to September 2, or October 11 and 12.

Juried artisans will pay a nominal booth fee in advance for the dates. All proceeds from his or her sales during those days belong to that artisan. Weekend artisans must be present and open for business from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. each day they are at the village, and they must commit to the entire block of time listed. Artisans must also be willing to demonstrate their crafts, in addition to selling their works.

Shelters are provided by Spruce Forest and are included with the booth fee that is paid in advance. In case of inclement weather, artisans may move onto the Miller House porch or inside the Village Church. Fees are non-refundable to juried artisans, once their days of appearance are confirmed with the village.

To request an application or for more details on booth space fees, persons may contact village administrator Trish Morgan, weekdays, at 301-895-3332, or by e-mailing her at tmorgan@spruceforest.org.

AMAHL PROCEEDS GO TO MEALS ON WHEELS — In response to a public call for support of Meals on Wheels, the Gerrett Choral Society agreed to donate the net proceeds from its December performances of Amahl and the Night Visitors to the organization. Representing the choral society are Leah Warnick, a dancer in the production, and her brother Royce, who played Amahl, presented the check for $796 to Linda Weeks of Meals on Wheels.

FSU Staff To Present Concert

The Frostburg State University Department of Music will present Karen Soderberg, mezzo-soprano, Mary Mumper, soprano, and clarinetist Mark Gallagher in concert, accompanied by Betty Jane Phillips, this Sunday, April 21, at 3 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Pealer Recital Hall.

Soderberg is director of vocal and choral activities at FSU, musical director of the Cumberland Choral Society, and director of choirs at Emmanuel Episcopal Church. She is active as an adjudicator, clinician, and guest conductor throughout the region.

Mary Mumper is chair of the FSU Chemistry Department and an active member of the Cumberland Choral Society.

Clarinetist Mark Gallagher is an adjunct professor at FSU, a member of the Semplice Harlor Winds, and actively involved as a solo performer throughout the United States.

Selections will include "Six German Songs," Opus 103 for mezzo-soprano, piano, and clarinet obbligato by Ludwig Spohr; Soliloquies for Solo Clarinet by Leslie Bassett; "Songs to the Moon" and "Of Gods and Cats" for soprano by Jake Heggie; and duets by Purcell, Marcello, Rossini, Offenbach, and Irving Berlin.

The concert is free and open to the public. Donations will be accepted for the Music Scholarship fund.

Peterson To Give Senior Vocal Recital At WVU

David E. Peterson will be completing his requirements for a bachelor of music degree in vocal performance at West Virginia University with a solo recital on Saturday, April 20, in the Falbo Theater of the Creative Arts Center, Morgantown, W.Va. The program will begin at 8:15 p.m.

During his five years at WVU, Peterson participated in numerous operas and with the University Choir as soloist. Additionally, he participated in the Pride of West Virginia, WVU's award-winning marching band, as a member of the drumline.

Much of Peterson's free time at WVU was spent writing, arranging, and recording songs in an alternative rock style, which he hopes to promote after graduation. Other plans after graduation include performances this summer with CalRep, the California University of Pennsylvania's repertory theater in California, Pa. Productions will include The Secret Garden and Jesus Christ Superstar, among others.

Peterson's recital this Saturday will include works by Bach and Schubert, to be accompanied by string quartet and piano, with the accompaniments arranged by the vocalist. He will also perform songs by Faure and Debussy. The evening's performance will conclude with a set of sea chanties which Peterson arranged to be accompanied by a men's chorus.

The one-hour performance will be followed by a reception, and is open to the public. For more information or for directions to the Creative Arts Center, persons may call 301-334-8367.

David is the son of Tom and Susan Peterson, Oakland.

Barbara Feldon, "Agent 99," To Appear At OTT

Barbara Feldon, well-known as "Agent 99" on the vintage television show Get Smart, will be appearing in a special presentation of songs, poetry, and stories at Our Town Theatre on Friday and Saturday, May 10 and 11, at 8 p.m.

Feldon will be assisted by Lenora Eve, actress and mezzo-soprano, and accompanied by Art Weiss. The program is part of the Friedman and Friends concert series.

Reservations may be made now by calling Our Town Theatre at 301-334-5640. Tickets will be $5 each. A feature story about all three performers will appear in a later issue of The Republican.

Tri-State Assn. Notes '02-03 Concert Season

The Tri-State Concert Association, based in Cumberland, has announced its season of performances for the 2002-03 season, which will kick off on September 9 with a concert by the Platters at Fort Hill High School.

Among the hits by the Platters are "To Each His Own," "The Great Pretender," "Of I didn't Care," and "Harbor Lights." All concerts in the series will begin at 8 p.m.

The remainder of the schedule is as follows: Jimmy Dorsey and the Pied Pipers, Oct. 6; Harry James, Oct. 28; Les Brown, March 24; Gail Bliss in a Tribute to Patsy Cline, April 28, 2003; Sammy Kaye, May 12, 2003; and the Four Lads, June 1, 2003.

All of the concerts will be held at Fort Hill High School, with the exception of the Sammy Kaye production, which will include a concert/dance and an optional dinner at Frostburg State University.

"Early bird" season memberships are available for $65 per person, with the cost of the optional dinner set at $18 per person, making the eight-concert dinner package $83. Checks should be made out to the Tri-State Concert Association and mailed to: Best Western Braddock, 1268 National Highway, LaVale, MD 21502. Persons may also telephone 301-729-3300 for membership information.

Persons sending checks should also include, address, number of memberships and dinners, and telephone number.

BLUEGRASS GOSPEL BENEFIT CONCERT SET IN KEYSER — The Lewis Family, long recognized as one of the top bluegrass groups in the nation, will perform at 7:30 p.m. Friday, April 26, at the Potomac State College Arts Center in Keyser, W.Va. Proceeds from the benefit concert will go toward the Mineral County Historical Foundation's restoration project of the Carskadon Mansion, located in Keyser. The Georgia-based Lewis Family has been performing for 50 years and includes seven family members spanning three generations. Also performing will be Lonesome Highway, a rising bluegrass band from the Romney, W.Va., area. Advance tickets for the event are available locally for $12 each ($15 at the door) at Proudfoot's Pharmacy in Oakland and Main Street Books in Frostburg. For more information, persons may call 304-788-3124, -5481, -3989, or -5425.

Community Band To Present Spring Concert April 27

The Garrett Community Concert Band, under the direction of Jerry McGee, is finalizing its program for the second annual spring concert, "Strike Up the Band — 2002." The concert will be presented Saturday, April 27, in the Garrett Community College auditorium, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

In an effort to provide music that appeals to all appetites, the band will present several classical selections, including the well-known Pearl Fishers by Bizet. For those who enjoy pops, there will be a Leroy Anderson Portrait, including his famous Blue Tango, and The Syncopated Clock, featuring the percussion section. The program will also include a concert march, along with the theme from the movie Titanic. Other selections will feature soloists from the band.

The members of the band have chosen to present their concerts with no admission charge, but with a suggested donation of $5 for adults, with children admitted free. The concert is funded in part by Garrett County Arts Council and Maryland State Arts Council.

The band welcomes new members who have had some experience playing in an ensemble and are able to commit to regular practice and rehearsal. There are openings, especially for low-brass instruments, French horn, saxophone, and percussion, but all instrumentalists are encouraged to participate. Persons who wish to attend a rehearsal may telephone Dr. McGee at 301-387-6315 for more information.
